PREFACE

In the syllabus for chartered accountancy course, direct and indirect taxes constitute a core competence area for the students. A thorough knowledge of direct and indirect taxes helps the students to increase their analytical abilities. In the accounting technician certificate course, "Taxation" constitutes Paper-4. Students are expected to acquire working knowledge in income-tax, service-tax and value added tax after undergoing this course.

The first 10 chapters of this book deal with income-tax. The rest of the 6 chapters are devoted to service tax and value added tax. The subject matter in the book is based on the law as amended by the Finance Act, 2008. Efforts have been made to present the complex law of taxation in as lucid a manner as possible. Care has been taken to present the chapters in a logical sequence to facilitate easy understanding by the students. The latest amendments have been given in italics. Another helpful feature is the addition of self-examination questions which will stimulate analytical thinking by the students. The various illustrations will help in understanding the application of law to practical situations.

The taxation laws in our country undergo many changes. The Board of Studies brings out every year a "Supplementary Study Paper" containing all the amendments in direct and indirect taxes. This is an essential read for all our students. Another useful medium by which the students can keep themselves abreast is the students' newsletter – "The Chartered Accountant Student".

Finally, we would welcome suggestions to make this book more helpful and 'student-friendly'. In case of any doubt, students are welcome to write to the Director of Studies, The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, "ICAI Bhawan", A-94/4, Sector – 58, Noida – 201 301.

INCOME - TAX

CHAPTER 1

BASIC CONCEPTS

UNIT 1 : INCOME TAX LAW : AN INTRODUCTION

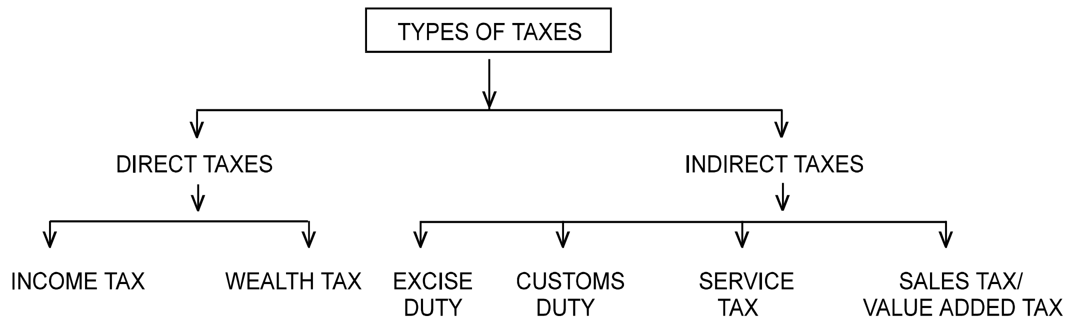
Learning Objectives

After studying this unit, you would be able to -

- understand the meaning of tax
- recognize the types of taxes
- comprehend the reason for levy of taxes
- know the components of income-tax law
- grasp the concept of income
- understand the procedure for computation of total income for the purpose of levy of income-tax
- know that there is a requirement of paying advance tax and deduction of tax at source
- appreciate what a "Return of income" means

1.1 WHAT IS A TAX?

Let us begin by understanding the meaning of tax. Tax is a fee charged by a government on a product, income or activity. There are two types of taxes – Direct taxes and indirect taxes (See Chart below this paragraph). If tax is levied directly on the income or wealth of a person, then it is a direct tax e.g. income-tax. If tax is levied on the price of a good or service, then it is called an indirect tax e.g. excise duty. In the case of indirect taxes, the person paying the tax passes on the incidence to another person.

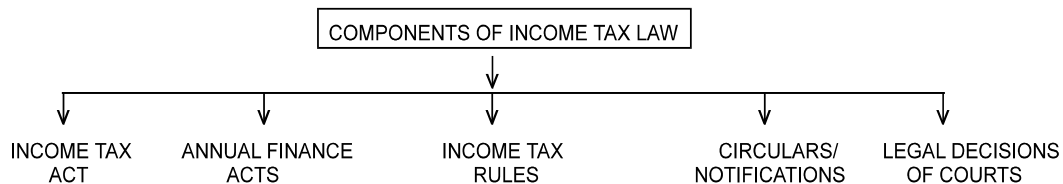


1.2 WHY ARE TAXES LEVIED?

The reason for levy of taxes is that they constitute the basic source of revenue to the government. Revenue so raised is utilized for meeting the expenses of government like defence, provision of education, health-care, infrastructure facilities like roads, dams etc.

1.3 OVERVIEW OF INCOME-TAX LAW IN INDIA

Income-tax is the most significant direct tax. In this material, we would be introducing the students to the Income-tax law in India. The income-tax law in India consists of the following components–



The various instruments of law containing the law relating to income-tax are explained below:

Income-tax Act

The levy of income-tax in India is governed by the Income-tax Act, 1961. In this book we shall briefly refer to this as the Act. This Act came into force on 1st April, 1962. The Act contains 298 sections and XIV schedules. These undergo change every year with additions and deletions brought about by the Finance Act passed by Parliament. In pursuance of the power given by the Income-tax Act, rules have been framed to facilitate proper administration of the Income-tax Act.

The Finance Act

Every year, the Finance Minister of the Government of India presents the Budget to the Parliament. Part A of the budget speech contains the proposed policies of the Government in fiscal areas. Part B of the budget speech contains the detailed tax proposals. In order to implement the above proposals, the Finance Bill is introduced in the Parliament. Once the Finance Bill is approved by the Parliament and gets the assent of the President, it becomes the Finance Act.

Income-tax Rules

The administration of direct taxes is looked after by the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT). The CBDT is empowered to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Act. For the proper administration of the Income-tax Act, the CBDT frames rules from time to time. These rules are collectively called Income-tax Rules, 1962. It is important to keep in mind that along with the Income-tax Act, these rules should also be studied.

Circulars and Notifications

Circulars are issued by the CBDT from time to time to deal with certain specific problems and to clarify doubts regarding the scope and meaning of the provisions. These circulars are issued for the guidance of the officers and/or assessees. The department is bound by the circulars. While such circulars are not binding the assessees they can take advantage of beneficial circulars.

Case Laws

The study of case laws is an important and unavoidable part of the study of income-tax law. It is not possible for Parliament to conceive and provide for all possible issues that may arise in the implementation of any Act. Hence the judiciary will hear the disputes between the assessees and the department and give decisions on various issues. The Supreme Court is the Apex Court of the country and the law laid down by the Supreme Court is the law of the land. The decisions given by various High Courts will apply in the respective states in which such High Courts have jurisdiction.

1.4 LEVY OF INCOME-TAX

Income-tax is a tax levied on the total income of the previous year of every person. A person includes an individual, Hindu Undivided Family (HUF), Association of Persons (AOP), Body of Individuals(BOI), a firm, a company etc.

1.5 CONCEPT OF INCOME

The definition of income as per the Income-tax Act begins with the words " Income includes". Therefore, it is an inclusive definition and not an exhaustive one. Such a definition does not confine the scope of income but leaves room for more inclusions within the ambit of the term. Certain important principles relating to income are enumerated below -

- Income, in general, means a periodic monetary return which accrues or is expected to accrue regularly from definite sources. However, under the Income-tax Act, even certain income which do not arise regularly are treated as income for tax purposes e.g. Winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles.
- Income normally refers to revenue receipts. Capital receipts are generally not included within the scope of income. However, the Income-tax Act has specifically included certain capital receipts within the definition of income e.g. Capital gains i.e. gains on sale of a capital asset like land.
- Income means net receipts and not gross receipts. Net receipts are arrived at after deducting the expenditure incurred in connection with earning such receipts. The expenditure which can be deducted while computing income under each head [For knowing about heads of income, see step 2 of para 1.6 below] is prescribed under the Income-tax Act.
- Income is taxable either on due basis or receipt basis. For computing income under the heads "Profits and gains of business or profession" and "Income from other sources", the method of accounting regularly employed by the assessee should be considered, which can be either cash system or mercantile system.
- Income earned in a previous year is chargeable to tax in the assessment year. Previous year is the financial year, ending on 31st March, in which income has accrued/ received. Assessment year is the financial year (ending on 31st March) following the previous year. The income of the previous year is assessed during the assessment year following the previous year. For instance income of previous year 2008-09 is assessed during 2009-10. Therefore, 2009-10 is the assessment year for assessment of income of the previous year 2008-09.

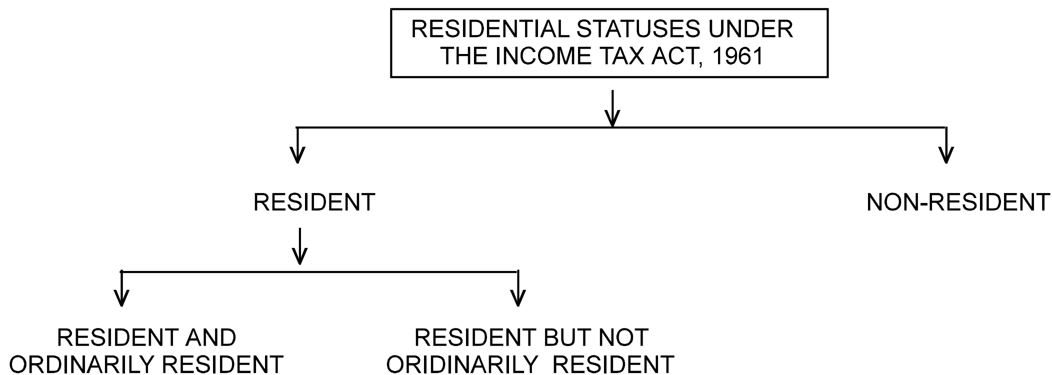
1.6 TOTAL INCOME AND TAX PAYABLE

Income-tax is levied on an assessee's total income. Such total income has to be computed as per the provisions contained in the Income-tax Act, 1961. Let us go step by step to understand the procedure of computation of total income for the purpose of levy of income-tax –

Step 1 – Determination of residential status

The residential status of a person has to be determined to ascertain which income is to be included in computing the total income.

The residential statuses as per the Income-tax Act are shown below –



In the case of an individual, the duration for which he is present in India determines his residential status. Based on the time spent by him, he may be (a) resident and ordinarily resident, (b) resident but not ordinarily resident, or (c) non-resident.

The residential status of a person determines the taxability of the income. For e.g., income earned outside India will not be taxable in the hands of a non-resident but will be taxable in case of a resident and ordinarily resident.

Step 2 – Classification of income under different heads

These heads of income exhaust all possible types of income that can accrue to or be received by the tax payer. Salary, pension earned is taxable under the head “Salaries”. Rental income is taxable under the head “Income from house property”. Income derived from carrying on any business or profession is taxable under the head “Profits and gains from business or profession”. Profit from sale of a capital asset (like land) is taxable under the head “Capital Gains”. The fifth head of income is the residuary head under which income taxable under the Act, but not falling under the first four heads, will be taxed. The tax payer has to classify the income earned under the relevant head of income.

Step 3 - Exclusion of income not chargeable to tax

There are certain income which are wholly exempt from income-tax e.g. Agricultural income. These income have to be excluded and will not form part of Gross Total Income. Also, some incomes are partially exempt from income-tax e.g. House Rent Allowance, Education Allowance. These incomes are excluded only to the extent of the limits specified in the Act. The balance income over and above the prescribed exemption limits would enter computation of total income and have to be classified under the relevant head of income.

Step 4 - Computation of income under each head

Income is to be computed in accordance with the provisions governing a particular head of income. Under each head of income, there is a charging section which defines the scope of income chargeable under that head. There are deductions and allowances prescribed under each head of income. For example, while calculating income from house property, municipal taxes and interest on loan are allowed as deduction. Similarly, deductions and allowances are prescribed under other heads of income. These deductions etc. have to be considered before arriving at the net income chargeable under each head

Step 5 – Clubbing of income of spouse, minor child etc.

In case of individuals, income-tax is levied on a slab system on the total income. The tax system is progressive i.e. as the income increases, the applicable rate of tax increases. Some taxpayers in the higher income bracket have a tendency to divert some portion of their income to their spouse, minor child etc. to minimize their tax burden. In order to prevent such tax avoidance, clubbing provisions have been incorporated in the Act, under which income arising to certain persons (like spouse, minor child etc.) have to be included in the income of the person who has diverted his income for the purpose of computing tax liability.

Step 6 – Set-off or carry forward and set-off of losses

An assessee may have different sources of income under the same head of income. He might have profit from one source and loss from the other. For instance, an assessee may have profit from his textile business and loss from his printing business. This loss can be set-off against the profits of textile business to arrive at the net income chargeable under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”.

Similarly, an assessee can have loss under one head of income, say, Income from house property and profits under another head of income, say, Profits and gains of business or profession. There are provisions in the Income-tax Act for allowing inter-head adjustment in certain cases. Further, losses which cannot be set-off in the current year due to inadequacy of eligible profits can be carried forward for set-off in the subsequent years as per the provisions contained in the Act.

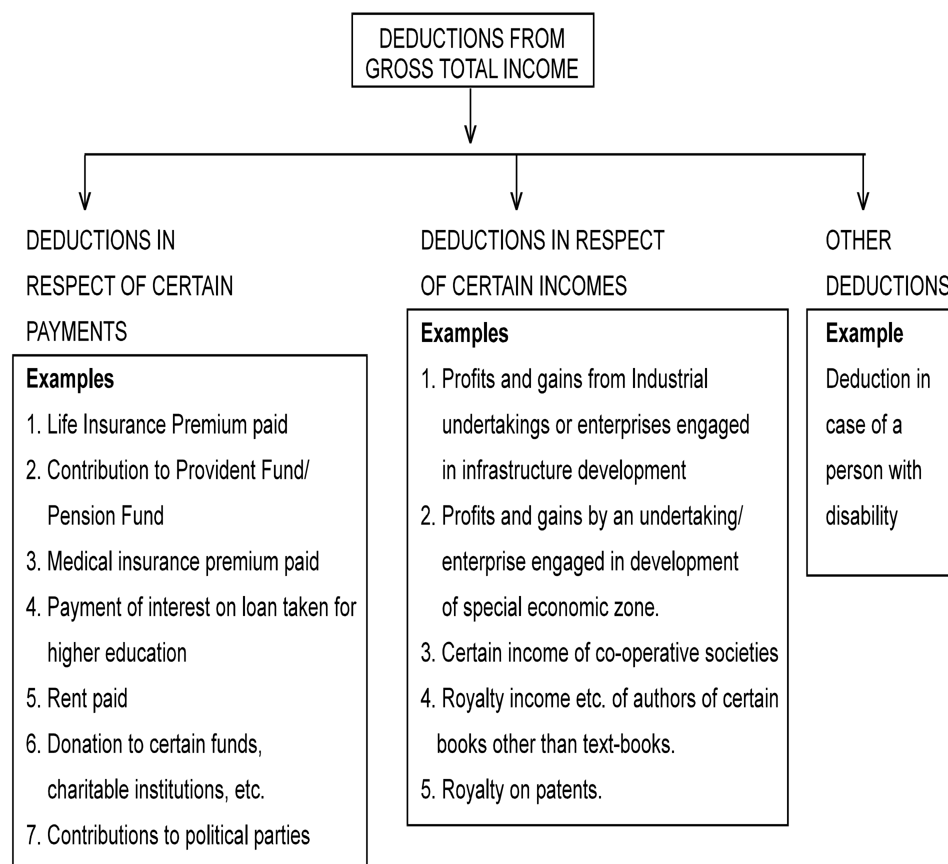
Step 7 – Computation of Gross Total Income.

The final figures of income or loss under each head of income, after allowing the deductions, allowances and other adjustments, are then aggregated, after giving effect to the provisions for clubbing of income and set-off and carry forward of losses, to arrive at the gross total income.

Step 8 – Deductions from Gross Total Income

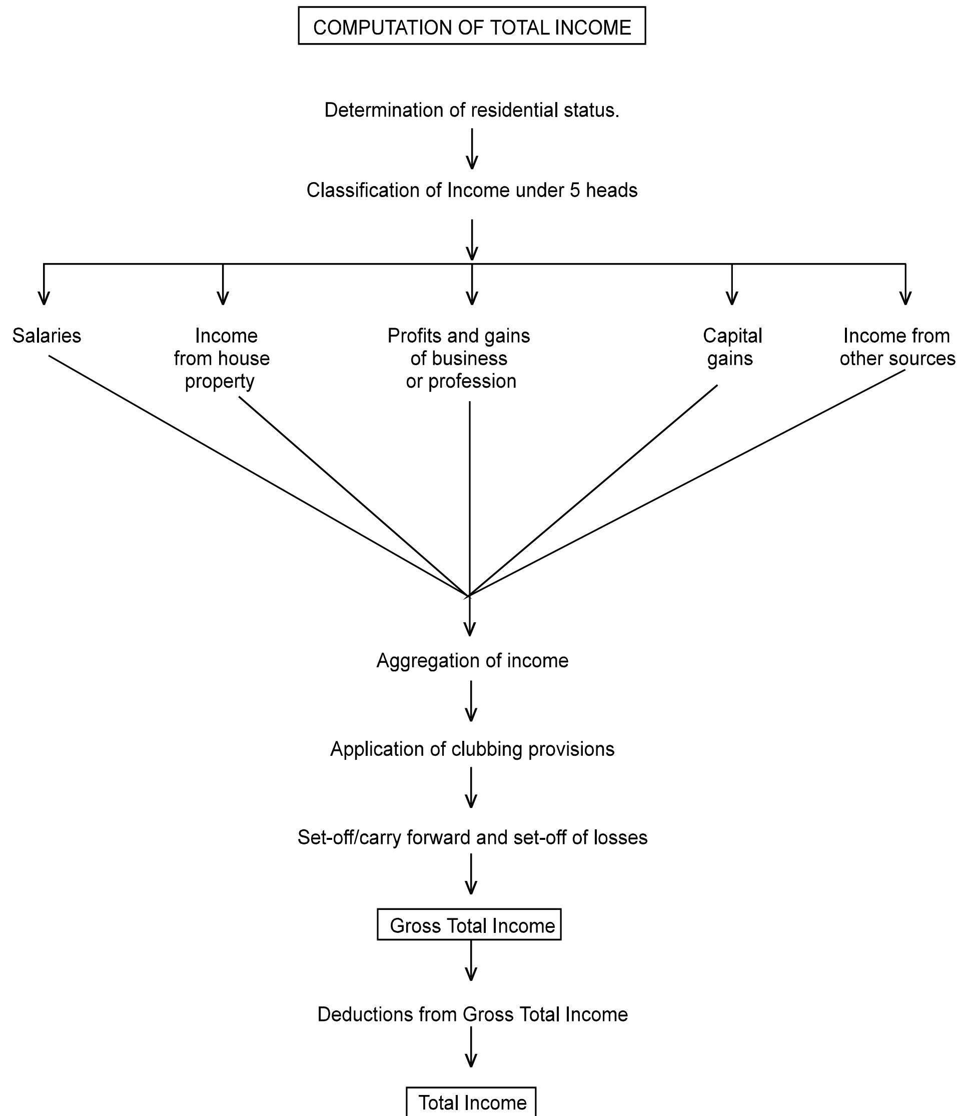
There are deductions prescribed from Gross Total Income. These deductions are of three types –



Step 9 – Total income

The income arrived at, after claiming the above deductions from the Gross Total Income is known as the Total Income. It is also called the Taxable Income. It should be rounded off to the nearest multiple of Rs.10.

The process of computation of total income is shown hereunder –



Step 10 – Application of the rates of tax on the total income

The rates of tax for the different classes of assesses are prescribed by the Annual Finance Act.

For individuals, HUFs etc., there is a slab rate and basic exemption limit. At present, the basic exemption limit is Rs.1,50,000 for individuals. This means that no tax is payable by individuals with total income of up to Rs.1,50,000. Those individuals whose total income is more than Rs.1,50,000 but less than Rs.3,00,000 have to pay tax on their total income in excess of Rs.1,50,000 @ 10% and so on. The highest rate is 30%, which is attracted in respect of income in excess of Rs.5,00,000.

For firms and companies, a flat rate of tax is prescribed. At present, the rate is 30% on the whole of their total income.

The tax rates have to be applied on the total income to arrive at the income-tax liability.

Step 11 – Surcharge

Surcharge is an additional tax payable over and above the income-tax. Surcharge is levied as a percentage of income-tax. At present, the rate of surcharge for firms and domestic companies is 10% and for foreign companies is 2.5%, if their total income exceeds Rs.1 crore. For individuals, surcharge would be levied @10% if their total income exceeds Rs.10 lakh.

Step 12 – Education cess and secondary and higher education cess on income-tax

The income-tax, as increased by the surcharge, is to be further increased by an additional surcharge called education cess@2%. The Education cess on income-tax is for the purpose of providing universalised quality basic education. This is payable by all assesses who are liable to pay income-tax irrespective of their level of total income. Further, "secondary and higher education cess on income-tax" @1% of income-tax plus surcharge, if applicable, is leviable from A.Y.2008-09 to fulfill the commitment of the Government to provide and finance secondary and higher education.

Step 13 - Advance tax and tax deducted at source

Although the tax liability of an assessee is determined only at the end of the year, tax is required to be paid in advance in certain installments on the basis of estimated income. In certain cases, tax is required to be deducted at source from the income by the payer at the rates prescribed in the Act. Such deduction should be made either at the time of accrual or at the time of payment, as prescribed by the Act. For example, in the case of salary income, the obligation of the employer to deduct tax at source arises only at the time of payment of salary to the employees. Such tax deducted at source has to be remitted to the credit of the Central Government through any branch of the RBI, SBI or any authorized bank. If any tax is still due on the basis of return of income, after adjusting advance tax and tax deducted at source, the assessee has to pay such tax (called self-assessment tax) at the time of filing of the return.

1.7 RETURN OF INCOME

The Income-tax Act, contains provisions for filing of return of income. Return of income is the format in which the assessee furnishes information as to his total income and tax payable. The format for filing of returns by different assessees is notified by the CBDT. The particulars of income earned under different heads, gross total income, deductions from gross total income, total income and tax payable by the assessee are required to be furnished in a return of income. In short, a return of income is the declaration of income by the assessee in the prescribed format.

The Act has prescribed due dates for filing return of income in case of different assessees. All companies and firms have to mandatorily file their return of income before the due date. Other persons have to file a return of income if their total income exceeds the basic exemption limit.

UNIT – 2 : IMPORTANT DEFINITIONS IN THE INCOME-TAX ACT, 1961

Learning Objectives

After studying this unit, you would be able to understand and appreciate –

- the meaning of the important terms used in the Income-tax Act, 1961
- the scope of definition of those terms for the purposes of this Act.

Section 2 of the Act gives definitions of the various terms and expressions used therein. In order to understand the provisions of the Act, one must have a thorough knowledge of the meanings of certain key terms like 'person', 'assessee', 'income', etc. To understand the meanings of these terms we have to first check whether they are defined in the Act itself. If a particular definition is given in the Act itself, we have to be guided by that definition. If a particular definition is not given in the Act, reference can be made to the General Clauses Act or dictionaries. Students should note this point carefully because certain terms like "dividend", "transfer", etc. have been given a wider meaning in the Income-tax Act than they are commonly understood.

2.1 ASSESSEE [Section 2(7)] - Assessee means a person by whom any tax or any other sum of money is payable under this Act. It includes every person in respect of whom any proceeding has been taken for the assessment of his income or assessment of fringe benefits. Sometimes, a person becomes assessable in respect of the income of some other persons. In such a case also, he may be considered as an assessee. This term also includes every person who is deemed to be an assessee or an assessee in default under any provision of this Act.

2.2 ASSESSMENT [Section 2(9)] - This is the procedure by which the income of an assessee is determined by the Assessing Officer. It may be by way of a normal assessment or by way of reassessment of an income previously assessed.

2.3 PERSON [Section 2(31)] - The definition of 'assessee' leads us to the definition of 'person' as the former is closely connected with the latter. The term 'person' is important from another point of view also viz., the charge of income-tax is on every 'person'.

The definition is inclusive i.e. a person includes,

(i) an individual,

(ii) a Hindu Undivided Family (HUF),

(iii) a company,

(iv) a firm,

(v) an AOP or a BOI, whether incorporated or not,

(vi) a local authority, and

(vii) every artificial juridical person e.g., an idol or deity.

We may briefly consider some of the above seven categories of assessees each of which constitutes a separate unit of assessment.

(i) Individual - The term 'individual' means only a natural person, i.e., a human being. It includes both males and females. It also includes a minor or a person of unsound mind. But the assessment in such a case may be made under section 161(1) on the guardian or manager of the minor or lunatic. In the case of deceased person, assessment would be made on the legal representative.

(ii) HUF - Under the Income-tax Act, a Hindu undivided family (HUF) is treated as a separate entity for the purpose of assessment. It is included in the definition of the term "person" under section 2(31). The levy of income-tax is on "every person". Therefore, income-tax is payable by a HUF. "Hindu undivided family" has not been defined under the Income-tax Act. The expression is however defined under the Hindu Law as a family, which consists of all males lineally descended from a common ancestor and includes their wives and unmarried daughters.

The relation of a HUF does not arise from a contract but arises from status. A Hindu is born into a HUF. A male member continues to remain a member of the family until there is a partition of the family. After the partition, he ceases to be a member of one family. However, he becomes a member of another smaller family. A female member ceases to be a member of the HUF in which she was born, when she gets married. Thereafter, she becomes a member of the HUF of her husband.

Some members of the HUF are called co-parceners. They are related to each other and to the head of the family. HUF may contain many members, but members within four degrees including the head of the family (kartha) are called co-parceners. A hindu co-parcenary includes those persons who acquire by birth an interest in the joint coparcenary property. Only the coparceners have a right to partition.

A Jain undivided family would also be assessed as a HUF, as Jains are also governed by the laws as Hindus.

(iii) Company [Section 2(17)] - For all purposes of the Act the term 'Company', has a much wider connotation than that under the Companies Act. Under the Act, the expression 'Company' means:

(1) any Indian company as defined in section 2(26); or

(2) any body corporate incorporated by or under the laws of a country outside India, i.e., any foreign company; or

(3) any institution, association or body which is assessable or was assessed as a company for any assessment year under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 or for any assessment year commencing on or before 1.4.1970 under the present Act; or

(4) any institution, association or body, whether incorporated or not and whether Indian or non-Indian, which is declared by a general or special order of the CBDT to be a company for such assessment years as may be specified in the CBDT's order.

Classes of Companies

(1) Domestic company [Section 2(22A)] - means an Indian company or any other company which, in respect of its income liable to income-tax, has made the prescribed arrangements for the declaration and payment of dividends (including dividends on preference shares) within India, payable out of such income.

Indian company [Section 2(26)] - Two conditions should be satisfied so that a company can be regarded as an Indian company -

(a) the company should have been formed and registered under any law relating to companies which was or is in force in any part of India, and

(b) the registered office or the principal office of the company should be in India.

The expression 'Indian Company' also includes:

(i) A corporation established by or under a Central, State or Provincial Act (like Financial Corporation or a State Road Transport Corporation),

(ii) An institution or association or body which is declared by the Board to be a company under section 2(17)(iv) provided its registered or principal office is in India.

(iii) in the case of the State of Jammu and Kashmir, a company formed and registered under any law for the time being in force in that State.

(iv) in the case of any of the Union territories of Dadra and Nagar Haveli, Goa, Daman and Diu, and Pondicherry, a company formed and registered under any law for the time being in force in that Union territory.

Company in which public are substantially interested [Section 2(18)] - The following companies are said to be companies in which the public are substantially interested:

(i) A company owned by the Government (either Central or State but not Foreign) or the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) or in which not less than 40% of the shares are held by the Government or the RBI or corporation owned by that bank.

(ii) A company which is registered under section 25 of the Companies Act, 1956 (formed for promoting commerce, arts, science, religion, charity or any other useful object).

(iii) A company having no share capital which is declared by the Board for the specified assessment years to be a company in which the public are substantially interested.

(iv) A company which is not a private company as defined in the Companies Act, 1956 and which fulfills any of the following conditions :

- its equity shares should have, as on the last day of the relevant previous year, been listed in a recognised stock exchange in India; or
- its equity shares carrying at least 50% (40% in case of industrial companies) voting power should have been unconditionally allotted to or acquired by and should have been beneficially held throughout the relevant previous year by (a) Government or (b) a Statutory Corporation or (c) a company in which public are substantially interested or (d) any wholly owned subsidiary of company mentioned in (c).

(v) A company which carries on its principal business of accepting deposits from its members and which is declared by the Central Government under section 620A of the Companies Act to be Nidhi or a Mutual Benefit Society.

(vi) A company whose equity shares carrying at least 50% of the voting power have been allotted unconditionally to or acquired unconditionally by and were beneficially held throughout the relevant previous year by one or more co-operative societies.

Person having substantial interest in the company [Section 2(32)] – is a person who is the beneficial owner of shares (not being shares entitled to a fixed rate of dividend), whether with or without a right to participate in profits, carrying at least 20% of the total voting power.

Note: The main criterion is the ‘beneficial’ ownership and not ‘legal’ ownership. Therefore, the registered holder of even the majority of equity shares, would not fall within this definition if he has no beneficial interest in the shares. On the other hand, a person who is beneficially entitled to atleast 20% of the equity share capital of a company would fall within this definition even if he is not the registered holder of any shares.

(2) Foreign company [Section 2(23A)] - Foreign company means a company which is not a domestic company.

(iv) Firm - The terms ‘firm’, ‘partner’ and ‘partnership’ have the same meanings as assigned to them in the Indian Partnership Act. However, for income-tax purposes a minor admitted to the benefits of an existing partnership would also be treated as partner. This is specified under section 2(23) of the Act. A partnership is the relation between persons who have agreed to share the profits of business carried on by all or any of them acting for all. The persons who have entered into partnership with one another are called individually ‘partners’ and collectively a ‘firm’.

(v) Association of Persons (AOP) - When persons combine together for promotion of joint enterprise they are assessable as an AOP when they do not in law constitute a partnership. In order to constitute an association, persons must join in a common purpose, common action and their object must be to produce income; it is not enough that the persons receive the income jointly. Co-heirs, co-legatees or co-donees joining together for a common purpose or action would be chargeable as an AOP.

Body of Individuals (BOI) – It denotes the status of persons like executors or trustees who merely receive the income jointly and who may be assessable in like manner and to the same extent as the beneficiaries individually. Thus co-executors or co-trustees are assessable as a BOI as their title and interest are indivisible. Income-tax shall not be payable by an assessee in respect of the receipt of share of income by him from BOI and on which the tax has already been paid by such BOI.

(vi) Local Authority - The term means a municipal committee, district board, body of port commissioners or other authority legally entitled to or entrusted by the Government with the control or management of a municipal or local fund.

Note : A local authority is taxable in respect of that part of its income which arises from any business carried on by it in so far as that income does not arise from the supply of a commodity or service within its own jurisdictional area. However, income arising from the supply of water and electricity even outside the local authority’s own jurisdictional areas is exempt from tax.

(vii) Artificial Persons - This category could cover every artificial juridical person not falling under other heads. An idol, or deity would be assessable in the status of an artificial juridical person.

2.4 INCOME [Section 2(24)] - Section 2(24) of the Act gives a statutory definition of income. This definition is inclusive and not exhaustive. Thus, it gives scope to include more items in the definition of income as circumstances may warrant. At present, the following items of receipts are included in income:—

(1) Profits and gains.

(2) Dividends.

(3) Voluntary contributions received by a trust/institution created wholly or partly for charitable or religious purposes or by an association or institution referred to in section 10(21) or section (23C)(iiiad)/(iiiae)/(iv)/(v)/(vi)/(via) –

Scientific research association approved under section 35(1)(ii)	10(21)
Universities and other educational institutions	10(23C)(iiiad) and (vi)
Hospitals and other medical institutions	10(23C) (iiiae) and (via)
Notified funds or institutions established for charitable purposes	10(23C)(iv)

(17) Any sum referred to clause (va) of Section 28. Thus, any sum, whether received or receivable in cash or kind, under an agreement for not carrying out any activity in relation to any business; or not sharing any know-how, patent, copy right, trade-mark, licence, franchise, or any other business or commercial right of a similar nature, or information or technique likely to assist in the manufacture or processing of goods or provision of services, shall be chargeable to income tax under the head "profits and gains of business or profession".

(18) Any sum referred to in section 56(2)(vi) – Gifts received by an individual or HUF from non-relatives on or after 1.4.2006, if the aggregate value of such gifts exceed Rs.50,000 during a year.

Students should carefully study the various items of receipts included in the above definition. Some of them like capital gains are not revenue receipts. However, since they have been included in the definition, they are chargeable as income under the Act. The concept of revenue and capital receipts is discussed hereunder –

The Act contemplates a levy of tax on income and not on capital and hence it is very essential to distinguish between capital and revenue receipts. The distinction between capital and revenue receipts is somewhat blurred. Even then, capital receipts cannot be taxed, unless they fall within the scope of the definition of "income" and so the distinction remains real and most material for tax purposes.

Certain capital receipts which have been specifically included in the definition of income are Compensation for modification or termination of services, income by way of capital gains etc.

It is not possible to lay down any single test as infallible or any single criterion as decisive, final and universal in application to determine whether a particular receipt is capital or revenue in nature. Hence, the capital or revenue nature of the receipt must be determined with reference to the facts and circumstances of each case.

Distinction between capital and revenue receipts

The following are some of the important criteria which may be applied to distinguish between capital and revenue receipts.

(1) A receipt referable to fixed capital would be a capital receipt whereas a receipt referable to circulating capital would be a revenue receipt. The former is exempt from tax while the latter is taxable. In cases where a capital asset is transmuted into income and the price realized on its sale takes the form of periodic payments (e.g., annuities and annual installment of capital), the receipt would be taxable even though it is referable to a capital asset.

(2) Profits arising from the sale of a capital asset are chargeable to tax as capital gains under section 45 whereas profits arising from the sale of a trading asset being of revenue nature are taxable as income from business under section 28 provided that the sale is in the regular course of assessees' business or the transaction constitutes an adventure in the nature of trade.

(3) Profits arising from transactions which are entered into in the course of the business regularly carried on by the assessee, or are incidental to, or associated with the business of the assessee would be revenue receipts chargeable to tax. For example, a banker's or financier's dealings in foreign exchange or sale of shares and securities, a shipbroker's purchases of ship in his own name, a share broker's purchase of shares on his own account would constitute transactions entered and yielding income in the ordinary course of their business. If transactions are partly in the course of and partly outside the regular trading activity of the assessee, the income arising therefrom must be segregated and allocated between the two parts and treated accordingly for tax purposes.

(4) In the case of profit arising from the sale of shares and securities the nature of the profit has to be ascertained from the motive, intention or purpose with which they were bought. If the shares were acquired as an investor or with a view to acquiring a controlling interest or for obtaining a managing or selling agency or a directorship the profit or loss on their sale would be of a capital nature; but if the shares were acquired in the ordinary course of business as a dealer in shares, it would be a taxable receipt. If the shares were acquired with speculative motive the profit or loss (although of a revenue nature) would have to be dealt with separately from other business.

(5) Even a single transaction may constitute a business or an adventure in the nature of trade even if it is outside the normal course of the assessee's business. Repetition of such transactions is not necessary. Thus, a bulk purchase followed by a bulk sale or a series of retail sales or bulk sale followed by a series of retail purchases would constitute an adventure in the nature of trade and consequently the income arising therefrom would be taxable. Purchase of any article with no intention to resell it, but resold under changed circumstances would be a transaction of a capital nature and capital gains arise. However, where an asset is purchased with the intention to resell it, the question whether the profit on sale is capital or revenue in nature depends upon (i) the conduct of the assessee, (ii) the nature and quantity of the article purchased, (iii) the nature of the operations involved, (iv) whether the venture is on capital or revenue account, and (v) other related circumstances of the case.

(6) In the case of annuities which are payable in specified sums at periodic intervals of time the receipt would be of a revenue nature even though it involves the conversion of capital into income for an annuity means the purchase of an income. An annuity received from an employer is taxable as "Income from salaries" whereas all other annuities are chargeable under the head "Income from other sources".

Annual payments, as distinguished from annuities, are in fact annual installments of capital. The purchase price of a business or property may be agreed to be paid in installments annually or otherwise. In such cases, the amount of installment received would be of capital nature not liable to tax. Thus, on the sale of property or business in consideration of annual payment:

(i) if the sale is for a price which is to be paid in installments, the installments would be capital receipts;

(ii) if the property is sold for an annuity payable regularly, the property disappears and the annuity which takes its place would be chargeable to tax;

(iii) if the property is sold for what looks like an annuity but actually there is no transmutation of the principal sum into income and the annual payments are merely installments of the principal sum with interest only so much of the amount of installments as representing the interest payable would be income chargeable to tax, the balance being capital receipt; and

(iv) if the property is sold for a consideration which is share of the profits or gross receipt of a business, the receipt of the share of profits would be the sale price but still chargeable to tax as income provided that the true bargain was to secure an income and not a fixed capital sum. However, if the circumstances of the case show that the receipts were only installments of a capital nature, though fluctuating in amount and measurable with reference to profits, they would not be taxable.

(7) A receipt in substitution of a source of income is capital receipt not chargeable to tax. Thus compensation received for restraint of trade or profession is a capital receipt. Where an assessee receives compensation of termination of the agency business being the only source of income the receipt is a capital nature but taxable under section 28(ii). But where the assessee has a number of agencies and one of them is terminated and compensation received therefore, the receipt would be of a revenue nature since taking agencies and exploiting the same for earning income is the ordinary course of business and the loss of one agency would be made good by taking another. Compensation received from the employer for premature termination of the service contract is a revenue receipt taxable under section 15. In case where the compensation received is partly of a capital and partly of a revenue nature, the two will have to be segregated and treated accordingly for tax purposes.

Awards in the case of a sportsman, who is not a professional, will not be liable to tax in his hands as it would not be in the nature of income.

A lump sum payment made gratuitously (i.e. gratuity, leave encashment) or by way of compensation or otherwise to the widow or other legal heirs of an employee, who dies while still in active service, is not taxable as income under the Act.

(8) A lumpsum paid in commutation of salaries, pension, royalties or other periodic payments would be income taxable under the respective heads. Amount received under a policy of insurance would be a capital or revenue receipt depending upon the fact whether the policy was held by the assessee as a capital asset or as a trading asset. Likewise, subsidies or grants received from the Government would be generally of a revenue nature since they would be to supplement the income from business. But where a grant is received for specific purpose but not as a supplementary trading receipt (e.g., to enable the company to relieve unemployment or promote family planning) the receipt would be of a capital nature not chargeable to tax. Premium or discount received by a debenture holder, being a capital receipt, would not be chargeable to tax

Mining royalties are revenue receipts taxable as income from other sources irrespective of the fact whether they are received in lump sum or by way of a fixed annual sum or a tonnage royalty or the minimum royalty. Similarly, royalties paid for use of whether paid in lump sum or in installments of fixed or varying amounts would be taxable as income whereas the payment received in lieu of total or partial assignment of patent under which the owner ceases to own the patent as a capital asset would constitute a capital receipt.

Premium on issue of shares or debentures, profit on forfeiture of shares and the fee charged on fresh issue of shares are capital receipts not chargeable to tax. The amount received by a shareholder on the winding up is a capital receipt (except where the receipt is a dividend under section 2(22)). But in case of a partnership, the amount receivable by an outgoing partner in respect of his share of the firm's profit whether, before or after its dissolution would be a revenue receipt chargeable to tax. Compensation received by a partner for relinquishing all his interests in the firm and amounts received in settlement of claim to an interest in the capital of a firm are capital receipts.

It is necessary to note that the capital or revenue nature of a receipt would have to be determined on the basis of the particular facts and circumstances of each case and the question whether a certain item is capital or revenue would be a mixed question of law and fact.

(9) Normally, gifts constitute capital receipts in the hands of the recipient. However, it is possible that gifts may partake the character of income under certain circumstances. Example :

(i) Gifts received by doctors from their patients is taxable under the head Profits and Gains from Business or Profession.

(ii) Any sum of money received without consideration by an individual or a HUF from any person, other than a relative, is chargeable under the head "Income from Other Sources", if the aggregate value of such gifts exceed Rs.50,000 during the year. [For details, refer to Unit 5 of Chapter 4 on "Income from Other Sources"].

2.5 DIVIDEND [Section 2(22)] - The term 'dividend' as used in the Act has a wider scope and meaning than under the general law. According to section 2(22) of the Act, the following receipts are deemed to be dividend:

(a) Distribution of accumulated profits, entailing the release of company's assets - Any distribution of accumulated profits, whether capitalised or not, by a company to its shareholders is dividend if it entails the release of all or any part of its assets. For example, if accumulated profits are distributed in cash it is dividend in the hands of the shareholders. Where accumulated profits are distributed in kind, for example by delivery of shares etc. entailing the release of company's assets, the market value of such shares on the date of such distribution is deemed dividend in the hands of the shareholder.

(b) Distribution of debentures, deposit certificates and bonus shares to preference shareholders - Any distribution to its shareholders by a company of debenture stock or deposit certificate in any form, whether with or without interest, and any distribution of bonus shares to preference shareholders to the extent to which the company possesses accumulated profits, whether capitalised or not, will be deemed as dividend. The market value of such bonus shares is taxable in the hands of the preference shareholder. In the case of debentures, debenture stock etc., their value is to be taken at the market rate and if there is no market rate they should be valued according to accepted principles of valuation.

Note: Bonus shares given to equity shareholders are not treated as dividend.

(c) Distribution on liquidation - Any distribution made to the shareholders of a company on its liquidation, to the extent to which the distribution is attributable to the accumulated profits of the company immediately before its liquidation, whether capitalised or not, is deemed to be dividend income.

Note: Any distribution made out of the profits of the company after the date of the liquidation cannot amount to dividend. It is a repayment towards capital.

Accumulated profits include all profits of the company up to the date of liquidation whether capitalised or not. But where liquidation is consequent to the compulsory acquisition of an undertaking by the Government or by any corporation owned or controlled by the Government, the accumulated profits do not include any profits of the company prior to the 3 successive previous years immediately preceding the previous year in which such acquisition took place subject to certain exceptions.

(d) Distribution on reduction of capital - Any distribution to its shareholders by a company on the reduction of its capital to the extent to which the company possessed accumulated profits, whether capitalised or not, shall be deemed to be dividend.

Exception - The same exceptions as given in case (c) above shall also apply in this case.

(e) Advance or loan by a closely held company to its shareholder - Any payment by a company in which the public are not substantially interested of any sum by way of advance or loan to any shareholder who is the beneficial owner of 10% or more of the equity capital of the company will be deemed to be dividend to the extent of the accumulated profits. If the loan is not covered by the accumulated profits, it is not deemed to be dividend.

There are two exceptions to this rule:

(i) If the loan is granted in the ordinary course of its business and lending of money is a substantial part of the company's business, the loan or advance to a shareholder is not deemed to be dividend.

(ii) Where a loan had been treated as dividend and subsequently the company declares and distributes dividend to all its shareholders including the borrowing shareholder, and the dividend so paid is set off by the company against the previous borrowing, the adjusted amount will not be again treated as a dividend.

Advance or loan by a closely held company to a specified concern - Any payment by a company in which the public are not substantially interested to any concern (i.e. HUF / Firm / AOP / BOI / Company) in which a shareholder, having the beneficial ownership of atleast 10% of the equity shares is a member or a partner and in which he has a substantial interest (i.e. atleast 20% share of the income of the concern). The dividend income shall be taxable in the hands of the concern. Also, any payments by such a closely held company on behalf of, or for the individual benefit of any such shareholder will also deemed to be dividend. However, in both cases the ceiling limit of dividend is the extent of accumulated profits.

Illustration : Suppose Mr. X is a shareholder in a Company A as well as Company B. He has 10% shareholding in Company A and 20% shareholding in Company B. The accumulated profits of Company A = Rs.10 lakh. A loan of Rs.12 lakh is given by Company A to Company B. This loan up to the extent of accumulated profits of Rs.10 lakh is treated as dividend and is taxable in the hands of Company B.

Other exceptions

Apart from the exceptions cited above, the following also do not constitute "dividend" -

(i) Any payment made by a company on purchase of its own shares from a shareholder in accordance with the provisions of section 77A of the Companies Act, 1956;

(ii) any distribution of shares on demerger by the resulting companies to the shareholders of the demerged company (whether or not there is a reduction of capital in the demerged company).

Basis of charge of dividend

Any income by way of dividends, referred to under section 115-O, is excluded from the total income of the shareholder [Section 10(34)]. Under section 115-O, any dividend declared, distributed or paid by a domestic company, whether out of current or accumulated profits, shall be charged to additional income-tax at a flat rate of 15% in addition to normal income-tax chargeable on the income of the company. This is known as corporate dividend tax. Corporate dividend tax is not leviable on deemed dividend under section 2(22)(e). Hence, the same will be taxed in the hands of the shareholder.

Dividends received from a company, other than a domestic company, are still liable to tax in the hands of the shareholder. For example, dividend received from a foreign company is liable to tax in the hands of the shareholder.

Year of accrual of dividend

Section 8 of the Act provides that deemed dividend under section 2(22) declared by a company or distributed or paid by it shall be deemed to be the income of the previous year in which it is declared, distributed or paid, as the case may be. Any interim dividend shall be deemed to be the income of the previous year in which the amount is unconditionally made available to the member who is entitled to it.

(5) Company

(a)	In the case of a domestic company	30% of the total income
(b)	In the case of a company other than a domestic company	50% of specified royalties & fees for a rendering technical services and 40% on the balance of total income.

The above rates are prescribed by the annual Finance Acts. However, in respect of certain types of income, as mentioned below, the Income-tax Act has prescribed specific rates –

(1) Section 112 has prescribed the rate of tax @20% in respect of long term capital gains (For details, refer Unit 4 of Chapter 4 – Capital gains)

(2) Section 111A provides for a concessional rate of tax (i.e. 15%) on the short-term capital gains on transfer of -

(i) an equity share in a company or

(ii) a unit of an equity oriented fund.

The conditions for availing the benefit of this concessional rate are –

(i) the transaction of sale of such equity share or unit should be entered into on or after 1.10.2004 and

(ii) such transaction should be chargeable to securities transaction tax.

(3) Section 115BB prescribes the rate of tax @30% for winnings from-

(i) any lottery; or

(ii) crossword puzzle; or

(iii) race including horse race; or

(iv) card game and other game of any sort; or

(v) gambling or betting of any form.

3.3 SURCHARGE

(1) In the case of every person being an individual, HUF, AOP or BOI whose income exceeds Rs.10,00,000, the amount of income-tax after allowing rebate u/s 88E, is to be increased by a surcharge calculated @ 10% of such income-tax.

(2) In the case of artificial juridical person, surcharge @ 10% will be applicable on the total income.

(3) In the case of firms, a surcharge @ 10% on total tax will be payable, where the total income exceeds Rs.1 crore.

(4) In the case of domestic companies, the rate of surcharge is 10%, where the total income exceeds Rs.1 crore.

(5) In the case of foreign companies, the rate of surcharge is 2.5%, where the total income exceeds Rs.1 crore.

(6) No surcharge is payable in the case of cooperative society and local authority.

3.4 MARGINAL RELIEF

In case of such individuals / HUFs / AOPs / BOIs having a total income exceeding Rs.10,00,000, the additional amount of income-tax payable (together with surcharge) on the excess of income over Rs.10,00,000 should not be more than the amount of income exceeding Rs.10,00,000. This is called 'marginal relief'.

Illustration : Suppose Mr. X has total income of Rs.10 lakh.

Tax on this income = Rs.0 + 10% of Rs.1,50,000 + 20% of Rs.2,00,000+30% of Rs.5,00,000
= Rs.2,05,000.

Surcharge is not attracted on this tax since the total income does not exceed Rs.10 lakh.

However, if his total income is Rs.10,10,000, then

Tax on this income = Rs.0 + 10% of Rs.1,50,000 + 20% of Rs.2,00,000 + 30% of Rs.5,10,000

= Rs.2,08,000.

Add: Surcharge = Rs 20,800 [10% of Rs.2,08,000]

Rs 2,28,800

On comparing the two situations, it is seen that for Rs.10,000 [i.e. Rs.10,10,000 – Rs.10,00,000] increase in the total income, the tax liability including surcharge has increased by Rs.23,800 [i.e. Rs.2,28,800 – Rs.2,05,000].

Marginal relief = Rs.23,800 – Rs.10,000 = Rs.13,800

Tax payable = Rs.2,05,000 + Rs.10,000 = Rs.2,15,000

This concept of marginal relief is also applicable in the case of firms and companies w.e.f. A.Y.2008-09. Marginal relief is available in case of firms/companies having a total income exceeding Rs.1 crore i.e. the additional amount of income-tax payable (together with surcharge) on the excess of income over Rs.1 crore should not be more than the amount of income exceeding Rs.1 crore.

3.5 EDUCATION CESS AND SECONDARY AND HIGHER EDUCATION CESS ON INCOME-TAX

The amount of income-tax as increased by the union surcharge should be further increased by an additional surcharge called the "Education cess on income-tax", calculated at the rate of 2% of such income-tax and surcharge. Education cess is leviable in the case of all assessees i.e. individuals, HUF, AOP / BOI, firms, local authorities, co-operative societies and companies. Further, "Secondary and higher education cess on income-tax" @1% of income-tax plus surcharge, if applicable, is leviable to fulfill the commitment of the Government to provide and finance secondary and higher education.

UNIT – 4 : CONCEPT OF PREVIOUS YEAR AND ASSESSMENT YEAR

Learning Objectives

After studying this unit, you would be able to understand –

- the meaning and relevance of assessment year and previous year
- what is the previous year for undisclosed sources of income
- circumstances when income of the previous year would be assessed to tax in the previous year itself.

4.1 MEANING OF ASSESSMENT YEAR AND PREVIOUS YEAR

(1) Assessment year - The term has been defined under section 2(9). This means a period of 12 months commencing on 1st April every year. The year in which tax is paid is called the assessment year while the year in respect of the income of which the tax is levied is called the previous year. For example, for the assessment year 2009-10, the relevant previous year is 2008-09 (1.4.2008 to 31.3.2009).

(2) Previous year [Section 3] – It means the financial year immediately preceding the assessment year. The income earned during the previous year is taxed in the assessment year.

Business or profession newly set up during the financial year - In such a case, the previous year shall be the period beginning on the date of setting up of the business or profession and ending with 31st March of the said financial year.

If a source of income comes into existence in the said financial year, then the previous year will commence from the date on which the source of income newly comes into existence and will end with 31st March of the financial year.

Illustration:

1. A is running a business from 1992 onwards. Determine the previous year for the assessment year 2009-10.

Ans. The previous year will be 1.4.2008 to 31.3.2009.

2. A chartered accountant sets up his profession on 1st July, 2008. Determine the previous year for the assessment year 2009-10.

Ans. The previous year will be from 1.7.2008 to 31.3.2009.

4.2 PREVIOUS YEAR FOR UNDISCLOSED SOURCES OF INCOME

There are many occasions when the Assessing Officer detects cash credits, unexplained investments, unexplained expenditure etc, the source for which is not satisfactorily explained by the assessee to the Assessing Officer. The Act contains a series of provisions to provide for these contingencies:

(1) Cash Credits [Section 68]

Where any sum is found credited in the books of the assessee and the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and source or the explanation offered is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, the sum so credited may be charged as income of the assessee of that previous year.

(2) Unexplained Investments [Section 69]

Where in the financial year immediately preceding the assessment year, the assessee has made investments which are not recorded in the books of account and the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and the source of investments or the explanation offered is not satisfactory, the value of the investments are taxed as income of the assessee of such financial year.

(3) Unexplained money etc. [Section 69A]

Where in any financial year the assessee is found to be the owner of any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article and the same is not recorded in the books of account and the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and source of acquisition of such money, bullion etc. or the explanation offered is not satisfactory, the money and the value of bullion etc. may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for such financial year. Ownership is important and mere possession is not enough.

(4) Amount of investments etc., not fully disclosed in the books of account [Section 69B]

Where in any financial year the assessee has made investments or is found to be the owner of any bullion, jewellery or other valuable article and the Assessing Officer finds that the amount spent on making such investments or in acquiring such articles exceeds the amount recorded in the books of account maintained by the assessee and he offers no explanation for the difference or the explanation offered is unsatisfactory, such excess may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for such financial year.

For example, if the assessee is found to be the owner of say 300 gms of gold (market value of which is Rs.25,000) during the financial year ending 31.3.09 but he has recorded to have spent Rs.15,000 in acquiring it, the Assessing Officer can add Rs.10,000 (i.e. the difference of the market value of such gold and Rs.15,000) as the income of the assessee, if the assessee offers no satisfactory explanation thereof.

(5) Unexplained expenditure [Section 69C]

Where in any financial year an assessee has incurred any expenditure and he offers no explanation about the source of such expenditure or the explanation is unsatisfactory the Assessing Officer can treat such unexplained expenditure as the income of the assessee for such financial year. Such unexplained expenditure which is deemed to be the income of the assessee shall not be allowed as deduction under any head of income.

(6) Amount borrowed or repaid on hundi [Section 69D]

Where any amount is borrowed on a hundi or any amount due thereon is repaid other than through an account-payee cheque drawn on a bank, the amount so borrowed or repaid shall be deemed to be the income of the person borrowing or repaying for the previous year in which the amount was borrowed or repaid, as the case may be.

However, where any amount borrowed on a hundi has been deemed to be the income of any person, he will not be again liable to be assessed in respect of such amount on repayment of such amount. The amount repaid shall include interest paid on the amount borrowed.

4.3 CERTAIN CASES WHEN INCOME OF A PREVIOUS YEAR WILL BE ASSESSED IN THE PREVIOUS YEAR ITSELF

The income of an assessee for a previous year is charged to income-tax in the assessment year following the previous year. However, in a few cases, this rule does not apply and the income is taxed in the previous year in which it is earned. These exceptions have been made to protect the interests of revenue. The exceptions are as follows:

(1) Shipping business of non-resident [Section 172] - Where a ship, belonging to or chartered by a non-resident, carries passengers, livestock, mail or goods shipped at a port in India, the ship is allowed to leave the port only when the tax has been paid or satisfactory arrangement has been made for payment thereof. 7.5% of the freight paid or payable to the owner or the charterer or to any person on his behalf, whether in India or outside India on account of such carriage is deemed to be his income which is charged to tax in the same year in which it is earned.

(2) Persons leaving India [Section 174] - Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that any individual may leave India during the current assessment year or shortly after its expiry and he has no present intention of returning to India, the total income of such individual for the period from the expiry of the respective previous year up to the probable date of his departure from India is chargeable to tax in that assessment year.

Example: Suppose Mr. X is leaving India for USA on 10.6.2009 and it appears to the Assessing Officer that he has no intention to return. Before leaving India, Mr. X will be required to pay income tax on the income earned during the P.Y. 2008-09 as well as the total income earned during the period 1.4.2009 to 10.06.2009.

(3) AOP / BOI / Artificial Juridical Person formed for a particular event or purpose [Section 174A] - If an AOP/BOI etc. is formed or established for a particular event or purpose and the Assessing Officer apprehends that the AOP/BOI is likely to be dissolved in the same year or in the next year, he can make assessment of the income up to the date of dissolution as income of the relevant assessment year.

(4) Persons likely to transfer property to avoid tax [Section 175] - During the current assessment year, if it appears to the Assessing Officer that a person is likely to charge, sell, transfer, dispose of or otherwise part with any of his assets to avoid payment of any liability under this Act, the total income of such person for the period from the expiry of the previous year to the date, when the Assessing Officer commences proceedings under this section is chargeable to tax in that assessment year.

(5) Discontinued business [Section 176] - Where any business or profession is discontinued in any assessment year, the income of the period from the expiry of the previous year up to the date of such discontinuance may, at the discretion of the Assessing Officer, be charged to tax in that assessment year.

CHAPTER 2

RESIDENCE AND SCOPE OF TOTAL INCOME

UNIT – 1 : RESIDENTIAL STATUS AND SCOPE OF TOTAL INCOME

Learning objectives

After studying this unit, you would be able to understand -

- the relevance and significance of residential status in determining total income of a person
- the types of residential status
- the rules for determining residential status for different categories of persons
- the scope of income includible in total income for each residential status

1.1 RESIDENTIAL STATUS [SECTION 6]

The incidence of tax on any assessee depends upon his residential status under the Act. Therefore, after determining whether a particular amount is capital or revenue in nature, if the receipt is of a revenue nature and chargeable to tax, it has to be seen whether the assessee is liable to tax in respect of that income. The taxability of a particular receipt would thus depend upon not only the nature of the income and the place of its accrual or receipt but also upon the assessee's residential status.

For all purposes of income-tax, taxpayers are classified into three broad categories on the basis of their residential status. viz

(1) Resident and ordinarily resident

(2) Resident but not ordinarily resident

(3) Non-resident

The residential status of an assessee must be ascertained with reference to each previous year. A person who is resident and ordinarily resident in one year may become non-resident or resident but not ordinarily resident in another year or vice versa. The provisions for determining the residential status of assessees are:

(1) Residential status of Individuals

Under section 6(1), an individual is said to be resident in India in any previous year, if he satisfies any one of the following conditions:

(i) He has been in India during the previous year for a total period of 182 days or more, or

(ii) He has been in India during the 4 years immediately preceding the previous year for a total period of 365 days or more and has been in India for at least 60 days in the previous year.

If the individual satisfies any one of the conditions mentioned above, he is a resident. If both the above conditions are not satisfied, the individual is a non-resident.

Note:

(a) The term "stay in India" includes stay in the territorial waters of India (i.e. 12 nautical miles into the sea from the Indian coastline). Even the stay in a ship or boat moored in the territorial waters of India would be sufficient to make the individual resident in India.

(b) It is not necessary that the period of stay must be continuous or active nor is it essential that the stay should be at the usual place of residence, business or employment of the individual.

(c) For the purpose of counting the number of days stayed in India, both the date of departure as well as the date of arrival are considered to be in India.

(d) The residence of an individual for income-tax purpose has nothing to do with citizenship, place of birth or domicile. An individual can, therefore, be resident in more countries than one even though he can have only one domicile.

Exceptions:

The following categories of individuals will be treated as residents only if the period of their stay during the relevant previous year amounts to 182 days. In other words even if such persons were in India for 365 days during the 4 preceding years and 60 days in the relevant previous year, they will not be treated as resident.

(1) Indian citizens, who leave India in any previous year as a member of the crew of an Indian ship or for purposes of employment outside India, or

(2) Indian citizen or person of Indian origin* engaged outside India in an employment or a business or profession or in any other vocation, who comes on a visit to India in any previous year

* A person is said to be of Indian origin if he or either of his parents or either of his grandparents were born in undivided India.

Not-ordinarily resident - Only individuals and HUF can be resident but not ordinarily resident in India. All other classes of assessees can be either a resident or non-resident. A not-ordinarily resident person is one who satisfies any one of the conditions specified under section 6(6).

(i) If such individual has been non-resident in India in any 9 out of the 10 previous years preceding the relevant previous year, or

(ii) If such individual has during the 7 previous years preceding the relevant previous year been in India for a period of 729 days or less.

> Note: In simpler terms, an individual is said to be a resident and ordinarily resident if he satisfies both the following conditions:
> (i) He is a resident in any 2 out of the last 10 years preceding the relevant previous year, and
> (ii) His total stay in India in the last 7 years preceding the relevant previous year is 730 days or more.
> If the individual satisfies both the conditions mentioned above, he is a resident and ordinarily resident but if only one or none of the conditions are satisfied, the individual is a resident but not ordinarily resident.

Illustration 1

Steve Waugh, the Australian cricketer comes to India for 100 days every year. Find out his residential status for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

For the purpose of his residential status in India for A.Y. 2009-10, the relevant previous year is 2008-09.

Step 1: The total stay of Steve Waugh in the last 4 years preceding the previous year is 400 days (i.e.100 × 4) and his stay in the previous year is 100 days. Therefore, since he has satisfied the second condition in section 6(1), he is a resident.

Step 2: Since his total stay in India in the last 7 years preceding the previous year is 700 days (i.e. 100 × 7), he does not satisfy the minimum requirement of 730 days in 7 years. Any one of the conditions not being satisfied, the individual is resident but not ordinarily resident.

Therefore, the residential status of Steve Waugh for the assessment year 2009-10 is resident but not ordinarily resident.

Illustration 2

Mr. B, a Canadian citizen, comes to India for the first time during the P.Y.2004-05. During the financial years 2004-05, 2005-06, 2006-07, 2007-08 and 2008-09, he was in India for 55 days, 60 days, 90 days, 150 days and 70 days respectively. Determine his residential status for the A.Y.2009-10.

Solution

During the previous year 2008-09, Mr. B was in India for 70 days and during the 4 years preceding the previous year 2008-09, he was in India for 355 days (i.e. 55+ 60+ 90+ 150 days).

Thus, he does not satisfy section 6(1). Therefore, he is a non-resident for the previous year 2008-09.

Illustration 3

Mr. C, a Japanese citizen left India after a stay of 10 years on 1.06.2006. During the financial year 2007-08, he comes to India for 46 days. Later, he returns to India for 1 year on 10.10.2008. Determine his residential status for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

During the previous year 2008-09, Mr. C was in India for 173 days (i.e. 22+ 30+ 31+ 31+ 28+ 31 days). His stay in the last 4 years is:

2007-08	-	46
2006-07	-	62	(i.e. 30 + 31 + 1)
2005-06	-	365	(since he left India on 01.06.2006 after 10 years)
		838

Mr. C is a resident since his stay in the previous year 2008-09 is 173 days and in the last 4 years is more than 365 days.

For the purpose of being ordinarily resident, it is evident from the above calculations, that

(i) his stay in the last 7 years is more than 730 days and

(ii) since he was in India for 10 years prior to 1.6.2006, he was a resident in at least 2 out of the last 10 years preceding the relevant previous year.

Therefore, Mr.C is a resident and ordinarily resident for the A.Y.2009-10.

Illustration 4

Mr. D, an Indian citizen, leaves India on 22.9.2008 for the first time, to work as an officer of a company in France. Determine his residential status for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

During the previous year 2008-09, Mr. D, an Indian citizen, was in India for 175 days (i.e. 30+ 31+ 30+31+ 31+22 days). He does not satisfy the minimum criteria of 182 days. Also, since he is an Indian citizen leaving India for the purposes of employment, the second condition under section 6(1) is not applicable to him.

Therefore, Mr. D is a non-resident for the A.Y.2009-10.

(2) Residential status of HUF

A HUF would be resident in India if the control and management of its affairs is situated wholly or partly in India. If the control and management of the affairs is situated wholly outside India it would become a non-resident.

The expression 'control and management' referred to under section 6 refers to the central control and management and not to the carrying on of day-to-day business by servants, employees or agents. The business may be done from outside India and yet its control and management may be wholly within India. Therefore, control and management of a business is said to be situated at a place where the head and brain of the adventure is situated. The place of control may be different from the usual place of running the business and sometimes even the registered office of the assessee. This is because the control and management of a business need not necessarily be done from the place of business or from the registered office of the assessee. But control and management do imply the functioning of the controlling and directing power at a particular place with some degree of permanence.

If the HUF is resident, then the status of the Karta determines whether it is resident and ordinarily resident or resident but not ordinarily resident. If the karta is resident and ordinarily resident, then the HUF is resident and ordinarily resident and if the karta is resident but not ordinarily resident, then HUF is resident but not ordinarily resident.

Illustration 5

The business of a HUF is transacted from Australia and all the policy decisions are taken there. Mr. E, the karta of the HUF, who was born in Kolkata, visits India during the P.Y.2008-09 after 15 years. He comes to India on 1.4.2008 and leaves for Australia on 1.12.2008. Determine the residential status of Mr.E and the HUF for A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

(a) During the P.Y.2008-09, Mr. E has stayed in India for 245 days (i.e. 30+31+30+31+31+ 30+31+30+1 days). Therefore, he is resident. However, since he has come to India after 15 years, he cannot satisfy any of the conditions for being ordinarily resident.

Therefore, the residential status of Mr. E for the P.Y. 2008-09 is resident but not ordinarily resident.

(b) Since the business of the HUF is transacted from Australia and nothing is mentioned regarding its control and management, it is assumed that the control and management is also wholly outside India. Therefore, the HUF is a non-resident for the P.Y. 2008-09.

(3) Residential status of firms and association of persons

A firm and an AOP would be resident in India if the control and management of its affairs is situated wholly or partly in India. Where the control and management of the affairs is situated wholly outside India, the firm would become a non-resident.

(4) Residential status of companies

A company is said to be resident in India if -

(i) it is an Indian company as defined under section 2(26), or

(ii) its control and management is situated wholly in India during the accounting year.

Thus, every Indian company is resident in India irrespective of the fact whether the control and management of its affairs is exercised from India or outside. But a company, other than an Indian company, would become resident in India only if the entire control and management of its affairs is in India.

The control and management of the affairs of company are said to be exercised from the place where the director's meetings (not shareholders' meetings) are held, decisions taken and directions issued.

(5) Residential status of local authorities and artificial juridical persons

Local authorities and artificial juridical persons would be resident in India if the control and management of its affairs is situated wholly or partly in India. Where the control and management of the affairs is situated wholly outside India, they would become non-residents.

1.2 SCOPE OF TOTAL INCOME

Section 5 provides the scope of total income in terms of the residential status of the assessee because the incidence of tax on any person depends upon his residential status. The scope of total income of an assessee depends upon the following three important considerations:

(i) the residential status of the assessee (as discussed earlier);

(ii) the place of accrual or receipt of income, whether actual or deemed; and

(iii) the point of time at which the income had accrued to or was received by or on behalf of the assessee.

The ambit of total income of the three classes of assessees would be as follows:

(1) Resident and ordinarily resident - The total income of a resident assessee would, under section 5(1), consists of:

(i) income received or deemed to be received in India during the previous year;

(ii) income which accrues or arises or is deemed to accrue or arise in India during the previous year; and

(iii) income which accrues or arises outside India even if it is not received or brought into India during the previous year.

In simpler terms, a resident and ordinarily resident has to pay tax on the total income accrued or deemed to accrue, received or deemed to be received in or outside India.

(2) Resident but not ordinarily resident – Under section 5(1), the computation of total income of resident but not ordinarily resident is the same as in the case of resident and ordinarily resident stated above except for the fact that the income accruing or arising to him outside India is not to be included in his total income. However, where such income is derived from a business controlled from or profession set up in India, then it must be included in his total income even though it accrues or arises outside India.

(3) Non-resident - A non-resident's total income under section 5(2) includes:

(i) income received or deemed to be received in India in the previous year; and

(ii) income which accrues or arises or is deemed to accrue or arise in India during the previous year.

Note:

UNIT – 2 : DEEMED RECEIPT AND ACCRUAL OF INCOME IN INDIA

Learning objectives

After studying this unit, you would be able to understand -

- which are the income deemed to be received in India
- the meaning of income accruing or arising in India
- which are the income deemed to accrue or arise in India.

The taxability of a certain item as income would depend upon the method of accounting followed by the assessee. This is because under the cash system of accounting an income would be taxable only when it is received by the assessee himself or on his behalf. But under the mercantile system it would be taxable once the assessee gets the legal right to claim the amount. However, it has been specifically provided that in the case of income from salaries, the liability to tax arises immediately when the income is due to the assessee irrespective of the method of accounting followed. Likewise, in the case of dividends, the income would be included in total income of the shareholder under section 8 in the year in which the final dividend is declared and, in the case of interim dividend, in the year in which they are made unconditionally available to the shareholders.

2.1 MEANING OF "INCOME RECEIVED OR DEEMED TO BE RECEIVED"

All assessees are liable to tax in respect of the income received or deemed to be received by them in India during the previous year irrespective of -

(i) their residential status, and

(ii) the place of its accrual.

Income is to be included in the total income of the assessee immediately on its actual or deemed receipt. The receipt of income refers to only the first occasion when the recipient gets the money under his control. Therefore, when once an amount is received as income, remittance or transmission of that amount from one place or person to another does not constitute receipt of income in the hands of the subsequent recipient or at the place of subsequent receipt.

Income deemed to be received – Under section 7, the following shall be deemed to be received by the assessee during the previous year irrespective of whether he had actually received the same or not -

(i) The annual accretion in the previous year to the balance to the credit of an employee participating in a recognised provident fund (RPF). Thus, the contribution of the employer in excess of 12% of salary or interest credited in excess of 9.5% p.a. is deemed to be received by the assessee.

(ii) The taxable transferred balance from unrecognized to recognized provident fund (being the employer's contribution and interest thereon).

(iii) The contribution made by the Central Government or any other employer in the previous year to the account of an employee under a pension scheme referred to under section 80CCD.

2.2 MEANING OF INCOME 'ACCRUING' AND 'ARISING'

Accrue refers to the right to receive income, whereas due refers to the right to enforce payment of the same. For e.g. salary for work done in December will accrue throughout the month, day to day, but will become due on the salary bill being passed on 31st December or 1st January. Similarly, on Government securities, interest payable on specified dates arise during the period of holding, day to day, but will become due for payment on the specified dates. Example: Interest on Government securities is usually payable on specified dates, say on 1st January and 1st July. In all such cases, the interest would be said to accrue from 1st July to 31st December and on 1st January, it will fall due for payment.

It must be noted that income which has been taxed on accrual basis cannot be assessed again on receipt basis, as it will amount to double taxation. For example, when a loan to a director has already been treated as dividend under section 2(22)(e) and later dividend is declared, distributed and adjusted against the loan, the same cannot be treated as dividend income again.

With a view to removing difficulties and clarifying doubts in the taxation of income, Explanation 1 to Section 5 specifically provides that an item of income accruing or arising outside India shall not be deemed to be received in India merely because it is taken into account in a balance sheet prepared in India.

Further, Explanation 2 to Section 5 makes it clear that once an item of income is included in the assessee's total income and subjected to tax on the ground of its accrual/deemed accrual or receipt, it cannot again be included in the person's total income and subjected to tax either in the same or in a subsequent year on the ground of its receipt - whether actual or deemed.

2.3 INCOME DEEMED TO ACCRUE OR ARISE IN INDIA [SECTION 9]

Certain types of income are deemed to accrue or arise in India even though they may actually accrue or arise outside India. The categories of income which are deemed to accrue or arise in India are:

(i) Any income accruing or arising to an assessee in any place outside India whether directly or indirectly (a) through or from any business connection in India, (b) through or from any property in India, (c) through or from any asset or source of income in India or (d) through the transfer of a capital asset situated in India.

(ii) Income, which falls under the head "Salaries", if it is earned in India. Any income under the head "Salaries" payable for rest period or leave period which is preceded and succeeded by services rendered in India, and forms part of the service contract of employment, shall be regarded as income earned in India.

(iii) Income from 'Salaries' which is payable by the Government to a citizen of India for services rendered outside India (However, allowances and perquisites paid outside India by the Government is exempt).

(iv) Dividend paid by a Indian company outside India.

(v) Interest (discussed in para 5 below)

(vi) Royalty (discussed in para 6 below)

(vii) Fees for technical services (discussed in para 7 below)

(1)(a) Income from business connection

The expression "business connection" has been explained in Explanation 2 to section 9(1)(i).

(i) 'Business connection' shall include any business activity carried out through a person acting on behalf of the non-resident.

(ii) He must have an authority which is habitually exercised to conclude contracts on behalf of the non-resident. However, if his activities are limited to the purchase of goods or merchandise for the non-resident, this provision will not apply.

(iii) Where he has no such authority, but habitually maintains in India a stock of goods or merchandise from which he regularly delivers goods or merchandise on behalf of the non-resident, a business connection is established.

(iv) Business connection is also established where he habitually secures orders in India, mainly or wholly for the non-resident. Further, there may be situations when other non-residents control the above-mentioned non-resident. Secondly, this non-resident may also control other non-residents. Thirdly, all other non-residents may be subject to the same common control, as that of the non-resident. In all the three situations, business connection is established, where a person habitually secures orders in India, mainly or wholly for such non-residents.

Exception:

"Business connection", however, shall not be held to be established in cases where the non-resident carries on business through a broker, general commission agent or any other agent of an independent status, if such a person is acting in the ordinary course of his business.

A broker, general commission agent or any other agent shall be deemed to have an independent status where he does not work mainly or wholly for the non-resident. He will however, not be considered to have an independent status in the three situations explained in (iv) above, where he is employed by such a non-resident.

Where a business is carried on in India through a person referred to in (ii), (iii) or (iv) mentioned above, only so much of income as is attributable to the operations carried out in India shall be deemed to accrue or arise in India.

(1) (b) &(c) Income from property, asset or source of income

Any income which arises from any property (movable, immovable, tangible and intangible property) would be deemed to accrue or arise in India eg. hire charges or rent paid outside India for the use of the machinery or buildings situated in India, deposits with an Indian company for which interest is received outside India etc.

(1)(d) Income from the transfer of a capital asset

Capital gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset situated in India would be deemed to accrue or arise in India in all cases irrespective of the fact whether (i) the capital asset is movable or immovable, tangible or intangible; (ii) the place of registration of the document of transfer etc., is in India or outside; and (iii) the place of payment of the consideration for the transfer is within India or outside.

(2) & (3) Income from salaries

Under section 9(1)(ii) income which falls under the head 'salaries', would be deemed to accrue or arise in India, if it is in respect of services rendered in India.

Exception under section 9(2):

Pension payable outside India by the Government to its officials and judges who permanently reside outside India shall not be deemed to accrue or arise in India. It may however, be noted here that the salary of an employee in the United Nations Organisation (UNO) or in its constituent bodies is exempt under United Nations (Privilege and Immunity) Act.

(4) Income from dividends

All dividends paid by an Indian company must be deemed to accrue or arise in India. Under section 10(34), income from dividends referred to in section 115-O are exempt from tax in the hands of the shareholder. It may be noted that dividend distribution tax under section 115-O does not apply to deemed dividend under section 2(22)(e), which is chargeable in the previous year in which such dividend is distributed or paid.

(5) Interest

Under section 9(1)(v), an interest is deemed to accrue or arise in India if it is payable by -

(i) the Central Government or any State Government.

(ii) a person resident in India (except where it is payable in respect of any money borrowed and used for the purposes of a business or profession carried on by him outside India or for the purposes of making or earning any income from any source outside India)

(iii) a non-resident when it is payable in respect of any debt incurred or moneys borrowed and used for the purpose of a business or profession carried on in India by him. Interest on money borrowed by the non-resident for any purpose other than a business or profession, will not be deemed to accrue or arise in India. Thus, if a non-resident 'A' borrows money from a non-resident 'B' and invests the same in shares of an Indian company, interest payable by 'A' to 'B' will not be deemed to accrue or arise in India.

(6) Royalty

Royalty will be will be deemed to accrue or arise in India when it is payable by -

(i) the Government; or

(ii) a person who is a resident in India except in cases where it is payable for the transfer of any right or the use of any property or information or for the utilization of services for the purposes of a business or profession carried on by such person outside India or for the purposes of making or earning any income from any source outside India; or

(iii) a non-resident only when the royalty is payable in respect of any right, property or information used or services utilised for purposes of a business or profession carried on in India or for the purposes of making or earning any income from any source in India.

Lumpsum royalty payments made by a resident for the transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) in respect of computer software supplied by a non-resident manufacturer along with computer hardware under any scheme approved by the Government under the Policy on Computer Software Export, Software Development and Training, 1986 shall not be deemed to accrue or arise in India.

"Computer software" means any computer programme recorded on any disc, tape, perforated media or other information storage device and includes any such programme or any customised electronic data.

The term 'royalty' means consideration (including any lumpsum consideration but excluding any consideration which would be the income of the recipient chargeable under the head 'Capital gains') for:

(i) the transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of licence) in respect of a patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process or trade mark or similar property;

(ii) the imparting of any information concerning the working of, or the use of, a patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process or trade mark or similar property;

(iii) the use of any patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process or trade mark or similar property;

(iv) the imparting of any information concerning technical, industrial, commercial or scientific knowledge, experience or skill;

(v) the use or right to use any industrial, commercial or scientific equipment but not including the amounts referred to in section 44BB;

(vi) the transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of licence) in respect of any copyright, literary, artistic or scientific work including films or video tapes for use in connection with television or tapes for use in connection with radio broadcasting, but not including consideration for the sale, distribution or exhibition of cinematographic films;

(vii) the rendering of any service in connection with the activities listed above.

The definition of 'royalty' for this purpose is wide enough to cover both industrial royalties as well as copyright royalties. The deduction specially excludes income which should be chargeable to tax under the head 'capital gains'.

(7) Fees for technical services

Any fees for technical services will be deemed to accrue or arise in India if they are payable by -

(i) the Government.

(ii) a person who is resident in India, except in cases where the fees are payable in respect of technical services utilised in a business or profession carried on by such person outside India or for the purpose of making or earning any income from any source outside India.

(iii) a person who is a non-resident, only where the fees are payable in respect of services utilised in a business or profession carried on by the non-resident in India or where such services are utilised for the purpose of making or earning any income from any source in India.

Fees for technical services means any consideration (including any lumpsum consideration) for the rendering of any managerial, technical or consultancy services (including providing the services of technical or other personnel). However, it does not include consideration for any construction, assembly, mining or like project undertaken by the recipient or consideration which would be income of the recipient chargeable under the head 'Salaries'.

Income deemed to accrue or arise in India to a non-resident by way of interest, royalty and fee for technical services to be taxed irrespective of territorial nexus [Explanation to section 9]

(i) The Supreme Court, in Ishikawajima-Harima Heavy Industries Ltd. v. Director of Income-tax (2007) 288 ITR 408, observed that in order to tax the income of a non-resident assessee under section 9(1)(vii), relating to fee for technical services, the income sought to be taxed must have sufficient territorial nexus with India i.e. the fees paid for technical services provided by a non-resident cannot be taxed in India unless the services were utilized in India and rendered in India. This observation is not in consonance with the source rule spelt out in the law and the stand taken by India in the bilateral treaties with different countries.

(ii) The Finance Act, 2007 has clarified that such income by way of interest, royalty or fee for technical services which is deemed to accrue or arise in India by virtue of clauses (v), (vi) and (vii) of section 9(1), shall be included in the total income of the non-resident, whether or not the non-resident has a residence or place of business or business connection in India.

INTRODUCTION

In this chapter, we are going to study section 10 which enumerates the various categories of income that are exempt from tax. Thereafter, we shall also consider sections 10A, 10AA, 10B, 10BA which deal with exemption in respect of income of industrial units in free trade zones, special economic zones, 100% EOUs and undertakings engaged in export of certain articles or things. Section 11 provides exemption in respect of income derived from property held under trust wholly for charitable or religious purposes. Section 13A exempts certain categories of income derived by a political party.

1. INCOMES NOT INCLUDED IN TOTAL INCOME [SECTION 10]

The various items of income referred to in the different clauses of section 10 are excluded from the total income of an assessee. These incomes are known as exempted incomes.

Consequently, such income shall not enter into the computation of taxable income or the rate of tax.

Restrictions on allowability of expenditure [Section 14A] – (i) As per section 14A, expenditure incurred in relation to any exempt income is not allowed as a deduction while computing income under any of the five heads of income [Sub-section (1)].

However, the Assessing Officer is not empowered to reassess under section 147 or to pass an order increasing the liability of the assessee by way of enhancing the assessment or reducing a refund already made or otherwise increase the liability of the assessee under section 154, for any assessment year beginning on or before 1.4.2001 i.e. for any assessment year prior to A.Y. 2002-03 [Proviso to sub-section (1)].

The Assessing Officer is empowered to determine the amount of expenditure incurred in relation to such income which does not form part of total income in accordance with such method as may be prescribed [Sub-section (2)].

The method for determining expenditure in relation to exempt income is to be prescribed by the CBDT for the purpose of disallowance of such expenditure under section 14A. Such method should be adopted by the Assessing Officer if he is not satisfied with the correctness of the claim of the assessee, having regard to the accounts of the assessee.

Further, the Assessing Officer is empowered adopt such method, where an assessee claims that no expenditure has been incurred by him in relation to income which does not form part of total income [Sub-section (3)].

The CBDT has, vide Notification No. 45/2008 dated 24.3.2008, inserted a new Rule 8D which lays down the method for determining amount of expenditure in relation to income not includible in total income.

If the Assessing Officer, having regard to the accounts of the assessee of a previous year, is not satisfied with –

(a) the correctness of the claim of expenditure by the assessee; or

(b) the claim made by the assessee that no expenditure has been incurred in relation to exempt income for such previous year, he shall determine the amount of expenditure in relation to such income in the manner provided hereunder –

The expenditure in relation to income not forming part of total income shall be the aggregate of the following:

(i) the amount of expenditure directly relating to income which does not form part of total income;

(ii) in a case where the assessee has incurred expenditure by way of interest during the previous year which is not directly attributable to any particular income or receipt, an amount computed in accordance with the following formula, namely :

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

Where,

A = amount of expenditure by way of interest other than the amount of interest included in clause (i) incurred during the previous year;

B = the average of value of investment, income from which does not or shall not form part of the total income, as appearing in the balance sheet of the assessee, on the first day and the last day of the previous year;

C = the average of total assets as appearing in the balance sheet of the assessee, on the first day and the last day of the previous year;

'Total assets' means total assets as appearing in the balance sheet excluding the increase on account of revaluation of assets but including the decrease on account of revaluation of assets.

(iii) an amount equal to one-half per cent of the average of the value of investment, income from which does not or shall not form part of the total income, as appearing in the balance sheet of the assessee, on the first day and the last day of the previous year.

Difference between Section 10 and Chapter VI-A deductions - Certain other incomes are also wholly or partly rendered tax-free by being allowed as deductions in computation of total income under Chapter VI-A. Students should note a very important difference between exemptions under section 10 and the deductions under Chapter VI-A. While the incomes which are exempt under section 10 will not be included for computing total income, incomes from which deductions are allowable under Chapter VI-A will first be included in the gross total income (GTI) and then the deductions will be allowed. Let us now see the various incomes that are exempt from tax and the conditions to be satisfied in order to be eligible for exemptions.

(1) Agricultural income [Section 10(1)] – (i) Section 10(1) provides that agricultural income is not to be included in the total income of the assessee. The reason for totally exempting agricultural income from the scope of central income tax is that under the Constitution, the Parliament has no power to levy a tax on agricultural income.

(ii) Indirect way of taxing agricultural income - However, a method has been laid down to levy tax on agricultural income in an indirect way. This concept is known as partial integration of taxes. It is applicable to individuals, HUF, unregistered firms, AOP, BOI and artificial persons. Two conditions which need to satisfied for partial integration are:

1. The net agricultural income should exceed Rs.5,000 p.a., and
2. Non-agricultural income should exceed the maximum amount not chargeable to tax. (i.e. Rs.2,25,000 for senior citizens, Rs.1,80,000 for women assessees below 65 years of age, Rs.1,50,000 for all other individuals.)

It may be noted that aggregation provisions do not apply to company, firm assessed as such (FAS), co-operative society and local authority. The object of aggregating the net agricultural income with non-agricultural income is to tax the non-agricultural income at higher rates.

Tax calculation in such cases is as follows:

Step 1: Add non-agricultural income with net agricultural income. Compute tax on the aggregate amount.

Step 2: Add net agricultural income and the maximum exemption limit available to the assessee (i.e. Rs.1,50,000 / Rs.1,80,000 / Rs.2,25,000). Compute tax on the aggregate amount.

Step 3: Deduct the amount of income tax calculated in step 2 from the income tax calculated in step 1 i.e. Step 1 – Step 2.

Step 4: Add surcharge, if applicable, to the amount obtained in step 3 above.

Step 5: The sum so arrived at shall be increased by education cess @2% and secondary and higher education cess @1%..

The above concept can be clearly understood with the help of the following illustrations:

Illustration 1

Mr. X, a resident, has provided the following particulars of his income for the P.Y.2008-09.

i. Income from salary (computed) - Rs.2,40,000

ii. Income from house property (computed) - Rs.2,00,000

iii. Agricultural income from a land in Jaipur - Rs.1,80,000

iv. Expenses incurred for earning agricultural income - Rs.1,20,000

Compute his tax liability assuming his age is -

(a) 45 years

(b) 70 years

Solution

Computation of total income of Mr.X for the A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Amount (Rs.)	Amount (Rs.)
Income from salary		2,40,000
Income from house property		2,00,000
Net agricultural income [Rs.1,80,000 – Rs.1,20,000]	60,000
Less: Exempt under section 10(1)	(60,000)	-
Gross Total Income		4,40,000
Less: Deductions under Chapter VI-A		-
Total Income		4,40,000

(a) Computation of tax liability (age 45 years)

For the purpose of partial integration of taxes, Mr. X has satisfied both the conditions i.e.

1. Net agricultural income exceeds Rs.5,000 p.a., and
2. Non agricultural income exceeds the basic exemption limit of Rs.1,50,000.

His tax liability is computed in the following manner:

Step 1: Rs.4,40,000 + Rs.60,000 = Rs.5,00,000.

Tax on Rs.5,00,000 = Rs.55,000

Step 2: Rs.60,000 + Rs.1,50,000 = Rs.2,10,000.

Tax on Rs.2,10,000 = Rs.6,000 (i.e. 10% of Rs.60,000)

Step 3 : Rs.55,000 – Rs.6,000 = Rs.49,000.

Step 4 : Surcharge is not applicable since his total income does not exceed Rs.10,00,000.

Step 5 : Total tax payable = Rs.49,000 + 2% of Rs.49,000 + 1% of Rs.49,000= Rs.50,470.

(b) Computation of tax liability (age 70 years)

For the purpose of partial integration of taxes, Mr. X has satisfied both the conditions i.e.

1. Net agricultural income exceeds Rs.5,000 p.a., and
2. Non agricultural income exceeds the basic exemption limit of Rs.2,25,000.

His tax liability is computed in the following manner:

Step 1: Rs.4,40,000 + Rs.60,000 = Rs.5,00,000.

Tax on Rs.5,00,000 = Rs.47,500 (i.e. Rs.7,500 + 20% of Rs.2,00,000)

Step 2: Rs.60,000 + Rs.2,25,000 = Rs.2,85,000.

Tax on Rs.2,85,000 = Rs.6,000 (i.e. 10% of Rs.60,000)

Step 3: Rs.47,500 – Rs.6,000 = Rs.41,500.

Step 4: Surcharge is not applicable since his total income does not exceed Rs.10,00,000.

Step 5: Total tax payable = Rs.41,500 + 2% of Rs.41,500 + 1% of Rs.41,500= Rs.42,745.

(iii) Definition of agricultural income [Section 2(1A)]

This definition is very wide and covers the income of not only the cultivators but also the land holders who might have rented out the lands. Agricultural income may be received in cash or in kind.

Three ways: Agricultural income may arise in any one of the following three ways:-

(1) It may be rent or revenue derived from land situated in India and used for agricultural purposes.

(2) It may be income derived from such land through agriculture or the performance of a process ordinarily employed by a cultivator or receiver of rent in kind to render the produce fit to be taken to the market or through the sale of such agricultural produce in the market.

(3) Lastly, agricultural income may be derived from any farm building required for agricultural operations.

Now let us take a critical look at the following aspects:

(1) Land has to be situated in India - If agricultural lands are situated in a foreign State, the entire income would be taxable.

(2) "Agriculture" and "agricultural purposes" - These terms have not been defined in the Act. However, cultivation of a field involving expenditure of human skill and labour on the land can be broadly termed as agriculture.

(a) "Agriculture" means tilling of the land, sowing of the seeds and similar operations. These are basic operations and require the expenditure of human skill and labour on land itself. Those operations which the agriculturists have to resort to and which are absolutely necessary for the purpose of effectively raising produce from the land are the basic operations.

(b) Operations to be performed after the produce sprouts from the land (e.g., weeding, digging etc.) are subsequent operations. These subsequent operations would be agricultural operations only when taken in conjunction with and as a continuation of the basic operations. Simply performing these subsequent operations without raising such products is not characterized as agriculture.

(c) "Agriculture" comprises within its scope the basic as well as the subsidiary operations regardless of the nature of the produce raised on the land. These produce may be grain, fruits or vegetables necessary for sustenance of human beings including plantation and groves or grass or pasture for consumption of beasts or articles of luxury such as betel, coffee, tea, spices, tobacco or commercial crops like cotton flax, jute hemp and indigo. The term comprises of products of land having some utility either for consumption or for trade and commerce and would include forest products such as sal, tendu leaves etc.

(d) However, the term 'agriculture' cannot be extended to all activities which have some distant relation to land like dairy farming, breeding and rearing of live stock, butter and cheese making and poultry farming. This aspect is discussed in detail later on.

(3) Income from nursery - In the past, there have been court rulings that only if a nursery is maintained by carrying out the basic operations on land and subsequent operations in continuation thereof, income from such nursery would be treated as agricultural income and would qualify for exemption under section 10(1). The Supreme Court has, in CIT v. Raja Benoy Kumar Sahas Roy (1957) 32 ITR 466, held that the basic operations must be performed before any income can be called agricultural income. The basic operations involve cultivation of the ground, in the sense of tilling of the land, sowing of the seeds, planting and other similar operations on the land. Such basic operations demand the expenditure of human labour and skill upon the land itself and further, they are directed to make the crop sprout from the land. Therefore, income derived from sale of plants grown directly in pots would not be treated as agricultural income.

However, the Madras High Court, in CIT v. Soundarya Nursery (2000) 241 ITR 530, observed that nursing activity involves carrying out of several operations on land before the saplings were transplanted in suitable containers including pots and thereafter kept in shade or green house for further operation and growth. Therefore, income arising from nursery should be considered as agricultural income.

The Finance Act, 2008 has inserted Explanation 3 to section 2(1A) to provide that, with effect from A.Y.2009-10, the income derived from saplings or seedlings grown in a nursery would be deemed to be agricultural income, whether or not the basic operations were carried out on land. This amendment ratifies the view taken by the Madras High Court in favour of the taxpayer.

(4) Process ordinarily employed - The process to which the agricultural produce is subject should be a process which is ordinarily employed by a cultivator. It may be manual or mechanical. However, it must be employed to render the produce fit to be taken to the market. For example, before making rice fit to be taken to the market we have to remove the basic grain from the hay, we have to remove the chaff from the grain, we have to properly filter them, we have to remove stones etc. and we have to pack the grain in gunny bags. In that condition alone the rice can be taken to the market and sold. This process of making the rice ready for the market may involve manual operations or mechanical operations. All these operations constitute the process ordinarily employed to make the product fit for the market. The produce must retain its original character in spite of the processing unless there is no market for selling it in that condition.

Explanation regarding gains arising on the transfer of urban agricultural land - the capital gains arising from the transfer of such urban agricultural land would not be treated as agricultural income under section 10 but will be taxable under section 45. Urban area means any area which is within the jurisdiction of a municipality or cantonment board having a population of atleast 10,000 and any area outside the limits of such municipality or cantonment board but within a maximum distance of 8 km. from such limits as notified by the Central Government. In other words,

Example: Suppose A sells agricultural land situated in New Delhi for Rs. 10 lakh and makes a surplus of Rs.8 lakh over its cost of acquisition. This surplus will not constitute agricultural income exempt under section 10(1) and will be taxable under section 45.

(5) Income from farm building - Income from any farm building which satisfies the following conditions would be agricultural income and would consequently be exempt from tax:

(a) The building should be on or in the immediate vicinity of the agricultural land;

(b) It should be owned and occupied by the receiver of the rent or revenue of any such land or occupied by the cultivator or the receiver of rent in kind of any land with respect to which land or the produce of which land the process discussed above is carried on;

(c) The receiver of the rent or revenue or the cultivator or the receiver of rent in kind should, by reason of his connection with such land require it as a dwelling house or other out building.

In addition to the above three conditions any one of the following two conditions should also be satisfied:

(i) The land should either be assessed to land revenue in India or be subject to a local rate assessed and collected by the officers of the Government as such or;

(ii) Where the land is not so assessed to land revenue in India or is not subject to local rate:-

(a) It should not be situated in any area as comprised within the jurisdiction of a municipality or a cantonment board and which has a population not less than 10,000.

(b) It should not be within 8 km. from the local limits of such municipality or cantonment board as notified by the Central Government

Income derived from any such building or land arising from any other use (other than those discussed above) shall not be agricultural income.

(iv) Indirect connection with the land - We have seen above that agricultural income is exempt, whether it is received by the tiller or the landlord. However, non-agricultural income does not become agricultural merely on account of its indirect connection with the land. The following examples will illustrate the above point.

1. A rural society had as its principal business the selling on behalf of its member societies, butter made by these societies from cream sold to them by farmers. The making of butter was a factory process separated from the farm. It was held that the butter resulting from the factory operations separated from the farm was not an agricultural product and the society was, therefore, not entitled to exemption from income tax.

2. X was the managing agent of a company. He was entitled for a commission at the rate of 10% p.a. on the annual net profits of the company. A part of the company's income was agricultural income. X claimed that since his remuneration was calculated with reference to income of the company, part of which was agricultural income, such part of the commission as was proportionate to the agricultural income was exempt from income tax. It was held that X received remuneration under a contract for personal service calculated on the amount of profits earned by the company and that remuneration was not an agricultural income.

3. Y owned 100 acres of agricultural land, a part of which was used as pasture for cows. The lands were purely maintained for manuring and other purposes connected with agriculture and only the surplus milk after satisfying the assessee's needs was sold. The question arose whether income from such sale of milk was agricultural income. It was held that the regularity with which the sales of milk were effected and quantity of milk sold showed that the assessee carried on regular business of producing milk and selling it as a commercial proposition. Hence, it was not agricultural income.

4. B was a shareholder in certain tea companies, 60% of whose income was exempt from tax as agricultural income. She claimed that 60% of the dividend received by her on her shares in those companies was also exempt from tax as agricultural income. It was held that dividend is derived from the investment made in the shares of the company and is not an agricultural income.

5. In regard to forest trees of spontaneous growth which grow on the soil unaided by any human skill and labour there is no cultivation of the soil at all. Even though operations in the nature of forestry operations performed by the assessee may have the effect of nursing and fostering the growth of such forest trees, it cannot constitute agricultural operations. Income from the sale of such forest trees of spontaneous growth do not, therefore, constitute agricultural income.

(v) For better understanding of the concept, certain examples of agricultural income and non-agricultural income are given below:

Agricultural income

1. Income derived from the sale of seeds.
2. Income from growing of flowers and creepers.
3. Rent received from land used for grazing of cattle required for agricultural activities.
4. Income from growing of bamboo.

Non-agricultural income

1. Income from breeding of livestock.
2. Income from poultry farming.
3. Income from fisheries.
4. Income from dairy farming.

(vi) Apportionment in certain cases - Where the agricultural produce like tea, cotton, tobacco, sugarcane etc. are subjected to a manufacturing process and the manufactured product is sold, the profit on such sales will consist of agricultural income as well as business income. That portion of the profit representing agricultural income will be exempted. For this purpose, rules 7, 7A, 7B & 8 of Income-tax Rules, 1962 provides the basis of apportionment.

(a) Rule 7 - Income from growing and manufacturing of any product other than tea - Where income is partially agricultural income and partially income chargeable to income-tax under the head 'profits and gains of business', the market value of any agricultural produce which has been raised by the assessee or received by him as rent in kind and which has been utilised as raw material in such business or the sale receipts of which are included in the accounts of the business shall be deducted. No further deduction shall be made in respect of any expenditure incurred by the assessee as a cultivator or receiver of rent in kind.

Determination of market value - There are two possibilities here :

(a) The agricultural produce is capable of being sold in the market either in its raw stage or after application of any ordinary process to make it fit to be taken to the market. In such a case, the value calculated at the average price at which it has been so sold during the relevant previous year will be the market value.

(b) It is possible that the agricultural produce is not capable of being ordinarily sold in the market in its raw form or after application of any ordinary process. In such case the market value will be the total of the following:—

  (i) The expenses of cultivation;

  (ii) The land revenue or rent paid for the area in which it was grown; and

  (iii) Such amount as the Assessing Officer finds having regard to the circumstances in each case to represent at reasonable profit.

Illustration 2

Mr. B grows sugarcane and uses the same for the purpose of manufacturing sugar in his factory. 30% of sugarcane produce is sold for Rs.10 lacs, and the cost of cultivation of such sugarcane is Rs.5 lacs. The cost of cultivation of the balance sugarcane (70%) is Rs.14 lacs and the market value of the same is Rs.22 lacs. After incurring Rs.1.5 lacs in the manufacturing process on the balance sugarcane, the sugar was sold for Rs.25 lacs. Compute B's business income and agricultural income.

Solution

Income from sale of sugarcane gives rise to agricultural income and from sale of sugar gives rise to business income.

Business income	=	Sales – Market value of 70% of sugarcane produce – Manufacturing expenses
	=	Rs.25 lacs – Rs.22 lacs - Rs.1.5 lacs
	=	Rs.1.5 lacs.
Agricultural income	=	Market value of sugarcane produce – Cost of cultivation
	=	[Rs10 lacs + Rs.22 lacs] – [Rs.5 lacs + Rs.14 lacs]
	=	Rs.32 lacs – Rs.19 lacs
	=	Rs.13 lacs.

(b) Rule 7A – Income from growing and manufacturing of rubber – This rule is applicable when income derived from the sale of latex or cenex or latex based crepes or brown crepes manufactured from field latex or coagulum obtained from rubber plants grown by the seller in India. In such cases 35% profits on sale is taxable as business income under the head profits and gains from business or profession, and the balance 65% is agricultural income and is exempt.

Illustration 3

Mr. C manufactures latex from the rubber plants grown by him in India. These are then sold in the market for Rs.30 lacs. The cost of growing rubber plants is Rs.10 lacs and that of manufacturing latex is Rs.8 lacs. Compute his total income.

Solution

The total income of Mr. C comprises of agricultural income and business income.

Total profits from the sale of latex	= Rs.30 lacs – Rs.10 lacs – Rs.8 lacs.
	= Rs.12 lacs.
Agricultural income	= 65% of Rs.12 lacs.	= Rs.7.8 lacs
Business income	= 35% of Rs.12 lacs.	= Rs.4.2 lacs

(c) Rule 7B – Income from growing and manufacturing of coffee – (a) In case of income derived from the sale of coffee grown and cured by the seller in India, 25% profits on sale is taxable as business income under the head “Profits and gains from business or profession”, and the balance 75% is agricultural income and is exempt. (b) In case of income derived from the sale of coffee grown, cured, roasted and grounded by the seller in India, with or without mixing chicory or other flavouring ingredients, 40% profits on sale is taxable as business income under the head “Profits and gains from business or profession”, and the balance 60% is agricultural income and is exempt.

(d) Rule 8 - Income from growing and manufacturing of tea - This rule applies only in cases where the assessee himself grows tea leaves and manufactures tea in India. In such cases 40% profits on sale is taxable as business income under the head “Profits and gains from business or profession”, and the balance 60% is agricultural income and is exempt.

(2) Amounts received by a member from the income of the HUF [Section 10(2)]

(i) As seen in the first Chapter, a HUF is a ‘person’ and hence a unit of assessment under the Act. Income earned by the HUF is assessable in its own hands.

(ii) In order to prevent double taxation of one and the same income, once in the hands of the HUF which earns it and again in the hands of a member when it is paid out to him, section 10(2) provides that members of a HUF do not have to pay tax in respect of any amounts received by them from the family.

(iii) The exemption applies only in respect of a payment made by the HUF to its member

(1) out of the income of the family or

(2) out of the income of the impartible estate belonging to the family.

(3) Share income of a partner [Section 10(2A)] - This clause exempts from tax a partner’s share in the total income of the firm. In other words, the partner’s share in the total income of the firm determined in accordance with the profit-sharing ratio will be exempt from tax.

(4) Exemption to non-residents and person resident outside India [Section 10(4)]

(i) This clause provides that in the case of a non-resident, any income by way of interest on Central Government securities as may be prescribed will be exempt. Even income by way of premium on the redemption of such bonds is exempt.

(ii) However, the Central Government shall not notify any such bonds or securities after 1.6.2002. Hence, this exemption will no more be available in respect of any further issue of bonds or securities on or after the 1.6.2002.

(iii) In the case of an individual who is a person resident outside India, as defined in FERA, 1973, any income by way of interest on moneys standing to his credit in a Non-resident (External) Account (NRE A/c) in any bank in India will be exempt, subject to fulfillment of certain conditions.

(iv) In this context, it may be noted that the joint holders of the NRE Accounts do not constitute an AOP by merely having these accounts in joint names. The benefit of exemption under section 10(4)(ii) will be available to such joint account holders, subject to fulfilment of other conditions contained in that section by each of the individual joint account holders.

(5) Interest on savings certificates [Section 10(4B)]

(i) An individual, being a citizen of India or a person of Indian origin, who is non-resident shall be entitled for exemption in respect of interest on such saving certificates issued before 1.6.2002 by the Central Government and notified by it in the Official Gazette in this behalf.

(ii) However, to claim such exemption, the individual should have subscribed to such certificates in convertible foreign exchange remitted from a country outside India in accordance with the provisions of the FERA.

(6) Leave travel concession [Section 10(5)]

(i) This clause exempts the leave travel concession (LTC) received by employees from their employers for proceeding to any place in India,

(a) either on leave or

(b) after retirement from service or

(c) after termination of his service.

(ii) The benefit is available to individuals - citizens as well as non-citizens - in respect of travel concession or assistance for himself or herself and for his/her family- i.e., spouse and children of the individual and parents, brothers and sisters of the individual or any of them wholly or mainly dependent on the individual.

(iii) Limit of exemption - The exemption in all cases will be limited to the amount actually spent subject to such conditions as specified in Rule 2B regarding the ceiling on the number of journeys for the place of destination.

Under Rule 2B the exemption will be available in respect of 2 journeys performed in a block of 4 calendar years commencing from the calendar year 1986. Where such travel concession or assistance is not availed by the individual during any block of 4 calendar years, one such unavailed LTC will be carried forward to the immediately succeeding block of 4 calendar years and will be eligible for exemption.

Example: An employee does not avail any LTC for the block 2002-05. He avails it during 2006. It is allowed to carry forward maximum one such holiday to be used in the succeeding block. Therefore, this will be eligible for exemption and two more journeys can be further availed.

(iv) Monetary limits

Where the journey is performed on or after the 1.10.1997, the amount exempted under section 10(5) in respect of the value of LTC shall be the amount actually incurred on such travel subject to the following conditions:

(1) where it is performed by air, an amount not exceeding the air economy fare of the National Carrier by the shortest route to the place of destination;

(2) where places of origin of journey and destination are connected by rail and the journey is performed by any mode of transport other than by air an amount not exceeding the air-conditioned first class rail fare by the shortest route to the place of destination; and

(3) where the places of origin of journey and destination or part thereof are not connected by rail, the amount eligible for exemption shall be,—

  (A) where a recognised public transport system exists, an amount not exceeding the 1st class or deluxe class fare, as the case may be, on such transport by the shortest route to the place of destination ; and

  (B) where no recognised public transport system exists, an amount equivalent to the air-conditioned first class rail fare, for the distance of the journey by the shortest route, as if the journey had been performed by rail.

Note: The exemption referred to shall not be available to more than two surviving children of an individual after 1.10.1998. This restrictive sub-rule shall not apply in respect of children born before 1.10.1998 and also in case of multiple births after one child.

Illustration 4

Mr. D went on a holiday on 25.12.2008 to Delhi with his wife and three children (one son – age 5 years; twin daughters – age 2 years). They went by flight (economy class) and the total cost of tickets reimbursed by his employer was Rs 60,000 (Rs 45,000 for adults and 15,000 for the three minor children). Compute the amount of LTC exempt.

Solution

Since the son's age is more than the twin daughters, Mr. D can avail exemption for all his three children. The restriction of two children is not applicable to multiple births after one child. The holiday being in India and the journey being performed by air (economy class), the entire reimbursement met by the employer is fully exempt.

Note: It is assumed that this is his first holiday in the block 2006-09.

Illustration 5

In the above illustration 4, will be there be any difference if among his three children the twins were 5 years old and the son 3 years old? Discuss.

Solution

Since the twins' age is more than the son, Mr. D cannot avail for exemption for all his three children. LTC exemption can be availed in respect of only two children. Taxable LTC =

$\text{Rs}\,15{,}000 \times \frac{1}{3}$ = Rs.5,000 .

Note: It is assumed that this is his first holiday in the block 2006-09.

(7) Exemption in the case of individuals, who are not citizens of India [Section 10(6)]- Individual assessees who are not citizens of India are entitled to certain exemptions:

(i) Section 10(6)(ii) grants exemption to a person in respect of the remuneration received by him for services as an official of an embassy, high commission, legation, consulate or the trade representation of a foreign State or as a member of the staff of any of these officials.

Conditions -

(a) The remuneration received by our corresponding Government officers resident in such foreign countries should be exempt.

(b) The above-mentioned officers should be the subjects of the respective countries and should not be engaged in any other business or profession or employment in India.

(ii) Section 10(6)(vi) provides that remuneration received by a foreign national as an employee of a foreign enterprise for service rendered by him during his stay in India is also exempt from tax.

Conditions -

(1) The foreign enterprise is not engaged in a business activity in India;

(2) The employee's stay in India does not exceed a total of 90 days in the previous year;

(3) The remuneration is not liable to be deducted from the employer's income chargeable to tax under the Act.

(iii) Section 10(6)(viii) provides that salary income received by or due to a non-citizen of India who is also non-resident for services rendered in connection with his employment on a foreign ship where his total stay in India does not exceed a total of 90 days in the previous year.

(iv) Section 10(6)(xi) provides that any remuneration received by employees of foreign Government from their respective Government during their stay in India in connection with their training in any establishment or office of the Government or any public sector undertaking is exempt from tax. For this purpose, the expression 'public sector undertaking' will cover Statutory Corporations; companies wholly owned by the Central Government or State Government or jointly by the Central and State Government and subsidiaries of such companies, societies registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 or any other similar law, which are wholly financed by the Central Government or State Government or jointly by the Central or State Government.

(8) Tax on royalty or fees for technical services derived by foreign companies [Section 10(6A)] - The benefit of exemption under this section is available to foreign companies only. As per this clause, tax paid by the Government or by an Indian concern on behalf of a foreign company is exempt in the hands of such foreign company provided all the following conditions are satisfied:

(i) Such tax must have been payable by the foreign company in respect of income received from the Government or the Indian concern by way of royalty or fees for technical services.

(ii) Such income by way of royalty or fees for technical services must have been received in pursuance of an agreement made by the foreign company with the Government or the Indian concern on or after 1.4.1976 but before 1.6.2002 and such agreement must have been approved by the Central Government. However, where the agreement relates to a subject matter which is included in the industrial policy of the Government and such agreement is in accordance with that policy, no approval of the Central Government is necessary.

(9) Tax paid on behalf of non-resident [Section 10(6B)] – This clause provides that the amount of tax paid by Government or an Indian concern on behalf of a non-resident or a foreign company in respect of its income will not be included in computing the total income of such non-resident or foreign company in pursuance of an agreement entered before 1.6.2002 between the Central Government and the Government of foreign State or an international organisation under the terms of that agreement or of any related agreement which has been approved before 1.6.2002 by the Central Government.

(10) Tax paid on behalf of foreign state or foreign enterprise on amount paid as consideration of acquiring aircraft, etc. on lease [Section 10(6BB)] - Under this section, exemption is provided in respect of tax paid by an Indian company engaged in the business of operation of an aircraft, on income derived by the Government of a foreign State or a foreign enterprise as a consideration of acquiring an aircraft or aircraft engine on lease under an agreement entered into after 31.3.1997 but before 1.4.1999 or entered into after 31.3.2007 and approved by the Central Government

However, payment for providing spares, facilities or services in connection with the operation of leased aircraft is not covered under this clause.

(11) Income from projects connected with the security of India [Section 10(6C)] - Any income arising to such foreign company as the Central Government may notify, by way of fees for technical services received in pursuance of an agreement entered into with that Government for providing services in or outside India in projects connected with security of India will be exempt. Such exemption is also available in respect of royalty for technical services arising to the foreign company.

Section 10(9) discussed above exempts the income of any member of the family of any such individual as is referred to in clauses (8A) and (8B) accompanying him to India, which accrues or arises outside India, and in respect of which such member is required to pay any income or social security tax to the country of his origin.

Rule 2BA prescribes the guidelines for the purposes of the above clause. They are as follows:

1. It applies to an employee of the company or the authority, as the case may be, who has completed 10 years of service or completed 40 years of age.

   However, this requirement is not applicable in case of an employee of a public sector company under the scheme of voluntary separation framed by the company.

At the time of voluntary retirement, he was drawing basic salary Rs.20,000 p.m.; Dearness allowance (which forms part of pay) Rs.5,000 p.m. Compute his taxable voluntary retirement compensation.

Note 1: Exemption is to the extent of least of the following:

(iii)	Last drawn salary × 3 × completed years of service

(22) Income-tax paid by employer [Section 10(10CC)] – This clause provides for exemption in the hands of an employee, being an individual deriving income by way of perquisites, not provided by way of monetary payment within the meaning of section 17(2). This applies where the tax on such income is actually paid by the employer, at the option of the employer, on behalf of such employee, notwithstanding anything contained in section 200 of the Companies Act, 1956.

This provision will provide relief to the employee if the employer is willing to bear the tax burden in respect non-monetary perquisites provided by it to the employee as otherwise the tax so paid by employer would have been treated as income of the employee.

(23) Receipts from LIC [Section 10(10D)] - This clause clarifies that any sum received under a Life Insurance Policy, including the sum allocated by way of bonus on such policy shall not be included in the total income of a person.

Recently, policies were introduced in respect of which the premium payable was very high. Sometimes, such premium was payable on a one-time basis. They are similar to deposits or bonds. With a view to ensure that such insurance policies are treated at par with other investment schemes, clause 10D has been rationalised as follows -

(i) Any sum received, under an insurance policy issued on or after 1.4.03 in respect of which the premium payable/paid during any of the years during the term of the policy exceeds twenty per cent of the actual capital sum assured, shall not be exempt. Therefore, sum received in respect of such policies issued prior to 1.4.03 will continue to enjoy exemption.

(ii) However, such sum received under such policy on the death of a person shall continue to be exempt.

(iii) For the purpose of calculating the actual capital sum assured under this clause,

  (a) the value of any premiums agreed to be returned or

  (b) the value of any benefit by way of bonus or otherwise, over and above the sum actually assured, shall not be taken into account. Such premium or bonus may be received either by the policy holder or by any other person.

(iv) Any sum received under section 80DD(3) shall not be exempt under this clause in addition to sum received under 80DDA(3) or under a Keyman insurance policy.

(24) Payment from provident funds [Sections 10(11) and (12)] - The following payments received by an assessee will be fully exempt from tax:

(a) Provident Fund (PF) to which Provident Fund Act, 1925, applies; or

(b) Public Provident Fund.

(c) Accumulated balance payable to an employee participating in a RPF (subject to certain conditions).

The conditions for the purpose of RPF above are as follows:

(i) The employee should have rendered continuous service with the employer from whom the amount is received for a period of at least five years; or

(ii) Where the employee had not rendered such continuous service the reason for the termination of his service should have been his ill-health or contraction or discontinuance of employer's business or any other cause beyond the control of the employee.

If such conditions are not satisfied the payments become taxable in the hands of the employee.

(25) Payment from superannuation funds [Section 10(13)] - Any payment received by any employee from an approved superannuation fund shall be entirely excluded from his total income if the payment is made

(a) on the death of a beneficiary;

(b) to an employee in lieu or in commutation of an annuity on his retirement at or after a specified age or on his becoming incapacitated prior to such retirement; or

(c) by way of refund of contribution on the death of a beneficiary; or

(d) by way of contribution to an employee on his leaving the service in connection with which the fund is established otherwise than by retirement at or after a specified age or his becoming incapacitated prior to such retirement.

In the case of (d) above the amount of exemption will be to the extent the payment made does not exceed the contribution made prior to 1-4-1962 and the interest thereon.

(26) House rent allowance (HRA) [Section 10(13A)] – HRA is a special allowance specifically granted to an employee by his employer towards payment of rent for residence of the employee. HRA granted to an employee is exempt to the extent of least of the following :

Metro Cities (i.e. Delhi, Kolkata, Mumbai, Chennai)	Other Cities
1) HRA actually received.	1) HRA actually received
2) Rent paid-10% of salary for the relevant period	2) Rent paid - 10% of salary for the relevant period
3) 50% of salary for the relevant period	3) 40% of salary for the relevant period

Note:

1. Exemption is not available to an assessee who lives in his own house, or in a house for which he has not incurred the expenditure of rent.

2. Salary for this purpose means basic salary, dearness allowance, if provided in terms of employment and commission as a fixed percentage of turnover.

3. Relevant period means the period during which the said accommodation was occupied by the assessee during the previous year.

Illustration 11

Mr. Raj Kumar has the following receipts from his employer :

(1)	Basic pay	Rs.3,000 p.m.
(2)	Dearness allowance (D.A.)	Rs. 600 p.m.
(3)	Commission	Rs.6,000 p.a.
(4)	Motor car for personal use (expenditure met by the employer)	Rs. 500 p.m
(5)	House rent allowance	Rs. 900 p.m.

Find out the amount of HRA eligible for exemption to Mr. Raj Kumar assuming that he paid a rent of Rs.1,000 p.m. for his accommodation at Kanpur. DA forms part of salary for retirement benefits.

Solution:

HRA received	Rs. 10,800
Less: Exempt under section 10(13A) [Note 1]	Rs. 7,680
Taxable HRA	Rs . 3,120

Note 1: Exemption shall be least of the following three limits:

(a) the actual amount received (900 × 12) = Rs.10,800

(b) excess of the actual rent paid by the assessee over 10% of his salary

= (1,000×12) - 10% of [(3,000+600) × 12]

= (12,000 - 4,320) = Rs.7,680

(c) 40% salary as his accommodation is situated at Kanpur

= 40% of [(3,000+ 600) × 12] = Rs.17,280

Note: For the purpose of exemption under section 10(13A), salary includes dearness allowance only when the terms of employment so provide, but excludes all other allowances and perquisites.

(27) Special allowances to meet expenses relating to duties or personal expenses [Section 10(14)] - This clause provides for exemption (as per Rule 2BB) in respect of the following:

(i) Special allowances or benefit not being in the nature of a perquisite, specifically granted to meet expenses incurred wholly, necessarily and exclusively in the performance of the duties of an office or employment of profit. For the allowances under this category, there is no limit on the amount which the employee can receive from the employer, but whatever amount is received should be fully utilized for the purpose for which it was given to him.

(ii) Special allowances granted to the assessee either to meet his personal expenses at the place where the duties of his office or employment of profit are ordinarily performed by him or at the place where he ordinarily resides or to compensate him for the increased cost of living. For the allowances under this category, there is a limit on the amount which the employee can receive from the employer. Any amount received by the employee in excess of these specified limits will be taxable in his hands as income from salary for the year. It does not matter whether the amount which is received is actually spent or not by the employee for the purpose for which it was given to him.

The following allowances have been prescribed in Rule 2BB:

(75) Exemption of capital gains on compulsory acquisition of agricultural land situated within specified urban limits [Section 10(37)] – With a view to mitigate the hardship faced by the farmers whose agricultural land situated in specified urban limits has been compulsorily acquired, clause (37) has been inserted to exempt the capital gains arising to an individual or a HUF from transfer of agricultural land by way of compulsory acquisition.

Such exemption is available where the compensation or the enhanced compensation or consideration, as the case may be, is received on or after 1.4. 2004.

The exemption is available only when such land has been used for agricultural purposes during the preceding two years by such individual or a parent of his or by such HUF.

Illustration 14

Mr. Kumar has an agricultural land (costing Rs.6 lakh) in Lucknow and has been using it for agricultural purposes since 1.4.1995 till 1.8.2000 when the Government took over compulsory acquisition of this land. A compensation of Rs.10 lakh was settled. The compensation was received by Mr. Kumar on 1.7.2008. Compute the amount of capital gains taxable in the hands of Mr. Kumar.

Solution

In the given problem, compulsory acquisition of an urban agricultural land has taken place and the compensation is received after 1.4.2004. This land had also been used for at least 2 years by the assessee himself for agricultural purposes. Thus, as per section 10(37), entire capital gains arising on such compulsory acquisition will be fully exempt and nothing is taxable in the hands of Mr. Kumar in the year of receipt of compensation i.e. A.Y.2009-10.

Illustration 15

Will your answer be any different if Mr. Kumar had by his own will sold this land to his friend Mr. Sharma? Explain.

Solution

As per section 10(37), exemption is available if compulsory acquisition of urban agricultural land takes place. Since the sale is out of own will and desire, the provisions of this section are not attracted and the capital gains arising on such sale will be taxable in the hands of Mr. Kumar.

Illustration 16

Will your answer be different if Mr. Kumar had not used this land for agricultural activities? Explain.

Solution

As per section 10(37), exemption is available only when such land has been used for agricultural purposes during the preceding two years by such individual or a parent of his or by such HUF. Since the assessee has not used it for agricultural activities, the provisions of this section are not attracted and the capital gains arising on such compulsory acquisition will be taxable in the hands of Mr. Kumar.

Illustration 17

Will your answer be different if the land belonged to ABC Ltd. and not Mr. Kumar and compensation on compulsory acquisition was received by the company? Explain.

Solution

Section 10(37) exempts capital gains arising to an individual or a HUF from transfer of agricultural land by way of compulsory acquisition. Since the land belongs to ABC Ltd., a company, the provisions of this section are not attracted and the capital gains arising on such compulsory acquisition will be taxable in the hands of ABC Ltd.

(76) Exemption of long-term capital gains on sale of equity shares / units of an equity oriented fund [Section 10(38)]

(i) This clause exempts LTCG on sale of equity shares of a company or units of an equity oriented fund on or after 1.10.2004.

(ii) This exemption is available only if such transaction is chargeable to securities transaction tax.

(iii) However, such long term capital gains exempt under section 10(38) shall be taken into a account in computing the book profit and income tax payable under section 115JB.

    (1) where the investible funds are invested by way of equity shares in domestic companies to the extent of more than 65% of the total proceeds of such fund; [The percentage of equity share holding of the fund should be computed with reference to the annual average of the monthly averages of the opening and closing figures], and

    (2) which has been set up under a scheme of a Mutual Fund specified under clause (23D)

The percentage of equity share holding of the fund should be computed with reference to the annual average of the monthly averages of the opening and closing figures.

Illustration 18

Mr. Basu purchased 2,000 equity shares of ABC Ltd. (a listed company) on 1.4.2007 at Rs.20 per share. He sold all the shares on 1.6.2008 at Rs.50 per share. He also had to pay securities transaction tax (STT) on the same. Explain the taxability in the hands of Mr. Basu in the year of transfer i.e. A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

In the given problem, since the listed equity shares of ABC Ltd. are being sold after 12 months, there is a long-term capital gains (LTCG) on the sale of these shares. Also, such LTCG has arisen after 1.10.2004 and STT has also been paid on these shares. Thus, as per section 10(38), the entire LTCG arising on such sale will be fully exempt and nothing is taxable in the hands of Mr.Basu in the year of sale i.e. A.Y.2009-10.

Illustration 19

Will your answer be different if these shares were preference shares and not equity shares? Explain.

Solution

As per section 10(38), LTCG on sale of eligible equity shares of a company on or after 1.10.2004 shall be exempt. Since the shares are preference shares and not equity shares, the provisions of this section are not attracted and the capital gains arising on such sale will be taxable in the hands of Mr. Basu in the A.Y. 2009-10.

Illustration 20

Will you answer be different if these shares were not listed in a recognised stock exchange? Explain.

Solution

As per section 10(38), LTCG on sale of equity shares of a company on or after 1.10.2004 shall be exempt. However, this exemption is available only if such transaction is chargeable to securities transaction tax. Since the shares are not listed in a recognised stock exchange, STT will not be chargeable, hence the provisions of this section are not attracted and the capital gains arising on such sale will be taxable in the hands of Mr. Basu in the A.Y.2009-10.

(81) Exemption of income received in a transaction of reverse mortgage [Section 10(43)]

The Finance Minister had, in his budget speech of Union Budget 2007-08, announced that the National Housing Bank would introduce the Reverse Mortgage scheme. This scheme is for the benefit of senior citizens, who own a residential house property. In order to supplement their existing income, they can mortgage their house property with a scheduled bank or housing finance company, in return for a lump-sum amount or for a regular monthly/quarterly/annual income. The senior citizens can continue to live in the house and receive regular income, without the botheration of having to pay back the loan.

The loan will be given up to, say, 60% of the value of residential house property mortgaged. Also, the bank/housing finance company would undertake a revaluation of the property once every 5 years. The borrower can use the loan amount for renovation and extension of residential property, family's medical and emergency expenditure etc., amongst others. However, he cannot use the amount for speculative or trading purposes.

The bank will recover the loan along with the accumulated interest by selling the house after the death of the borrower. The excess amount will be given to the legal heirs. However, before resorting to sale of the house, preference will be given to the legal heirs to repay the loan and interest and get the mortgaged property released.

This is no doubt a noteworthy social security measure for the aged. However, the tax consequences of such reverse mortgage needed clarification.

Therefore, the Finance Act 2008 has inserted clause (xvi) in section 47 to clarify that any transfer of a capital asset in a transaction of reverse mortgage under a scheme made and notified by the Central Government would not amount to a transfer for the purpose of capital gains.

Further, clause (43) has been inserted in section 10 to provide that the amount received by the senior citizen as a loan, either in lump sum or in installments, in a transaction of reverse mortgage would be exempt from income-tax.

Capital gains tax liability would be attracted only at the stage of alienation of the mortgaged property by the bank/housing finance company for the purposes of recovering the loan.

Students should carefully note that all the items under section 10 listed above are altogether exempt from taxation and they are not even includible in the total income of the person concerned.

6. CHARITABLE OR RELIGIOUS TRUSTS AND INSTITUTIONS [SECTIONS 11 TO 13]

(1) General discussion on trusts

Before considering the provisions of sections 11 to 13 which govern the exemption in respect of income from property held for charitable or religious purposes, let us see briefly what exactly the term trust signifies, the types of trusts and the manner of their creation. Though this aspect of the topic does not strictly fall within the purview of Income-tax, such a general knowledge would be useful in understanding the provisions of tax laws relating to charitable trusts.

A trust is an obligation annexed to the ownership and arising out of a confidence reposed in and accepted by the owner if declared and accepted by him for the benefit of another or of another and the owner. The person who reposes or declares the confidence is called the 'author of the trust'; the person who accepts the confidence is called the trustee; the person for whose benefit the confidence is accepted is called the 'beneficiary'; the subject matter of the trust is called the 'trust property'; the 'beneficial interest' or 'interest' of the beneficiary is his right against the trustees or owner of the trust property and the instrument, if any, by which trust is declared is called the 'instrument of trust'.

Trusts can be broadly classified into two groups - Public and Private. The distinction between a public and private trust is that, whereas in the former, the beneficiaries are the general public or a class thereof, in the latter they are specific individuals. While in the former the beneficiaries constitute a body which is incapable of ascertainment, in the latter they are persons who are ascertained or capable of being ascertained. In some cases, private trusts may enure for the benefit of the public. Some religious trust may also be in the nature of public-cum-private trust.

Private trusts are governed by the Indian Trust Act, 1882. This Act does not apply to the following :

(1) The rules of Mohammedan law as to wakf;

(2) The mutual relations of the members of undivided family as determined by any customary or personal law;

(3) Public or private religious or charitable endowments; and

(4) Trust to distribute prizes taken in war among the captors.

From the above, it will be clear that public charitable trusts are not governed by the Indian Trust Act.

There are three requirements for creation of a public trust. They are (1) a declaration of trust which is binding on the settlor, (2) setting apart definite property and depriving himself of the ownership, and (3) a statement of subjects for which the property is thereafter to be held. In the case of a private trust also, more or less similar requirements exist.

The word 'trust' as used in the context of sections 11 to 13 includes, in addition to the 'trust' as explained above, 'any other legal obligation'. This is made clear in Explanation 1 to section 13. The words 'any other legal obligation' are wide enough to cover Muslim wakfs, Hindu endowments and dedications to deities. It would also cover a case in which the trustees of a settlement are to pay the income to other trustees who in their turn are bound to apply it for purposes which are religious or charitable.

(2) TAX EXEMPTION [SECTION 11]

(i) Subject to the provisions of sections 60 to 63, the income of a religious or charitable trust or institution, to the extent specified in the Act, is exempt from tax when certain prescribed conditions are fulfilled. The relevant income does not even form part of the total income of the trust or institution.

(ii) Section 11 deals with the exemption of income from property held in trust or other legal obligation for religious or charitable purposes wholly or in part. Section 12 deals with exemption of income derived by such a trust from voluntary contributions. Section 12A prescribe the conditions as to registration of trust etc. Section 13 enumerates the circumstances under which the exemption available under sections 11 to 12 will be denied.

(iii) Income from property held for charitable or religious purposes - The following income shall not be included in the total income of the previous year of the person in receipt of the income:

(a) Income derived from property held under trust wholly for charitable and religious purposes to the extent such income is applied in India for such purpose.

(b) Income derived from property held under trust in part only for such purpose, to the extent such income is applied in India for such purposes. However, the trust in question must have been created before 1.4.1962.

(c) Income derived from property held under trust, created on after 1.4.1952 for charitable purpose which tends to promote international welfare in which India is interested to the extent to which such income is applied to such purpose outside India. This does not cover religious trusts.

(d) Income derived from property held under a trust for charitable or religious purposes, created before 1.4.1952, to the extent to which such income is applied for such purposes outside India.

(e) Income in the form of voluntary contributions made with a specific direction that they shall form part of the corpus of the trust or institution.

Thus, it may be noted that only such income derived from property held under trust wholly for charitable or religious purposes is exempt. If the property is held in part only for such purposes, it is necessary that such a trust must have been created before the commencement of the Act. In both the cases, the exemption is limited to the extent such income is applied in India for such specified purposes.

(iv) Types of trusts - To get exemption in respect of income applied outside India, the trusts are divided into two types:

(a) If the object of the trust is to promote international welfare in which India is interested, such trust may have been created on or after 1.4.1952.

(b) If the trust is for any other charitable purpose it must have been created before 1.4.1952. Here also, the exemption is limited to the extent to which such income is applied outside India for such specified purposes. It is to be noted however that a direction from CBDT by a general or special order is necessary before such exemption can be claimed.

(v) Conditions for claiming exemption

(a) Property should be held under trust - The exemptions explained in the preceding paragraphs are available if and only if there is a valid trust or there is a legal obligation, under which the income derived from the property held under such trust or legal obligation is to be applied for charitable or religious purposes. If there is no trust nor any legal obligation, the income will not be exempt even if the whole of such income is applied to charitable or religious purposes. A mere creation of a trust for the income is not sufficient, there must be a trust of the property out of which the income is derived before one can consider any exemption under section 11.

(b) Income should be applied for charitable purposes - Section 2(15) states that 'charitable purpose' includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief and the advancement of any other object of general public utility.

The definition of "charitable purpose " includes "any other object of general public utility" The question arises as to what is an object of "general public utility". This expression has not been defined anywhere in the Act.

In CIT v. Gujarat Maritime Board (2007) 295 ITR 561, the Supreme Court observed that the Gujarat Maritime Board was established for the predominant purpose of development of minor ports within the State of Gujarat, the management and control of the Board was essentially with the State Government and there was no profit motive. The assessee, Gujarat Maritime Board, was under a legal obligation to apply its income which was directly and substantially from the business held under trust for the development of minor ports in Gujarat. Therefore, the Supreme Court held that the assessee was entitled to be registered as "charitable trust" under section 12A.

A number of entities functioning on commercial basis claim exemption of their income either under section 10(23C) or section 11 on the foundation that they are charitable institutions. This is based on the contention that they are engaged in the "advancement of an object of general public utility" as is included in the fourth part of the present definition of "charitable purpose". There were many decisions rendered in the past supporting the view that if unconnected business is held under a trust for promoting the object of general public utility and if profits are used for promoting such objects, income thereof shall be exempt, for example, the decision of the Supreme Court in CIT v. Madras Stock Exchange Ltd. (1981) 130 ITR 184. However, such a claim in respect of an activity carried out on commercial basis, goes against the basic intention of the provision.

Therefore, in order to limit the ambit of the phrase "advancement of any other object of general public utility", section 2(15) has been amended to provide that "the advancement of any other object of general public utility" would not be a charitable purpose if it involves the carrying on of –

(a) any activity in the nature of trade, commerce or business or,

(b) any activity of rendering of any service in relation to any trade, commerce or business, for a fee or cess or any other consideration, irrespective of the nature of use or application of the income from such activity, or the retention of such income, by the concerned entity. This is provided for in the newly inserted proviso to section 2(15). This amendment would affect the ratio laid down in the cases cited above.

However, it may be noted that sections 11(4) and 11(4A) have not been correspondingly amended. Section 11(4) clarifies that "property held under trust" includes a business undertaking so held. Section 11(4A) provides that exemption can be availed in respect of profits and gains of business if such business is incidental to the attainment of the objectives of the trust and separate books of account are maintained in respect of such business. It may be noted that while the intention of section 11(4A) is to provide exemption to such business income, subject to fulfillment of the conditions specified therein, the intention of the amendment in section 2(15) is to deny exemption in respect of such income. The proviso to section 2(15) cannot override the provisions of section 11(4A), since it does not contain a non-obstante clause. Therefore, the proviso to section 2(15) has to be read subject to the exception contained in section 11(4A).

Circular No. 395, dated 24.9.1984 - Promotion of sports and games is considered to be charitable purposes within the meaning of section 2(15). Therefore, an association or institution engaged in the promotion of games and sports can claim exemption under section 11 even if it is not approved under section 10(23).

A trust will be treated as a charitable trust under section 2(15) even if its object involves the carrying on of an activity for profit. Such a trust will not be denied exemption under section 11 on the ground that its objects are non-charitable.

(vi) Application and accumulation - We have seen that the exemption is limited to the extent to which such income is applied in India or outside India as the case may be. Is it necessary that the entire income should be so applied? The Act gives a concession here. It is possible to claim the exemption even if the trust or institution applies only 85 per cent of the income derived from the trust property for the purpose of the trust, during the relevant previous year.

An accumulation not exceeding 15 per cent of the income from such property is permissible. For computing this 15 per cent, voluntary contributions referred to in section 12 shall be deemed to be part of the income. It must be clearly noted that accumulation must be with the object of application of the accumulated amount to charitable or religious purpose in India at a later date. Such a facility for accumulation is not available for those trusts whose income is to be applied outside India.

(vii) Inability to apply in full 85 per cent of the income - It is clear from the above discussion that free accumulation not exceeding 15 per cent of income from property is permissible. Hence, the balance 85 per cent must be applied during the previous year for the purposes for which the trust has been created. However, it is possible that the trust is unable to apply the minimum of 85 per cent of its income during the previous year due to either of the following reasons.

(1) The whole or any part of the income has not been received during that year.

(2) Any other reason.

In the first class of cases, the period of application is extended to cover the previous year in which the income is actually received and the previous year immediately following the year. But the amount which may be so claimed to have been so applied during the subsequent previous year cannot exceed the amount of the income which had not been received earlier but received during a subsequent previous year.

Example 1 - During the previous year ending 31st March, 2009, a charitable trust earned an income of Rs.1,00,000 but it received only Rs.60,000 in that year. The balance of Rs.40,000 is received in the year ending 31-3-2010.

	Rs.
Total income earned during the P.Y.2008-09	1,00,000
Actual receipt in P.Y.2008-09	60,000
Permissible accumulation @15% of Rs.1,00,000	15,000
Balance to be applied during P.Y. 2008-09	45,000
Amount received in P.Y.2009-10 to be applied in P.Y.2009-10 or P.Y.2010-11	40,000

Since this amount of Rs.40,000 is received during the P.Y. 2009-10, this can be applied in the P.Y.2009-10 or in the P.Y. 2010-11. If the entire amount of Rs.40,000 is duly spent for charitable purposes in these two years, the exemption is fully available but if only part of the amount is so spent within the period, the exemption is restricted to that part only.

There may be a case where the inability springs from some other reason e.g. late receipt of the income making it impossible to spend it before the end of the year.

Example 2 - A trust receives a sum of Rs.50,000 on 30th March, 2009. Its previous year ends on 31-3-2009.

It is obvious that it is impossible to apply the requisite sum within one day. Therefore, it has been provided that such sum can be applied at any time during the immediately following previous year i.e. up to 31-3-2010.

(viii) Formalities: Exercise of option - To avail the facility of the extended period of application of income, the trust has to exercise an option in writing that the income applied later as prescribed may be deemed to be income applied to the relevant charitable purposes during the previous year in which the income was derived.

Such option has to be exercised before the expiry of the time allowed statutorily under section 139(1).

The income so deemed to have been applied shall not however be taken into account in calculating the amount of income applied to such purposes, during the previous year in which the income is actually received or during the immediately following previous year as the case may be. Thus, in the Example I given above, the amount of Rs.40,000, received subsequently in the year 2009-10 and applied to charitable purposes in the year 2009-10, will by virtue of the option exercised by the trust, be deemed to be applied for charitable purposes in the year 2008-09 itself. Therefore, such an amount will not be taken into consideration in determining the amount of income applied for charitable purposes in the year 2009-10.

Sub-section (1B) of section 11 provides that where the income for which an option has been exercised as discussed above, is not actually applied, it is to be treated as the income of the previous year immediately following the year of receipt or the previous year in which it was derived as the case may be.

(ix) Conditional accumulation - Apart from the provision for accumulation upto 15 per cent, a trust has also got the rights for conditional accumulation. The relevant provisions are contained in section 11(2).

Where eighty-five per cent of the income is not applied or is not deemed to have been applied to charitable or religious purposes in India but is accumulated or set apart either wholly or in part for application to such purposes in India, such income shall not be included in the total income of the previous year if the following conditions are satisfied.

(a) A notice in writing is given to the Assessing Officer in the prescribed manner specifying the purpose for accumulation and the period for which the income is to be accumulated or set apart. Such period should not exceed five years.

    Any amount credited or paid, out of income which is accumulated or set apart, to any trust or institution registered under section 12AA or to any fund or institution or trust or any university or other educational institution or any hospital or other medical institution referred to in sub-clause (iv) or sub-clause (v) of sub-clause (vi) or sub-clause (via) of clause (23C) of section 10, shall not be treated as application of income for charitable or religious purposes, either during the period of accumulation or thereafter.

(b) The money so accumulated or set apart should be invested or deposited in the following modes specified in section 11(5):

(1) Investment in Government Saving Certificates.

(2) Deposits with Post Office Savings Banks.

(3) Deposit with Scheduled Banks or Co-operative Banks.

(4) Investment in units of the Unit Trust of India.

(5) Investment in Central or State Government Securities.

(6) Investments in debentures issued by or on behalf of any company or corporation. However, both the principal and interest thereon must have been guaranteed by the Central or the State Government.

(7) Investment or deposits in any public sector company.

Where an investment is made in the shares of any public sector company and such public sector company ceases to be a public sector company, the investment so made shall be deemed to be an investment made for a period of three years from the date of such cessation and in the case of any other investment or deposit, till the date of its maturity.

(8) Investment in bonds of approved financial corporation providing long term finance for industrial development in India and eligible for deduction under section 36(1)(viii).

(9) Investment in bonds of approved public companies whose principal object is to provide long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes and eligible for deduction under section 36(1)(viii).

(10) Deposits with or investment in any bonds issued by a public company formed and registered in India with the main object of carrying on the business of providing long-term finance for urban infrastructure in India.

"Long-term finance" means any loan or advance where the terms under which moneys are loaned or advanced provide for repayment along with interest thereof during a period of not less than five years.

"Urban infrastructure" means a project for providing potable water supply, sanitation and sewerage, drainage, solid waste management, road, bridges and flyovers or urban transport.

(11) Investment in immovable property excluding plant and machinery, not being plant and machinery installed in a building for the convenient occupation thereof.

(12) Deposits with Industrial Development Bank of India.

(13) Any other mode of investment or deposit as may be prescribed. Rule 17C specifies the following other modes: (1) Investments in units issued under any scheme of mutual fund referred to in section 10(23D); (2) Any transfer of deposits to Public Account of India; (3) Deposits made with an authority constituted in India or under any law enacted either for the purpose of dealing with and satisfying the need for housing accommodation or for the purpose of planning, development or improvement of cities, towns and villages, or for both; (4) investment by way of acquiring equity shares of a 'depository'; (5) investment by a recognized Stock Exchange, in the equity shares of a company promoted by it to acquire the membership rights of other stock exchanges, where at least 51% of the paid-up share capital is held by the Stock Exchange and the balance is held by its members; (6) investment by way of acquiring equity shares of an incubatee by an incubator.

Where the income of the trust -

(a) is applied for purposes other than charitable or religious purposes; or

(b) ceases to be accumulated or set apart for application thereto; or

(c) ceases to remain invested or deposited in any modes mentioned under section 11(5) above; or

(d) is not utilised for the purpose for which it is so accumulated or set apart during the period specified (not exceeding 5 years) or in the year immediately following thereof.

However, in computing the aforesaid period of 5 years, the period during which the income could not be applied for the purposes for which it is so accumulated or set apart due to an order or injunction of any Court shall be excluded.

(e) accumulated or set apart for application to charitable and religious purposes in India, is credited or paid to any trust or institution registered under section 12AA or to any fund or institution or trust or any university or other educational institution or any hospital or other medical institution referred to in sub-clause (iv) or (v) or (vi) or (via) of clause (23C) of section 10, such income shall be deemed to be the income of the previous year –

(a) in which it is so applied; or

(b) in which it ceases to be accumulated or set apart; or

(c) in which it ceases to remain so invested or deposited; or

(d) immediately following the expiry of the period aforesaid; or

(e) in which it is paid or credited.

It is possible that due to circumstances beyond the control of the person in receipt of the income, any income invested or deposited in approved modes cannot be applied for the purpose for which it was accumulated or set apart. In such a case, an application may be made to the Assessing Officer specifying such other purposes as are in conformity with the objects of the trust. The Assessing Officer may allow the application of income to such other purposes. If such a permission is granted by the Assessing Officer, the new purposes will be deemed to be purposes specified in the written notice given to the Assessing Officer.

It is to be noted that the Assessing Officer cannot allow transfer of any such accumulated income to other charitable trusts/institutions as application of income towards charitable purposes. This has created genuine problems for those trusts and institutions which are wound up. However, in case of a trust or institution which has invested or deposited its income in any of the forms mentioned in section 11(5), the Assessing Officer can allow application of such income for crediting or payment to any trust or institution registered under section 12AA or any fund or institution or trust or university or education institution or hospital or medical institution covered by section 10(23C). Such application can be allowed only in the year in which such trust or institution is dissolved.

(x) Cases where trust property consists of a business undertaking - Section 11(4) clarifies that for the purposes of section 11, property held under trust may consist of a business undertaking so held. If that be so, the trustees may claim that the income of such undertaking enjoys exemption under section 11. Section 11(4) provides for two things -

(1) The Assessing Officer shall have the power to determine the income of the undertaking in accordance with the provisions of the Act relating to assessment, and

(2) Where the income determined by the Assessing Officer is in excess of that shown in the books of the undertaking, such excess shall be deemed to be applied to purposes other than charitable or religious purposes and accordingly be deemed to be the income of the previous year in which it has been deemed to have been so applied.

(xi) Charitable trust engaged in business activity [Section 11(4A)] - Consequently, a charitable trust engaged in business activity will be liable to any tax on income from the activity. However, exemption would be available to the trust in respect of income earned from such business activity if –

(i) such business is incidental to the attainment of the objects of the trust/institution; and

(ii) separate books of account are maintained by such trust/institution in respect of such business.

Note – Profits derived by a trust/institution referred to in clauses (21), (23A), (23B), (23BB) and (23C) of section 10 will continue to be exempt from income-tax, since section 11(4A) does not override the provisions of section 10.

(xii) Instances where capital gains would be deemed to have been applied for charitable purposes [Section 11(1A)]

(a) Transfer of a capital asset held under trust wholly for charitable or religious purposes [Section 11(1A)(a)] - Where the whole of the net consideration from the transfer of the capital asset is utilised for acquiring a new capital asset which is held under trust wholly for charitable or religious purposes, the entire amount of capital gains arising from the transfer would be deemed to have been applied for charitable or religious purposes. If, however, only a part of the net consideration is utilised in acquiring the new capital asset, the amount of capital gains deemed to have been utilised for charitable or religious purposes shall be equal to the excess of the proceeds utilised over the cost of the asset transferred.

Example

Original cost of capital asset transferred	Rs.1,00,000

Consideration for which it is transferred	Rs.1,50,000
Situation 1 Cost of new capital asset acquired	Rs.1,50,000
Situation 2 Cost of new capital asset acquired	Rs.1,20,000

Amount that will be deemed to have been applied for charitable purposes.

Situation 1	Rs.50,000
Situation 2	Rs.20,000

(b) Transfer of a capital asset held under trust in part only for charitable and religious purposes [Section 11(1A)(b)] - Where only a part of a capital asset has been transferred, only the "appropriate fraction" of the capital gain arising from the transfer shall be deemed to have been applied to charitable or religious purposes. Where the whole of the net consideration is utilised in acquiring the new capital asset, the whole of the appropriate fraction of such capital gain will be deemed to have been so applied. In any other case, the exemption will be limited to so much of the appropriate fraction of the amount utilised for acquiring the new asset as exceeds the appropriate fraction of the cost of the transferred asset.

"Appropriate fraction" means the fraction which represents the extent to which the income derived from the capital asset transferred was applicable to charitable or religious purposes before such transfer.

Example: A capital asset is being held under trust. Two-thirds of the income derived from such capital asset are being utilised for the charitable purposes of the trust. The asset is being transferred.

Cost of transferred asset	Rs.1,20,000
Net consideration	Rs.1,80,000
Cost of new asset acquired	Rs.1,50,000
Capital gains	Rs.60,000 [Rs.1,80,000 – Rs.1,20,000]
Appropriate fraction	2/3rd

Income represented by 'appropriate fraction' = 2/3rds of Rs.60,000 = Rs.40,000

Since the entire net consideration has not been utilised in acquiring the new asset, the amount deemed to have been utilised for charitable purpose will be (2/3rds of Rs.1,50,000) – (2/3rds of Rs.1,20,000) = Rs.1,00,000 – Rs.80,000 = Rs.20,000.

(xiii) Voluntary Contributions [Section 12] - Any voluntary contribution received by a trust created wholly for charitable or religious purposes or by an institution established wholly for such purposes shall for the purposes of section 11, be deemed to be income derived from property held under trust wholly for charitable or religious purposes. However, corpus donations (i.e. contributions made with a specific direction that they shall from part of the corpus of the trust or institution) shall not be treated as income. Such corpus donations are treated as capital receipts not chargeable to tax. Other voluntary contributions would be treated as income. However, exemption can be claimed in respect of such income subject to fulfillment of the conditions mentioned below –

(i) The trust should be registered under section 12AA with the Commissioner of Income-tax;

(ii) If the total income of the trust exceeds the basic exemption limit, the accounts of the trust should be audited.

(iii) The trust should apply at least 85% of its income for the approved purposes.

(iv) The balance should be invested or deposited in specified forms or modes.

Note – It may be noted that the corpus donations are to be considered for the purpose of determining whether the accounts of the trust are to be audited. Further, corpus donations have to be invested only in the investments approved under section 11(5). If invested elsewhere, the income from unapproved investment would be chargeable to tax.

(3) CONDITIONS FOR APPLICABILITY OF SECTIONS 11 & 12 [SECTION 12A]

(i) The exemption provisions contained in section 11 and 12 as explained above shall not apply in relation to the income of any trust or institution unless the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) A charitable or religious trust or institution is required to make an application for registration in the prescribed form and in the prescribed manner to the Commissioner. The trust should be registered under section 12AA. In such cases, the exemption provisions of section 11 and 12 would apply from the date of creation of the trust or establishment of the institution [Section 12A(1)].

    This requirement of filing an application for registration under section 12A within one year of creation of the religious or charitable trust or institution has been removed. The application can be filed at any time now.

    Accordingly, in respect of applications filed on or after 1st June, 2007, the provisions of sections 11 and 12 shall apply from the assessment year relevant to the financial year in which the application is made i.e. the exemption would be available only with effect from the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the application is filed. It would not be available in respect of any earlier assessment year [Section 12A(2)].

(b) Audit - Where the total income of the trust without giving effect to the provisions of section 11 and 12 exceeds the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax in any previous year, the accounts of the trust must be audited by a chartered accountant the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant and setting forth such prescribed particulars, should be furnished along with the return.

(ii) Procedure for Registration [Section 12AA] - Accordingly, the Commissioner, on receipt of an application for registration of a trust or institution made under section 12A(1) shall proceed as follows :

(a) He would call for such documents or information from the trust or institution as he thinks necessary in order to satisfy himself about the genuineness of activities of the trust or institution and may also make such enquiries as he may deem necessary in this behalf.

(b) After satisfying himself about the objects of the trust or institution and the genuineness of its activities, he shall pass an order in writing registering the trust or institution.

(c) If he is not satisfied, he shall pass an order in writing refusing to register the trust or institution.

(d) A copy of such an order issued under (b) or (c) above shall be sent to the applicant. However, an order under (c) shall not be passed unless the applicant has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(e) Every order granting or refusing registration shall be passed within six months from the end of the month in which the application for registration of trust or institution is received by the Commissioner.

(f) Where a trust or an institution has been granted registration and subsequently, if the Commissioner of Income-tax is satisfied that the activities of any trust or institution are not genuine or are not being carried out in accordance with the objects of the trust or institution, he can pass an order in writing canceling the registration granted under the said section. However, the trust or institution should be given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(g) Any order passed by the Commissioner of Income-tax under section 12AA refusing registration is appealable under section 253 to the Income-tax Appellate Tribunal.

(4) DENIAL OF EXEMPTION [SECTION 13]

(i) The following incomes of charitable or religious trusts and institutions would not be eligible for exemption under sections 11 and 12:

(a) Where the property is held under a trust for private religious purposes, no part of the income will be exempt if it does not enure for the benefit of the public [Section 13(1)(a)].

(b) Where a trust has been established for the benefit of any particular religious community or caste, the income thereof will not be eligible for exemption. However, a trust or institution created or established for the benefit of scheduled caste, backward classes, scheduled tribes or women and children shall not be treated as a trust or institution created or established for the benefit of a religious community or caste within the meaning of section 13(1)(b).

(c) Where the trust or the institution has been created or established after 31.3.1962, if any part of its income enures directly or indirectly for the benefit of any person referred to in section 13(3) [Section 13(1)(c)].

(d) Irrespective of the date of the creation of the trust or the establishment of the institution, if any part of its income or any property belonging to it during the relevant previous year is used or applied directly or indirectly for the benefit of any person referred to in section 13(3) [Section 13(1)(c)].

(e) Any income of a trust or institution, if –

(i) its funds are invested or deposited otherwise than in the forms or modes specified in section 11(5);

(ii) it holds shares in a company other than -

(1) a public sector company; or

(2) shares prescribed as a form or mode of investment under section 11(5)(xii).

However, these restrictions do not apply in respect of :

(i) any assets forming part of the trust as on 1-6-1973.

(ii) Any accretion to the corpus shares by way of bonus shares allotted to the trust.

(iii) debentures issued by or on behalf of any company or corporation and acquired by the trust before March 1, 1983.

(iv) any asset not covered under section 11(5), where such asset is held for not more than one year from the end of the previous year in which such asset is acquired.

(v) any funds representing the profits and gains of business, being profits and gains of any previous year relevant to the assessment year 1984-85 or any subsequent assessment year. However, such relaxation of the restriction will be denied unless the trust keeps separate accounts for the business. As already noted, subject to certain exceptions, such business profits are no longer eligible for exemption under section 11.

(ii) Prohibited use or application - We have noted above that when any part of the income or any property of the trust whenever created, is, during the previous year, used or applied directly, for the benefit of any person referred to in section 13(3), the denial of exemption operates. Section 13(2) specifies a few particular instances where the income or the property is to be deemed to have been used for the benefit of a person referred to in section 13(3). It should be noted that those particular instances do not in any way restrict the general meaning of the expression "used or applied for the benefit of a person". The provisions of section 13(2) are as follows:

The income or the property of the trust or institution or any part of such income or property is to be deemed to have been used or applied for the benefit of a person referred to in section 13(3) in the following cases:

(a) Loan without adequate interest or adequate security - If any part of the income or the property of the trust or institution is or continues to be lent to any person referred to in section 13(3) for any period during the previous year without either adequate security or adequate interest or both.

(b) Allowing use of property without adequate rent - If any land, building or other property of the trust or institution is or continues to be, made available, for the use of any person referred to in section 13(3) for any period during the previous year without charging adequate rent or other compensation.

(c) Excess payment for services - If any amount is paid out of the resources of the trust or institution to any of the persons referred to in section 13(3) for services rendered to the trust or institution but such amount is in excess of a reasonable sum payable for such services.

(d) Inadequate remuneration for services rendered - If the services of the trust or institution are made available to any person referred to section 13(3) without adequate remuneration or other compensation.

(e) Excess payment for purchase of property - If any share, security or other property is purchased by or on behalf of the trust or institution from any person referred to in section 13(3) during the previous year for a consideration which is more than adequate.

(f) Inadequate consideration for property sold - If any share, security or other property is sold by or on behalf of the trust or institution to any person referred to in section 13(3) during the previous year for a consideration which is less than adequate.

(g) Diversion of income or property exceeding Rs.1,000 - If any income or property of the trust or institution is diverted during the previous year in favour of any person referred to in section 13(3) provided the aggregate value of such income and property diverted exceeds Rs.1,000.

(h) Investment in substantial interest concerns - If any funds of the trust or institution are, or continue to remain, invested for any period during the previous year in any concern in which any person referred to in section 13(3) has a substantial interest.

Section 13(4) provides some respite where the aggregate of the funds invested in the said concern does not exceed five per cent of the capital of that concern. In such a case, the exemption under section 11 will be denied only in relation to such income as arises out of the said investment.

(iii) Exemption not to be denied to charitable trusts providing educational or medical facilities to specified persons [Section 13(6)]

A charitable or religious trust running an educational institution or a medical institution or a hospital shall not be denied the benefit of exemption under section 11 merely due to the reason that the benefit of educational or medical facilities have been provided to the specified persons referred to in section 13(3). However, the value of such facilities provided to such specified persons either free of cost or at a concessional rate would be deemed to be the income of the trust. Such income would not be eligible for exemption under section 11.

(iv) Anonymous donations [Section 13(7)]

The exemption provisions contained in section 11 or section 12 shall not be applicable in respect of any anonymous donation referred to in section 115BBC on which tax is payable in accordance with the provisions of that section. For example, section 11(1)(d) of the Act provides that any income in the form of voluntary contributions made with a specific direction that they shall form part of the corpus of the trust or institution shall not be included in the total income of such trust/institution for the relevant previous year. However, if a trust or institution established wholly for charitable purposes receives an anonymous donation with a specific direction that the donation shall form part of the corpus of the trust or institution, such anonymous donation would not be exempt by virtue of section 11(1)(d). It would be taxable at 30% as provided in section 115BBC.

(v) Prohibited category of persons - Section 13(3) gives the list of persons, use or application of the income or property of a trust for whose direct or indirect benefit results in a denial of the exemption contemplated in section 11 for a charitable or religious trust or institution. The said persons are:

(1) The author of the trust or the founder of the institution.

(2) Any person who has made a substantial contribution to the trust or institution, that is, any person whose total contribution up to the end of the relevant previous year exceeds Rs.50,000.

(3) Where the author, founder or the person making a substantial contribution is a HUF, any member of the family.

(4) Any trustee of the trust or manager (by whatever name called) of the institution.

(5) Any relative of any such author, founder, person, member, trustee or manager as referred to above.

(6) Any concern in which any of the persons referred to in clauses (1) to (5) above has a substantial interest.

Relative - The expression "relative", in relation to an individual, means -

(a) spouse of the individual;

(b) brother or sister of the individual;

(c) brother or sister of the spouse of the individual;

(d) any lineal ascendant or descendant of the individual;

(e) any lineal ascendant or descendant of the spouse of the individual;

(f) spouse of a person referred to in (b), (c), (d) or (e) above;

(g) any lineal descendant of a brother or sister of either the individual or the spouse of the individual;

Substantial interest in a concern - Section 13(2)(h), section 13(3) and section 13(4) refers to cases where a person has a substantial interest in a concern. These references occur where the "Prohibited use or application" and "Prohibited category of persons" have been described. The circumstances in which a person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in a concern, have been laid down in Explanation 3 to section 13. Accordingly, a person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in a concern -

(i) Where the concern is a company, if its shares, other than preference shares, carrying not less than 20 per cent of the voting power are, at any time during the previous year, owned beneficially by him alone or partly by him and partly by one or more of the other persons referred to in section 13(3).

(ii) When the concern is not a company, if he is entitled or he and one or more of the other persons referred to in section 13(3) are entitled in the aggregate, at any time during the previous year, to not less than 20 per cent of the profits of such concern.

(5) ANONYMOUS DONATIONS RECEIVED BY CHARITABLE TRUSTS/INSTITUTIONS TO BE SUBJECT TO TAX [SECTION 115BBC]

(i) As per the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961, tax exemption under section 10(23C) and section 11 are available to certain entities, as briefed in the table below, on fulfillment of the conditions prescribed under the relevant sections –

Entity	Applicable section
Charitable or religious trusts/institutions	11
Universities and other educational institutions	10(23C)(iiiad) and (vi)
Hospitals and other medical institutions	10(23C) (iiiae) and (via)
Notified funds or institutions established for charitable purposes	10(23C)(iv)
Notified trusts or institutions established wholly for public religious purposes or wholly for public religious and charitable purposes	10(23C)(v)

(ii) Section 115BBC has been inserted to tax anonymous donations received by the above entities at 30%. The balance total income of these entities will be chargeable to tax as per the normal applicable rates.

(iii) For this purpose, "anonymous donation" means any voluntary contribution referred to in section 2(24)(iia), where the person receiving such contribution does not maintain a record of the identity indicating the name and address of the person making such contribution and such other particulars as may be prescribed.

(iv) However, the above provision does not apply to a trust or institution created or established wholly for religious purposes.

(v) Further, anonymous donations to trusts/institutions created or established wholly for religious and charitable purposes (i.e. partly charitable and partly religious institutions/trusts) would be taxed only if such anonymous donation is made with a specific direction that such donation is for any university or other educational institution or any hospital or other medical institution run by such trust or institution. Other anonymous donations received by such trusts/institutions are not taxable.

(vi) Section 13(7) provides that the exemption provisions contained in section 11 or section 12 shall not be applicable in respect of any anonymous donation referred to in section 115BBC on which tax is payable in accordance with the provisions of that section.

(vii) For example, section 11(1)(d) of the Act provides that any income in the form of voluntary contributions made with a specific direction that they shall form part of the corpus of the trust or institution shall not be included in the total income of such trust/institution for the relevant previous year. However, if a trust or institution established wholly for charitable purposes receives an anonymous donation with a specific direction that the donation shall form part of the corpus of the trust or institution, such anonymous donation would not be exempt by virtue of section 11(1)(d). It would be taxable at 30% as provided in section 115BBC.

(viii) Similarly, a proviso has been inserted in section 10(23C) to provide that any anonymous donation referred to in section 115BBC on which tax is payable in accordance with the provisions of the said section shall be included in the total income. The amendments to section 10(23C) and 13 are consequential amendments to provide that any income by way of any anonymous donation which is taxable under the provisions of section 115BBC shall not be excluded from the total income of the trust or institution.

(6) TAX EXEMPTION TO POLITICAL PARTIES

Section 13A of the Income-tax Act grants exemption from tax to political parties in respect of their income specified below:

(i) Income from house property;

(ii) Income from other sources;

(iii) Capital gains; and

(iv) Income by way of voluntary contributions received by the political parties from any person.

The aforesaid categories of income would qualify for exemption without any monetary or other limit and the income so exempted would not even be includible in the total income of the political party for the purpose of assessment. The tax exemption will be applicable only if the following conditions are fulfilled:

(i) The political party must keep and maintain such books and other documents as would enable the Assessing Officer to properly deduce the income of the political party from those accounts.

(ii) The political party must keep and maintain records in `respect of each such voluntary contribution which is in excess of Rs.20,000 giving details of the amount received, the name and address of the person who has made the contribution, the date of receipt and such other details as may be relevant or appropriate. However, this does not mean that the political party need not disclose smaller contributions in its accounts which are maintained by it. The obligation to maintain proper record of voluntary contribution in excess of Rs.20,000 is over and above the obligation to maintain proper records and books of accounts in respect of all the income and expenses of the party.

(iii) The accounts of the political party must be audited by a Chartered Accountant.

(iv) A report under section 29C(3) of the Representation of People Act, 1951 has to be submitted by the treasurer of such political party or any other person authorised by the political party in this behalf for every financial year. If there is a failure to submit the above report, no exemption under this section shall be available for the political party for that financial year.

For the purposes of this section, “political party” means a political party registered under section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

CHAPTER 4

HEADS OF INCOME

UNIT-1 : INCOME FROM SALARIES

Learning objectives

After reading this unit, you will be able to understand:

- when the salary income is chargeable to tax
- the concept of profits in lieu of salary
- the various retirement benefits which will be charged as salary
- the concepts of allowances and perquisites
- the admissible deductions from salary

1.1 SALARY

The meaning of the term 'salary' for purposes of income tax is much wider than what is normally understood. Every payment made by an employer to his employee for service rendered would be chargeable to tax as income from salaries. The term 'salary' for the purposes of Income-tax Act will include both monetary payments (e.g. basic salary, bonus, commission, allowances etc.) as well as non-monetary facilities (e.g. housing accommodation, medical facility, interest free loans etc).

(1) Employer-employee relationship : Before an income can become chargeable under the head 'salaries', it is vital that there should exist between the payer and the payee, the relationship of an employer and an employee. Consider the following examples:

(a) Sujatha, an actress, is employed in Chopra Films, where she is paid a monthly remuneration of Rs.2 lakh. She acts in various films produced by various producers. The remuneration for acting in such films is directly paid to Chopra Films by the different producers. In this case, Rs.2 lakh will constitute salary in the hands of Sujatha, since the relationship of employer and employee exists between Chopra Films and Sujatha.

(b) In the above example, if Sujatha acts in various films and gets fees from different producers, the same income will be chargeable as income from profession since the relationship of employer and employee does not exist between Sujatha and the film producers.

(c) Commission received by a Director from a company is salary if the Director is an employee of the company. If, however, the Director is not an employee of the company, the said commission cannot be charged as salary but has to be charged either as income from business or as income from other sources depending upon the facts.

(d) Salary paid to a partner by a firm is nothing but an appropriation of profits. Any salary, bonus, commission or remuneration by whatever name called due to or received by partner of a firm shall not be regarded as salary. The same is to be charged as income from profits and gains of business or profession. This is primarily because the relationship between the firm and its partners is not that of an employer and employee.

(2) Full-time or part-time employment: It does not matter whether the employee is a full-time employee or a part-time one. Once the relationship of employer and employee exists, the income is to be charged under the head "salaries". If, for example, an employee works with more than one employer, salaries received from all the employers should be clubbed and brought to charge for the relevant previous years.

(3) Foregoing of salary: Once salary accrues, the subsequent waiver by the employee does not absolve him from liability to income-tax. Such waiver is only an application and hence, chargeable to tax.

Example: Mr. A, an employee instructs his employer that he is not interested in receiving the salary for April 2008 and the same might be donated to a charitable institution. In this case, Mr. A cannot claim that he cannot be charged in respect of the salary for April 2008. It is only due to his instruction that the donation was made to a charitable institution by his employer. It is only an application of income. Hence, the salary for the month of April 2008 will be taxable in the hands of Mr. A. He is however, entitled to claim a deduction under section 80G for the amount donated to the institution. [The concept of deductions is explained in detail in Chapter 7].

(4) Surrender of salary: However, if an employee surrenders his salary to the Central Government under section 2 of the Voluntary Surrender of Salaries (Exemption from Taxation) Act, 1961, the salary so surrendered would be exempt while computing his taxable income.

(5) Salary paid tax-free: This, in other words, means that the employer bears the burden of the tax on the salary of the employee. In such a case, the income from salaries in the hands of the employee will consist of his salary income and also the tax on this salary paid by the employer.

(6) Voluntary payments: Whether the payment from an employer is based on a contract or not, it constitutes salary in the hands of the employee. However, many employers give personal gifts and testimonials to the employees. For example, employees who complete 20 years of service may be given a wrist watch. The question arises whether the value of the watch can be taxed in the hands of the employee. Courts have taken the view that such gifts are not taxable. However, in these cases it is important that such gifts must be given to employees pursuant to a scheme applicable to employees in general. If gifts are given purely on a selective basis they may well become chargeable in the hands of the recipient. However, due to the levy of Fringe Benefit Tax, these gifts will now be exempt in the hands of the recipient, but will be taxable in the hands of the employer.

Further examples of exempted payments:

(1) Bonus paid to a football player after the World Cup victory to mark an exceptional event- Moore vs. Griffiths (1972) 3 AER 399.

(2) Payment made as a gift in appreciation of the personal qualities of the employee.

(3) Payment of proceeds of a benefit cricket match to a great cricket player after he retired from test match.

1.2 DEFINITION OF SALARY

The term 'salary' has been defined differently for different purposes in the Act. The definition as to what constitutes salary is very wide. As already discussed earlier, it is an inclusive definition and includes monetary as well as non-monetary items. There are different definitions of 'salary' say for calculating exemption in respect of gratuity, house rent allowance etc.

'Salary' under section 17(1), includes the following:

(i) wages,

(ii) any annuity or pension,

(iii) any gratuity,

(iv) any fees, commission, perquisite or profits in lieu of or in addition to any salary or wages,

(v) any advance of salary,

(vi) any payment received in respect of any period of leave not availed by him i.e. leave salary or leave encashment,

(vii) the portion of the annual accretion in any previous year to the balance at the credit of an employee participating in a recognised provident fund to the extent it is taxable and

(viii) transferred balance in recognized provident fund to the extent it is taxable,

(ix) the contribution made by the Central Government or any other employer in the previous year to the account of an employee under a pension scheme referred to in section 80CCD.

1.3 BASIS OF CHARGE

1. Section 15 deals with the basis of charge. Salary is chargeable to tax either on 'due' basis or on 'receipt' basis whichever is earlier.
2. However, where any salary, paid in advance, is assessed in the year of payment, it cannot be subsequently brought to tax in the year in which it becomes due.
3. If the salary paid in arrears has already been assessed on due basis, the same cannot be taxed again when it is paid.

Examples:

i. If A draws his salary in advance for the month of April 2009 in the month of March 2009 itself, the same becomes chargeable on receipt basis and is to be assessed as income of the P.Y.2008-09 i.e., A.Y.2009-10. However, the salary for the A.Y.2010-11 will not include that of April 2009.

ii. If the salary due for March 2009 is received by A later in the month of April 2009 only, it is still chargeable as income of the P.Y.2008-09 i.e. A.Y.2009-10 on due basis. Obviously, salary for the A.Y.2010-11 will not include that of March 2009.

1.4 PLACE OF ACCRUAL OF SALARY

Under section 9(1)(ii), salary earned in India is deemed to accrue or arise in India even if it is paid outside India or it is paid or payable after the contract of employment in India comes to an end.

Example: If an employee gets pension paid abroad in respect of services rendered in India, the same will be deemed to accrue in India. Similarly, leave salary paid abroad in respect of leave earned in India is deemed to accrue or arise in India.

Suppose, for example, A, a citizen of India is posted in the United States as our Ambassador. Obviously, he renders his services outside India. He also receives his salary outside India. He is also a non-resident. The question, therefore, arises whether he can claim exemption in respect of his salary paid by the Government of India to him outside India. Under general principles of income tax such salary cannot be charged in his hands. For this purpose, section 9(1)(iii) provides that salaries payable by the Government to a citizen of India for services outside India shall be deemed to accrue or arise in India. However, by virtue of section 10(7), any allowance or perquisites paid or allowed outside India by the Government to a citizen of India for rendering services outside India will be fully exempt.

1.5 PROFITS IN LIEU OF SALARY

It includes the following:

(i) The amount of any compensation due to or received by an assessee from his employer or former employer at or in connection with the termination of his employment.

(ii) The amount of any compensation due to or received by an assessee from his employer or former employer at or in connection with the modification of the terms and conditions of employment. Usually, such compensation is treated as a capital receipt. However, by virtue of this provision, the same is treated as a revenue receipt and is chargeable as salary.

Note: It is to be noted that merely because a payment is made by an employer to a person who is his employee does not automatically fall within the scope of the above provisions. The payment must be arising due to master-servant relationship between the payer and the payee. If it is not on that account, but due to considerations totally unconnected with employment, such payment is not profit in lieu of salary.

Example: A was an employee in a company in Pakistan. At the time of partition, he migrated to India. He suffered loss of personal movable property in Pakistan due to partition. He applied to his employer for compensating him for such loss. Certain payments were given to him as compensation. It was held that such payments should not be taxed as 'profit in lieu of salary' - Lachman Dass Vs. CIT [1980] 124 ITR 706 (Delhi).

(iii) Any payment due to or received by an assessee from his employer or former employer from an unrecognised provident fund or from an unrecognized superannuation fund to the extent to which it does not consist of employee's contributions or interest on such contributions.

Example: If any sum is paid to an employee from an unrecognised provident fund it is to be dealt with as follows :

(a) that part of the sum which represents the employer's contribution to the fund and interest thereon is taxable under salaries.

(b) that part of the sum which represents employee's contribution and interest thereon is not chargeable to tax since the same have already been taxed under the head 'salaries' and 'other sources' respectively on an yearly basis.

Note: It does not include exempt payments from superannuation fund, gratuity, commuted pension, retrenchment compensation, HRA.

(iv) Any payment due to or received by an assessee under a Keyman Insurance policy including the sum allocated by way of bonus on such policy.

(v) Any amount, whether in lumpsum or otherwise, due to the assessee or received by him, from any person -

(a) before joining employment with that person, or

(b) after cessation of his employment with that person.

(vi) Any other sum received by the employee from the employer.

For a better and simpler understanding, this chapter has been discussed under three broad categories: Payments, Allowances and Perquisites.

1.6 ADVANCE SALARY

Advance salary is taxable when it is received by the employee irrespective of the fact whether it is due or not. It may so happen that when advance salary is included and charged in a particular previous year, the rate of tax at which the employee is assessed may be higher than the normal rate of tax to which he would have been assessed. Section 89(1) provides for relief in these types of cases. [The concept of relief under section 89(1) is explained in para 1.23 of this Chapter].

1.7 LOAN OR ADVANCE AGAINST SALARY

Loan is different from salary. When an employee takes a loan from his employer, which is repayable in certain specified installments, the loan amount cannot be brought to tax as salary of the employee.

Similarly, advance against salary is different from advance salary. It is an advance taken by the employee from his employer. This advance is generally adjusted with his salary over a specified time period. It cannot be taxed as salary.

1.8 SALARY ARREARS

Normally speaking, salary arrears must be charged on due basis. However, there are circumstances when it may not be possible to bring the same to charge on due basis. For example if the Pay Commission is appointed by the Central Government and it recommends revision of salaries of employees, the arrears received in that connection will be charged on receipt basis. Here, also relief under section 89(1) is available.

1.9 ANNUITY

1. As per the definition, 'annuity' is treated as salary. Annuity is a sum payable in respect of a particular year. It is a yearly grant. If a person invests some money entitling him to series of equal annual sums, such annual sums are annuities in the hands of the investor.

2. Annuity received by a present employer is to be taxed as salary. It does not matter whether it is paid in pursuance of a contractual obligation or voluntarily.
3. Annuity received from a past employer is taxable as profit in lieu of salary.
4. Annuity received from person other than an employer is taxable as “income from other sources”.

1.10 GRATUITY [SECTION 10(10)]

Gratuity is a voluntary payment made by an employer in appreciation of services rendered by the employee. Now-a-days gratuity has become a normal payment applicable to all employees. In fact, Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 is a statutory recognition of the concept of gratuity. Almost all employers enter into an agreement with employees to pay gratuity. For details refer to Chapter 3.

1.11 PENSION

Concise Oxford Dictionary defines ‘pension’ as a periodic payment made especially by Government or a company or other employers to the employee in consideration of past service payable after his retirement.

Commuted pension : Commutation means inter-change. Many persons convert their future right to receive pension into a lumpsum amount receivable immediately. For example, suppose a person is entitled to receive a pension of say Rs.2000 p.m. for the rest of his life. He may commute ¼th i.e. 25% of this amount and get a lumpsum of say Rs.30,000. After commutation, his pension will now be the balance 75% of Rs.2,000 p.m. = Rs.1,500 p.m.

For details refer to Chapter 3.

1.12 LEAVE SALARY [SECTION 10(10AA)]

For details refer to Chapter 3.

1.13 RETRENCHMENT COMPENSATION [SECTION 10(10B)]

For details refer to Chapter 3.

1.14 COMPENSATION RECEIVED ON VOLUNTARY RETIREMENT [SECTION 10(10C)]

Any compensation received by an employee of a public sector company or of any other company or other specified bodies at the time of his voluntary retirement or termination of his service is exempt upto a maximum limit of Rs.5,00,000. However, such payment should be in accordance with a scheme of voluntary retirement or in the case of a public sector company, a scheme of voluntary separation. Such schemes should be in accordance with prescribed guidelines. These guidelines may include economic viability as one of the criteria.

For details refer to Chapter 3.

1.15 PROVIDENT FUND

Provident fund scheme is a scheme intended to give substantial benefits to an employee at the time of his retirement. Under this scheme, a specified sum is deducted from the salary of the employee as his contribution towards the fund. The employer also generally contributes the same amount out of his pocket, to the fund. The contribution of the employer and the employee are invested in approved securities. Interest earned thereon is also credited to the account of the employee. Thus, the credit balance in a provident fund account of an employee consists of the following:

(i) employee's contribution

(ii) interest on employee's contribution

(iii) employer's contribution

(iv) interest on employer's contribution.

The accumulated balance is paid to the employee at the time of his retirement or resignation. In the case of death of the employee, the same is paid to his legal heirs.

The provident fund represents an important source of small savings available to the Government. Hence, the Income-tax Act gives certain deductions on savings in a provident fund account.

There are four types of provident funds :

(i) Statutory Provident Fund (SPF)

(ii) Recognised Provident Fund (RPF)

(iii) Unrecognised Provident Fund (UPF)

(iv) Public Provident Fund (PPF)

The tax treatment is given below:

Particulars	Recognized PF	Unrecognized PF	Statutory PF	Public PF
Employer's Contribution	Amount in excess of 12% of salary is taxable	Not taxable yearly	Fully exempt	Not applicable as there is only assessee's own contribution

Notes:

(1) Amount received on the maturity of RPF is fully exempt in case of an employee who has rendered continuous service for a period of 5 years or more. In case the maturity of RPF takes place within 5 years then the amount received would be fully exempt only if the service had been terminated due to employee's ill-health or discontinuance or contraction of employer's business or other reason beyond control of the employee. In any other case, the amount received will be taxable in the same manner as that of an URPF.

(2) If, after termination of his employment with one employer, the employee obtains employment under another employer, then, only so much of the accumulated balance in his provident fund account will be exempt which is transferred to his individual account in a recognised provident fund maintained by the new employer. In such a case, for exemption of payment of accumulated balance by the new employer, the period of service with the former employer shall also be taken into account for computing the period of five years' continuous service.

(3) Employee's contribution is not taxable but interest thereon is taxable under 'Income from Other Sources'. Employer's contribution and interest thereon is taxed as Salary.

(4) Salary for this purpose means basic salary and dearness allowance - if provided in the terms of employment for retirement benefits and commission as a percentage of turnover.

(1) Statutory Provident Fund (SPF): The SPF is governed by Provident Funds Act, 1925. It applies to employees of government, railways, semi-government institutions, local bodies, universities and all recognised educational institutions. Under the Income-tax Act, the rules governing the SPF are as follows:

(2) Recognised Provident Fund (RPF): Recognised provident fund means a provident fund recognised by the Commissioner of Income-tax for the purposes of income-tax. It is governed by Part A of Schedule IV to the Income-tax Act. This schedule contains various rules regarding the following:

(a) Recognition of the fund

(b) Employee's and employer's contribution to the fund

(c) Treatment of accumulated balance etc.

A fund constituted under the Employees's Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 will also be a Recognised Provident Fund.

(3) Unrecognised Provident Fund (URPF): A fund not recognised by the Commissioner of Income-tax is Unrecognised Provident Fund.

(4) Public Provident Fund (PPF): Public provident fund is operated under the Public Provident Fund Act, 1968. A membership of the fund is open to every individual though it is ideally suited to self-employed people. A salaried employee may also contribute to PPF in addition to the fund operated by his employer. An individual may contribute to the fund on his own behalf as also on behalf of a minor of whom he is the guardian.

For getting a deduction under section 80C, a member is required to contribute to the PPF a minimum of Rs.500 in a year. A maximum amount that may qualify for deduction on this account is Rs.70,000 as per PPF rules.

A member of PPF may deposit his contribution in as many installments in multiples of Rs.500 as is convenient to him. The sums contributed to PPF earn interest at 8%. The amount of contribution may be paid at any of the offices or branch offices of the State Bank of India or its subsidiaries and specified branches of Nationalised Banks or any Head Post Office.

Mr. A retires from service on December 31, 2008, after 25 years of service. Following are the particulars of his income/investments for the previous year 2008-09:

Particulars	Rs.
Basic pay @ Rs.16,000 per month for 9 months	1,44,000
Dearness pay (50% forms part of the retirement benefits) Rs.8,000 per month for 9 months	72,000
Lumpsum payment received from the Unrecognised Provident Fund	6,00,000
Deposits in the PPF account	40,000

Out of the amount received from the provident fund, the employers share was Rs.2,20,000 and the interest thereon Rs.50,000. The employee's share was Rs.2,70,000 and the interest thereon Rs.60,000.

What is the taxable portion of the amount received from the unrecognized provident fund in the hands of Mr. A for the assessment year 2009-10?

Solution

Taxable portion of the amount received from the URPF in the hands of Mr. A for the A.Y. 2009-10 is computed hereunder:

Amount taxable under the head "Salaries":
Employer's share in the payment received from the Unrecognized Provident Fund	Rs.2,20,000
Interest on the employer's share	Rs. 50,000
Total	Rs.2,70,000
Amount taxable under the head "Income from Other Sources" :
Interest on the employee's share	Rs. 60,000
Total amount taxable from the amount received from the fund	Rs.3,30,000

Note: The employee's share received from the URPF is exempt from tax.

Illustration 2

Will your answer be any different if the fund mentioned above was a recognised provident fund?

Solution

Since the fund is a recognised one, and the maturity is taking place after a service of 25 years, the entire amount received on the maturity of the RPF will be fully exempt from tax.

Mr. B is working in XYZ Ltd. and has given the details of his income for the P.Y. 2008-09. You are required to compute his gross salary from the details given below:

Basic Salary	Rs.10,000 p.m.
D.A. (50% is for retirement benefits)	Rs.8,000 p.m.
Commission as a percentage of turnover	1%
Turnover during the year	Rs.5,00,000

Bonus	Rs.40,000
Gratuity	Rs.25,000
His own contribution in the RPF	Rs.20,000
Employer's contribution to RPF	20% of his basic salary
Interest accrued in the RPF @ 13% p.a.	Rs.13,000

Solution

Computation of Gross Salary of Mr. B for the A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Rs.	Rs.
Basic Salary [Rs.10,000 × 12]		1,20,000
Dearness Allowance [Rs.8,000 × 12]		96,000
Commission on turnover [1% × Rs.5,00,000]		5,000
Bonus		40,000
Gratuity [Note 1]		25,000
Employee's contribution to RPF [Note 2]		-
Employers contribution to RPF [20% of Rs.1,20,000]	24,000
Less : Exempt [Note 3]	20,760	3,240
Interest accrued in the RPF @ 13% p.a.	13,000
Less : Exempt @ 9.5% p.a.	9,500	3,500
Gross Salary		2,92,740

Note 1 : Gratuity received during service is fully taxable.

Note 2 : Employee's contribution to RPF is not taxable. It is eligible for deduction under section 80C.

Note 3 : Employers contribution in the RPF is exempt up to 12% of the salary.

i.e. 12% of [B.S + D.A. for retirement benefits + Commission based on turnover]

= 12% of [Rs.1,20,000 + (50% × Rs.96,000) + Rs.5,000]

= 12% of Rs.1,73,000

1.16 APPROVED SUPERANNUATION FUND

It means a superannuation fund which has been and continues to be approved by the Commissioner in accordance with the rules contained in Part B of the VIth Schedule to the Income-tax Act.

The tax treatment of contribution and exemption of payment from tax are as follows:

(i) Employer's contribution is exempt from tax in the hands of employee but taxable in the hands of the employer (only in respect of such contribution exceeding Rs.1,00,000 per employee per annum) under the provisions of fringe benefit tax;

(ii) Employee's contribution qualifies for deduction under section 80C;

(iii) Interest on accumulated balance is exempt from tax.

Section 10(13) grants exemption in respect of payment from the fund—

(a) to the legal heirs on the death of beneficiary (e.g. payment to widow of the beneficiary) or

(b) to an employee in lieu of or in commutation of an annuity on his retirement at or after the specified age or on his becoming incapacitated prior to such retirement, or

(c) by way of refund of contribution on the death of the beneficiary or,

(d) by way of refund of contribution to an employee on his leaving the service in connection with which the fund is established otherwise than in the circumstances mentioned in (b), to the extent to which such payment does not exceed the contribution made prior to April 1, 1962. For example, where the amount received by an employee does not include any contribution made prior to 1-4-62, the whole amount is taxable.

1.17 SALARY FROM UNITED NATIONS ORGANISATION

Section 2 of the United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Act, 1947 grants exemption from income-tax to salaries and emoluments paid by the United Nations to its officials. Besides salary, any pension covered under the United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Act and received from UNO is also exempt from tax.

1.18 ALLOWANCES

Different types of allowances are given to employees by their employers. Generally allowances are given to employees to meet some particular requirements like house rent, expenses on uniform, conveyance etc. Under the Income-tax Act, allowance is taxable on due or receipt basis, whichever is earlier. Various types of allowances normally in vogue are discussed below:

Allowances
Fully Taxable	Partly Taxable	Fully Exempt
(i) Entertainment Allowance	(i) House Rent Allowance [u/s 10(13A)]	(i) Allowance granted to Government employees outside India.
(ii) Dearness Allowance (iii) Overtime Allowance (iv) Fixed Medical Allowance (v) City Compensatory Allowance (vi) Interim Allowance (to meet increased cost of living in cities) (vii) Servant Allowance (viii) Project Allowance (ix) Tiffin/Lunch/Dinner Allowance (x) Any other cash allowance (xi) Warden Allowance (xii) Non-practicing Allowance	(ii) Special Allowances [u/s 10(14)]	(ii) Sumptuary allowance granted to High Court or Supreme Court Judges (iii) Allowance paid by the United Nations Organization. (iv) Compensatory Allowance received by a judge

Allowances which are fully taxable

(1) City compensatory allowance: City Compensatory Allowance is normally intended to compensate the employees for the higher cost of living in cities. It is taxable irrespective of the fact whether it is given as compensation for performing his duties in a particular place or under special circumstances.

(2) Entertainment allowance: This allowance is given to employees to meet the expenses towards hospitality in receiving customers etc. The Act gives a deduction towards entertainment allowance only to a Government employee. The details of deduction permissible are discussed later on in this Unit.

Allowances which are partially taxable

(1) House rent allowance [Section 10(13A)] – Refer to Chapter 3 for detailed discussion.

(2) Special allowances [Section 10(14)] : Refer to Chapter 3 for details.

Allowances which are fully exempt:

(1) Allowance to High Court Judges: Any allowance paid to a Judge of a High Court under section 22A(2) of the High Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act, 1954 is not taxable.

(2) Allowance received from United Nations Organisation (UNO): Allowance paid by the UNO to its employees is not taxable by virtue of section 2 of the United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Act, 1974.

(3) Compensatory allowance under Article 222(2) of the Constitution: Compensatory allowance received by judge under Article 222(2) of the Constitution is not taxable since it is neither salary not perquisite—Bishamber Dayal Vs. CIT [1976] 103 ITR 813 (MP).

(4) Sumptuary allowance : Sumptuary allowance given to High Court Judges under section 22C of the High Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act, 1954 and Supreme Court Judges under section 23B of the Supreme Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act, 1958 is not chargeable to tax.

1.19 PERQUISITES

(1) The term 'perquisite' indicates some extra benefit in addition to the amount that may be legally due by way of contract for services rendered. In modern times, the salary package of an employee normally includes monetary salary and perquisite like housing, car etc.

(2) Perquisite may be provided in cash or in kind.

(3) Reimbursement of expenses incurred in the official discharge of duties is not a perquisite.

(4) Perquisite may arise in the course of employment or in the course of profession. If it arises from a relationship of employer-employee, then the value of the perquisite is taxable as salary. However, if it arises during the course of profession, the value of such perquisite is chargeable as profits and gains of business or profession.

(5) Perquisite will become taxable only if it has a legal origin. An unauthorised advantage taken by an employee without his employer's sanction cannot be considered as a perquisite under the Act. For example, suppose A, an employee, is given a house by his employer. On 31.3.2007, he is terminated from service. But he continues to occupy the house without the permission of the employer for six more months after which he is evicted by the employer. The question arises whether the value of the benefit enjoyed by him during the six months period can be considered as a perquisite and be charged to salary. It cannot be done since the relationship of employer-employee ceased to exist after 31-3-2007. However, the definition of income is wide enough to bring the value of the benefit enjoyed by employee to tax as "income from other sources".

(6) Income-tax paid by the employer out of his pocket on the salary of the employee is a perquisite in the hands of the employee whether the payment is contractual or voluntary.

Definition: Under the Act, the term 'perquisite' is defined by section 17(2) to include the following:

(a) the value of rent free accommodation provided to the assessee by his employer-section 17(2)(i);

(b) The value of any concession in the matter of rent respecting any accommodation provided to the assessee by his employer—section 17(2)(ii);

   (i) Under section 17(2)(ii), the value of any concession in the matter of rent arising to an employee in respect of any accommodation provided by his employer is considered as "perquisite" chargeable to tax in the hands of the employee.

   (ii) Rule 3(1) of the Income-tax Rules provides the basis of valuation of perquisites in respect of accommodation provided to an employee, as under:

      (a) 15% of salary in cities having population exceeding 25 lakh

      (b) 10% of salary in cities having population above 10 lakh up to 25 lakh

      (b) 7.5% of salary in cities having population up to 10 lakh.

   (iii) In case of furnished accommodation provided by an employer, the value arrived as above was to be further increased by 10 percent of the cost of furniture, where the same is owned by the employer, or the actual hire charges paid by the employer in case the furniture is hired.

   (iv) This method of perquisite valuation resulted in genuine hardship to employees availing facility of residential accommodation in remote areas, as the value of perquisite was determined as a percentage of salary of the employee, irrespective of the fair rental value of the property (which may be much lower than 15%/10%/7.5% of salary in such cases).

   (v) Rule 3(1) was challenged as ultra vires before the Supreme Court in the case of Arun Kumar v. UOI (2006) 286 ITR 89. The Apex court, while holding that the provisions of Rule 3(1) were constitutionally valid, observed that the same would be applicable only if 'concession in the matter of rent' with respect to the accommodation provided by an employer accrues to the employee under the substantive provisions of section 17(2)(ii). The Assessing Officer, before applying Rule 3(1), was required to establish that there was 'concession in the matter of rent' provided to the employee.

(vi) Further, as per the Apex court, the difference between the value as per Rule 3(1) and the rent recovered from the employee, could not per se be considered as 'concession in the matter of rent' provided to the employee.

(vii) In order to clarify the correct intent of law, Explanations have been inserted in section 17(2)(ii) to provide that the difference between the specified rate (as shown in column 2 of the table below) and the amount of rent recoverable/recovered from the employee would be deemed to be the concession in the matter of rent in case of accommodation owned by the employer. In case of accommodation taken on lease or rent by the employer, the difference between the actual lease rent or 15% of salary, whichever is lower, and rent recovered/recoverable from the employee would be deemed to be the concession in the matter of rent.

Type of accomodation	Deemed concession in the matter of rent
Accommodation owned by the employer
In cities having a population exceeding 25 lakh	15% of salary minus rent recoverable from the employee.
In cities having a population exceeding 10 lakh but not exceeding 25 lakh	10% of salary minus rent recoverable from the employee.
In other cities	7½% of salary minus rent recoverable from employee.
Accommodation taken on lease by the employer	Rent paid by the employer or 15% of salary, whichever is lower, minus rent recoverable from the employee.

(viii) This deeming provision is applicable to employees other than Government employees. In case of furnished accommodation provided to such employees, the excess of hire charges paid or 10% p.a. of cost of furniture, as the case may be, over and above the charges paid or payable by the employee would be added to the value determined in column (2) above for determining whether there is a concession in the matter of rent.

Note – Once there is a deemed concession, the provisions of Rule 3(1) would be applicable in computing the taxable perquisite.

(ix) "Salary" includes pay, allowances, bonus or commission payable monthly or otherwise or any monetary payment, by whatever name called, from one or more employers, as the case may be. However, it does not include the following, namely–

(1) dearness allowance or dearness pay unless it enters into the computation of superannuation or retirement benefits of the employee concerned;

(2) employer's contribution to the provident fund account of the employee;

(3) allowances which are exempted from the payment of tax;

(4) value of the perquisites specified in section 17(2);

(5) any payment or expenditure specifically excluded under the proviso to section 17(2) i.e., medical expenditure/payment of medical insurance premium specified therein.

(x) In case of Government employees, the excess of licence fees determined by the employer as increased by the value of furniture and fixture over and above the rent recovered/recoverable from the employee and the charges paid or payable for furniture by the employee would be deemed to be the concession in the matter of rent.

(c) The value of any benefit or amenity granted or provided free of cost or at concessional rate in any of the following cases (i.e. in case of specified employees):

(i) by a company to an employee in which he is a director;

(ii) by a company to an employee being a person who has substantial interest in the company (i.e. 20% or more of the voting rights of the company);

(iii) by any employer (including a company) to an employee to whom the provisions of (i) & (ii) do not apply and whose income under the head 'salaries' (whether due from, or paid or allowed by, one or more employers) exclusive of the value of all benefits or amenities not provided for by way of monetary benefits exceeds Rs.50,000 - section 17(2)(iii);

(d) Any sum paid by the employer in respect of any obligation which, but for such payment, would have been payable by the assessee - section 17(2)(iv);

(e) Any sum payable by the employer whether directly or through a fund, other than a recognised provident fund or approved superannuation fund or deposit- linked insurance fund to effect an assurance on the life of the assessee or to effect a contract for an annuity - section 17(2)(v).

(f) the value of any other fringe benefit or amenity (excluding the fringe benefits chargeable to tax under Chapter XII-H) as may be prescribed.

It can be noted that the aforesaid definition of perquisite is an inclusive one. More terms can be added in.

Types of perquisites: Perquisites may be divided into three broad categories:

(1) Perquisites taxable in the case of all employees

(2) Perquisites exempt from tax in the case of all employees

(3) Perquisites taxable only in the hands of specified employees.

(1) Perquisites taxable in the case of all employees: The following perquisites are chargeable to tax in all cases.

(i) Value of rent-free accommodation provided to the assessee by his employer [Section 17(2)(i)].

Exception : Rent-free official residence provided to a Judge of a High Court or to a Judge of the Supreme Court is not taxable. Similarly, rent-free furnished house provided to an Officer of Parliament, is not taxable. [For valuation, refer to para 1.20]

(ii) Value of concession in rent in respect of accommodation provided to the assessee by his employer [Section 17(2)(ii)].

(iii) Amount paid by an employer in respect of any obligation which otherwise would have been payable by the employee [Section 17(2)(iv)]. For example, if a domestic servant is engaged by an employee and the employer reimburses the salary paid to the servant, it becomes an obligation which the employee would have discharged even if the employer did not reimburse the same. This perquisite will be covered by section 17(2)(iv) and will be taxable in the hands of all employees.

(iv) Amount payable by an employer directly or indirectly to effect an assurance on the life of the assessee or to effect a contract for an annuity, other than payment made to RPF or approved superannuation fund or deposit-linked insurance fund established under the Coal Mines Provident Fund or Employees' Provident Fund Act. However, there are schemes like group annuity scheme, employees state insurance scheme and fidelity insurance scheme, under which insurance premium is paid by employer on behalf of the employees. Such payments are not regarded as perquisite in view of the fact that the employees have only an expectancy of the benefit in such schemes.

(v) The value of any other fringe benefit or amenity (excluding the fringe benefits chargeable to tax under Chapter XII-H) as may be prescribed.

Thus, only those benefits not falling within the meaning of 'fringe benefit' as defined under section 115WB would be treated as 'perquisites' under section 17. Those benefits falling within the meaning of 'fringe benefit' as defined under section 115WB will be taxed in the hands of the employer in addition to income-tax.

(2) Perquisites exempt from tax in all cases: The following perquisites are exempt from tax in all cases -

(1) Telephone provided by an employer to an employee at his residence;

(2) Goods sold by an employer to his employees at concessional rates;

(3) Transport facility provided by an employer engaged in the business of carrying of passengers or goods to his employees either free of charge or at concessional rate;

(4) Privilege passes and privilege ticket orders granted by Indian Railways to its employees;

(5) Perquisites allowed outside India by the Government to a citizen of India for rendering services outside India;

(6) Sum payable by an employer to a RPF or an approved superannuation fund or deposit-linked insurance fund established under the Coal Mines Provident Fund or the Employees' Provident Fund Act;

(7) Employer's contribution to staff group insurance scheme;

(8) Leave travel concession;

(9) Payment of annual premium by employer on personal accident policy effected by him on the life of the employee;

(10) Refreshment provided to all employees during working hours in office premises;

(11) Subsidized lunch or dinner provided to an employee;

(12) Recreational facilities, including club facilities, extended to employees in general i.e., not restricted to a few select employees;

(13) Amount spent by the employer on training of employees or amount paid for refresher management course including expenses on boarding and lodging;

(14) Medical facilities subject to certain prescribed limits; [Refer to point 9 of para 1.20]

(15) Rent-free official residence provided to a Judge of a High Court or the Supreme Court;

(16) Rent-free furnished residence including maintenance provided to an Officer of Parliament, Union Minister and a Leader of Opposition in Parliament;

(17) Conveyance facility provided to High Court Judges under section 22B of the High Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act, 1954 and Supreme Court Judges under section 23A of the Supreme Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act, 1958.

(18) Motor car facility.

However, some of the perquisites mentioned above are taxable as fringe benefits in the hands of the employer (Refer to definition of fringe benefits as per section 2(23B) in Chapter 1)

(3) Perquisites taxable only in the hands of specified employees [Section 17(2)(iii)]: The value of any benefit or amenity granted or provided free of cost or at concessional rate which have not been included in 1 & 2 above will be taxable in the hands of specified employees:

Specified employees are:

(i) Director employee: An employee of a company who is also a director is a specified employee. It is immaterial whether he is a full-time director or part-time director. It also does not matter whether he is a nominee of the management, workers, financial institutions or the Government. It is also not material whether or not he is a director throughout the previous year.

(ii) An employee who has substantial interest in the company: An employee of a company who has substantial interest in that company is a specified employee. A person has a substantial interest in a company if he is a beneficial owner of equity shares carrying 20% or more of the voting power in the company.

Beneficial and legal ownership: In order to determine whether a person has a substantial interest in a company, it is rather the beneficial ownership of equity shares carrying 20% or more of the voting power that is relevant rather than the legal ownership.

Example: A, Karta of a HUF, is a registered shareholder of Bright Ltd. The amount for purchasing the shares is financed by the HUF. The dividend is also received by the HUF. Supposing further that A is the director in Bright Ltd., the question arises whether he is a specified employee. In this case, he cannot be called, a specified person since he has no beneficial interest in the shares registered in his name. It is only for the purpose of satisfying the statutory requirements that the shares are registered in the name of A. All the benefits arising from the shareholding goes to the HUF. Conversely, it may be noted that an employee who is not a registered shareholder will be considered as a specified employee if he has beneficial interest in 20% or more of the equity shares in the company.

(iii) Employee drawing in excess of Rs.50,000: An employee other than an employee described in (i) & (ii) above, whose income chargeable under the head 'salaries' exceeds Rs.50,000 is a specified employee. The above salary is to be considered exclusive of the value of all benefits or amenities not provided by way of monetary payments.

In other words, for computing the limit of Rs.50,000, the following items have to be excluded or deducted:

(a) all non-monetary benefits;

(b) monetary benefits which are exempt under section 10. This is because the exemptions provided under section 10 are excluded completely from salaries. For example, HRA or education allowance or hostel allowance are not to be included in salary to the extent to which they are exempt under section 10.

(c) Deduction for entertainment allowance [under section 16(ii)] and deduction toward professional tax [under section 16(iii)] are also to be excluded.

If an employee is employed with more than one employer, the aggregate of the salary received from all employers is to be taken into account in determining the above ceiling limit of Rs.50,000, i.e. Salary for this purpose

= Basic Salary + D.A. + Commission, whether payable monthly or turnover based + Bonus + Fees + Any other taxable payment + Any taxable allowances + Any other monetary benefits – Deductions under section 16]

1.20 VALUATION OF PERQUISITES

The Income-tax Rules, 1962 contain the provisions for valuation of perquisites. It is important to note that only those perquisites which the employee actually enjoys have to be valued and taxed in his hand. For example, suppose a company offers a housing accommodation rent-free to an employee but the latter declines to accept it, then the value of such accommodation obviously cannot be evaluated and taxed in the hands of the employees. Rule 3 of the Income-tax Rules, 1962 contains the guidelines for the purpose of valuation of perquisites:

(1) Valuation of unfurnished accommodation: There are two ways in which a rent-free accommodation may be made available by an employer to his employee. He may own the housing accommodation and may give the same to the employee free of rent. He may also hire an accommodation on rent and give the same to the employee free of rent. In both the cases, the effect is that the employee gets rent-free accommodation. Provision of rent-free accommodation is a perquisite which is taxable in the hands of all employees whether specified or non-specified.

Note: “Accommodation” includes fixed structures like a house, flat, farm house or part thereof, or accommodation in a hotel, motel, service apartment, guest house, and floating structures like caravan, mobile home, ship or any other floating structure.

For the purpose of valuation of the perquisite in respect of unfurnished accommodation the employees are divided into two categories:

(A) Central and State Government employees (including military personnel):

The following employees come under this category:

(i) Central and State Government employees;

(ii) Government employees whose services have been lent to public sector undertaking or a Government body. In this case, the undertaking should have allotted the accommodation to employee.

Where accommodation is provided by Union or State Government to their employees either holding office or post in connection with the affairs of Union or State or serving with any body or undertaking under the control of such Government on deputation, the value of the perquisite will be equal to the licence fee determined by Union or State Government in respect of accommodation in accordance with the rules framed by that government as reduced by the rent actually paid by the employee.

Value of perquisite = Licence Fees determined by Union / State Government – Rent actually paid by the employee.

Note: This provision does not include employees of a local authority (like port commission or Municipal Corporation) and foreign Government.

(B) Private sector employees - Those employees who are not covered under the earlier category mentioned above will be covered under this category for the purpose of determining the perquisite value of the accommodation.

Employee	Value of perquisite
Where the accommodation is owned by the employer.	Where accommodation is provided in a city where population as per 2001 census is: (a) 10 lakh or less – 7.5% of salary; (b) More than 10 lakh upto 25 lakh -10% of salary. (c) More than 25 lakh – 15% of salary in respect of the period during which the said accommodation was occupied by the employee during the previous year as reduced by the rent, if any, actually paid by the employee.
Where the accommodation is taken on lease or rent by the employer and provided to the employee	The value of perquisite would be the lower of the following: (a) Actual amount of lease rental paid or payable by the employer ; or (b) 15% of salary. This value would be reduced by the rent, if any, actually paid by the employee.

"Salary" for this purpose includes the basic pay, dearness allowance which forms part of salary for retirement benefits, taxable allowances, bonus or commission payable monthly or otherwise or any monetary payment, by whatever name called from one or more employers.

It does not include the following, namely:-

(a) dearness allowance, unless it enters into the computation of superannuation or retirement benefits of the employee concerned;

(b) Employer's contribution to the provident fund account of the employee;

(c) Allowances which are exempted from payment of tax;

For computing salary, for the purpose of valuation of perquisite in respect of rent-free accommodation, basic salary, bonus etc. are to be considered on due basis.

Illustration 4

Mr. C is a Finance Manager in ABC Ltd. The company has provided him with rent-free unfurnished accommodation in Mumbai. He gives you the following particulars:

Basic salary	Rs.6,000 p.m.
Advance salary for April 2009	Rs.5,000
Dearness Allowance	Rs.2,000 p.m. (30% is for retirement benefits)
Bonus	Rs.1,500 p.m.

Even though the company allotted the house to him on 1.04.08 he occupied the same only from 1.11.08. Calculate the taxable value of the perquisite for A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

Value of the rent free unfurnished accommodation

= 15% of salary for the relevant period

= 15% of [(Rs.6000 × 5) + (Rs.2,000 × 30% × 5) + (Rs.1,500 × 5)] [See Note below]

= Rs.6,075.

Note: Since, Mr.C occupies the house only from 1.11.08, we have to include the salary due to him only in respect of months during which he has occupied the accommodation. Hence salary for 5 months (i.e. from 1.11.08 to 31.03.09) will be considered. Advance salary for April 2009 drawn during this year is not to be considered because it falls in respect of a period beyond the relevant previous year.

Illustration 5

Using the data given in the previous illustration 4, compute the value of the perquisite if Mr. C is required to pay a rent of Rs.1,000 p.m. to the company, for the use of this accommodation.

Solution

First of all, we have to see whether there is a concession in the matter of rent. In the case of accommodation owned by the employer in cities having a population exceeding Rs.25 lakh, there would be deemed to be a concession in the matter of rent if 15% of salary exceeds rent recoverable from the employee.

In this case, 15% of salary would be Rs.6,075 (i.e. 15% of Rs.40,500). The rent paid by the employee is Rs.5,000 (i.e. Rs.1,000 x 5). Since 15% of salary exceeds the rent recovered from the employee, there is a deemed concession in the matter of rent. Once there is a deemed concession, the provisions of Rule 3(1) would be applicable in computing the taxable perquisite.

Value of the rent free unfurnished accommodation	= Rs.6,075
Less : Rent paid by the employee (Rs.1,000 × 5)	= Rs.5,000
Perquisite value of unfurnished accommodation given at concessional rent	= Rs.1,075

Using the data given in illustration 4, compute the value of the perquisite if ABC Ltd. has taken this accommodation on a lease rent of Rs.1,200 p.m. and Mr. C is required to pay a rent of Rs.1,000 p.m. to the company, for the use of this accommodation.

Solution

Here again, we have to see whether there is a concession in the matter of rent. In the case of accommodation taken on lease by the employer, there would be deemed to be a concession in the matter of rent if the rent paid by the employer or 15% of salary, whichever is lower, exceeds rent recoverable from the employee.

In this case, 15% of salary is Rs.6,075 (i.e. 15% of Rs.40,500). Rent paid by the employer is Rs.6,000 (i.e. Rs.1,200 x 5). The lower of the two is Rs.6,000, which exceeds the rent paid by the employee i.e. Rs.5,000 (Rs.1,000 x 5). Therefore, there is a deemed concession in the matter of rent. Once there is a deemed concession, the provisions of Rule 3(1) would be applicable in computing the taxable perquisite.

Value of the rent free unfurnished accommodation [Note1]	= Rs.6,000
Less: Rent paid by the employee (Rs.1,000 × 5)	= Rs.5,000
Value of unfurnished accommodation given at concessional rent	= Rs.1,000

Note 1 : Value of the rent free unfurnished accommodation is lower of

(i) Lease rent paid by the company for relevant period = Rs.1,200 × 5 = Rs.6,000

(ii) 15% of salary for the relevant period (computed earlier) = Rs.6,075

(2) Valuation of furnished accommodation: When the accommodation provided to the employee is furnished by the employer, the computation of the value of the perquisite has to be done in the following manner:—

Step 1: Compute the value of the perquisite as if the accommodation is unfurnished.

Step 2: To the value arrived at in Step 1 above, add the value of furniture as follows:

(a) If the furniture is owned by the employer, then value of furniture is to be added on the basis of 10% p.a. of the original cost of the furniture, or

(b) If the employer has taken the furniture on hire, then value of furniture is the actual hire charges borne by the employer.

Note:

1. This addition in respect of furnished accommodation is applicable to all categories of employees.

2. In this context, the term 'furniture' will include TV sets, radio sets, refrigerators and other household appliances, air-conditioning plant or equipment or other similar appliances or gadgets.

Illustration 7

Using the data given in illustration 4, compute the value of the perquisite if ABC Ltd. has provided a television (WDV Rs.10,000; Cost Rs.25,000) and two air conditioners. The rent paid by the company for the air conditioners is Rs.400 p.m. each. The television was provided on 1.1.09. However, Mr. C is required to pay a rent of Rs.1,000 p.m. to the company, for the use of this furnished accommodation.

Solution

Here again, we have to see whether there is a concession in the matter of rent. In the case of accommodation owned by the employer in cities having a population exceeding Rs.25 lakh, there would be deemed to be a concession in the matter of rent if 15% of salary exceeds rent recoverable from the employee. In case of furnished accommodation, the excess of hire charges paid or 10% p.a. of the cost of furniture, as the case may be, over and above the charges paid or payable by the employee has to be added to the value arrived at above to determine whether there is a concession in the matter of rent.

In this case, 15% of salary is Rs.6,075 (i.e. 15% of Rs.40,500). The rent paid by the employee is Rs.5,000 (i.e. Rs.1,000 x 5). The value of furniture (see Note 1 below) to be added to 15% of salary is Rs.4,625. The deemed concession in the matter of rent is Rs.6,075+Rs.4,625-Rs.5,000 = Rs.5,700. Once there is a deemed concession, the provisions of Rule 3(1) would be applicable in computing the taxable perquisite.

Value of the rent free unfurnished accommodation (computed earlier)	= Rs.6,075
Add: Value of furniture provided by the employer [Note 1]	= Rs.4,625
Value of rent free furnished accommodation	= Rs.10,700
Less: Rent paid by the employee (Rs.1,000 × 5)	= Rs. 5,000
Value of furnished accommodation given at concessional rent	= Rs.5,700

Note 1: Value of the furniture provided

= (Rs.400 p.m. × 2 × 5 months) + (Rs.25,000 × 10% p.a. for 3 months)

= Rs.4,000 + Rs.625

= Rs.4,625

Illustration 8

Using the data given in illustration 7 above, compute the value of the perquisite if Mr. C is a government employee. The licence fees determined by the Government for this accommodation was Rs.700 p.m.

Solution

In the case of Government employees, the excess of licence fees determined by the employer as increased by the value of furniture and fixture over and above the rent recovered/recoverable from the employee and the charges paid or payable for furniture by the employee would be deemed to be the concession in the matter of rent. Therefore, the deemed concession in the matter of rent is Rs.3,125 [i.e. Rs.3,500 (licence fees: 700 x 5) + Rs.4,625 (Value of furniture) – Rs.5,000 (Rs.1,000 × 5)]. Once there is a deemed concession, the provisions of Rule 3(1) would be applicable in computing the taxable perquisite.

Value of the rent free unfurnished accommodation (Rs.700 × 5)	= Rs.3,500
Add: Value of furniture provided by the employer (computed earlier)	= Rs.4,625
Value of rent free furnished accommodation	= Rs.8,125
Less: Rent paid by the employee (Rs.1,000 × 5)	= Rs.5,000
Perquisite value of furnished accommodation given at concessional rent	= Rs.3,125

(3) Valuation of accommodation provided in a hotel: Where the accommodation is provided by the employer (Government or other employer) in a hotel, the value of the perquisite will be lower of:

a. 24% of salary paid or payable for the previous year or

b. the actual charges paid or payable to such hotel for the period during which such accommodation is provided.

The above value is reduced by the rent, if any, actually paid or payable by the employee.

Note:

1. The value of this perquisite will not be calculated if the employee is provided such accommodation for a period not exceeding in aggregate 15 days on the transfer from one place to another.
2. "hotel" includes licensed accommodation in the nature of motel, service apartment or guest house.

(4) Accommodation provided at the time of transfer:

Where on account of his transfer from one place to another, the employee is provided with accommodation at the new place of posting while retaining the accommodation at the other place, the value of perquisite shall be determined with reference to only one such accommodation which has the lower value (as determined according to the above provisions) for a period not exceeding 90 days and thereafter the value of perquisite shall be charged for both such accommodations in accordance with the valuation rules.

Exceptions:

However, none of the above valuation rules would be applicable to any accommodation provided to an employee working at a mining site/onshore oil exploration site/project execution site/dam site/power generation site/offshore site which, -

(i) being of a temporary nature and having plinth area not exceeding 800 sq. feet, is located at least 8 kms away from the local limits of any municipality or cantonment board; or

(ii) is located in a remote area. [Remote area means an area that is located at least 40 kms away from a town having a population not exceeding 20,000 based on latest published all India census].

Thus, the abovementioned accommodation shall be a tax-free perquisite.

(5) Valuation of provision for domestic servants

The value of perquisite is determined as under:

Note: Where the employee is paying any amount in respect of such servant facility, the amount so paid shall be deducted from the value of perquisite determined above.

Note:

1. If the employee incurs the expenditure of school fees and the same is reimbursed by the employer, then the entire amount of reimbursement so made, shall be fully taxable in the hands of all employees.
2. Child includes step child as well as the adopted child of the employee.
3. "Household member" shall include -
   (a) spouse
   (b) children and their spouses
   (c) parents
   (d) servants and dependants.

(8) Valuation of other fringe benefits and amenities

In terms of provisions contained under section 17(2)(vi), the following other fringe benefits or amenities (excluding the fringe benefits chargeable to tax under Chapter XII-H) are hereby prescribed and the value thereof shall be determined in the manner provided hereunder :-

(i) Interest-free or concessional loan:

The value of the benefit to the assessee resulting from the provision of interest-free or concessional loan made available to the employee or any member of his household during the relevant previous year by the employer or any person on his behalf shall be determined as the sum equal to the interest computed at the rate charged per annum by the State Bank of India (SBI) as on the 1st day of the relevant previous year in respect of loans for the same purpose advanced by it. This rate should be applied on the maximum outstanding monthly balance and the resulting amount should be reduced by the interest, if any, actually paid by him or any member of his household.

i.e. value of perquisite = Interest computed as per SBI rates – Interest recovered by the employer from the employee

Notes:

1. Nothing is taxable if such loans are made available for medical treatment in respect of diseases specified in rule 3A of the Income Tax rules or where the amount of loans are petty not exceeding in the aggregate Rs.20,000 .
2. Where loans are made available for medical treatment, referred to above, the exemption shall not apply to so much of the loan as has been reimbursed to the employee under any medical insurance scheme.
3. "Maximum outstanding monthly balance" means the aggregate outstanding balance for each loan as on the last day of each month.

(ii) Use of moveable assets:

Value of perquisite is determined as under:

Asset given	Value of benefit
(a) Use of laptops and computers	Nil
(b) Movable assets, other than
(i) laptops and computers; and	(i) 10% p.a. of the actual cost of such asset, or
(ii) assets already specified	(ii) the amount of rent or charge paid, or payable by the employer as the case may be

Note: Where the employee is paying any amount in respect of such asset, the amount so paid shall be deducted from the value of perquisite determined above.

(iii) Transfer of moveable assets:

Value of perquisite is determined as under:

Assets transferred	Value of perquisite

Motor cars	Depreciated value of asset [depreciation is computed @ 20% on WDV for each completed year of usage]
Any other asset	Depreciated value of asset [depreciation is computed @ 10% on SLM for each completed year of usage]

Note: Where the employee is paying any amount in respect of such asset, the amount so paid shall be deducted from the value of perquisite determined above.

(iv) Other benefit or amenity [Sub-rule 7(ix) of Rule 3]

The value of any other benefit or amenity, service, right or privilege provided by the employer shall be determined on the basis of cost to the employer under an arms' length transaction as reduced by the employee's contribution, if any. However, there will be no taxable perquisite in respect of expenses on telephones including mobile phone actually incurred on behalf of the employee by the employer i.e., if an employer pays or reimburses telephone bills or mobile phone charges of employee, there will be no taxable perquisite.

(9) PERQUISITES PROVIDED BY EMPLOYERS NOT LIABLE TO FRINGE BENEFIT TAX

The following perquisites provided by an employer, who is not liable to pay fringe benefit tax under Chapter-XIIH, shall be chargeable to tax in the hands of the employee under the head "Salaries".

(2) Where the employer or the employee claims that the motor-car is used wholly and exclusively in the performance of official duty or that the actual expenses on the running and maintenance of the motor-car owned by the employee for official purposes is more than the amounts deductible in Sl. No. 2(ii) or 3(ii) of the above Table, he may claim a higher amount attributable to such official use and the value of perquisite in such a case shall be the actual amount of charges met or reimbursed by the employer as reduced by such higher amount attributable to official use of the vehicle provided that the following conditions are fulfilled:

(a) the employer has maintained complete details of journey undertaken for official purpose which may include date of journey, destination, mileage, and the amount of expenditure incurred thereon;

(b) the employer gives a certificate to the effect that the expenditure was incurred wholly and exclusively for the performance of official duties.

(3) The normal wear and tear of a motor-car shall be taken at 10 per cent per annum of the actual cost of the motor-car or cars.

Free or concessional tickets [Sub-rule (6) of Rule 3]

The value of any benefit or amenity resulting from the provision by an employer engaged in the carriage of passengers or goods to any employee or to any member of his household for personal or private journey free of cost or concessional fare in any conveyance owned, leased or made available by any other arrangement shall be the value at which such benefit or amenity is offered by such employer to the public. Any amount recovered from the employee for such benefit or amenity shall be reduced in determining the value of the perquisite.

However, this sub-rule shall not apply to the employees of an airline or the railways.

Travelling, touring and accommodation [Sub-rule 7(ii) of Rule 3]

The value of travelling, touring, stay and other expenses borne by the employer for any holiday availed by the employee or any member of his household shall be the amount of the expenditure incurred by the employer. This provision applies in respect of trips other than those which are exempt under section 10(5) read with Rule 2B. If the facility is maintained by the employer and it is not available uniformly to all employees, the value of benefit shall be taken to be the value at which such facilities are offered by other agencies to the public.

Where the employee is on official tour and the expenses are incurred in respect of any member of his household accompanying him, the amount of expenditure so incurred shall also be a fringe benefit or amenity. However, if the official tour is extended as a vacation, the value of such fringe benefit will be limited to the expenses incurred in relation to such extended period of stay or vacation. The amount so determined shall be reduced by the amount, if any, paid or recovered from the employee for such benefit or amenity.

Free or concessional food and non-alcoholic beverages [Sub-rule 7(iii) of Rule 3]

The value of any gift, or voucher or token in lieu of which such gift may be received by the employee or by member of his household on ceremonial occasions or otherwise from the employer shall be the sum equal to the amount of such gift. If the value of such gift, voucher or token is below Rs. 5,000 in the aggregate during the previous year, the value of perquisite shall be taken as nil.

Credit card expenses [Sub-rule 7(v) of Rule 3]

The amount of expenses including membership fees and annual fees incurred by the employee or any member of his household which is charged to a credit card (including add-on-card) provided by the employer or otherwise, paid for or reimbursed by the employer shall be taken to be the value of perquisite chargeable to tax. The amount so determined shall be reduced by the amount, if any, paid or recovered from the employee for such benefit or amenity. However, such expenses incurred wholly and exclusively for official purposes would not be treated as a perquisite if the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) complete details in respect of such expenditure are maintained by the employer which may, inter alia, include the date of expenditure and the nature of expenditure;

(b) the employer gives the certificate for such expenditure to the effect that the same was incurred wholly and exclusively for the performance of official duties;

Club expenditure [Sub-rule 7(vi) of Rule 3]

If employer reimburses or makes payment of any expenditure incurred in a club including the amount of annual or periodical fee for the employee or any member of household, the actual amount of such expenditure shall be the value of perquisite. The amount so determined shall be reduced by the amount, if any, paid or recovered from the employee for such benefit or amenity. Where the employer has obtained corporate membership of the club and the facility is enjoyed by the employee or any member of his household, the value of perquisite shall not include the initial fee paid for acquiring such corporate membership.

If the employer provides uniformly to all employees the use of health club, sports and similar facilities, there will be no taxable perquisite in respect of such facilities. Besides, there will be no taxable perquisite if the club expenditure is incurred wholly and exclusively for business purposes and the following conditions are fulfilled:

(a) complete details in respect of such expenditure are maintained by the employer which may, inter alia, include the date of expenditure and the nature of expenditure and its business expediency;

(b) the employer gives a certificate for such expenditure to the effect that the same was incurred wholly and exclusively for the performance of official duties.

(10) Medical facilities

The following medical facilities will not amount to a perquisite:

(i) The value of any medical treatment provided to an employee or any member of his family in any hospital maintained by the employer;

(ii) Any sum paid by the employer in respect of any expenditure actually incurred by the employee on his medical treatment or treatment of any member of his family in any hospital maintained by the Government/local authority/any other hospital approved by the Government for the purpose of medical treatment of its employees;

(iii) Any sum paid by the employer in respect of any expenditure actually incurred by the employee on his medical treatment or treatment of any member of his family in respect of the prescribed disease or ailments in any hospital approved by the Chief Commissioner having regard to the prescribed guidelines. However, in order to claim this benefit, the employee shall attach with his return of income a certificate from the hospital specifying the disease or ailment for which medical treatment was required and the receipt for the amount paid to the hospital.

Thus two types of facilities are covered:

(a) payment by the employer for treatment in a Government hospital and

(b) payment by an employer for treatment of prescribed diseases in any hospital approved by the Chief Commissioner.

(iv) Any premium paid by an employer in relation to an employee to effect an insurance on the health of such employee. However, any such scheme should be approved by the Central Government or the Insurance Regulatory Development Authority (IRDA) for the purposes of section 36(1)(ib).

(v) Any sum paid by the employer in respect of any premium paid by the employee to effect an insurance on his family under any scheme approved by the Central Government for the purposes of section 80D.

(vi) Any sum paid by the employer in respect of any expenditure actually incurred by the employee on his medical treatment or treatment of any member of his family to the extent of Rs.15,000 in the previous year.

Note: It is important to note that this expenditure need not be incurred either in the government hospital or in a hospital approved by the Chief Commissioner.

(vii) Any expenditure incurred by the employer on the following:

(a) medical treatment of the employee or any member of the family of such employee outside India;

(b) travel and stay abroad of the employee or any member of the family of such employee for medical treatment;

(c) travel and stay abroad of one attendant who accompanies the patient in connection with such treatment.

Conditions:

1. The perquisite element in respect of expenditure on medical treatment and stay abroad will be exempt only to the extent permitted by the RBI.
2. The expenses in respect of traveling of the patient and the attendant will be exempt if the employee's gross total income as computed before including the said expenditure does not exceed Rs.2 lakh.

   Note: For this purpose, family means spouse and children of the individual. Children may be dependant or independent, married or unmarried. It also includes parents, brothers and sisters of the individual if they are wholly or mainly dependant upon him.

(11) Payment of premium on personal accident insurance policies

If an employer takes personal accident insurance policies on the lives of employees and pays the insurance premium, no immediate benefit would become payable and benefit will accrue at a future date only if certain events take place.

Moreover, the employers would be taking such policy in their business interest only, so as to indemnify themselves from payment of any compensation. Therefore, the premium so paid will not constitute taxable perquisites in the employees' hands - CIT vs. Lala Shri Dhar [1972] 84 ITR 19 (Del.).

1.21 DEDUCTIONS FROM SALARY

The income chargeable under the head 'salaries' is computed after making the following deductions:

(1) Entertainment allowance [section 16(ii)]

(2) Professional tax [section 16(iii)]

(1) Entertainment allowance:

Entertainment allowance received is fully taxable and is first to be included in the salary and thereafter the following deduction is to be made:

However deduction in respect of entertainment allowance is available in case of Government employees. The amount of deduction will be lower of:

i. One-fifth of his basic salary or

ii. Rs.5,000 or

iii. Entertainment allowance received.

Deduction is permissible even if the amount received as entertainment allowance is not proved to have been spent - CIT vs. Kamal Devi [1971] 81 ITR 773 (Delhi).

Amount actually spent by the employee towards entertainment out of the entertainment allowance received by him is not a relevant consideration at all.

(2) Professional tax on employment:

Professional tax or taxes on employment levied by a State under Article 276 of the Constitution is allowed as deduction only when it is actually paid by the employee during the previous year.

If professional tax is reimbursed or directly paid by the employer on behalf of the employee, the amount so paid is first included as salary income and then allowed as a deduction under section 16.

Compute the income from salary of Mr. X for the A.Y.2009-10.

Solution

Computation of Income from Salary of Mr. X for the A.Y. 2009-10

Particulars	Rs.	Rs.
Basic Salary [Rs.25,000 × 12]		3,00,000
Commission [Rs.1,000 × 12]		12,000
Entertainment Allowance [Rs.1,000 × 12]		12,000
Rent free accommodation [Note 1]	48,600
Add : Value of furniture [Rs.2,40,000 × 10% p.a. for 8 months]	16,000	64,600
Interest on Personal loan [Note 2]		22,500
Ring given by employer		Exempt
Credit card and annual fees paid by employer		Exempt
Use of motor cycle [Rs.60,000 × 10% p.a. for 4 months]		2,000
Transfer of motor cycle [Note 3]		12,000
Motor car facility		Exempt
Telephone bills reimbursed by employer		Exempt
Hotel accommodation while on tour		Exempt
Free lunch facility during office hours		Exempt
Free electricity facility [Note 4]		10,000

Gross Salary	4,35,100
Less : Deductions
- under section 16(iii) Professional Tax paid	2,000
Income from Salary	4,33,100

Note 1: Value of rent free unfurnished accommodation

= 15% of salary for the relevant period

= 15% of (Rs.3,00,000 + Rs.12,000 + Rs.12,000)

= Rs.48,600

Note 2: SBI rate of Interest on personal loan = 12.75% p.a.

Value of perquisite for interest on personal loan

= [Rs.5,00,000 × (12.75% - 6.75%) for 9 months]

= Rs.22,500

Note 3: Depreciated value of the motor cycle

= Original cost – Depreciation @ 10% p.a. for 3 completed years.

= Rs.60,000 – (Rs.60,000 × 10% p.a. × 3 years)

= Rs.42,000.

Perquisite = Rs.42,000 – Rs.30,000 = Rs.12,000.

Note 4: Free electricity facility provided to the employee will be taxable only if he is a specified employee. Salary for the purpose of specified employee is -

= Rs. [3,00,000 + 12,000 + 12,000 – 2,000]

= Rs.3,22,000 > Rs.50,000 p.a.

He is a specified employee and so electricity facility is taxable.

Note 5: Ring given by the employer, credit card and annual fees paid by employer, motor car facility, telephone bills reimbursed by employer, hotel accommodation while on tour, free lunch facility during office hours are benefits liable to fringe benefit tax in the hands of the employer.

2.1 CHARGEABILITY [SECTION 22]

(i) The process of computation of income under the head "Income from house property" starts with the determination of annual value of the property. The concept of annual value and the method of determination is laid down in section 23.

(ii) The annual value of any property comprising of building or land appurtenant thereto, of which the assessee is the owner, is chargeable to tax under the head "Income from house property".

2.2 CONDITIONS FOR CHARGEABILITY

(i) Property should consist of any building or land appurtenant thereto.

(a) Buildings include not only residential buildings, but also factory buildings, offices, shops, godowns and other commercial premises.

(b) Land appurtenant means land connected with the building like garden, garage etc.

(c) Income from letting out of vacant land is, however, taxable under the head "Income from other sources".

(ii) Assessee must be the owner of the property

(a) Owner is the person who is entitled to receive income from the property in his own right.

(b) The requirement of registration of the sale deed is not warranted.

(c) Ownership includes both free-hold and lease-hold rights.

(d) Ownership includes deemed ownership (discussed later in para 2.12)

(e) The person who owns the building need not also be the owner of the land upon which it stands.

(f) The assessee must be the owner of the house property during the previous year. It is not material whether he is the owner in the assessment year.

(g) If the title of the ownership of the property is under dispute in a court of law, the decision as to who will be the owner chargeable to income-tax under section 22 will be of the Income-tax Department till the court gives its decision to the suit filed in respect of such property.

(iii) The property may be used for any purpose, but it should not be used by the owner for the purpose of any business or profession carried on by him, the profit of which is chargeable to tax.

(iv) Property held as stock-in-trade etc.

Annual value of house property will be charged under the head "Income from house property" in the following cases also –

(a) Where it is held by the assessee as stock-in-trade of a business;

(b) Where the assessee is engaged in the business of letting out of property on rent;

Exceptions

(a) Letting out is supplementary to the main business

(i) Where the property is let out with the object of carrying on the business of the assessee in an efficient manner, then the rental income is taxable as business income, provided letting is not the main business but it is supplementary to the main business.

(ii) In such a case, the letting out of the property is supplementary to the main business of the assessee and deductions/allowances have to be calculated as relating to profits/gains of business and not relating to house property.

(b) Letting out of building along with other facilities

(i) Where income is derived from letting out of building along with other facilities like furniture, the income cannot be said to be derived from mere ownership of house property but also because of facilities and services rendered and hence assessable as income from business.

(ii) Where a commercial property is let out along with machinery e.g. a cotton mill including the building and the two lettings are inseparable, the income will either be assessed as business income or as income from other sources, as the case may be.

2.3 COMPOSITE RENT

(i) Meaning of composite rent

The owner of a property may sometimes receive rent in respect of building as well as –

(1) other assets like say, furniture, plant and machinery.

(2) for different services provided in the building, for eg. –

  (a) Lifts;

  (b) Security;

  (c) Power backup;

The amount so received is known as "composite rent".

(ii) Tax treatment of composite rent

(1) Where composite rent includes rent of building and charges for different services (lifts, security etc.), the composite rent is has to be split up in the following manner -

(a) the sum attributable to use of property is to be assessed under section 22 as income from house property;

(b) the sum attributable to use of services is to charged to tax under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" or under the head "Income from other sources".

(2) Where composite rent is received from letting out of building and other assets (like furniture) and the two lettings are not separable –

(a) If the letting out of building and other assets are not separable i.e. the other party does not accept letting out of buildings without other assets, then the rent is taxable either as business income or income from other sources;

(b) This is applicable even if sum receivable for the two lettings is fixed separately.

(3) Where composite rent is received from letting out of buildings and other assets and the two lettings are separable –

(a) If building is let out along with other assets, but the two lettings are separable i.e. letting out of one is acceptable to the other party without letting out of the other, then income from letting out of building is taxable under “Income from house property”;

(b) Income from letting out of other assets is taxable as business income or income from other sources;

(c) This is applicable even if a composite rent is received by the assessee from his tenant for the two lettings.

2.4 INCOME FROM HOUSE PROPERTY SITUATED OUTSIDE INDIA

(i) In case of a resident in India (resident and ordinarily resident in case of individuals and HUF), income from property situated outside India is taxable, whether such income is brought into India or not.

(ii) In case of a non-resident or resident but not ordinarily resident in India, income from a property situated outside India is taxable only if it is received in India.

2.5 DETERMINATION OF ANNUAL VALUE [SECTION 23]

This involves three steps :

Step 1 - Determination of Gross Annual Value (GAV).

Step 2 – From the gross annual value computed in step 1, deduct municipal tax paid by the owner during the previous year.

Step 3 – The balance will be the Net Annual Value (NAV), which as per the Income-tax Act is the annual value.

(i) Determination of annual value for different types of house properties

(1) Where the property is let out throughout the previous year [Section 23(1)(a)/(b)]

Where the property is let out for the whole year, then the GAV would be the higher of -

(a) Annual Letting Value (ALV) and

(b) Actual rent received or receivable during the year

- The ALV is the higher of fair rent (FR) and municipal value (MV), but restricted to standard rent (SR).

  For example, let us say the higher of FR and MV is X. Then ALV = SR, if X>SR. However, if X<SR, ALV = X.

- ALV as per section 23(1)(a) cannot exceed standard rent (SR) but it can be lower than standard rent, in a case where standard rent is more than the higher of MV and FR.

- Municipal value is the value determined by the municipal authorities for levying municipal taxes on house property.
- Fair rent means rent which similar property in the same locality would fetch.
- The standard rent is fixed by the Rent Control Act.
- From the GAV computed above, municipal taxes paid by the owner during the previous year is to be deducted to arrive at the NAV.

Illustration 1

Jayashree owns five houses in Chennai, all of which are let-out. Compute the GAV of each house from the information given below –

Particulars	House I	House II	House III	House IV	House V
Municipal Value	80,000	55,000	65,000	24,000	75,000
Fair Rent	90,000	60,000	65,000	25,000	80,000
Standard Rent	N.A.	75,000	58,000	N.A.	78,000
Actual rent received/ receivable	72,000	72,000	60,000	30,000	72,000

Solution

GAV	90,000	72,000	60,000	30,000	78,000

(2) Where let out property is vacant for part of the year [Section 23(1)(c)]

Where let out property is vacant for part of the year and owing to vacancy, the actual rent is lower than the ALV, then the actual rent received or receivable will be the GAV of the property.

(3) In case of self-occupied property or unoccupied property [Section 23(2)]

(a) Where the property is self-occupied for own residence or unoccupied throughout the previous year, its Annual Value will be Nil, provided no other benefit is derived by the owner from such property.

(b) The benefit of exemption of one self-occupied house is available only to an individual/HUF.

(c) The expression “Unoccupied property” refers to a property which cannot be occupied by the owner by reason of his employment, business or profession at a different place and he resides at such other place in a building not belonging to him.

(d) No deduction for municipal taxes is allowed in respect of such property.

(4) Where a house property is let-out for part of the year and self-occupied for part of the year [Section 23(3)]

(a) If a single unit of a property is self-occupied for part of the year and let-out for the remaining part of the year, then the ALV for the whole year shall be taken into account for determining the GAV.

(b) The ALV for the whole year shall be compared with the actual rent for the let out period and whichever is higher shall be adopted as the GAV.

(c) However, property taxes for the whole year is allowed as deduction provided it is paid by the owner during the previous year.

(5) In case of deemed to be let out property [Section 23(4)]

(a) Where the assessee owns more than one property for self-occupation, then the income from any one such property, at the option of the assessee, shall be computed under the self-occupied property category and its annual value will be nil. The other self-occupied/unoccupied properties shall be treated as "deemed let out properties".

(b) This option can be changed year after year in a manner beneficial to the assessee.

(c) In case of deemed let-out property, the ALV shall be taken as the GAV.

(d) The question of considering actual rent received/receivable does not arise. Consequently, no adjustment is necessary on account of property remaining vacant or unrealized rent.

(e) Municipal taxes actually paid by the owner during the previous year can be claimed as deduction.

(6) In case of a house property, a portion let out and a portion self-occupied

(a) Income from any portion or part of a property which is let out shall be computed separately under the "let out property" category and the other portion or part which is self-occupied shall be computed under the "self-occupied property" category.

(b) There is no need to treat the whole property as a single unit for computation of income from house property.

(c) Municipal valuation/fair rent/standard rent, if not given separately, shall be apportioned between the let-out portion and self-occupied portion either on plinth area or built-up floor space or on such other reasonable basis.

(d) Property taxes, if given on a consolidated basis can be bifurcated as attributable to each portion or floor on a reasonable basis.

Notional income instead of real income

Thus, under this head of income, there are circumstances where notional income is charged to tax instead of real income. For example –

- Where the assessee owns more than one house property for the purpose of self-occupation, the annual value of any one of those properties, at the option of the assessee, will be nil and the other properties are deemed to be let-out and income has to be computed on a notional basis by taking the ALV as the GAV.
- In the case of let-out property also, if the ALV exceeds the actual rent, the ALV is taken as the GAV.

(ii) Treatment of unrealised rent [Explanation to section 23(1)]

(1) The Actual rent received/receivable should not include any amount of rent which is not capable of being realised.

(2) However the conditions prescribed in Rule 4 should be satisfied. They are –

(a) the tenancy is bona fide;

(b) the defaulting tenant has vacated, or steps have been taken to compel him to vacate the property;

(c) the defaulting tenant is not in occupation of any other property of the assessee;

(d) the assessee has taken all reasonable steps to institute legal proceedings for the recovery of the unpaid rent or satisfies the Assessing Officer that legal proceedings would be useless.

(iii) Property taxes (Municipal taxes)

(1) Property taxes are allowable as deduction from the GAV subject to the following two conditions:

(a) It should be borne by the assessee (owner); and

(b) It should be actually paid during the previous year.

(2) If property taxes levied by a local authority for a particular previous year is not paid during that year, no deduction shall be allowed in the computation of income from house property for that year.

(3) However, if in any subsequent year the arrears are paid, then the amount so paid is allowed as deduction in computation of income from house property for that year.

(4) Thus, we find that irrespective of the previous year in which the liability to pay such taxes arise according to the method of accounting regularly employed by the owner, the deduction in respect of such taxes will be allowed only in the year of actual payment.

(5) In case of property situated outside India, taxes levied by local authority of the country in which the property is situated is deductible. [CIT v. R. Venugopala Reddiar (1965) 58 ITR 439 (Mad).]

The value of one £ in Indian rupee to be taken at Rs.82.50. Compute Rajesh's taxable income for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

For the P.Y.2008-09, Mr. Rajesh, a British national, is resident and ordinarily resident in India. Therefore, income received by him by way of rent of the house property located in London is to be included in the total income in India. Municipal taxes paid in London is be to allowed as deduction from the gross annual value.

Computation of Income from house property of Mr. Rajesh for A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Rs.
Gross Annual Value (£ 10,000 × 12 × 82.50)	99,00,000
Less: Municipal taxes paid (£ 8,000 × 82.50)	6,60,000
Net Annual Value (NAV)	92,40,000
Less: Deduction u/s 24
(a) 30% of NAV = 30% of Rs.92,40,000	27,72,000
Income from house property	64,68,000

2.6 DEDUCTIONS FROM ANNUAL VALUE [SECTION 24]

(i) There are two deductions from annual value. They are –

(1) 30% of NAV; and

(2) interest on borrowed capital

(1) 30% of NAV is allowed as deduction under section 24(a)

(a) This is a flat deduction and is allowed irrespective of the actual expenditure incurred.

(b) In case of self-occupied property where the annual value is nil, the assessee will not be entitled to deduction of 30%, as the annual value itself is nil.

(2) Interest on borrowed capital is allowed as deduction under section 24(b)

(a) Interest payable on loans borrowed for the purpose of acquisition, construction, repairs, renewal or reconstruction can be claimed as deduction.

(b) Interest payable on a fresh loan taken to repay the original loan raised earlier for the aforesaid purposes is also admissible as a deduction.

(c) Interest relating to the year of completion of construction can be fully claimed in that year irrespective of the date of completion.

(d) Interest payable on borrowed capital for the period prior to the previous year in which the property has been acquired or constructed, can be claimed as deduction over a period of 5 years in equal annual installments commencing from the year of acquisition or completion of construction.

Illustration 3

Arvind had taken a loan of Rs.5,00,000 for construction of property on 1.10.2007. Interest was payable @ 10% p.a. The construction was completed on 30.6.2008. No principal repayment has been made up to 31.3.2009. Compute the interest allowable as deduction under section 24 for the A.Y.2009-10.

Solution

Interest for the year (1.4.08 to 31.3.09) = 10% of Rs.5,00,000 = Rs.50,000

Pre-construction interest = 10% of Rs.5,00,000 for 6 months (from 1.10.07 to 31.3.08) = 25,000

Pre-construction interest to be allowed in 5 equal annual installments of Rs.5,000 from the year of completion of construction i.e. in this case, P.Y.2008-09.

Therefore, total interest deduction under section 24 = 50,000+5000 = Rs.55,000.

(ii) Deduction in respect of one self-occupied property where annual value is nil

(1) In this case, the assessee will be allowed a deduction on account of interest (including $1/5^{th}$ of the accumulated interest of pre-construction period) as under –

(a)	Where the property has been acquired, constructed, repaired, renewed or reconstructed with borrowed capital before 1.4.99.	Actual interest payable subject to maximum of Rs.30,000.
(b)	Where the property is acquired or constructed with	Actual interest payable subject capital borrowed on or after 1.4.99 and such acquisition or construction is completed within 3 years from the end of the financial year in which the capital was borrowed.	to maximum of Rs.1,50,000, if certificate mentioned in (2) below is obtained.

(c)	Where the property is repaired, renewed or reconstructed with capital borrowed on or after 1.4.99.	Actual interest payable subject to a maximum of Rs.30,000.

(2) For the purpose of claiming deduction of Rs.1,50,000 as per 1(b) in the table given above, the assessee should furnish a certificate from the person to whom any interest is payable on the capital borrowed, specifying the amount of interest payable by the assessee for the purpose of such acquisition or construction of the property.

(3) The ceiling prescribed for one self-occupied property as above in respect of interest on loan borrowed does not apply to a deemed let-out property.

(4) Deduction under section 24(b) for interest is available on accrual basis. Therefore interest accrued but not paid during the year can also be claimed as deduction.

(5) Where a buyer enters into an arrangement with a seller to pay the sale price in installments along with interest due thereon, the seller becomes the lender in relation to the unpaid purchase price and the buyer becomes the borrower. In such a case, unpaid purchase price can be treated as capital borrowed for acquiring property and interest paid thereon can be allowed as deduction under section 24.

(6) Interest on unpaid interest is not deductible.

The property was let out for a rent of Rs.20,000 p.m. However, the tenant vacated the property on 31.1.09. Unrealised rent was Rs.20,000 and all conditions prescribed by Rule 4 are satisfied. He paid municipal taxes @8% of municipal valuation. Interest on borrowed capital was Rs.65,000 for the year. Compute the income from house property of Ganesh for A.Y.2009-10.

Solution

Computation of income from house property of Ganesh for A.Y.2009-10

Particulars		Amount in Rs.
Computation of GAV
Step 1	Compute ALV
	ALV = Higher of MV of Rs.2,50,000 p.a. and FR of Rs.2,00,000 p.a., but restricted to SR of Rs.2,10,000 p.a.	2,10,000
Step 2	Compute Actual rent received/receivable
	Actual rent received/receivable for let out period less unrealized rent as per Rule 4 =2,00,000-20,000	1,80,000
Step 3	Compare ALV and Actual rent received/receivable

Step 4	In this case the actual rent of Rs.1,80,000 is lower than ALV of Rs.2,10,000 owing to vacancy, since, had the property not been vacant the actual rent would have been Rs.2,20,000 (Rs.1,80,000 + Rs.40,000). Therefore, actual rent is the GAV.	1,80,000
Gross Annual Value (GAV)			1,80,000

The rent of similar property in the neighbourhood is Rs.25,000 p.m. The municipal valuation is Rs.23,000 p.m. Municipal taxes paid is Rs.8,000. The house was constructed in the year 2003 with a loan of Rs.20,00,000 taken from SBI Housing Finance Ltd. The construction was completed on 30.11.2005. The accumulated interest up to 31.3.2005 is Rs.1,50,000. During the previous year 2008-09, Poorna paid Rs.1,88,000 which included Rs.1,44,000 as interest. Compute Poorna's income from house property for A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

Computation of income from house property of Smt.Poorna for A.Y.2009-10

In this case the total interest is Rs.1,44,000 + Rs.30,000 (Being 1/5th of Rs.1,50,000) = Rs.1,74,000. However, the interest deduction is restricted to Rs.1,50,000.	1,50,000

The property was let-out for Rs.50,000 p.m. up to December 2008. Thereafter, the tenant vacated the property and Smt. Rajalakshmi used the house for self-occupation. Rent for the months of November and December 2008 could not be realised in spite of the owner's efforts. All the conditions prescribed under Rule 4 are satisfied. She paid municipal taxes @12% during the year. She had paid interest of Rs.25,000 during the year for amount borrowed for repairs for the house property. Compute her income from house property for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

Computation of income from house property of Smt. Rajalakshmi for the A.Y.2009-10

Particulars		Amount in rupees
Computation of GAV
Step 1	Compute ALV for the whole year

	ALV = Higher of MV of Rs.5,00,000 and FR of Rs.4,20,000, but restricted to SR of Rs.4,80,000	4,80,000
Step 2	Compute Actual rent received/receivable
	Actual rent received/receivable for the period let out less unrealized rent as per Rule 4 = (50000×9)-(50000×2)=4,50,000-1,00,000=	3,50,000
Step 3	Compare ALV for the whole year with the actual rent received/receivable for the let out period i.e. 4,80,000 and 3,50,000
Step 4	GAV is the higher of ALV computed for the whole year and Actual rent received/receivable computed for the let-out period.	4,80,000
Gross Annual Value (GAV)			4,80,000

Ganesh has two houses, both of which are self-occupied. The particulars of the houses for the P.Y.2008-09 are as under:

Particulars	House I	House II
Municipal valuation p.a.	1,00,000	1,50,000
Fair rent p.a.	75,000	1,75,000
Standard rent p.a.	90,000	1,60,000
Date of completion	31.3.1998	31.3.2000
Municipal taxes paid during the year	12%	8%
Interest on money borrowed for repair of property during the current year	-	55,000

Compute Ganesh's income from house property for A.Y.2009-10 and suggest which house should be opted by Ganesh to be assessed as self-occupied so that his tax liability is minimum.

Solution

Computation of income from house property of Ganesh for the A.Y. 2009-10

Let us first calculate the income from each house property assuming that they are deemed to be let out.

Particulars	Amount in Rs.
	House I	House II
Gross Annual Value (GAV)
ALV is the GAV of house property
ALV = Higher of MV and FR, but restricted to SR	90,000	1,60,000
Less: Municipal taxes (paid by the owner during the previous year)	12,000	12,000
Net Annual Value (NAV)	78,000	1,48,000
Less: Deductions under section 24
(a) 30% of NAV	23,400	44,400
(b) Interest on borrowed capital	-	55,000
Income from house property	54,600	48,600

OPTION 1 (House I – self-occupied and House II – deemed to be let out)

If House I is opted to be self-occupied, the income from house property shall be –

Particulars	Amount in Rs.
House I (Self-occupied)	Nil
House II (Deemed to be let-out)	48,600
Income from house property	48,600

OPTION 2 (House I – deemed to be let out and House II – self-occupied)

If House II is opted to be self-occupied, the income from house property shall be –

Particulars	Amount in Rs.
House I (Deemed to be let-out)	54,600
House II (Self-occupied)	-30,000
(interest deduction restricted to Rs.30,000)
Income from house property	24,600

Since Option 2 is more beneficial, Ganesh should opt to treat House II as self-occupied and House I as deemed to be let out. His income from house property would be Rs.24,600 for the A.Y. 2009-10.

(vi) House property, a portion let out and a portion self-occupied

Illustration 9

Prem owns a house in Madras. During the previous year 2008-09, 2/3rd portion of the house was self-occupied and 1/3rd portion was let out for residential purposes at a rent of Rs.8,000 p.m. Municipal value of the property is Rs.3,00,000 p.a., fair rent is Rs.2,70,000 p.a. and standard rent is Rs.3,30,000. He paid municipal taxes @10% of municipal value during the year. A loan of Rs.25,00,000 was taken by him during the year 2006 for acquiring the property. Interest on loan paid during the previous year 2008-09 was Rs.1,20,000. Compute Prem's income from house property for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

There are two units of the house. Unit I with 2/3rd area is used by Prem for self-occupation throughout the year and no benefit is derived from that unit, hence it will be treated as self-occupied and its annual value will be nil. Unit 2 with 1/3rd area is let-out through out the previous year and its annual value has to be determined as per section 23(1).

Computation of Income from house property of Mr. Prem for A.Y. 2009-10

Particulars		Amount in rupees
Unit I (2/3rd area – self-occupied)
Annual Value		Nil
Less: Deduction u/s 24(b)
2/3rd of Rs.1,20,000		80,000
Income from Unit I (self-occupied)		-80,000
Unit II (1/3rd area – let out)
Computation of GAV
Step I – Compute ALV
ALV = Higher of MV and FR, restricted to SR. However, in this case, SR of Rs.1,10,000 (1/3rd of Rs.3,30,000) is more than the higher of MV of Rs.1,00,000 (1/3rd of Rs.3,00,000) and FR of Rs.90,000 (1/3rd of Rs.2,70,000). Hence the higher of MV and FR is the ALV. In this case, it is the MV.	1,00,000
Step 2 – Compute actual rent received/ receivable
8,000×12 = 96,000	96,000
Step 3 – GAV is the higher of ALV and actual rent received/receivable i.e. higher of Rs.1,00,000 and Rs.96,000	1,00,000
Gross Annual Value(GAV)		1,00,000
Less: Municipal taxes paid by the owner during the previous year relating to let-out portion
1/3rd of (10% of Rs.3,00,000) = 30000/3 = 10,000		10,000
Net Annual Value(NAV) = (1,00,000-10,000)		90,000

Less: Deductions under section 24
(a) 30% of NAV = 30% of Rs.90,000	27,000
(b) Interest paid on borrowed capital (relating to let out portion)
1/3 rd of Rs.1,20,000	40,000	67,000
Income from Unit II (let-out)		23,000
Loss under the head "Income from house property" = -80,000 + 23,000		-57000

3.1 MEANING OF 'BUSINESS', 'PROFESSION' AND 'PROFITS'

(i) The tax payable by an assessee on his income under this head is in respect of the profits and gains of any business or profession, carried on by him or on his behalf during the previous year. The term "business" has been defined in section 2(13) to "include any trade, commerce or manufacture or any adventure or concern in the nature of trade, commerce or manufacture". But the term "profession" has not been defined in the Act. It means an occupation requiring some degree of learning. Thus, a painter, a sculptor, an author, an auditor, a lawyer, a doctor, an architect and, even an astrologer are persons who can be said to be carrying on a profession but not business. The term 'profession' includes vocation as well [Section 2(36)]. However, it is not material whether a person is carrying on a 'business' or 'profession' or 'vocation' since for purposes of assessment, profits from all these sources are treated and taxed alike.

(ii) Business necessarily means a continuous exercise of an activity; nevertheless, profit from a single venture in the nature of trade would also be assessable under this head if the venture had come to an end or after the entire cost had been recouped. For example, where a person had purchased a piece of land, got it surveyed, laid down a scheme of development, divided it into a number of building plots and sold some of the plots from time to time, though he would not be charged tax on a notional profit made on the individual sale of plots, he would be liable to pay tax on the surplus after all the plots have been sold and the venture has come to an end or after he has recovered the cost of all the plots and expenditure incidental thereto and has a surplus left.

(iii) Profits may be realised in money or in money's worth, i.e., in cash or in kind. Where profit is realised in any form other than cash, the cash equivalent of the receipt on the date of receipt must be taken as the value of the income received in kind. Capital receipts are not generally to be taken into account while computing profits under this head. Payment voluntarily made by persons who were under no obligation to pay anything at all would be income in the hands of the recipient, if they were received in the course of a business or by the exercise of a profession or vocation. Thus, any amount paid to a lawyer by a person who was not a client, but who has been benefited by the lawyer's professional service to another would be assessable as the lawyer's income.

(iv) Application of the gains of trade is immaterial. Gains made even for the benefit of the community by a public body would be liable to tax. To attract the provisions of section 28, it is necessary that the business, profession or vocation should be carried on at least for some time during the accounting year but not necessarily throughout that year and not necessarily by the assessee-owner personally, but it should be under his direction and control.

(v) The charge is not on the gross receipts but on the profits and gains in their natural and proper sense. Profits are ascertained on ordinary principles of commercial trading and commercial accounting. According to section 145, income has to be computed in accordance with the method of accounting regularly and consistently employed by the assessee. The assessee may account for his receipts on the cash basis or mercantile basis.

(vi) The Act, however, contains certain provisions for determining how the income is to be assessed. These must be followed in every case of business or profession. The illegality of a business, profession or vocation does not exempt its profits from tax: the revenue is not concerned with the taint of illegality in the income or its source. Income is taxable even if the assessee is carrying on the business, profession or vocation without any profit motive. The liability to tax arises once income arises to the assessee; the motive or purpose of earning the income is immaterial. Thus, profit motive is not essential for describing the income from that activity as income from business or profession.

(vii) The profits of each distinct business must be computed separately but the tax chargeable under this section is not on the separate income of every distinct business but on the aggregate profits of all the business carried on by the assessee. Profits should be computed after deducting the losses and expenses incurred for earning the income in the regular course of the business, profession, or vocation unless the loss or expenses is expressly or by necessary implication, disallowed by the Act.

(viii) Income arising from business assets which are temporarily let out e.g., an oil mill, cinema theatre, hotel, ginning or textile factory, rice mill or jute press would be assessable as business income. But if the commercial asset is permanently let the income is taxable as income from house property or income from other sources, depending on the facts and circumstances of the case.

3.2 INCOME CHARGEABLE UNDER THIS HEAD [SECTION 28]

The various items of income chargeable to tax as income under the head 'profits and gains of business or profession' are as under:

(i) Income arising to any person by way of profits and gains from the business, profession or vocation carried on by him at any time during the previous year.

(ii) Any compensation or other payment due to or received by:

(a) Any person, by whatever name called, managing the whole or substantially the whole of (i) the affairs of an Indian company or (ii) the affairs in India of any other company at or in connection with the termination of his management or office or the modification of any of the terms and conditions relating thereto;

(b) any person, by whatever name called, holding an agency in India for any part of the activities relating to the business of any other person at or in connection with the termination of the agency or the modification of any of the terms and conditions relating thereto ;

(c) any person, for or in connection with the vesting in the Government or any corporation owned or controlled by the Government under any law for the time being in force, of the management of any property or business ;

By taxing compensation received on termination of agency or on the takeover of management (which is a capital receipt) as income from business, section 28(ii) provides exception to the general rule that capital receipts are not income taxable in the hands of the recipient.

(iii) Income derived by any trade, professional or similar associations from specific services rendered by them to their members. It may be noted that this forms an exception to the general principle governing the assessment of income of mutual associations such as chambers of commerce, stock brokers' associations etc. As a result a trade, professional or similar association performing specific services for its members is to be deemed as carrying on business in respect of these services and on that assumption the income arising therefrom is to be subjected to tax. For this purpose, it is not necessary that the income received by the association should be definitely or directly related to these services.

(iv) Profits on sale of a licence granted under the Imports (Control) Order, 1955 made under the Imports and Exports (Control) Act, 1947.

(v) Cash assistance (by whatever name called) received or receivable by any person against exports under any scheme of the Government of India.

(vi) Any Customs duty or Excise duty drawback repaid or repayable to any person against export under the Customs and Central Excise Duties Drawback Rules, 1971.

(vii) Any profit on the transfer of the Duty Entitlement Pass Book Scheme, being Duty Remission Scheme, under the export and import policy formulated and announced under section 5 of the Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992.

(viii) Any profit on the transfer of Duty Free Replenishment Certificate, being Duty Remission Scheme, under the export and import policy formulated and announced under section 5 of the Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992.

(ix) The value of any benefit or perquisite whether convertible into money or not, arising from business or the exercise of any profession.

(x) Any interest, salary, bonus, commission or remuneration, by whatever name called, due to or received by a partner of a firm from such firm will be deemed to be income from business. However, where any interest, salary, bonus, commission or remuneration by whatever name called, or any part thereof has not been allowed to be deducted under section 40(b), in the computation of the income of the firm the income to be taxed shall be adjusted to the extent of the amount disallowed. In other words, suppose a firm pays interest to a partner at 20% simple interest p.a. The allowable rate of interest is 12% p.a. Hence the excess 8% paid will be disallowed in the hands of the firm. Since the excess interest has suffered tax in the hands of the firm, the same will not be taxed in the hands of the partner.

(xi) Any sum received under a Keyman insurance policy including the sum allocated by way of bonus on such policy will be taxable as income from business. “Keyman insurance policy” means a life insurance policy taken by a person on the life of another person who is or was the employee of the first mentioned person or is or was connected in any manner whatsoever with the business of the first mentioned person.

(xii) any sum whether received or receivable, in cash or kind, under an agreement

(a) for not carrying out any activity in relation to any business; or

(b) not to share any know-how, patent, copyright, trade mark, licence, franchise or any other business or commercial right of similar nature or information or technique likely to assist in the manufacture or processing of goods or provision for services.

However, the above sub-clause (a) shall not apply to

(i) any sum, whether received or receivable, in cash or kind, on account of transfer of the right to manufacture, produce or process any article or thing or right to carry on any business, which is chargeable under the head "Capital gains";

(ii) any sum received as compensation, from the multilateral fund of the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone layer under the United Nations Environment Programme, in accordance with the terms of agreement entered into with the Government of India.

The Explanation for the purposes of this clause provides that

(i) "agreement" includes any arrangement or understanding or action in concert,-

(A) whether or not such arrangement, understanding or action is formal or in writing; or

(B) whether or not such arrangement, understanding or action is intended to be enforceable by legal proceedings;

(ii) "service" means service of any description which is made available to potential users and includes the provision of services in connection with business of any industrial or commercial nature such as accounting, banking, communication, conveying of news or information, advertising, entertainment, amusement, education, financing, insurance, chit funds, real estate, construction, transport, storage, processing, supply of electrical or other energy, boarding and lodging.

3.3 SPECULATION BUSINESS

Explanation 2 to section 28 specifically provides that where an assessee carries on speculative business, that business of the assessee must be deemed as distinct and separate from any other business. This becomes necessary because section 73 provides that losses in speculation business unlike other business, cannot be set-off against the profits of any business other than a speculation business. Likewise, a loss in speculation business carried forward to a subsequent year can be set-off only against the profit and gains of any speculative business in the subsequent year. Profits and losses resulting from speculative transaction must, therefore, be treated as separate and distinct from other profits and gains of business and profession.

According to section 43(5) the expression "speculative transaction" means a transaction in which a contract for the purchase or sales of any commodity including stocks and shares, is periodically or ultimately settled otherwise than by the actual delivery or transfer of the commodity or scrips. Further, in view of Explanation to section 73, the transaction of purchase and sale of shares by non-banking and non-investment companies must also be deemed to be speculative transactions for tax purposes. However, the following forms of transactions shall not be deemed to be speculative transaction:

(i) a contract in respect of raw materials or merchandise entered into by a person in the course of his manufacturing or merchandising business to guard against loss through future price fluctuations in respect of his contracts for the actual delivery of goods manufactured by him or merchandise sold by him ; or

(ii) a contract in respect of stocks and shares entered into by a dealer or investor therein to guard against loss in his holdings of stocks and shares through price fluctuation; or

(iii) a contract entered into by a member of a forward market or stock exchange in the course of any transaction in the nature of jobbing or arbitrage to guard against any loss which may arise in the ordinary course of his business as a member; or

(iv) an eligible transaction carried out in respect of trading in derivatives in a recognized stock exchange.

 (a) "eligible transaction" means any transaction,–

  (A) carried out electronically on screen-based systems through a stock broker or sub-broker or such other intermediary registered under section 12 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 in accordance with the provisions of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 or the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 or the Depositories Act, 1996 and the rules, regulations or bye-laws made or directions issued under those Acts or by banks or mutual funds on a recognised stock exchange; and

  (B) which is supported by a time stamped contract note issued by such stock broker or sub-broker or such other intermediary to every client indicating in the contract note the unique client identity number allotted under any Act referred to in sub-clause (A) and permanent account number allotted under this Act;

 (b) "recognised stock exchange" means a recognised stock exchange as referred to in clause (f) of section 2 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 and which fulfils such conditions as may be prescribed and notified by the Central Government for this purpose.'

Thus, in all the cases where actual delivery or transfer of the commodity or scrips takes place, the transaction would not amount to speculative transaction, however highly speculative it may be in its nature. The actual delivery may be symbolic and includes delivery effected by the mere transfer of delivery orders according to trade practice.

The instances stated above constitute the exceptions specifically provided by the Act, whereby certain transactions (e.g., hedging contracts) entered into by manufacturers and merchants in the course of their business to guard against the loss through price fluctuations are excluded from the definition of speculative transactions. This provision should be liberally construed to cover not only hedging forward contracts for purchase of goods but also such contracts for sale.

The Supreme Court held in CIT v. Shantilal (P) Ltd. [1983] 144 ITR 57 (SC) that an award of damages for breach of contract is not the same thing as a party to the contract accepting satisfaction of the contract otherwise than in accordance with the original terms thereof. In this view of the matter, the court held that in a case where a company contracted to sell a certain commodity to a party but was unable to effect delivery due to a sharp rise in the price of the commodity and the dispute which arose out of such breach of contract was settled by payment of damages as decided by an arbitrator, the transaction could not be described as a 'speculative transaction' within the meaning of section 43(5). This principle has been followed by various High Courts also.

3.4 COMPUTATION OF INCOME FROM BUSINESS [SECTION 29]

(i) According to section 29, the profits and gains of any business or profession are to be computed in accordance with the provisions contained in sections 30 to 43D. It must, however, be remembered that in addition to the specific allowances and deductions stated in sections 30 to 36, the Act further permits allowance of items of expenses under the residuary section 37(1), which extends the allowance to items of business expenditure not covered by sections 30 to 36, where these are allowable according to accepted commercial practices.

(ii) An item of loss or expenditure not falling within any of the express deductions may be allowed if it is deductible on the basis of common principles of commercial expediency. Thus, in determining whether a particular item (other than those covered by sections 30 to 36) is deductible from profits, it is necessary first to enquire whether the deduction is expressly or by necessary implication prohibited by the Act and then, if it is not so prohibited, to consider whether it is of such nature that it should be charged against income in the computation of the "profits and gains of business or profession". Accordingly, a loss due to embezzlement or theft of cash by an employee during the course of business is allowable as a deduction in computing the business profit, even though they are not covered by any specific provision of the Act. Losses of non-capital nature which are incidental to the trade and arise unexpectedly in the regular course of the business would be allowed as losses incidental to the trade though there is no specified provision in the Act for allowing such deductions. Examples of such losses are embezzlement, theft, robbery or destruction of assets, overdrawing by employees, loss of stock in trade by damage or by fire or by ravages of white ants or by enemy action during war or by negligence or fraud of employees, etc. However, if a businessman, having business connection with a non-resident, is unable to recover from the non-resident the amount of tax, he cannot claim it as a bad debt or business loss incidental to the trade on principles of commercial accounting as was held in CIT v. Abdullabhai Abdul Kadar [1961] 41 ITR 546 (SC).

(iii) Where a trader stands surety for the debt of another and such guarantee is not in the course of or for the purposes of trade, any payment made as a result of such guarantee cannot be deducted as a business loss except in a case where the contract of guarantee is entered into in the course of business pursuant to a trade or custom of which mutual accommodation is the essence e.g., trader standing surety for one another. Loss of cash in a bank on account of robbery by dacoits or loss through burglary of cash which the assessee is under legal obligation or business necessity required to keep in till it would be allowable as loss incidental to the trade. Losses arising from payments made as advances to employees and money lent by the managed company to the managing agents which had become irrecoverable would be incidental to the business provided that the amounts paid in advance or as loan were so made with reasonable business prudence and hence would be deductible.

(iv) Loss caused by embezzlement is allowable as a deduction not necessarily in the year in which the embezzlement takes place, but when there is no reasonable chance of obtaining restitution and the amount is found to be irrecoverable. Normally when a businessman writes off the amount, it is a prima facie evidence of the fact that the amount has become irrecoverable. If embezzled or stolen moneys which are allowed as deduction in any year are subsequently recovered, they should be brought to tax as a revenue receipt from the business in the year of recovery.

(v) In respect of wasting assets or exhaustion of capital, no deduction is allowable from the income derived from such capital or wasting asset. Accordingly, where an annuity is purchased, the entire amount of annuity received is taxable regardless of the capital paid away and exhausted for the purchase of annuity. Likewise, in the case of a lease, the capital cost of the lease is not allowed to be deducted over the life of the lease.

3.5 ADMISSIBLE DEDUCTIONS

(i) Rent, rates, repairs and insurance for buildings [Section 30]

Section 30 allows deduction in respect of the rent, rates, taxes, repairs and insurance of buildings used by the assessee for the purpose of his business or profession. However, where the premises are used partly for business and partly for other purposes, only a proportionate part of the expenses attributable to that part of the premises used for purposes of business will be allowed as a deduction. Where the assessee has sublet a part of the premises, the allowance under the section would be confined to the difference between the rent paid by the assessee and the rent recovered from the sub-tenant. The rent payable would be an allowable deduction under this section even though the income from the property in respect of which it is paid may be exempt from taxation in the hands of the owner. Where the assessee himself is owner of the premises and occupies them for his business purposes, no notional rent would be allowed under this section. But where a firm runs its business in the premises owned by one of its partners, the rent payable to the partner will be an allowable deduction to the extent it is reasonable and is not excessive.

Apart from rent, this section allows deductions in respect of expenses incurred on account of repairs to building in case where (i) the assessee is the owner of the building or (ii) the assessee is a tenant who has undertaken to bear the cost of repairs to the premises. Even if the assessee occupies the premises otherwise than as a tenant or owner, i.e., as a lessee, licensee or mortgagee with possession, he is entitled to a deduction under the section in respect of current repairs to the premises.

In addition, deductions are allowed in respect of expenses by way of land revenue, local rates, municipal taxes and insurance in respect of the premises used for the purposes of the business or profession. Cesses, rates and taxes levied by a foreign Government are also allowed. Where the premises in respect of which these expenses are incurred are not utilized wholly for the purposes of the business, then, the deduction allowable should be of an amount proportionate to the use of the premises for the purposes of the business.

(ii) Repairs and insurance of machinery, plant and furniture [Section 31]

Section 31 allows deduction in respect of the expenses on current repairs and insurance of machinery, plant and furniture in computing the income from business or profession. In order to claim this deduction the assets must have been used for purposes of the assessee's own business the profits of which are being taxed. The word 'used' has to be read in a wide sense so as to include a passive as well as an active user. Thus, insurance and repair charges of assets which have been discarded (though owned by the assessee) or have not been used for the business during the previous year would not be allowed as a deduction. Even if an asset is used for a part of the previous year, the assessee is entitled to the deduction of the full amount of expenses on repair and insurance charges and not merely an amount proportionate to the period of use.

The term 'repairs' will include renewal or renovation of an asset but not its replacement or reconstruction. Also, the deduction allowable under this section is only of current repairs but not arrears of repairs for earlier years even though they may still rank for a deduction under section 37(1).

The deduction allowable in respect of premia paid for insuring the machinery, plant or furniture is subject to the following conditions: (i) The insurance must be against the risk of damage or destruction of the machinery, plant or furniture. (ii) The assets must be used by the assessee for the purposes of his business or profession during the accounting year. (iii) The premium should have been actually paid (or payable under the mercantile system of accounting). The premium may even take the form of contribution to a trade association which undertakes to indemnify and insure its members against loss; such premium or contribution would be deductible as an allowance under this section even if a part of it is returnable to the insured in certain circumstances. It does not matter if the payment of the claim will enure to the benefit of someone other than the owner.

Cost of repairs and current repairs of capital nature not to be allowed

As per section 30(a), deduction for cost of repairs to the premises occupied by the assessee as a tenant and the amount paid on account of current repairs to the premises occupied by the assessee, otherwise than as a tenant, is allowed.

As per section 31, the amount paid on account of current repairs of machinery, plant or furniture is allowed as deduction in the computation of income under the head "profits and gains of business or profession"

A view has been taken in Hanuman Motor Service v. CIT (1967) 66 ITR 88, 91 (Mys.) that in considering a claim for deduction under section 10(2)(v) of the 1922 Act (corresponding to section 30(a)(ii) of the 1961 Act), the question whether the expenditure is a capital expenditure or revenue expenditure is irrelevant. Once an expenditure has been established to be cost of repairs or current repairs, the same is allowable whether it is of a revenue or capital nature.

Under the Income-tax Act, 1962 the concept of capital and revenue is of fundamental importance. Income-tax Act is an Act to bring to charge only revenue and not capital. Wherever the legislature has felt that capital receipts have to be charged to income-tax they have specifically included such capital receipts in the definition of income e.g. Capital gains. In the same way, wherever the legislature desired that capital expenditure should be allowed as a deduction, specific provisions have been made for such allowance e.g. capital expenditure on scientific research. While computing income under the Income-tax Act, only revenue receipts are to be considered against which only revenue expenditure is allowable unless the Act specifically allows the deduction of capital expenditure. Hence it is clear that in respect of cost of repairs and current repairs, as per correct accounting principles, only expenditure of revenue nature can be allowed.

To clarify this, the Explanation to section 30 and section 31 provides that the amount paid on account of the cost of repairs and the amount paid on account of current repairs shall not include any expenditure in the nature of capital expenditure.

(iii) Depreciation [Section 32]

(1) Section 32 allows a deduction in respect of depreciation resulting from the diminution or exhaustion in the value of certain capital assets.

The Explanation to this section provides that deduction on account of depreciation shall be made compulsorily, whether or not the assessee has claimed the deduction in computing his total income.

(2) The allowance of depreciation which is regulated by Rule 5 of the IT Rules, is subject to the following conditions which are cumulative in their application.

(a) The assets in respect of which depreciation is claimed must belong to either of the following categories, namely:

(i) buildings, machinery, plant or furniture, being tangible assets;

(ii) know-how, patents, copyrights, trademarks, licences, franchises or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature, being intangible assets acquired on or after 1st April, 1998.

The depreciation in the value of any other capital assets cannot be claimed as a deduction from the business income. No depreciation is allowable on the cost of the land on which the building is erected because the term 'building' refers only to superstructure but not the land on which it has been erected. The term 'plant' as defined in section 43(3) includes books, vehicles, scientific apparatus and surgical equipments. The expression 'plant' includes part of a plant (e.g., the engine of a vehicle); machinery includes part of a machinery and building includes a part of the building. However, the word 'plant' does not include an animal, human body or stock-in-trade. Thus plant includes all goods and chattels, fixed or movable, which a businessman keeps for employment in his business with some degree of durability. Similarly the term 'buildings' includes within its scope roads, bridges, culverts, wells and tubewells.

(b) The assets should be actually used by the assessee for purposes of his business during the previous year - The asset must be put to use at any time during the previous year. The amount of depreciation allowance is not proportionate to the period of use during the previous year.

Asset used for less than 180 days - However, it has been provided that where any asset is acquired by the assessee during the previous year and is put to use for the purposes of business or profession for a period of less than 180 days, depreciation shall be allowed at 50 per cent of the allowable depreciation according to the percentage prescribed in respect of the block of assets comprising such asset. It is significant to note that this restriction applies only to the year of acquisition and not for subsequent years.

If the assets are not used exclusively for the business of the assessee but for other purposes as well, the depreciation allowable would be a proportionate part of the depreciation allowance to which the assessee would be otherwise entitled. This is provided in section 38.

Depreciation would be allowable to the owner even in respect of assets which are actually worked or utilized by another person e.g., a lessee or licensee. The deduction on account of depreciation would be allowed under this section to the owner who has let on hire his building, machinery, plant or furniture provided that letting out of such assets is the business of the assessee. In other cases where the letting out of such assets does not constitute the business of the assessee, the deduction on account of depreciation would still be allowable under section 57(ii).

(c) The assessee must own the assets, wholly or partly - In the case of buildings, the assessee must own the superstructure and not necessarily the land on which the building is constructed. In such cases, the assessee should be a lessee of the land on which the building stands and the lease deed must provide that the building will belong to the lessor of the land upon the expiry of the period of lease. Thus, no depreciation will be allowed to an assessee in respect of an asset which he does not own but only uses or hires for purposes of his business.

However, in this connection, students may note that the Explanation 1 to section 32 provides that where the business or profession of the assessee is carried on in a building not owned by him but in respect of which the assessee holds a lease or other right of occupancy, and any capital expenditure is incurred by the assessee for the purposes of the business or profession or the construction of any structure or doing of any work by way of renovation, extension or improvement to the building, then depreciation will be allowed as if the said structure or work is a building owned by the assessee.

Depreciation is allowable not only in respect of assets "wholly" owned by the assessee but also in respect of assets "partly" owned by him and used for the purposes of his business or profession.

(3) In case of succession of firm/sole proprietary concern by a company or amalgamation or demerger of companies - In order to restrict the double allowance under the proviso to section 32, in the cases of succession or amalgamation or demerger, the aggregate deduction in respect of depreciation allowable in the hands of the predecessor and the successor or in the case of amalgamating company and the amalgamated company or in the case of the demerged company and the resulting company, as the case may be, shall not exceed the amount of depreciation calculated at the prescribed rates as if the succession/amalgamation, demerger had not taken place. It is also provided that such deduction shall be apportioned between the two entities in the ratio of the number of days for which the assets were used by them.

(4) Hire purchase - In the case of assets under the hire purchase system the allowance for depreciation would under Circular No. 9 of 1943 R. Dis. No. 27(4) I.T. 43 dated 23-3-1943, be granted as follows :

1. In every case of payment purporting to be for hire purchase, production of the agreement under which the payment is made would be insisted upon by the department.
2. Where the effect of an agreement is that the ownership of the asset is at once transferred on the lessee the transaction should be regarded as one of purchase by instalments and consequently no deduction in respect of the hire amount should be made. This principle will be applicable in a case where the lessor obtains a right to sue for arrears of instalments but has no right to recover the asset back from the lessee. Depreciation in such cases should be allowed to the lessee on the hire purchase price determined in accordance with the terms of hire purchase agreement.

3. Where the terms of an agreement provide that the asset shall eventually become the property of the hirer or confer on the hirer an option to purchase an asset, the transaction should be regarded as one of hire purchase. In such case, periodical payments made by the hirer should for all tax purposes be regarded as made up of (i) the consideration for hirer which will be allowed as a deduction in assessment, and (ii) payment on account of the purchase price, to be treated as capital outlay and depreciation being allowed to the lessee on the initial value namely, the amount for which the hired assets would have been sold for cash at the date of the agreement. The allowance to be made in respect of the hire should be the amount of the difference between the aggregate amount of the periodical payments under the agreement and the initial value as stated above. The amount of this allowance should be spread over the duration of the agreement evenly. If, however, agreement is terminated either by outright purchase of the asset or by its return to the seller, the deduction should cease as from the date of termination of agreement.

For the purpose of allowing depreciation an assessee claiming deduction in respect of the assets acquired on hire purchase would be required to furnish a certificate from the seller or any other suitable documentary evidence in respect of the initial value or the cash price of the asset. In cases where no such certificate or other evidence is furnished the initial value of the assets should be arrived at by computing the present value of the amount payable under the agreement at an appropriate per centum. For the purpose of allowing depreciation the question whether in a particular case the assessee is the owner of the hired asset or not is to be decided on a consideration of all the facts and circumstances of each case and the terms of the hire purchase agreement. Where the hired asset is originally purchased by the assessee and is registered in his name, the mere fact that the payment of the price is spread over the specified period and is made in instalments to suit the needs of the purchaser does not disentitle the assessee from claiming depreciation in respect of the asset, since the assessee would be the real owner although the payment of purchase price is made subsequent to the date of acquisition of the asset itself.

(5) Computation of Depreciation Allowance - Depreciation allowance will be calculated on the following basis:

(i) In the case of assets of an undertaking engaged in generation or generation and distribution of power, such percentage on the actual cost to the assessee as prescribed by Rule 5(1A).

Rule 5(1A) - As per this rule, the depreciation on the abovementioned assets shall be calculated at the percentage of the actual cost at rates specified in Appendix IA of these rules. However, the aggregate depreciation allowed in respect of any asset for different assessment years shall not exceed the actual cost of the asset. It is further provided that such an undertaking as mentioned above has the option of being allowed depreciation on the written down value of such block of assets as are used for its business at rates specified in Appendix I to these rules.

However, such option must be exercised before the due date for furnishing return under section 139(1) for the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which it begins to generate power. It is further provided that any such option once exercised shall be final and shall apply to all subsequent assessment years.

(ii) In the case of any block of assets, at such percentage of the written down value of the block, as may be prescribed by Rule 5(1).

Block of Assets - 1. A "block of assets" is defined in clause (11) of section 2 of the Act as a group of assets falling within a class of assets comprising—

(a) tangible assets, being buildings, machinery, plant or furniture;

(b) intangible assets, being know-how, patents, copyrights, trademarks, licenses, franchises or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature, in respect of which the same percentage of depreciation is prescribed.

Know-how - In this context, 'know-how' means any industrial information or technique likely to assist in the manufacture or processing of goods or in the working of a mine, oil-well or other sources of mineral deposits (including searching for discovery or testing of deposits for the winning of access thereto).

(iii) Additional depreciation on Plant & Machinery acquired by an Industrial Undertaking:

Additional depreciation is allowed on any new machinery or plant (other than ships and aircraft) acquired and installed after 31.3.2005 by an assessee engaged in the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing at the rate of 20% of the actual cost of such machinery or plant.

Such additional depreciation will not be available in respect of:

(i) any machinery or plant which, before its installation by the assessee, was used within or outside India by any other person; or

(ii) any machinery or plant installed in office premises, residential accommodation, or in any guest house; or

(iii) office appliances or road transport vehicles; or

(iv) any machinery or plant, the whole or part of the actual cost of which is allowed as a deduction (whether by way of depreciation or otherwise) in computing the income chargeable under the head "Profits and Gains of Business or Profession" of any one previous year.

(iv) Terminal depreciation

In case of a power concern as covered under clause (i) above, if any asset is sold, discarded, demolished or otherwise destroyed in the previous year, the depreciation amount will be the amount by which the monies payable in respect of such building, machinery, plant or furniture, together with the amount of scrap value, if any, falls short of the written down value thereof. The depreciation will be available only if the deficiency is actually written off in the books of the assessee.

"Moneys payable" in respect of any building, machinery, plant or furniture includes—

(a) any insurance, salvage or compensation moneys payable in respect thereof;

(b) where the building, machinery, plant or furniture is sold, the price for which it is sold, so, however, that where the actual cost of a motor-car is, in accordance with the proviso to clause (1) of section 43, taken to be Rs.25,000, the moneys payable in respect of such motor-car shall be taken to be a sum which bears to the amount for which the motor-car is sold or, as the case may be, the amount of any insurance, salvage or compensation moneys payable in respect thereof (including the amount of scrap value, if any) the same proportion as the amount of Rs.25,000 bears to the actual cost of the motor-car to the assessee as it would have been computed before applying the said proviso;

"Sold" includes a transfer by way of exchange or a compulsory acquisition under any law for the time being in force but does not include a transfer, in a scheme of amalgamation, of any asset by the amalgamating company to the amalgamated company where the amalgamated company is an Indian company or a transfer of any asset by a banking company to a banking institution in a scheme of amalgamation of such banking company with the banking institution, sanctioned and brought into force by the Central Government.

(6) Actual Cost [Section 43(1)] - The expression "actual cost" means the actual cost of the asset to the assessee as reduced by that portion of the cost thereof, if any, as has been met directly or indirectly by any other person or authority.

Actual cost in certain special situations [Explanations to section 43(1)]

(i) Where an asset is used for the purposes of business after it ceases to be used for scientific research related to that business, the actual cost to the assessee for depreciation purposes shall be the actual cost to the assessee as reduced by any deduction allowed under section 35(1)(iv) [Explanation 1].

(ii) Where an asset is acquired by way of gift or inheritance, its actual cost shall be the written down value to the previous owner [Explanation 2].

(iii) Where, before the date of its acquisition by the assessee, the asset was at any time used by any other person for the purposes of his business or profession, and the Assessing Officer is satisfied that the main purpose of the transfer of the asset directly or indirectly to the assessee was the reduction of liability of income-tax directly or indirectly to the assessee (by claiming depreciation with reference to an enhanced cost) the actual cost to the assessee shall be taken to be such an amount which the Assessing Officer may, with the previous approval of the Joint Commissioner, determine, having regard to all the circumstances of the case [Explanation 3].

(iv) Where any asset which had once belonged to the assessee and had been used by him for the purposes of his business or profession and thereafter ceased to be his property by reason of transfer or otherwise, is re-acquired by him, the actual cost to the assessee shall be —

(i) the written down value at the time of original transfer; or

(ii) the actual price for which the asset is re-acquired by him

whichever is less [Explanation 4].

(v) Where before the date of acquisition by the assessee say, Mr.A, the assets were at any time used by any other person, say Mr.B, for the purposes of his business or profession and depreciation allowance has been claimed in respect of such assets in the case of Mr.B and such person acquires on lease, hire or otherwise, assets from Mr.A, then, the actual cost of the transferred assets, in the case of Mr.A, shall be the same as the written down value of the said assets at the time of transfer thereof by Mr.B [Explanation 4A].

We can explain the above as follows—

A person (say "A") owns an asset and uses it for the purposes of his business or profession. A has claimed depreciation in respect of such asset. The said asset is transferred by A to another person (say "B"). A then acquires the same asset back from B on lease, hire or otherwise. B being the new owner will be entitled to depreciation. In the above situation, the cost of acquisition of the transferred assets in the hands of B shall be the same as the written down value of the said assets at the time of transfer.

Explanation 4A overrides Explanation 3 - Explanation 3 to section 43(1) deals with a situation where a transfer of any asset is made with the main purpose of reduction of tax liability (by claiming depreciation on enhanced cost), and the Assessing Officer, having satisfied himself about such purpose of transfer, may determine the actual cost having regard to all the circumstances of the case.

In the Explanation 4A, a non-obstante clause has been included to the effect that Explanation 4A will have an overriding effect over Explanation 3. The result of this is that there is no necessity of finding out whether the main purpose of the transaction is reduction of tax liability. Explanation 4(A) is activated in every situation described above without inquiring about the main purpose.

(vi) Where a building which was previously the property of the assessee is brought into use for the purposes of the business or profession, its actual cost to the assessee shall be the actual cost of the building to the assessee, as reduced by an amount equal to the depreciation calculated at the rates in force on that date that would have been allowable had the building been used for the purposes of the business or profession since the date of its acquisition by the assessee [Explanation 5].

(vii) When any capital asset is transferred by a holding company to its subsidiary company or by a subsidiary company to its holding company then, if the conditions specified in section 47(iv) or (v) are satisfied, the transaction not being regarded as a transfer of a capital asset, the actual cost of the transferred capital asset to the transferee company shall be taken to be the same as it would have been if the transferor company had continued to hold the capital asset for the purposes of its own business [Explanation 6].

(viii) In a scheme of amalgamation, if any capital asset is transferred by the amalgamating company to the amalgamated company, the actual cost of the transferred capital assets to the amalgamated company will be taken at the same amount as it would have been taken in the case of the amalgamating company had it continued to hold it for the purposes of its own business [Explanation 7].

In the case of a demerger, where any capital asset is transferred by the demerged company to the resulting company, the actual cost of the transferred asset to the resulting company shall be taken to be the same as it would have been if the demerged company had continued to hold the asset. However, the actual cost shall not exceed the WDV of the asset in the hands of the demerged company [Explanation 7A].

(ix) Certain taxpayers have, with a view to obtain more tax benefits and reduce the tax outflow, resorted to the method of capitalising interest paid or payable in connection with acquisition of an asset relatable to the period after such asset is first put to use. Certain judicial rulings also favoured this approach. This capitalisation implies inclusion of such interest in the 'Actual Cost' of the asset for the purposes of claiming depreciation, investment allowance etc. under the Income-tax Act. This was never the legislative intent nor was it in accordance with recognised accounting practices. Therefore, with a view to counter-acting tax avoidance through this method and placing the matter beyond doubt, Explanation 8 to section 43(1) provides that any amount paid or payable as interest in connection with the acquisition of an asset and relatable to period after asset is first put to use shall not be included and shall be deemed to have never been included in the actual cost of the asset [Explanation 8].

(x) Where an asset is or has been acquired by an assessee, the actual cost of asset shall be reduced by the amount of duty of excise or the additional duty leviable under section 3 of the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 in respect of which a claim of credit has been made and allowed under the Central Excise Rules, 1944 [Explanation 9].

(xi) Where a portion of the cost of an asset acquired by the assessee has been met directly or indirectly by the Central Government or a State Government or any authority established under any law or by any other person, in the form of a subsidy or grant or reimbursement (by whatever name called), then, so much of the cost as is relatable to such subsidy or grant or reimbursement shall not be included in the actual cost of the asset to the assessee.

However, where such subsidy or grant or reimbursement is of such nature that it cannot be directly relatable to the asset acquired, so much of the amount which bears to the total subsidy or reimbursement or grant the same proportion as such asset bears to all the assets in respect of or with reference to which the subsidy or grant or reimbursement is so received, shall not be included in the actual cost of the asset to the assessee [Explanation 10].

(xii) Where an asset is acquired outside India by an assessee, being a non-resident and such asset is brought by him to India and used for the purposes of his business or profession, the actual cost of asset to the assessee shall be the actual cost the asset to the assessee, as reduced by an amount equal to the amount of depreciation calculated at the rate in force that would have been allowable had the asset been used in India for the said purposes since the date of its acquisition by the assessee [Explanation 11].

(xiii) Where any capital asset is acquired under a scheme for corporatisation of a recognised stock exchange in India approved by the SEBI, the actual cost shall be deemed to be the amount which would have been regarded as actual cost had there been no such corporatisation.

Definition of plant [Section 43(3)] – "Plant" includes ships, vehicles, books, scientific apparatus and surgical equipment used for the purposes of business or profession but does not include tea bushes or livestock or buildings or furniture and fittings.

(7) Written down value [Section 43(6)] - (i) In the case of assets acquired by the assessee during the previous year, the written down value means the actual cost to the assessee.

(ii) In the case of assets acquired before the previous year, the written down value would be the actual cost to the assessee less the aggregate of all deductions actually allowed in respect of depreciation. For this purpose, any depreciation carried forward is deemed to be depreciation actually allowed [Section 43(6)(c)(i) read with Explanation (3)].

The written down value of any asset shall be worked out as under in accordance with section 43(6)(c) -

(1) The aggregate of the written down value of the block of assets at the beginning of the previous year.

(2) The sum arrived at as above shall be increased by the actual cost of any asset falling within that block which is acquired by the assessee during the previous year.

(3) The sum so arrived at shall be reduced by the sale proceeds and other amounts receivable by the assessee with regard to any asset falling within that block which is sold, discarded, demolished or destroyed during that previous year.

(iii) When in the case of a succession to business or profession, an assessment is made on the successor under section 170(2), the written down value of an asset or block of assets shall be the amount which would have been taken as the written down value if the assessment had been made directly on the person succeeded to [Explanation 1 to section 43(6)].

(iv) Where in any previous year any block of assets is transferred by a holding company to a subsidiary company or vice versa and the conditions of clause 47(iv) or (v) are satisfied or by an amalgamating company to an amalgamated company the latter being an Indian company then the actual cost of the block of assets in the case of transferee-company or amalgamated company as the case may be, shall be the written down value of the block of assets as in the case of the transferor company or amalgamating company, as the case may be, for the immediately preceding year as reduced by depreciation actually allowed in relation to the said previous year [Explanation 2 to section 43(6)].

(v) Where in any previous year any asset forming part of a block of assets is transferred by demerged company to the resulting company, the written down value of the block of assets of the demerged company for the immediately preceding year shall be reduced by the written down value of the assets transferred to the resulting company [Explanation 2A to section 43(6)].

(vi) Where any asset forming part of a block of assets is transferred by a demerged company to the resulting company, the written down value of the block of assets in the case of resulting company shall be the written down value of the transferred assets of the demerged company immediately before the demerger [Explanation 2B to section 43(6)].

(vii) Where any asset forming part of a block of assets is transferred in any previous year by a recognised stock exchange in India to a company under a scheme for corporatisation approved by SEBI, the written down value of the block shall be the written down value of the transferred assets immediately before the transfer[Explanation 5 to section 43(6)].

(viii) Depreciation provided in the books of account deemed to be depreciation actually allowed [Explanation 6 to section 43(6)]

Section 32(1)(ii) provides that depreciation shall be allowed at the prescribed percentage on the written down value (WDV) of any block of assets. Section 43(6)(b) provides that written down value in the case of assets acquired before the previous year means the actual cost to the assessee less all depreciation actually allowed to him under the Income-tax Act.

Persons who were exempt from tax were not required to compute their income under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession". However, when the exemption is withdrawn subsequently, such persons became liable to income-tax and hence, were required to compute their income for income-tax purposes. In this regard, a question arises as to the basis on which depreciation is to be allowed under the Income-tax Act in respect of assets acquired during the years when the person was exempt from tax.

Explanation 6 has been inserted in section 43(6) to provide that,-

(a) the actual cost of an asset has to be adjusted by the amount attributable to the revaluation of such asset, if any, in the books of account;

(b) the total amount of depreciation on such asset provided in the books of account of the assessee in respect of such previous year or years preceding the previous year relevant to the assessment year under consideration shall be deemed to be the depreciation actually allowed under the Income-tax Act for the purposes of section 43(6);

(c) the depreciation actually allowed as above has to be adjusted by the amount of depreciation attributable to such revaluation.

(ix) The written down value of any block of assets, may be reduced to nil for any of the following reasons:

(a) The moneys receivable by the assessee in regard to the assets sold or otherwise transferred during the previous year together with the amount of scrap value may exceed the written down value at the beginning of the year as increased by the actual cost of any new asset acquired, or

(b) All the assets in the relevant block may be transferred during the year.

Students should refer to Income-tax Rules for the detailed classification of assets under Rule 5(1) and the rates applicable thereto.

(9) Increased rate of depreciation for certain assets - Rule 5(2) - Any new machinery or plant installed to manufacture or produce any article or thing by using any technology or other know-how developed in a laboratory owned or financed by the Government or a laboratory owned by a public sector company or a University or an institution recognized by the Secretary, Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, Government of India shall be treated as a part of the block of assets qualifying for depreciation@ 40%.

Conditions to be fulfilled

1. The right to use such technology to manufacture such article has been acquired from the owner of such laboratory or any person deriving title from such owner.

2. The return filed by the assessee for any previous year in which the said machinery is acquired, should be accompanied by a certificate from the Secretary, Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, Government of India to the effect that such article is manufactured by using such technology developed in such laboratory or such article has been invented in that laboratory.

3. The machinery or plant is not used for the purpose of business of manufacture or production of any article or thing specified in the Eleventh schedule.

The depreciation ordinarily allowable to an assessee in respect of any block of assets shall be calculated at the above specified rates on the WDV of such block of assets as are used for the purposes of the business or profession of the assessee at any time during the previous year.

(10) Carry forward and set off of depreciation [Section 32(2)]

Section 32(2) provides for carry forward of unabsorbed depreciation. Where, in any previous year the profits or gains chargeable are not sufficient to give full effect to the depreciation allowance, the unabsorbed depreciation shall be added to the depreciation allowance for the following previous year and shall be deemed to be part of that allowance. If no depreciation allowance is available for that previous year, the unabsorbed depreciation of the earlier previous year shall become the depreciation allowance of that year. The effect of this provision is that the unabsorbed depreciation shall be carried forward indefinitely till it is fully set off.

However, in the order of set-off of losses under different heads of income, effect shall first be given to business losses and then to unabsorbed depreciation.

The provisions in effect are as follows:

- Since the unabsorbed depreciation now falls part of the current year's depreciation, it can be set off against any other head of income.
- The unabsorbed depreciation can be carried forward for indefinite number of previous years.
- Set off will be allowed even if the same business to which it relates is no longer in existence in the year in which the set off takes place.

Current depreciation to be deducted first - The Supreme Court in CIT v. Mother India Refrigeration (P.) Ltd. [1985] 23 Taxman 8 has categorically held that current depreciation must be deducted first before deducting the unabsorbed carried forward business losses of the earlier years in giving set off while computing the total income of any particular year.

Where an asset is acquired by the assessee during the previous year and is put to use for the purposes of business or profession for a period of less than 180 days, the deduction on account of depreciation would be restricted to 50% of the prescribed rate. In this case, since Mr.Dhaval commenced his practice in the P.Y.2008-09 and acquired the assets during the same year, the restriction of depreciation to 50% of the prescribed rate would apply to those assets which have been put to use for less than 180 days in that year, namely, laptop and computer software.

Additional Depreciation at 20%				17.00
Depreciation allowable for A.Y.2009-10				32.75

Notes:

1. As per section 35(2)(iv), no depreciation shall be allowed in respect of plant and machinery purchased for scientific research relating to assessee's business, since deduction is allowable under section 35 in respect of such capital expenditure.
2. As per section 32(1)(iia), additional depreciation is allowable in the case of any new machinery or plant acquired and installed after 31.3.2005 by an assessee engaged in the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing, at the rate of 20% of the actual cost of such machinery or plant.

However, additional depreciation shall not be allowed in respect of, inter alia, –

(i) any machinery or plant which, before its installation by the assessee, was used either within or outside India by any other person;

(ii) any machinery or plant, the whole of the actual cost of which is allowed as a deduction (whether by way of depreciation or otherwise) in computing the income chargeable under the head "Profit and gains of business or profession" of any one previous year.

In view of the above provisions, additional depreciation cannot be claimed in respect of -

(i) Second hand plant and machinery;

(ii) New plant and machinery purchased for scientific research relating to assessee's business in respect of which the whole of the capital expenditure can be claimed as deduction under section 35(1)(iv) read with section 35(2)(ia).

(11) Balancing Charge - Section 41(2) provides for the manner of calculation of the amount which shall be chargeable to income-tax as income of the business of the previous year in which the monies payable for the building, machinery, plant or furniture on which depreciation has been claimed under section 32(1)(i), i.e. in the case of power undertakings, is sold, discarded, demolished or destroyed. The balancing charge will be the amount by which the moneys payable in respect of such building, machinery, plant or furniture, together with the amount of scrap value, if any, exceeds the written down value. However, the amount of balancing charge should not exceed the difference between the actual cost and the WDV. The tax shall be levied in the year in which the moneys payable become due.

The Explanation below section 41(2) makes it clear that where the moneys payable in respect of the building, machinery, plant or furniture referred to in section 41(2) become due in a previous year in which the business, for the purpose of which the building, machinery, plant or furniture was being used, is no longer in existence, these provisions will apply as if the business is in existence in that previous year.

(iv) Tea Development Account/Coffee Development Account/Rubber Development Account [Section 33AB]

(1) Where an assessee carrying on the business of growing and manufacturing tea or coffee or rubber in India has, before the expiry of six months from the end of the previous year or before the due date of furnishing the return of income, whichever is earlier, (i) deposited with a National Bank any amount in a special account maintained by the assessee with that Bank in accordance with a scheme approved by Tea Board or Coffee Board or Rubber Board, or (ii) opened an account to be known as Deposit Account in accordance with the scheme framed by the Tea Board or Coffee Board or Rubber Board, as the case may be, with the previous approval of the Central Government, the assessee shall be allowed a deduction of :

(a) A sum equal to the aggregate of the deposits made or

(b) 40% of the profits of such business computed under the head 'Profits and Gains of Business of Profession' before making any deduction under this section, whichever is less.

(2) The above deduction will be allowed before the setting off of brought-forward loss under section 72.

(3) Where the assessee is a firm or any association of persons or any body of individuals the deduction under this section shall not be allowed in the computation of the income of any partner or member of such firm, AOP or BOI.

(4) This deduction shall not be allowed unless the accounts of such business of the assessee for the previous year have been audited by a chartered accountant and the assessee furnishes along with his return of income the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant [Form No. 3AC].

(5) However, where the assessee is required by any other law to get his accounts audited it shall be sufficient compliance with the provision of this section if such assessee gets the accounts of such business audited under any such law and furnishes the report of the audit and a further report in the prescribed form under this section.

(6) Any amount standing to the credit of the assessee in the special account cannot be withdrawn except for the purposes specified in the scheme, or, as the case may be, in the deposit scheme.

The above amount can also be withdrawn in the following circumstances:

(a) Closure of business

(b) Death of an assessee

(c) Partition of HUF

(d) Dissolution of a firm

(b) Any office appliances (other than computers)

(c) Any machinery or plant the whole of whose actual cost is allowed as deduction by way of depreciation or otherwise in computing the business income.

(d) Any new machinery or plant installed for production of any XI Schedule item, the whole of such amount so utilised will be treated as taxable profits of that year and taxed accordingly.

(8) Where any amount is withdrawn by the assessee from the special account during any previous year on the closure of his business or dissolution of a firm, the whole of such withdrawal shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of business of that previous year and shall be chargeable to tax as the income of that previous year, as if the business had not closed or the firm had not been dissolved.

(9) Where any amount standing to the credit of the assessee in the special account is utilised by the assessee for the purpose of any expenditure in connection with such business in accordance with the scheme, such expenditure shall not be allowed in computing the business income.

(10) Where any amount in the special account which is released during any previous year by the National Bank for being utilised by the assessee for the purposes of such business in accordance with the scheme is not so utilised within that previous year, the unutilised amount shall be deemed to be profits and gains and chargeable to income-tax as the income of that previous year.

However, where such amount is released during the previous year at the closing of the account on the death of the assessee, partition of a HUF or liquidation of a company, the above restriction will not apply.

(11) Where an asset acquired in accordance with the scheme is sold or otherwise transferred in any previous year by the assessee to any person at any time before the expiry of 8 years from the end of the previous year in which it was acquired, such portion of the cost equal to the deduction allowed under this section shall be deemed to be profits of the previous year in which the asset is sold or transferred and shall be chargeable to income-tax as the income of that previous year.

However, the above restriction will not apply in the following cases :

(i) Where the asset is sold or otherwise transferred to Government, local authority, statutory corporation or a Government company.

(ii) Where the sale or transfer is made in connection with the succession of a firm by a company in the business or profession carried on by the firm as result of which the firm sells or otherwise transfers any asset to the company and the scheme continues to apply to the company in the same manner as applicable to the firm. Further, all the properties of the firm relating to the business or profession immediately before the succession should become the liabilities of the company and all the shareholders of the company should have been partners of the firm immediately before the succession.

(12) The Central Government has the power to direct that the deduction allowable under this section shall not be allowed after a specified date.

(13) "National Bank" means the National Bank for Agricultural and Rural Development (NABARD).

(v) Site Restoration Fund [Section 33ABA] – (1) This section provides for a deduction in the computation of the taxable profits in the case of an assessee carrying on business of prospecting for, or extraction or production, of petroleum or natural gas or both in India and in relation to which the Central Government has entered into an agreement with such assessee for such business.

(2) It provides that where the assessee has during the previous year -

(i) deposited any sum with the State Bank of India in a special account maintained by the assessee with that bank in accordance with the scheme approved in this behalf by the Government of India in the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas (hereinafter referred to as the Site Restoration Account), or the assessee shall be entitled to a deduction of —

- a sum equal to the sum deposited; or
- a sum equal to twenty per cent of its profits (as computed under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" before making any deduction under the new section), whichever is less.

(3) For this purpose, it is provided that any amount credited in the special account or Site Restoration Account by way of interest shall also be deemed to be a deposit.

(4) Non-eligibility - (i) Where such assessee is a firm or AOP or BOI, the deduction under this section will not be available in the computation of the income of any partner of the firm or the member of the AOP or BOI.

(ii) Where any deduction in respect of any amount deposited in the special account or Site Restoration Account has been allowed in any previous year, no deduction shall be allowed in respect of such amount in any other previous year.

(5) Audit - (i) Section 33ABA(2) provides that deduction under sub-section (1) shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the said business of the assessee for the previous year relevant to the assessment year have been audited by a chartered accountant and the assessee furnishes the report of such audit in the prescribed form along with the return.

(ii) Where the assessee is required by or under any other law to get his accounts audited, it will be sufficient compliance with the provisions of this sub-section if the assessee gets the accounts of the aforesaid business audited under any such law and furnishes the report of the audit and a further report in the prescribed form.

(6) Withdrawal of deduction - Any amount standing to the credit in the special account or the Site Restoration Account will not be allowed to be withdrawn except for the purposes specified in the scheme or in the deposit scheme.

No deduction shall be allowed in respect of any amount utilised for the purchase of the following items :

(a) any machinery or plant to be installed in any office premises or residential accommodation, including any accommodation in the nature of a guest house;

(b) any office appliances (not being computers);

(c) any machinery or plant, the whole of the actual cost of which is allowed as a deduction (whether by way of depreciation or otherwise) in computing the income chargeable under the head 'Profits and gains of business or profession' of any one previous year;

(d) any new machinery or plant to be installed in an industrial undertaking for the purpose of the business of construction, manufacture or production of any article or thing specified in the list in the Eleventh Schedule.

(7) Withdrawal on closure of account - (i) Where any amount standing to the credit of the assessee in the special account or in the Site Restoration Account is withdrawn on closure of the account during any previous year by the assessee, the amount so withdrawn from the account as reduced by the amount, if any, payable to the Central Government by way of profit or production share as provided in the agreement referred to in section 42, shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of business or profession of that previous year and shall accordingly be chargeable to income-tax as the income of that previous year.

(ii) Where any amount is withdrawn on closure of the account in a previous year in which the business carried on by the assessee in no longer in existence, these provisions will apply as if the business is in existence in that previous year.

(8) Utilisation from scheme not available as a deduction - When any amount standing to the credit of the assessee in the special account or in the Site Restoration Account business is utilised by the assessee for the purpose of any expenditure in connection with such business in accordance with the scheme or the deposit scheme such expenditure will not be allowed in computing the income chargeable under the head 'Profits and gains of business or profession'.

(9) Consequences of non-utilisation - Where any amount is released in the previous year by the State Bank of India or is withdrawn from the Site Restoration Account and is not utilised in accordance with the scheme or the deposit scheme, the whole of such amount or the part thereof shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of business and accordingly chargeable to income-tax as income of that previous year. This sub-section will not apply in a case where such amount is released in the event of death of an assessee, partition of a Hindu undivided family or liquidation of a company. These circumstances are provided in clauses (b), (c) and (e) of section 33AB(3).

(10) Consequences of sale or transfer - Where any asset acquired in accordance with the scheme or the deposit scheme is sold or otherwise transferred in any previous year by the assessee before the expiry of eight years from the end of the previous year in which such assets were acquired, such part of the cost of such asset as is relatable to the deduction allowed under section 33ABA(1) shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of business or profession of the previous year in which the asset is sold or otherwise transferred and shall accordingly be chargeable to income-tax as the income of that previous year.

This sub-section will not apply in the following cases:

(a) where the asset is sold or otherwise transferred by the assessee to the Government, a local authority, a corporation established by or under a Central, State or Provincial Act or a Government company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956; or

(b) where the sale or transfer of the asset is made in connection with the succession of a firm by a company in the business or profession carried on by the firm as a result of which the firm sells or otherwise transfers to the company any asset and the scheme or the deposit scheme continues to apply to the company in the manner applicable to the firm, if the following conditions are satisfied;

  (i) all the properties of the firm relating to the business or profession immediately before the succession become the properties of the company;

  (ii) all the liabilities of the firm relating to the business or profession immediately before the succession become the liabilities of the company; and

(iii) all the shareholders of the company were partners of the firm immediately before the succession.

Specified period - The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that the deduction allowable under this section will not be allowed after such date as may be specified in such notification.

(vi) Reserves for Shipping Business [Section 33AC]

The tonnage tax scheme, introduced by insertion of Chapter XII-G in the Income-tax Act, provides for special provisions relating to taxation of income of shipping companies. Consequently, no deduction under section 33AC is allowable from. A.Y. 2005-06, where a shipping company has opted for the tonnage tax scheme.

(vii) Expenditure on Scientific Research [Section 35]

This section allows a deduction in respect of any expenditure on scientific research related to the business of assessee. The expression 'scientific research' as defined in section 43(4)(i) means activities for the extension of knowledge in the fields of natural or applied science including agriculture, animal husbandry or fisheries. A reference to expenditure incurred on scientific research would include all expenditure incurred for the prosecution or the provision of facilities for the prosecution of scientific research but does not include any expenditure incurred in the acquisition of rights in or arising out of scientific research. In particular, a reference to scientific research related to a business or a class of business would include (i) any scientific research which may lead to or facilitate an extension of that business or all the business of that class, as the case may be; (ii) any scientific research of a medical nature which has a special relation to the welfare of the workers employed in that business or all the business of that class, as the case may be.

(1) The deduction allowable under this section consists of -

(i) Revenue Expenditure:

(a) Any revenue expenditure incurred by the assessee himself on scientific research related to his business. Expenditure incurred within three years immediately preceding the commencement of the business on payment of salary to research personnel engaged in scientific research related to his business carried on by the taxpayer or on material inputs for such scientific research will be allowed as deduction in the year in which the business is commenced. The deduction will be limited to the amount certified by the prescribed authority.

(b) An amount equal to 1¼ times of any sum paid to a university, college or other institution or scientific research association which has as its object, the undertaking of scientific research to be used for scientific research provided that the university, college institution or association is approved for this purpose by the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette.

The scope of the above deduction has been extended to cover expenditure on sponsored research carried out in the in-house research and development facilities of public companies. For the purpose, the expression "public sector company" means Government company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956.

The payments so made to such institutions would be allowable irrespective of whether (i) the field of scientific research is related to the assessee's business or not, and (ii) the payment is of a revenue nature or of a capital nature.

(c) A sum equal to 1¼ times of any amount paid to a company to be used by it for scientific research [Clause (iia) of section 35(1)]

However, such deduction would be available only if the company is registered in India and has as its main object the scientific research and development. Further, it should be approved by the prescribed authority and should fulfill the other prescribed conditions.

A company approved under section 35(1)(iia) will not be entitled to claim weighted deduction of 150% under section 35(2AB). However, it can continue to claim deduction under section 35(1)(i) in respect of the revenue expenditure incurred on scientific research.

(d) A sum equal to 1¼ times of any amount paid to any university, college or other institution approved by the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette to be used for research in any social science or statistical research.

(e) The applicant scientific research association, university, college or other institution shall be approved in accordance with the guidelines, in the manner and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed. The guidelines, manner (including application Forms) and conditions have since been prescribed vide notification bearing S.O. 1856 (E) dated 30.10.2006.

(f) The deduction would be available only if such association, university, college or other institution is for the time being approved in accordance with the guidelines, in the manner and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.

(g) Further, it has been clarified that the deduction to which an assessee (i.e. donor) is entitled on account of payment of any sum to a scientific research association or university or college or other institution, shall not be denied merely on the ground that subsequent to payment of such sum by the assessee, the approval granted to any of the aforesaid entities is withdrawn.

(ii) Capital Expenditure:

Any expenditure of a capital nature related to the business carried on by the assessee would be deductible in full in the previous year in which it is incurred.

Capital expenditure prior to commencement of business - The Explanation added to sub-section (2) specifically provides that where any capital expenditure has been incurred prior to the commencement of the business the aggregate of the expenditure so incurred within the three years immediately preceding the commencement of the business shall be deemed to have been incurred in the previous year in which the business is commenced. Consequently, any capital expenditure incurred within three years before the commencement of business will rank for deduction as expenditure for scientific research incurred during the previous year.

Expenditure on land disallowed - No deduction will be allowed in respect of capital expenditure incurred on the acquisition of any land after 29-2-1984 whether the land is acquired as such or as part of any property.

For the above purpose the expression 'land' would include any interest in land and it shall be deemed to be acquired on the date on which the document purporting to transfer the land is registered under the Registration Act, 1908 and where the possession of any land has been obtained in part performance of a contract of the nature referred to in section 53A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, on the date on which such possession was obtained.

(2) If any question arises under this section as to whether, and if so, to what extent, any activity constitutes, or any asset is being used, for scientific research, the Board shall refer the question to—

(a) the Central Government, when such question relates to any activity under clauses (ii) and (iii) of sub-section (1) i.e. any scientific research, or any research in social science or statistical research carried on by a university, college or institution approved for this purpose, and its decision shall be final;

(b) the prescribed authority, when such question relates to any activity other than the activity specified in clause (a) above whose decision shall be final.

(3) Carry forward of deficiency - Capital expenditure incurred on scientific research which cannot be absorbed by the business profits of the relevant previous year can be carried forward to the immediately succeeding previous year and shall be treated as the allowance for that year. In effect, this means that there is no time bar on the period of carry forward. It shall be accordingly allowable for that previous year.

(4) No depreciation - Section 35(2)(iv) clarifies that no depreciation will be admissible on any capital asset represented by expenditure which has been allowed as a deduction under section 35 whether in the year in which deduction under section 35 was allowed or in any other previous year.

(5) Approval by Central Government - The Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette will approve such scientific research association, university, college or institution for the purpose of sections 35(1)(ii) and 35(1)(iii).

The scientific research association, university or college or other institution referred to in section 35(1)(ii) or (iii) shall make an application in the prescribed form and manner to the Central Government for the purpose of grant of approval or continuance thereof under these clauses.

The Central Government may call for such documents (including audited annual accounts) or information from the scientific research association etc. in order to satisfy itself about the genuineness of the activities of the research association.

Notification issued by the Central Government under these clauses shall at any time have effect for not more than three assessment years (including an assessment year or years commencing before the date on which such notification is issued), as may be specified in the Notification. This time limit is applicable in respect of a notification issued by the Central Government under clause (ii) or clause (iii) before 13.7.2006. Consequently, any notification issued on or after 13.7.2006 shall remain in force until approval granted to such entity is withdrawn.

In respect of an application received on or after 13.7.2006, every notification under clause (ii) or clause (iii) shall be issued or an order rejecting the application shall be passed before expiry of 12 months from the end of the month in which the application for approval was received by the Central Government.

(6) Application of section 41 - Section 41, inter alia, seeks to tax the profits arising on the sale of an asset representing expenditure of a capital nature on scientific research. Such an asset might be sold, discarded, demolished or destroyed, either after having been used for the purposes of business on the cessation of its use for the purpose of scientific research related to the business or without having been used for other purposes. In either case, tax liability could arise. In the first case, where the asset is sold, etc., after having been used for the purposes of the business, the moneys payable in respect of such asset together with the amount of scrap value, if any, could be brought to charge under section 41(1) the provisions of which are wide enough to cover such situations and to bring to tax that amount of deductions allowed in earlier years. It may be noted that in such cases, the actual cost of the concerned asset under section 43(1) read with explanation would be nil and no depreciation would be allowed by virtue of section 35(2)(iv).

Where the asset representing expenditure of a capital nature on Scientific Research is sold without having been used for other purposes, then the case would come under section 41(3) and if the proceeds of sale together with the total amount of the deductions made under section 35 exceed the amount of capital expenditure, the excess or the amount of deduction so made, whichever is less, will be charged to tax as income of the business of the previous year in which the sale took place.

(7) Sum paid to National Laboratory, etc. [Section 35(2AA)]- Sub-section (2AA) of section 35 provides that any sum paid by an assessee to a National Laboratory or University or Indian Institute of Technology or a specified person for carrying out programmes of scientific research approved by the prescribed authority will be eligible for weighted deduction of one and one-fourth times of the amount so paid.

No contribution which qualifies for weighted deduction under this clause will be entitled to deduction under any other provision of the Act.

The authority which will approve the National Laboratory will also approve the programmes and procedure. Such programmes and procedure will be specified in rules.

The prescribed authority can call for each document or information as it considers necessary to satisfy itself about the genuineness of scientific research activities of the National Laboratory applying for approval. The prescribed authority under Rules 6(3) to (7) is Secretary, Department of Scientific & Industrial Research/Director General (Income-tax Exemptions).

It has been clarified that the deduction to which an assessee is entitled on account of payment of any sum by him to a National Laboratory, University, Indian Institute of Technology or a specified person for the approved programme [referred to in sub-section (2AA) of section 35] shall not be denied to the donor-assessee merely on the ground that after payment of such sum by him, the approval granted to any of the aforesaid donee-entities has been withdrawn.

'National Laboratory' means a scientific laboratory functioning at the national level under the aegis of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, Indian Council of Medical Research or the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, the Defence Research and Development Organisation, the Department of Electronics, the Department of Bio-Technology, or the Department of Atomic Energy and which is approved as a National Laboratory by the prescribed authority in the prescribed manner. 'Specified person' means a person who is approved by the prescribed authority.

(8) Company engaged in Business of Drugs, Electronic Equipments, etc. [Section 35(2AB)]

Where a company engaged in the business of bio-technology or in manufacture or production of any drugs, pharmaceuticals, electronic equipments, computers, tele-communication equipments, chemicals or any other article or thing notified by the Board incurs any expenditure on scientific research on inhouse research and development facility as approved by the prescribed authority, a deduction of a sum equal to one and one-half times of the expenditure will be allowed. Such expenditure should not be in the nature of cost of any land or building.

For this clause, "expenditure on scientific research" in relation to drugs and pharmaceuticals shall include expenditure incurred on clinical drug trial, obtaining approval from any state regulatory authority, and filing an application for a patent under the Patents Act, 1970.

No deduction will be allowed in respect of the above expenditure under any other provision of this Act.

No company will be entitled to this deduction unless it enters into an agreement with the prescribed authority for co-operation in such research and development facility and for audit of accounts maintained for that facility.

The prescribed authority shall submit its report in relation to the approval of the said facility to the Director General in such form and within such time as may be prescribed.

No deduction shall be allowed in respect of such expenditure incurred after 31-3-2012.

(9) Prescribed Authority - Rule 6 of the Income-tax Rules specifies the 'prescribed authority' for the purpose of section 35, in relation to research in the field of agriculture, animal husbandry and fisheries, medical sciences, social sciences or statistical research and other natural or applied science. The expression "prescribed authority", for this purpose refers to the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, the Indian Council of Medical Research or the Indian Council of Social Science Research or the Secretary, Department of Science and Technology, Government of India or any other officer of the Department nominated by him in this behalf as may be appropriate to the nature of the scientific research in question of Rule 6.

(viii) Expenditure for obtaining licence to operate telecommunication services [Section 35ABB]: (1) Where any capital expenditure has been incurred for acquiring any right to operate telecommunication services and for which payment has actually been made to obtain a licence, a deduction will be allowed in equal annual instalments over the relevant previous years.

"Relevant previous years" means—

(a) in a case where the licence fee is actually paid before the commencement of the business to operate telecommunication services, the previous years beginning with the previous year in which such business commenced;

(b) in any other case, the previous years beginning with the previous year in which the licence fee is actually paid, and the subsequent previous year or years during which the licence, for which the fee is paid, shall be in force.

"Payment has actually been made" means the actual payment of expenditure irrespective of the previous year in which the liability for the expenditure was incurred according to the method of accounting regularly employed by the assessee.

(2) Moreover, any capital expenditure so incurred before the actual commencement of the business shall also be eligible for deduction under sub-section (1).

(3) Where the licence is transferred and the proceeds of the transfer (so far as they consist of capital sums) are less than the expenditure incurred remaining unallowed, a deduction equal to such expenditure remaining unallowed, as reduced by the proceeds of the transfer, shall be allowed in respect of the previous year in which the licence is transferred.

(4) Where the whole or any part of the licence is transferred and the proceeds of the transfer (so far as they consist of capital sums) exceed the amount of the expenditure incurred remaining unallowed, so much of the excess as does not exceed the difference between the expenditure incurred to obtain the licence and the amount of such expenditure remaining unallowed shall be chargeable to income-tax as profits and gains of the business in the previous year in which the licence has been transferred.

Where the licence is transferred in a previous year in which the business is no longer in existence, the above provisions will apply as if the business is in existence in that previous year.

(5) Where the whole or any part of the licence is transferred and the proceeds of the transfer (so far as they consist of captial sums) are not less than the amount of expenditure incurred remaining unallowed, no deduction for such expenditure shall be allowed in respect of the previous year in which the licence is transferred or in any subsequent previous year.

(6) Where a part of the licence is transferred in a previous year, the proceeds of transfer will be subtracted from the expenditure remaining unallowed. Such remainder will be divided by the number of relevant previous years which have not expired at the beginning of the previous year during which the licence is transferred.

(7) Where in a scheme of amalgamation the amalgamating company sells or otherwise transfers the licence to the amalgamated company being an Indian company, the above provisions with regard to the chargeability of the surplus will not apply to the amalgamating company. Further, the provisions will apply to the amalgamated company as they would have applied to the amalgamating company if the latter had not transferred the licence.

(8) The said provisions relating to transfer of licence given in (iii), (iv) and (v) above shall not be applicable in the case of demerged company where the demerged company sells or transfers the licence to the resulting company (being an Indian company) and the provisions of the section allowing deduction of expenditure incurred for obtaining the licence shall be applicable to the resulting company as it would have applied to demerged company.

(9) Where a deduction is claimed and allowed for any previous year under sub-section (1) of the section 35ABB, then, no deduction on the capital expenditure so incurred shall be allowed by way of depreciation under sub-section (1) of section 32 in respect of acquiring any right to operate telecommunication services.

(ix) Promotion of social and economic welfare [Section 35AC] – (1) Under this section, deduction will be allowed in computing profits of business or profession chargeable to tax, in respect of the expenditure incurred for an eligible project or scheme for promoting social and economic welfare or uplift of the public as may be specified by the Central Government on the recommendations of the "National Committee". For this purpose, 'National Committee' will be the committee constituted by the Central Government from amongst persons of eminence in public life. Rules 11-F to 11-O deal with the National Committee for Promotion of Social and Economic Welfare and the guidelines for granting approval of associations and institutions and for recommending projects or schemes, for the purposes of this provision.

(2) The deduction will be allowed in case where the qualifying expenditure is either incurred by way of payment to a public sector company, a local authority or to an approved association or institution for carrying out any eligible project or scheme.

(3) However, companies will be allowed the deduction also in cases where expenditure is incurred by them directly on an eligible project or scheme.

(4) The claim for deduction under this section should be supported by a certificate obtained from the public sector company, local authority or approved association or institution as the case may be. Where the claim is in respect of expenditure directly incurred by a company on an eligible project or scheme, a certificate should be obtained from a Chartered Accountant.

(5) The deduction to which an assessee (i.e. the donor) is entitled on account of payment of any sum by him to a public sector company or a local authority or to an association or institution shall not be denied to the assessee merely on the ground that after payment of such sum by him, the approval granted to such association or institution has been withdrawn or the notification notifying the eligible project or scheme referred to in section 35AC has been withdrawn.

(6) The Committee can withdraw the approval to an association or institution if it is satisfied that the project or the scheme is not being carried on in accordance with all or any of the conditions subject to which approval was granted or if the association/institution has failed to furnish to the National Committee, after the end of each financial year, a progress report within the prescribed time in the prescribed form. The National Committee, should however, give a reasonable opportunity to the concerned association or institution of showing cause against the proposed withdrawal. Further, a copy of the order withdrawing the approval or notification should be forwarded to the Assessing Officer having jurisdiction over the concerned association or institution.

(7) Similarly, the Committee can withdraw a notification regarding an eligible project or scheme if it is satisfied that the project or the scheme is not being carried out in accordance with all or any of the conditions subject to which such project or scheme was notified or a report in respect of such eligible project or scheme has not been furnished after the end of each financial year, in the prescribed form within the prescribed time. The National Committee should however, give a reasonable opportunity of showing cause against the proposed withdrawal.

(8) Further, a copy of the notification by which the eligible project or scheme is withdrawn should be forwarded to the Assessing Officer having jurisdiction over the concerned association, institution, public sector company or local authority, as the case may be, carrying on such eligible project or scheme.

(i) Where the approval of the National Committee or the notification in respect of eligible project or scheme is withdrawn in case of a public sector company or local authority, etc; or

(ii) Where a company has claimed deduction in respect of any expenditure incurred directly on the eligible project or scheme and the approval for such project or scheme is withdrawn by the National Committee, the total amount of payment received by the public sector company or the local authority, etc., as case may be, in respect of which it has furnished to certificate, or the deduction claimed by the company shall be deemed to be the income of such company/authority, etc. for previous year in which the approval or notification is withdrawn. Further, tax will be charged on such income at the maximum marginal rate in force.

(x) Contributions for Rural Development [Section 35CCA]

This section allows a deduction of the following expenditure incurred by the assessee during the previous year:

(1) Payment to an association or institution, having the objective of undertaking programmes of rural development. Such payment must be used for carrying out any programme of rural development approved by the prescribed authority.

Conditions for Allowance

(a) The assessee must furnish a certificate from such association (which should be authorised by the prescribed authority to issue such a certificate) that the programme of rural development had been approved by the prescribed authority before 1-3-1983 and

(b) Where such payment is made after 28-2-1983, the programme should involve work by way of (i) construction of any building, or other structure (to be used for dispensary, school, training or welfare centre, workshop, etc.) or (ii) the laying of any road or (iii) the construction or boring of a well or tube well or (iv) the installation of any plant or machinery and such work must have commenced before 1-3-1983.

(2) Payment to an association or institution having as its object the training of persons for implementing rural development programme.

Conditions:

(b) Such training of persons must have started before 1-3-1983.

The deduction to which an assessee is entitled on account of payment of any sum by him to an association or institution for carrying out the programme of rural development shall not be denied to the assessee merely on the ground that after payment of such sum by him, the approval granted to such programme or, as the case may be, to the association or institution has been withdrawn.

(3) Payment to a rural development fund set up and notified by the Central Government.

The expression 'programme of rural development' for this purpose have the same meaning as has been assigned to it under Explanation to section 35CC(i).

(4) Payments made to "National Urban Poverty Eradication Fund" (NUPEF) set up and notified by the Central Government.

It has been specifically provided that in every case where any deduction in respect of contribution for rural development is claimed by the assessee and allowed to him for any assessment year in respect of any expenditure incurred by way of payment of contribution to the approved association or institution, no deduction in respect of the same expenditure can again be claimed by the assessee under any other relevant provision.

(xi) Amortisation of Preliminary Expenses [Section 35D]– (1) Section 35D provides for the amortisation of preliminary expenses incurred by Indian companies and other resident non-corporate taxpayers for the establishment of business concerns or the expansion of the business of existing concerns.

(2) This section applies (a) only to Indian companies and resident non-corporate assessees; (b) in the case of new companies to expenses incurred before the commencement of the business; (c) in the case of extension of an existing undertaking to expenses incurred till the extension is completed, i.e., in the case of the setting up of a new unit - to expenses incurred till the new unit commences production or operation.

(3) Such preliminary expenditure incurred shall be amortised over a period of 5 years. In other words, 1/5th of such expenditure is allowable as a deduction for each of the five successive previous years beginning with the previous year in which the business commences or, the previous year in which the extension of the undertaking is completed or the new unit commences production or operation, as the case may be.

(4) Eligible expenses - The following expenditure are eligible for amortisation:

(iii) Such other items of expenditure (not being expenditure qualifying for any allowance or deduction under any other provision of the Act) as may be prescribed by the Board for the purpose of amortisation. However, the Board, so far, has not prescribed any specific item of expense as qualifying for amortisation under this clause.

In the case of expenditure specified in items (a) to (e) above, the work in connection with the preparation of the feasibility report or the project report or the conducting of market survey or any other survey or the engineering services referred to must be carried out by the assessee himself or by a concern which is for the time being approved in this behalf by the Board.

(5) Overall Limits - The maximum aggregate amount of the qualifying expenses that can be amortised has been fixed at 5% of the cost of the project or in the case of an Indian company, or, at the option of the company, 5% of the capital employed in the business of the company, whichever is higher. The excess, if any, of the qualifying expenses shall be ignored.

The assessee is entitled to a deduction of an amount equal to one-fifth of the qualifying amount of the expenditure for each of the five successive accounting years beginning with the year in which the business commences, or as the case may be, the previous year in which the business commences or as the case may be, the previous year in which extension of the undertaking is completed or the new unit commences production or operation.

(6) For purpose of amortisation, the expression, 'cost of the project' means -

(i) In the case of expenses incurred before the commencement of business the actual cost of the fixed assets, being land, buildings, leaseholds, plant, machinery, furniture, fittings, railway sidings (including expenditure on the development of land, buildings) which are shown in the books of the assessee as on the last day of the previous year in which the business of the assessee commences;

(ii) in case of extension of the business or setting up of a new unit, the cost of the fixed assets being land, buildings, leaseholds, plant, machinery, furniture, fittings, and railway sidings (including expenditure on the development of land and buildings) which are shown in the books of the assessee as on the last day of the previous year in which the extension of the undertaking is completed or, as the case may be, the new unit commences production or operation, insofar as such assets have been acquired or developed in connection with the extension of the undertaking or the setting up of the new unit.

(7) The expression "capital employed in the business of the company" must be taken to mean—

(i) in the case of new company, the aggregate of the issued share capital, debentures and long-term borrowings as on the last day of the previous year in which the business of the company commences;

(ii) in the case of extension of the business or the setting up of a new unit, the aggregate of the issued share capital, debentures, and long-term borrowings as on the last day of the accounting year in which the extension of the undertaking is completed or, as the case may be, the unit commences production or operation insofar as such capital, debentures and long-term borrowings have been issued or obtained in connection with the extension of the undertaking or the setting up of the new undertaking or the setting up of the new unit of the company.

(8) The expression "long-term borrowing," mentioned above, means any moneys borrowed in India by the company from the Government or the Industrial Finance Corporation of India or the Industrial Credit and Investment Corporation of India or any other financial institution eligible for deduction under section 36(1)(iii) or any banking institution, or any moneys borrowed or debt incurred by it in a foreign country in respect of the purchase outside India of plant and machinery where the terms under which such moneys are borrowed or the debt is incurred provide for the repayment thereof during a period of not less than seven years.

(9) In cases where the assessee is a person other than a company or a co-operative society, the deduction would be allowable only if the accounts of the assessee for the year or years in which the expenditure is incurred have been audited by a Chartered Accountant and the assessee furnishes, along with his return of income for the first year in respect of which the deduction is claimed, the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by the auditor and setting forth such other particulars as may be prescribed.

(10) Special provisions for amalgamation and demerger

Where the undertaking of an Indian company is transferred, before the expiry of the period of ten years, to another Indian company under a scheme of amalgamation as defined in section 2(IA) the aforesaid provisions will apply to the amalgamated company as if the amalgamation had not taken place. But no deduction will be admissible in the case of the amalgamating company for the previous year in which the amalgamation takes place.

Sub-section (5A) provides similar provisions for the scheme of demerger where the resulting company will be able to claim amortisation of preliminary expenses as if demerger had not taken place, and no deduction shall be allowed to the demerged company in the year of demerger.

It has been clarified that in case where a deduction under this section is claimed and allowed for any assessment year in respect of any item of expenditure, the expenditure in respect of which deduction is so allowed shall not qualify for deduction under any other provision of the Act for the same or any other assessment year.

(xii) Amortisation of Expenses for Amalgamation/Demerger [Section 35DD]

(1) Where an assessee, being an Indian company, incurs expenditure on or after 1st April, 1999, wholly and exclusively for the purpose of amalgamation or demerger, the assessee shall be allowed a deduction equal to one-fifth of such expenditure for five successive previous years beginning with the previous year in which amalgamation or demerger takes place.

(2) No deduction shall be allowed in respect of the above expenditure under any other provisions of the Act.

(xiii) Amortisation of expenditure incurred under voluntary retirement scheme [Section 35DDA]- (1) This section applies to an assessee who has incurred expenditure in any previous year in the form of payment to any employee in connection with his voluntary retirement, in accordance with any scheme or schemes of voluntary retirement.

(2) The amount of deduction allowable is one-fifth of the amount paid for that previous year, and the balance in four equal installments in the four immediately succeeding previous years.

(3) In case of amalgamation, demerger, reorganisation or succession of business during the intervening period of the said 5 years, the benefit of deduction will be available to the "new company" for the balance period including the year in which such amalgamation/demerger/reorganisation or succession takes place.

(4) This will be applicable in the following situations:

(i) where an Indian company is transferred to another Indian company in a scheme of amalgamation;

(ii) where the undertaking of an Indian company is transferred to another company in a scheme of demerger;

(iii) where due to a re-organisation of business, a firm is succeeded by a company fulfilling the conditions in section 47(xiii) or a proprietary concern is succeeded by a company fulfilling the conditions in section 47(xiv).

(5) In the above cases, the deduction shall be available to the successor company as such deduction would have applied to the original entity if such transfer had not taken place at all.

(6) It is further provided that no deduction shall be available to the original entity being the amalgamating company, or the demerged company or the firm or proprietary concern (as the case may be) for the previous year in which the amalgamation, demerger or succession takes place.

(7) No deduction shall be allowed in respect of the above expenditure under any other provision of the Act.

(xiv) Amortisation of expenses for prospecting and development of certain minerals [Section 35E] – (1) This provision applies only to expenditure incurred by an Indian company or any other person who is resident in India. Thus, foreign companies or foreign concerns and non-resident assessees are not entitled for the benefits of deduction under section 35E. In order to qualify for amortisation, the assessee should be engaged in any operations relating to prospecting for or the extraction or production of any mineral.

(2) Eligible expenses - The nature and kind of expenditure qualifying for amortisation are - (i) It must have been incurred during the year of commercial production or any one or more of the four years immediately preceding that year, (ii) It must be an expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively on any operations relating to the prospecting for or extraction of certain minerals listed in the Seventh Schedule of the Income-tax Act.

(3) Expenditure not allowed for deduction - However, any portion of the expenditure which is met directly or indirectly by any other persons or authority and the sale, salvage, compensation or insurance moneys realised by the assessee in respect of any property or rights brought into existence as a result of the expenditure should be excluded from the amount of expenditure qualifying for amortisation. Further, specific provision has been made to the effect that the following items of expenses do not qualify for amortisation at all viz.:

(i) Expenditure incurred on the acquisition of the site of the source of any minerals or group of associated minerals stated above or of any right in or over such site;

(ii) Expenditure on the acquisition of the deposits of minerals or group of associated minerals referred to above or to any rights in or over such deposits; or

(iii) Expenditure of a capital nature in respect of any building, machinery, plant or furniture for which depreciation allowance is permissible under section 32.

(4) Amount of deduction - The assessee will be allowed for each of ten relevant previous years, a deduction of an amount equal to one-tenth of the aggregate amount of the qualifying expenditure. Thus, the deduction to be allowed for any relevant previous year is (i) one-tenth of the expenditure or (ii) such amount as will reduce to nil the income of the previous year arising from the commercial exploration of any minerals or other natural deposit of the mineral or minerals in a group of associated minerals in respect of which the expenditure was incurred, whichever figure is less. The amount of the deduction admissible in respect of any relevant previous year to the extent to which it remains unallowed, shall be carried forward and added to the installment relating to the previous year next following and shall be deemed to be a part of the installment and so on, for ten previous years beginning from the year of commercial production.

(5) For purposes of this amortisation, the expression "operation relating to prospecting" means any operation undertaken for the purpose of exploiting, locating or proving deposits of any minerals and includes any such operation which proves to be infructuous or abortive. The expression 'year of commercial production' means the previous year in which as a result of any operation relating to prospecting or commercial production of any material or one or more of the minerals in a group of associated minerals specified in Part A or Part B, respectively, of the Seventh Schedule to Act actually commences. The relevant previous year in which the deduction would be allowed to the assessee are those ten previous years beginning with the year of commercial production.

(6) In the case of amalgamation, such deduction would continue to be admissible to the amalgamated company as if the amalgamation had not taken place.

Sub-section (7A) provides for similar provisions in cases of demerger where such deduction can be availed of by the resulting company as if the demerger had not taken place.

Further, no deduction will be admissible to the amalgamating/demerged company in the year of amalgamation/demergers.

(7) Where a deduction is claimed and allowed on account of amortisation of the expenses under section 35E in any year in respect of any expenditure, the expenditure in respect of which deduction is so allowed shall not again qualify for deduction from the profits and gains under any other provisions of the Act for the same or any other assessment year. The provisions with regard to audit of accounts relating to the qualifying expenditure are similar to those applicable for amortisation of preliminary expenses discussed earlier.

(xv) Other Deductions [Section 36] - This section authorises deduction of certain specific expenses. The items of expenditure and the conditions under which such expenditures are deductible are:

(1) Insurance premia paid [Section 36(1)(i)] - If insurance policy has been taken out against risk, damage or destruction of the stock or stock of the business or profession, the premia paid is deductible. But the premium in respect of any insurance undertaken for any other purpose is not allowable under the clause.

(2) Insurance premia paid by a Federal Milk Co-operative Society [Section 36(1)(ia)] - Deduction is allowed in respect of the amount of premium paid by a Federal Milk Co-operative Society to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the life of the cattle owned by a member of a co-operative society being a primary society engaged in supply of milk raised by its members to such Federal Milk Co-operative Society. The deduction is admissible without any monetary or other limits.

(3) Premia paid by employer for health insurance of employees [Section 36(1)(ib)] - This clause seeks to allow a deduction to an employer in respect of premia paid by him by any mode of payment other than cash to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of his employees in accordance with a scheme framed by (i) the General Insurance Corporation of India and approved by the Central Government; or (ii) any other insurer and approved by the IRDA.

(4) Bonus and Commission [Section 36(1)(ii)] - These are deductible in full provided the sum paid to the employees as bonus or commission shall not be payable to them as profits or dividends if it had not been paid as bonus or commission. It is a provision intended to safeguard against a private company or an association escaping tax by distributing a part of its profits by way of bonus amongst the members, or employees of their own concern instead of distributing the money as dividends or profits.

(5) Interest on borrowed capital [Section 36(1)(iii)] - In the case of genuine business borrowings, the department cannot disallow any part of the interest on the ground that the rate of interest is unreasonably high except in cases falling under section 40A.

Under section 36(1), deduction of interest is allowed in respect of capital borrowed for the purposes of business or profession in the computation of income under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession".

Capital may be borrowed for several purposes like for acquiring a capital asset, or to pay off a trading debt or loss etc. The scope of the expression 'for the purposes of business' is very wide. Capital may be borrowed in the course of the existing business as well as for acquiring assets for extension of existing business. Explanation 8 to section 43(1) clarifies that interest relatable to a period after the asset is first put to use cannot be capitalised. Interest in respect of capital borrowed for any period from the date of borrowing to the date on which the asset was first put to use should normally be capitalised. However, there was scope for the asssessees to claim it as a revenue expenditure.

It has now been provided that no such deduction shall be allowed in respect of any amount of interest paid, in respect of capital borrowed for acquisition of new asset for extension of existing business or profession (whether capitalised in the books of account or not) for any period beginning from the date on which the capital was borrowed for acquisition of the asset till the date on which such asset was first put to use. It is significant to note here that even after the amendment the scope for claiming such interest as revenue expenditure in respect of existing business still exists.

(6) Discount on Zero Coupon Bonds(ZCBs) [Section 36(1)(iiia)] - Section 36(1)(iiia) provides deduction for the discount on ZCB on pro rata basis having regard to the period of life of the bond to be calculated in the manner prescribed. The Explanation seeks to provide the meaning of the expression 'discount' as a difference of the amount received or receivable by an infrastructure capital company/ infrastructure capital fund/public sector company on issue of the bond and the amount payable by such company or fund on maturity or redemption of the bond. The expression 'period of life of the bond' has been defined to mean the period commencing from the date of issue of the bond and ending on the date of the maturity or redemption.

For definitions of "infrastructure capital company" and "infrastructure capital fund", refer sections 2(26A) and 2(26B) in Chapter 1 of this study material – Basic Concepts.

(7) Contributions to provident and other funds [Section 36(1)(iv) and (v)] - Contribution to the employees' provident and other funds are allowable subject to the following conditions:

(a) The fund should be settled upon a trust.

(b) In case of Provident or a superannuation or a Gratuity Fund, it should be one recognised or approved under the Fourth Schedule to the Income-tax Act.

(c) The amount contributed should be periodic payment and not an adhoc payment to start the fund.

(d) The fund should be for exclusive benefit of the employees.

The nature of the benefit available to the employees from the fund is not material ; it may be pension, gratuity or provident fund.

(8) Amount received by assessee as contribution from his employees towards their welfare fund to be allowed only if such amount is credited on or before due date - Clause (va) of section 36(1) and clause (ia) of section 57 provide that deduction in respect of any sum received by the taxpayer as contribution from his employees towards any welfare fund of such employees will be allowed only if such sum is credited by the taxpayer to the employee's account in the relevant fund on or before the due date. For the purposes of this section, "due date" will mean the date by which the assessee is required as an employer to credit such contribution to the employee's account in the relevant fund under the provisions of any law on term of contract of service or otherwise.

As per paragraph 38 of the Employees Provident Funds Scheme, 1952, the amounts under consideration in respect of wages of the employees for any particular mouth shall be paid within 15 days of the close of every month. A further grace period of 5 days is allowed [CPFC's Circular No. E 128(1) 60-III dt. 19.3.1964].

(9) Allowance for animals [Section 36(1)(vi)] - This clause grants an allowance in respect of animals which have died or become permanently useless. The amount of the allowance is the difference between the actual cost of the animals and the price realised on the sale of the animals themselves or their carcasses. The allowance under the clause would thus recoup to the assessee the entire capital expenditure in respect of animal.

(10) Bad debts [Section 36(1)(vii) and sub-section (2)] - These can be deducted subject to the following conditions:

(a) The debts or loans should be in respect of a business which was carried on by the assessee during the relevant previous year.

(b) The debt should have been taken into account in computing the income of the assessee of the previous year in which such debt is written off or of an earlier previous year or should represent money lent by the assessee in the ordinary course of his business of banking or money lending.

The proviso to the above sub-clause provides that in the case of banks to which clause (viia) applies, the amount of the deduction relating to any such debt or part thereof shall be limited to the amount by which such debt or part thereof exceeds credit balance in the provision for bad and doubtful debts account made under that clause. The scope of the above proviso has been expanded to cover any assessee and not only banks.

For the purpose of clause (vii) it has been clarified in the Act that any bad debt or part thereof written off as irrecoverable in the accounts shall not include any provision for bad and doubtful debts.

Further in the case of a claim for bad debts by an assessee covered by section 36(1)(viia), the bank or financial institution etc. should have debited the bad debt to the provision for bad and doubtful debts account.

Further, if on the final settlement the amount recovered in respect of any debt, where deduction had already been allowed, falls short of the difference between the debt due and the amount of debt allowed, the deficiency can be claimed as a deduction from the income of the previous year in which the ultimate recovery out of the debt is made. It is permissible for the Assessing Officer to allow deduction in respect of a bad debt or any part thereof in the assessment of a particular year and subsequently to allow the balance of the amount, if any, in the year in which the ultimate recovery is made, that is to say, when the final result of the process of recovery comes to be known.

Furthermore, where any bad debt has been written off as irrecoverable in the accounts of the previous year and the Assessing Officer is satisfied that such a debt or part thereof, in fact had become a bad debt in any earlier previous year not falling beyond a period of four previous years in which the debts should have been allowed provided the assessee accepts such a finding [Section 155(6)].

Recovery of a bad debt subsequently [Section 41(4)] - If a deduction has been allowed in respect of a bad debt under section 36, and subsequently the amount recovered in respect of such debt is more than the amount due after the allowance had been made, the excess shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of business or profession and will be chargeable as income of the previous year in which it is recovered, whether or not the business or profession in respect of which the deduction has been allowed is in existence at the time.

For example, let us assume that a debt of Rs.10,000 was claimed as a bad debt in the previous year 2007-08. However, the Assessing Officer allowed only a sum of Rs.5,000 as bad debt. If in the year previous year 2008-09, a sum of Rs.4,000 is recovered ultimately in respect of the debt, then the Assessing Officer should allow a deduction in respect of the deficiency namely, Rs.1,000 i.e., the difference between the amount ultimately recovered and the amount disallowed earlier under Section 36(1)(vii). If on the other hand, the sum ultimately recovered is Rs.6,000 then there will be a liability, under section 41(4) in respect of sum of Rs.1,000, which would be deemed to be the profits and gains of business or profession. Such a liability under section 41(4) would arise even if the business or profession in respect of which deduction has been allowed is not in existence at that time.

(11) Special provision for bad and doubtful debts in cases of Rural Branches of Scheduled Banks [Section 36(1)(viia)]

(a) In the case of a scheduled bank which is not a bank incorporated by or under the laws of a country outside India or a non-scheduled bank, the following deductions will be allowed:

   (i) an amount not exceeding 7.5% of the total income (computed before making any deduction under this clause and Chapter VI-A), and

   (ii) an amount not exceeding 10% of the aggregate average advances made by the rural branches of such bank computed in the manner prescribed by the CBDT.

(b) A scheduled bank or a non-scheduled bank referred to in (a) above or a co-operative bank other than a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank shall, at its option, be allowed a further deduction in excess of the limits specified in the foregoing provisions, for an amount not exceeding the income derived from redemption of securities in accordance with a scheme framed by the Central Government. The following public facilities have been notified by the CBDT as infrastructure facility for purposes of section 36(1)(viii)-

(1) Inland Container Depot and Container Freight Station notified under the Customs Act, 1962

(2) Mass Rapid Transit system

(3) Light Rail Transit system

(4) Expressways

(5) Intra-urban or semi-urban roads like ring roads or urban by-passes or flyovers

(6) Bus and truck terminals

(10) Multilevel Computerised Car Parking.

Deduction in respect of income from long-term finance for development of infrastructure facilities - The deduction will now be available also to approved financial corporations providing long-term finance for development of infrastructure facilities in India. For this purpose, the expression "infrastructure facility" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 80-IA.

(13) Expenses on family planning [Section 36(1)(ix)] - Any expenditure of revenue nature bona fide incurred by a company for the purpose of promoting family planning amongst its employees will be allowed as a deduction in computing the company's business income; where, the expenditure is of a capital nature, one-fifth of such expenditure will be deducted in the previous year in which it was incurred and in each of the four immediately succeeding previous years. This deduction is allowable only to companies and not to other assessees. The assessee would be entitled to carry forward and set off the unabsorbed part of the allowance in the same way as unabsorbed depreciation. The capital expenditure on promoting family planning will be treated in the same way as capital expenditure for scientific research for purposes of dealing with the profit or loss on the sale or transfer of the asset including a transfer on amalgamation.

(14) Deduction for expenditure incurred by entities established under any Central, State or Provincial Act [Section 36(1)(xii)]

Any expenditure (not being in the nature of capital expenditure) incurred by a corporation or a body corporate, by whatever name called, if –

(a) it is constituted or established by a Central, State or Provincial Act;

(b) such corporation or body corporate is notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette for this purpose having regard to the objects and purposes of the Act;

(c) the expenditure is incurred for the objects and purposes authorised by the Act under which it is constituted and established.

Accordingly, the Central Government has notified the Oil Industry Development Board for the purpose of deduction under section 36(1)(xii).

(15) Deduction in respect of banking cash transaction tax [Section 36(1)(xiii)]

(a) The Finance Act, 2005 has, through Chapter VII, introduced a tax called banking cash transaction tax, as an anti tax-evasion measure, in respect of every taxable banking transaction entered into on or after 1.6.2005, at the rate of 0.1% of the value of every such taxable banking transaction.

(b) Taxable banking transaction means -

(1) a transaction, being withdrawal of cash (by whatever mode) on any single day from an account (other than a savings bank account) maintained with any scheduled bank, exceeding, -

(i) Rs.50,000, in case such withdrawal is from the account maintained by any individual or HUF;

(ii) Rs.1,00,000, in case such withdrawal is from the account maintained by a person other than any individual or HUF; or

(2) A transaction, being receipt of cash from any scheduled bank on any single day on encashment of one or more term deposits, whether on maturity or otherwise, from that bank, exceeding -

(i) Rs.50,000, in case such term deposit or deposits are in the name of any individual or HUF;

(ii) Rs.1,00,000, in case such term deposit or deposits are by any person other than any individual or HUF.

(c) However, banking cash transaction tax is not leviable if the amount of term deposit or deposits is credited to any account with the bank.

(d) Section 36(1)(xiii) provides for deduction of any amount of banking cash transaction tax paid by the assessee during the previous year on the taxable banking transactions entered into by him.

Note – Banking Cash Transaction Tax is not chargeable in respect of any taxable banking transaction entered into on or after 1.4.2009.

(16) Deduction of contribution by a public financial institution to Credit guarantee fund trust for small industries [Section 36(1)(xiv)]

(i) Section 36(1)(xiv) provides for deduction of any sum paid by a public financial institution by way of contribution to such credit guarantee fund trust for small industries notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette.

(ii) Public financial institution has the meaning assigned to it in section 4A of the Companies Act, 1956.

(17) Deduction of securities transaction tax paid [Section 36(1)(xv)]

The amount of securities transaction tax paid by the assessee during the year in respect of taxable securities transactions entered into in the course of business shall be allowed as deduction under section 36 subject to the condition that such income from taxable securities transactions is included under the head 'Profits and gains of business or profession'. Thus, securities transaction tax paid would be allowed as a deduction like any other business expenditure.

(18) Deduction of commodities transaction tax paid [Section 36(1)(xvi)]

(i) A new tax called Commodities Transaction Tax (CTT) would be levied on taxable commodities transactions entered in a recognised association. This tax has to be levied from the date on which Chapter VII of the Finance Bill, 2008 comes into force by way of notification in the Official Gazette by the Central Government.

'Taxable commodities transaction' means a transaction of purchase or sale in a recognised association of –

(i) option in goods; or

(ii) option in commodity derivative; or

(iii) any other commodity derivative.

(ii) This tax would be levied at the rates specified below, on taxable commodities transactions undertaken by the seller or the purchaser, as the case may be, as shown hereunder:-

S. No.	Taxable commodities transaction	Rate	Payable by
1.	Sale of an option in goods or an	0.017% on option	Seller

	option in commodity derivative.	premium.
2.	Sale of an option in goods or an option in commodity derivative, where option is exercised.	0.125% on the settlement price of the option.	Purchaser
3.	Sale of any other commodity derivative	0.017% of the price at which the commodity derivative is sold.	Seller

(iii) New clause (xvi) has been inserted in section 36 to provide that any amount of commodities transaction tax paid by the assessee during the year in respect of taxable commodities transactions entered into in the course of business shall be allowed as deduction subject to the condition that such income from taxable commodities transactions has been included under the head 'profits and gains of business or profession'. This is in line with the tax treatment of securities transaction tax paid.

(xvi) Residuary Expenses [Section 37]

(1) Revenue expenditure incurred for purposes of carrying on the business, profession or vocation - This is a residuary section under which only business expenditure is allowable but not the business losses, e.g., those arising out of embezzlement, theft, destruction of assets, misappropriation by employees etc. (These are allowable under section 29 as losses incidental to the business). The deduction is limited only to the amount actually expended and does not extend to a reserve created against a contingent liability.

(2) Conditions for allowance : The following conditions should be fulfilled in order that a particular item of expenditure may be deductible under this section :

(a) The expenditure should not be of the nature described in sections 30 to 36.

(b) It should have been incurred by the assessee in the accounting year.

(c) It should be in respect of a business carried on by the assessee the profits of which are being computed and assessed.

(d) It must have been incurred after the business was set up.

(e) It should not be in the nature of any personal expenses of the assessee.

(f) It should have been laid out or expended wholly and exclusively for the purposes of such business.

(g) It should not be in the nature of capital expenditure. (The principles to be followed for distinguishing capital expenditure from revenue are discussed below.)

(h) The expenditure should not have been incurred by the assessee for any purpose which is an offence or is prohibited by law.

This section is thus limited in scope. It does not permit an assessee to make all deductions which a prudent trader would make in ascertaining his own profit. It might be observed that the section requires that the expenditure should be wholly and exclusively laid out for purpose of the business but not that it should have been necessarily laid out for such purpose. There fore, expenses wholly and exclusively laid out for the purpose of trade are, subject to the fulfilment of other conditions, allowed under this section even though the outlay is unnecessary.

(3) For determining whether an expenditure is of the nature contemplated by the foregoing provisions of law the following tests should be applied:

(i) 'Character as a trader': The expenditure should be incurred by the assessee in his character as a trader.

(ii) 'Voluntarily expended on grounds of commercial expediency' : A sum of money expended, not out of necessity but with a view to getting a direct and immediate benefit to the trade, but voluntarily and on the grounds of commercial expediency and in order indirectly to facilitate the carrying on of the business may yet be expended wholly and exclusively for purposes of the trade [Atherton v British Insulated and Helsby Ltd. 10 LTC. 115 (H.L.)].

(iii) 'Direct concern and direct purpose' : In order to ascertain whether the expenditure has been incurred wholly and exclusively for the purpose of the business one must look to the direct concern and direct purpose for which the money is laid out and not the remote or indirect result which may possibly motivate or flow from the expenditure.

(iv) 'Purpose of the assessee's own business' : The expenditure should be primarily incurred for the assessee's own business. Notwithstanding this proposition so long as the expenditure is for the whole and exclusive purpose of the assessee's trade the mere fact that the expenditure incidentally obtains some advantage to the assessee in some character other than that of a trader, would not detract the effect of the finding that the expenditure was wholly and exclusively incurred for purpose of the assessee's business.

(v) 'Unremunerative expenditure' : The expenditure need not be incurred solely for the purpose of earning profit in the year of account. For example, the cost of repairs or advertisement or expenses on a foreign tour by the managing directors would be deductible even though the income therefrom would be earned in future years.

(vi) 'Treatment in assessee's accounts' : The way in which an item of expenditure is treated in the assessee's accounts is not a conclusive evidence against or in favour of the assessee.

Payment out of profits and payments ascertained by reference to profits : When a trader makes a payment which is computed in relation to profits the question that arises is : Does the payment represent a mere division of profit with another person or is it an item of expenditure the amount of which is ascertained by reference to the profits? The payment would be allowable in the second case but not in the first.

(4) Distinction between capital and revenue expenditure : The line of demarcation between capital and revenue expenditure is very thin and the ultimate conclusion on the nature of the expenditure is always a mixed question of law and fact. In deciding whether an expenditure is of a revenue or a capital nature, one must take into consideration the nature and ordinary course of the business of the assessee and the object for which the expenditure had been incurred.

Whether a particular item of expenditure is incurred for the purpose of the business or not must be viewed in the larger context of business necessity and expediency. For this purpose, one must look not to the documents but also the surrounding circumstances so as to arrive at a decision as to what exactly is the real nature of the transaction from the commercial point of view.

It is often very difficult to lay down a test of a comprehensive nature which would be of universal application. Different tests have to be applied from the business point of view and then conclusions must be arrived at on the question whether, on a fair consideration of the whole situation as evident from the facts, the expenditure in question incurred in a particular case is of revenue nature or of a capital nature. The following broad principles have been evolved by the decisions of the various courts from time to time. These principles are neither exhaustive nor are they intended to be. They would serve only as guidelines to decide any problem arising in regard to the determination of the capital or revenue of a particular item [Hylam Ltd. v CIT [1913] 87 ITR 310 (A.P.)].

(i) If the expenditure is for the initial outlay or for acquiring or bringing into existence any asset or advantage of an enduring benefit to the business of the assessee or for extension of the business which is already in existence or for substantial replacement of any existing business asset it must be treated as capital expenditure. The Supreme Court has reiterated the above principle in CIT v. Jalan Trading Co. (P) Ltd. [1985] 23 Taxman (SC).

(ii) If, however, the expenditure, although incurred for the purpose of the business that too for acquiring an asset or advantage, is for running the business or for working out that asset with a view to producing profits, it would be a revenue expenditure. The expenditure incurred for the purpose of carrying on the business undertaking would be of a revenue nature. The expenditure which has to be incurred by an assessee in the ordinary course of his business, to enable him to carry on his trading operations is normally to be considered to be of a revenue nature. The expenditure by the assessee cannot be considered to be capital in nature merely because of the fact that the amount involved is large. The quantum of the expenditure cannot go to affect or alter the real nature and character of expenditure.

(iii) In cases where the outgoing of money spent by the assessee is so related to the carrying on or the conduct of the business that it may be regarded as an integral part of the profit-earning process of operations and not for the acquisition of any asset of a permanent character the possession of which is a condition precedent to the running of the business, then such an item of payment would constitute an expenditure of a revenue nature.

(iv) Any special knowledge, technical know-how or patent or trade mark constitutes an asset and if such an asset is acquired on payment for its use and exploitation for a limited period in the business and the acquisition is not of an asset or advantage of an enduring nature and at the end of the stipulated period the asset or advantage reverts back intact to the giver of the special knowledge or the owner of the patent, trade mark or copyright, it would constitute an expenditure of a revenue nature. In this context, it may be noted that a payment made to ward off competition in business to a rival would constitute a capital expenditure if the object of making that payment is to derive an advantage by eliminating competition over some length of time. The same result would not follow if there is no certainty of the duration of the advantage and the same can be put to an end at any point of time. How long the period of contemplated advantage or the benefit should be in order to constitute benefit of an enduring nature would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each individual case. Although enduring benefit need not be of an everlasting character, it should not be so transitory and ephemeral that it may be terminated at any time at the volition of any of the parties to the contract.

(v) In cases of acquisition of a capital asset, it is immaterial whether the price for it is paid by the assessee once and for all in lumpsum or periodically and also whether it is paid out of capital or income or is linked with the total sales or the turnover of the business. In such a case, the expenditure or outgoing would constitute payment of a capital nature although it may indirectly be linked to or is paid out of revenue profit or sales.

(vi) In cases where the amount paid for acquisition of an asset of an enduring nature is settled, by the mere fact that the amount so settled is chalked out into various small amounts or periodical instalments the capital nature of the transaction or expenditure would not in any way be affected nor the fact that the payment is made in instalments or in small amounts would in any way alter the nature of the expenditure from capital to revenue. In other words, the magnitude of the payment and its periodicity would not be deciding factors for determining the capital or revenue nature of any particular payment.

(vii) A lumpsum amount paid for liquidating recurring claims would generally be of a revenue nature; it would not cease to be a revenue expenditure or get converted into capital expenditure merely because its payment is spread over a number of years. In such a case it is the intention and the object for which the assets are acquired that determine the nature of the expenditure incurred over it, and not the mode and the manner in which the payment is made nor is it in any way related to or determined by the source of such payment.

(viii) If the expenditure in question is recurring and is incurred by the assessee during the ordinary course of the business or manufacture, it would normally constitute a revenue expenditure.

(ix) An asset or advantage of an enduring nature resulting in capital expenditure does not mean that such an asset should last forever; if the capital asset is, by its very nature, a short lived one, the expenditure incurred over it does not on that account cease to be a capital expenditure.

(x) It is nowhere stipulated in the law that if a benefit of enduring nature is obtained, the expenditure for securing it must be treated as a capital expenditure. If the advantage or the benefit acquired by the assessee is to get stock-in-trade of a business it would constitute a revenue; but if what is acquired by the assessee is not the advantage of getting his current or trading assets directly but of something which requires to be processed before it is converted into stock-in-trade, the expenditure incurred over it would constitute a capital expenditure.

(xi) Further, an item of disbursement may be regarded as capital expenditure when it is referable to fixed capital or a capital asset; it is a revenue expenditure when it is referable to circulating capital or stock in trade. Expenditure which relates to the framework of the taxpayer's business is a capital expenditure. Expenditure incurred for the termination of trading relationship in order to avoid losses occurring in future though that relationship, whether pecuniary loss or commercial inconvenience, is a revenue expenditure. Expenditure incurred for the initial starting of the business before its setting up for substantial expansion and also expenditure incurred after the discontinuance of the business would be of a capital nature.

The capital or revenue character of a particular item must be decided from the facts and circumstances of each case and must be based upon the principles of law applicable to those facts. The fact that a particular transaction is treated by the parties as capital or revenue in nature or is called a sale, instead of being an agreement to use or let out the particular asset would not convert the capital or revenue character of the transaction. Similarly, the entries made by the parties concerned in their books of account or other documents would not always be indicative or conclusive, as to what the real nature of the transaction is based upon the above principles, the capital or revenue character of a particular expenditure will have to be decided in every case.

Instances of revenue expenditure: Payment made for the use of goodwill, use of quota rights or in the case of a hotel or restaurant business the cost of table linen, crockery, pots is of a revenue expenditure. The cost of dredging carried on by a harbour authority for the purpose of keeping the channels clear for shipping is also of revenue expenditure. Expenditure incurred by a surgeon or businessman on a study tour abroad to acquire knowledge of the latest techniques would be on revenue account.

Circular No.6/2007 dated 11.10.2007 clarifies the issue of allowability of the claim of harvesting and transportation expenses incurred by the Co-operative sugar mills for procuring sugarcane from farmers, who are members of such Co-operative Sugar Mills and who are bound under an agreement to supply the sugarcane exclusively to the concerned sugar Mill.

The issue of allowability of such expenses in the case of Co-operative Sugar Mills has been examined by the CBDT. These expenses are incurred by the Sugar Mills for ensuring an adequate and sustained supply of freshly cut sugarcane that is an essential input for the continuous running of such Mills. These expenses are, therefore, incurred for commercial expediency and are prima facie wholly and exclusively for the purpose of business. Such expenses are, therefore, allowable in the computation of the income of the Co-operative Sugar Mills.

Instances of capital expenditure: Expenditure on improvement to property as distinguished from mere repairs or that which is incurred by a company in raising loans or issuing debentures for capital outlay would be capital expenditure if they are incurred before the business is set up. Legal expenses incurred in connection with the mortgages of the premises belonging to the assessee in which the assessee carries on his business are also capital expenditure.

(5) Advertisements in souvenirs of political parties: Section 37(2B) disallows any deduction on account of advertisement expenses representing contributions made by any person carrying on business or profession in computing the profits and gains of the business or profession. It has specifically been provided that this provision for disallowance would apply notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in section 37(1). In other words, the expenditure representing contribution for political purposes would become disallowable even in those cases where the expenditure is otherwise incurred by the assessee in his character as a trader and the amount is wholly and exclusively incurred for the purpose of the business. Accordingly, a taxpayer would not be entitled to any deduction in respect of expenses incurred by him on advertisement in any souvenir, brochure, tract or the like published by any political party, whether it is registered with the Election Commission of India or not.

(6) Explanation to section 37(1) - This Explanation provides that any expenditure incurred by the assessee for any purpose which is an offence or is prohibited by law shall not be allowed as a deduction or allowance.

3.6 INADMISSIBLE DEDUCTIONS [SECTION 40]

By dividing the assessees into distinct groups, this section places absolute restraint on the deductibility of certain expenses as follows :

(i) Section 40(a) - In the case of any assessee, the following expenses are not deductible:

(1) Any interest (not being interest on loan issued for public subscription before the 1st day of April, 1938), royalty, fees for technical services or other sum chargeable under this Act, which is payable, -

  (a) outside India;

  (b) in India to a non-resident, not being a company or to a foreign company, on which tax is deductible at source under Chapter XVIIB and such tax has not been deducted or, after deduction, has not been paid during the previous year, or in the subsequent year before the expiry of the time prescribed under section 200(1). It is also provided that where in respect of any such sum, where tax has been deducted in any subsequent year, or has been deducted in the previous year but paid in any subsequent year after the expiry of the time prescribed under section 200(1), such sum shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the income of the previous year in which such tax has been paid.

(2) Section 40(a)(ia) provides that interest, commission, brokerage, rent, royalty, fees for technical/professional services payable to a resident or amounts payable (for carrying out any work contract) to a resident contractor/sub-contractor, on which tax is deductible at source, shall be disallowed if –

  (i) such tax has not been deducted; or

  (ii) such tax, after deduction, has not been paid –

    (a) on or before the due date specified in section 139(1), in a case where the tax was deductible and was so deducted during the last month (i.e., March) of the previous year;

    (b) on or before the last day of the previous year, in any other case.

  In case the tax is deducted in any subsequent year or has been deducted

  (a) during the last month (i.e., March) of the previous year but paid after the due date specified in section 139(1); or

  (b) during any other month (i.e., April to February) of the previous year but paid after the end of the previous year, such sum shall be allowed as deduction in computing the income of the previous year in which such tax has been paid.

If, for instance, tax on royalty paid to Mr. A, a resident, has been deducted during the period between April, 2008 to February, 2009, the same has to be paid by 31st March, 2009. If the deduction has been made in March 2009, the same has to be paid by 31st July/30th September 2009, as the case may be. Otherwise, the expenditure would be disallowed in computing the income for A.Y.2009-10.

If such tax deducted between April 2008 and February 2009 is paid after 31st March 2009, the same would be allowed as deduction in the year of payment. If the tax deducted in March 2009 has been paid after 31st July/ 30th September, 2009, the same would be allowed as deduction in the year of payment.

(3) any sum paid on account of fringe benefit tax under Chapter XII-H;

(4) any sum paid on account of tax or cess levied on profits on the basis of or in proportion to the profits and gains of any business or profession;

   (a) Any sum paid outside India (on account of any rate or tax levied) which is eligible for tax relief under section 90 or deduction from the income-tax payable under section 91 is not allowable and is deemed to have never been allowable as a deduction under section 40(a).

   (b) However, the tax payers will continue to be eligible for tax credit in respect of income-tax paid in a foreign country in accordance with the provisions of section 90 or section 91, as the case may be.

   (c) Any sum paid outside India (on account of any rate or tax levied) and eligible for relief under section 90A will not be allowed as a deduction.

(5) any sum paid on account of wealth tax.

For the purpose of this disallowance the expression 'wealth-tax' means the wealth-tax chargeable under Wealth-tax Act, 1957, or any tax of similar nature or character chargeable under any law in any country outside India or any tax chargeable under such law with reference to the value of the assets of, or the capital employed in a business or profession carried on by the assessee, whether or not the debts of business or profession are allowed as a deduction in computing the amount with reference to which such tax is charged, but does not include any tax chargeable with reference to the value of any particular asset of the business or profession.

(6) any sum which is chargeable under the head 'Salaries' if it is payable outside India or to a non-resident and if the tax has not been paid thereon nor deducted therefrom under Chapter XVII-B.

(7) any contribution to a provident fund or the fund established for the benefit of employees of the assessee, unless the assessee has made effective arrangements to make sure that tax shall be deducted at source from any payments made from the fund which are chargeable to tax under the head 'Salaries'.

(8) Tax paid on perquisites on behalf of employees is not deductible- In case of an employee, deriving income in the nature of perquisites (other than monetary payments), the amount of tax on such income paid by his employer is exempt from tax in the hands of that employee. Correspondingly, such payment is not allowed as deduction from the income of the employer. Thus, the payment of tax on perquisites by an employer on behalf of employee will be exempt from tax in the hands of employee but will not be allowable as deduction in the hands of the employer.

(ii) Section 40(b) - In the case of any firm assessable as such the following amounts shall not be deducted in computing the income from business of any firm :

(1) Any salary, bonus, commission, remuneration by whatever name called, to any partner who is not a working partner. (In the following discussion, the term 'remuneration' is applied to denote payments in the nature of salary, bonus, commission);

(2) Any remuneration paid to the working partner or interest to any partner which is not authorised by or which is inconsistent with the terms of the partnership deed;

(3) It is possible that the current partnership deed may authorise payments of remuneration to any working partner or interest to any partner for a period which is prior to the date of the current partnership deed. The approval by the current partnership deed might have been necessitated due to the fact that such payment was not authorised by or was inconsistent with the earlier partnership deed. Such payments of remuneration or interest will also be disallowed. However, it should be noted that the current partnership deed cannot authorise any payment which relates to a period prior to the date of earlier partnership deed.

Next, by virtue of a further restriction contained in sub-clause (iii) of section 40(b), such remuneration paid to the working partners will be allowed as deduction to the firm from the date of such partnership deed and not for any period prior thereto. Consequently, if, for instance, a firm incorporates the clause relating to payment of remuneration to the working partners, by executing an appropriate deed, say, on July 1, but effective from April 1, the firm would get deduction for the remuneration paid to its working partners from July 1 and onwards, but not for the period from April 1 to June 30. In other words, it will not be possible to give retrospective effect to oral agreements entered into vis a vis such remuneration prior to putting the same in a written partnership deed.

(4) Any interest payment authorised by the partnership deed falling after the date of such deed to the extent such interest exceeds 12% simple interest p.a.

(5) Any remuneration paid to a partner, authorised by a partnership deed and falling after the date of the deed in excess of the following limits :

(i) In the case of a firm carrying on a profession referred to or notified under section n 44A :

(a)	On the first Rs.1 lakh of the book profit or in case of a loss	Rs.50,000 or @ 90% of the book profit whichever is more;
(b)	On the next Rs.1 lakh of the book profit	@60%;
(c)	On the balance of the book profit	@40%;

(ii) In the case of any other firm :

(a)	On the first Rs.75,000 of the book profit or in case of a loss	Rs.50,000 or @ 90% of the book profit, whichever is more;
(b)	On the next Rs.75,000 of the book profit	@60%;
(c)	On the balance of the book profit	@40%;

There are four Explanations to section 40(b) :

Explanation 1 provides that where an individual is a partner in a firm in a representative capacity :

(i) interest paid by the firm to such individual otherwise than as partner in a representative capacity shall not be taken into account for the purposes of this clause.

(ii) interest paid by the firm to such individual as partner in a representative capacity and interest paid by the firm to the person so represented shall be taken into account for the purposes of this clause.

Explanation 2 provides that where an individual is a partner in a firm otherwise than in a representative capacity, interest paid to him by the firm shall not be taken into account if he receives the same on behalf of or for the benefit of any other person.

Explanation 3 defines the term “book profit”. It means the net profit as shown in the P & L A/c for the relevant previous year computed in accordance with the provisions for computing income from profits and gains.

The above amount should be increased by the remuneration paid or payable to all the partners of the firm if the same has been deducted while computing the net profit.

Explanation 4 defines a working partner: Accordingly, it means an individual who is actively engaged in conducting the affairs of the business or profession of the firm of which he is a partner.

(iii) Section 40(ba) - Association of persons or body of individuals : Any payment of interest, salary, commission, bonus or remuneration made by an association of persons or body of individuals to its members will also not be allowed as a deduction in computing the income of the association or body.

There are three Explanations to section 40(ba):

Explanation 1 - Where interest is paid by an AOP or BOI to a member who has paid interest to the AOP/BOI, the amount of interest to be disallowed under clause (ba) shall be limited to the net amount of interest paid by AOP/BOI to the partner.

Explanation 2 - Where an individual is a member in an AOP/BOI on behalf of another person, interest paid by AOP/BOI shall not be taken into account for the purposes of clause (ba). But, interest paid to or received from each person in his representative capacity shall be taken into account.

Explanation 3 - Where an individual is a member in his individual capacity, interest paid to him in his representative capacity shall not be taken into account.

3.7 EXPENSES OR PAYMENTS NOT DEDUCTIBLE IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES [SECTION 40A]

(i) Payments to relatives and associates - Sub-section (2) of section 40A provides that where the assessee incurs any expenditure in respect of which a payment has been or is to be made to a relative or to an associate concern so much of the expenditure as is considered to be excessive or unreasonable shall be disallowed by the Assessing Officer. While doing so he shall have due regard to :

(i) the market value of the goods, service of facilities for which the payment is made; or

(ii) the legitimate needs of the business or profession carried on by the assessee; or

(iii) the benefit derived by or accruing to the assessee from such a payment.

The word “relative” as defined in the section 2(41) of the Act, means, in relation to individual, the spouse, brother or sister of any lineal ascendant or descendant of that individual. Whether the assessee is a firm, H.U.F. or an association of persons the relationship will have to be reckoned for the purpose, with reference to the partners of the firm and the members of the family or association. Similarly, where the assessee is a company the relationship will have to be reckoned with reference to the directors or persons having substantial interest in the company. A person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in a business or profession if -

- in a case where the business or profession is carried on by a company, such person is, at any time during the previous year, the beneficial owner of equity shares carrying not less than 20% of the voting power and
- in any other case such person is, at any time during the previous year, beneficially entitled to not less than 20% the profits of such business or profession.

(ii) Cash payments in excess of Rs.20,000 - According to section 40A(3), where the assessee incurs any expenditure, in respect of which payment or aggregate of payments made to a person in a day otherwise than by an account payee cheque drawn on a bank or by an account payee bank draft exceeds Rs.20,000, such expenditure shall not be allowed as a deduction.

For example if, in respect of an expenditure of Rs.60,000 incurred by X Ltd., 4 cash payments of Rs.15,000 are made on a particular day to one Mr.Y – one in the morning at 10 a.m., one at 12 noon, one at 3 p.m. and one at 6 p.m., the entire expenditure of Rs.60,000 would be disallowed under section 40A(3), since the aggregate of cash payments made during a day to Mr.Y exceeds Rs.20,000.

In case of an assessee following mercantile system of accounting, if an expenditure has been allowed as deduction in any previous year on due basis, and payment has been made in a subsequent year otherwise than by account payee cheque or account payee bank draft, then the payment so made shall be deemed to be the income of the subsequent year if such payment or aggregate of payments made to a person in a day exceeds Rs.20,000.

However, no disallowance would be made in such cases and under such circumstances as may be prescribed, having regard to the nature and extent of banking facilities available, considerations of business expediency and other relevant factors.

The provision applies to all categories of expenditure involving payments for goods or services which are deductible in computing the taxable income. It does not apply to loan transactions because advancing of loans or repayments of the principal amount of loan does not constitute an expenditure deductible in computing the taxable income. However, interest payments of amounts exceeding Rs.20,000 at a time are required to be made by account payee cheques or drafts as interest is a deductible expenditure. This requirement does not apply to payment made by commission agents for goods received by them for sale on commission or consignment basis because such a payment is not an expenditure deductible in computing the taxable income of the commission agent. For the same reason, this requirement does not apply to advance payment made by the commission agent to the party concerned against supply of goods. However, where commission agent purchases goods on his own account but not on commission basis, the requirement will apply. The provisions regarding payments by account payee cheque or draft apply equally to payments made for goods purchased on credit.

Rule 6DD of the Income-tax Rules permits certain categories of payments under certain circumstances otherwise than by account payee cheque or account payee draft. Accordingly, the provision of section 40A(3) will not apply in the cases and circumstances which are specified below—

(a) where the payment is made to

- (i) the Reserve Bank of India or any banking company;
- (ii) the State Bank of India or any subsidiary bank;
- (iii) any co-operative bank or land mortgage bank;
- (iv) any primary agricultural credit society or any primary credit society;
- (v) the Life Insurance Corporation of India;

(b) where the payment is made to the Government and, under the rules framed by it, such payment is required to be made in legal tender;

(c) where the payment is made by

- (i) any letter of credit arrangements through a bank;
- (ii) a mail or telegraphic transfer through a bank;
- (iii) a book adjustment from any account in a bank to any other account in that or any other bank;
- (iv) a bill of exchange made payable only to a bank;
- (v) the use of electronic clearing system through a bank account;
- (vi) a credit card;
- (vii) a debit card.

(d) where the payment is made by way of adjustment against the amount of any liability incurred by the payee for any goods supplied or services rendered by the assessee to such payee;

(e) where the payment is made for the purchase of -

(i) agricultural or forest produce; or

(ii) the produce of animal husbandry (including livestock, meat, hides and skins) or dairy or poultry farming; or

(iii) fish or fish products; or

(iv) the products of horticulture or apiculture, to the cultivator, grower or producer of such articles, produce or products;

(f) where the payment is made for the purchase of the products manufactured or processed without the aid of power in a cottage industry, to the producer of such products;

(g) where the payment is made in a village or town, which on the date of such payment is not served by any bank, to any person who ordinarily resides, or is carrying on any business, profession or vocation, in any such village or town;

(h) where any payment is made to an employee of the assessee or the heir of any such employee, on or in connection with the retirement, retrenchment, resignation, discharge or death of such employee, on account of gratuity, retrenchment compensation or similar terminal benefit and the aggregate of such sums payable to the employee or his heir does not exceed fifty thousand rupees;

(i) where the payment is made by an assessee by way of salary to his employee after deducting the income-tax from salary in accordance with the provisions of section 192 of the Act, and when such employee -

(i) is temporarily posted for a continuous period of fifteen days or more in a place other than his normal place of duty or on a ship; and

(ii) does not maintain any account in any bank at such place or ship;

(j) where the payment was required to be made on a day on which the banks were closed either on account of holiday or strike;

(k) where the payment is made by any person to his agent who is required to make payment in cash for goods or services on behalf of such person;

(l) where the payment is made by an authorised dealer or a money changer against purchase of foreign currency or travellers cheques in the normal course of his business.

(iii) Disallowance of provision for gratuity - Section 40A(7) provides that no deduction would be allowable to any taxpayer carrying on any business or profession in respect of any provision (whether called as provision or by any other names) made by him towards the payment of gratuity to his employers on their retirement or on the termination of their employment for any reason. The reason for this disallowance is that, under section 36(1)(v), deduction is allowable in computing the profits and gains of the business or profession in respect of any sum paid by a taxpayer in his capacity as an employer in the form of contributions made by him to an approved gratuity fund created for the exclusive benefit of his employees under an irrevocable trust. Further, section 37(1) provides that any expenditure other than the expenditure of the nature described in sections 30 to 36 laid out or expended, wholly and exclusively for the purpose of the business or profession must be allowed as a deduction in computing the taxable income from business. A reading of these two provisions clearly indicates that the intention of the legislature has always been that the deduction in respect of gratuity be allowable to the employer either in the year in which the gratuity is actually paid or in the year in which contributions to an approved gratuity fund are actually made by employer. This provision, therefore, makes it clear that any amount claimed by the assessee towards provision for gratuity, by whatever name called would be disallowable in the assessment of employer even if the assessee follows the mercantile system of accounting.

However, no disallowance would be made under the provision of sub-section (7) of section 40A in the case where any provision is made by the employer for the purpose of payment of sum by way of contribution to an approved gratuity fund during the previous year or for the purpose of making payment of any gratuity that has become payable during the previous year by virtue of the employee's retirement, death, termination of service etc.

(iv) Contributions by employers to funds, trust etc. [Sections 40A(9) to (11)] - These sub-sections have been introduced to curb the growing practice amongst employers to claim deductions from taxable profits of the business of contributions made apparently to the welfare of employees from which, however, no genuine benefit flows to the employees.

Accordingly, no deduction will be allowed where the assessee pays in his capacity as an employer, any sum towards setting up or formation of or as contribution to any fund, trust, company, association of persons, body of individuals, society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 or other institution for any purpose. However, where such sum is paid in respect of funds covered by sections 36(1)(iv) and 36(1)(v) or any other law, then the deduction will not be denied.

(v) Deduction in respect of Head Office expenses, in the case of non-residents - Section 44C restricts the scope of deduction available to non-resident taxpayers in the matter of allowance of head office expenses in computing their taxable income from the business carried on in India. These restrictions would have the effect of overriding anything to the contrary contained in the provisions for allowance of expenses and other deductions contained in sections 28 to 43A of the Income-tax Act. This provision prescribes the limits upto which the deduction could be allowed in computing profits and gains from any business carried on by the non-resident in India and apply to the expenses in the matter of head office expenses.

For the purpose of those restrictions and the consequent disallowance, the expression 'head office expenditure' must be taken to mean executive and general administration expenses incurred by the assessee outside India including also the expenditure incurred in respect of the following items viz.,

(i) rent, rates, taxes, repairs or insurance in respect of any premises outside India used for the purpose of the business or profession;

(ii) salary, wages, annuity, pension, fees, bonus, commission, gratuity, perquisites or profit in lieu of or in addition to salary, whether paid or allowed to any employee or other persons employed in, or managing the affairs of any office in India;

(iii) travelling expenses incurred in respect of any employee or other person who is employed in or who is looking after the management of the affairs of any office outside India; and

(iv) such other matter connected with executive and general administration of the business as may be prescribed by the Central Board of Direct Taxes from time to time.

The limits prescribed are the following :

(i) an amount equal to 5% of the adjusted total income of the assessee; or

(ii) an amount of so much of the expenditure in the nature of head office expenses (explained above), which are incurred by the assessee, as is attributable to the business or profession of the assessee in India.

The limit upto which the deduction is permissible to the assessee is the lesser of the aforesaid two amounts and consequently, the basis for allowance would be the lower of the above two items. If, however the actual amount on account of head office expenses claimed by the assessee is less than the limits specified above, the deduction admissible would be confined to the amount of actual expenditure incurred by the assessee.

For the purpose of determining the amount of deduction admissible to the assessee, the expression 'adjusted total income' used in item (i) above must be taken to mean the total income of the assessee computed in accordance with the provisions of the Income-tax Act before giving effect to the following items of allowance on deduction viz.,—

(a) depreciation allowance under section 32(2);

(b) capital expenditure on family planning incurred by companies admissible as a deduction under section 36(ix);

(c) any brought-forward business loss qualifying for set off against business income in accordance with the provisions of section 72(1);

(d) any brought-forward loss in regard to any speculation business qualifying for set off against income from speculation under section 73(3);

(e) any loss computed under the head 'capital gains' and brought forward from earlier assessment year qualifying for set-off under section 74(1), and

(f) any loss attributable to the casual item of income assessable under section 56 qualifying for set-off in accordance with the provisions of section 74A(3).

Thus the total income of the assessee computed for the relevant accounting year must be first ascertained before giving effect to the provisions for the aforesaid allowance and 5% thereof would be treated as the limit upto which head office expenses would be admissible as a deduction in computing the business income of the non-resident for income-tax purposes.

However, in cases where the adjusted total income of the assessee, 5% of which is to be taken as the basis for determining the first of the qualifying limits, happens to be a loss, the proviso to section 44C authorises the limit of 5% to be taken with reference to the average adjusted total income. For this purpose the expression 'average adjusted total income' would mean —

(i) in cases where the total income of the assessee is assessable for each of the three assessment years immediately preceding the relevant assessment year - one-third of the aggregate amount of the adjusted total income of the previous years relevant to the aforesaid three assessment years.

(ii) where the total income of the assessee is assessable for only two of the aforesaid three assessment years - one-half of the aggregate amount of the adjusted total income in respect of the two previous years relevant to the aforesaid two assessment years;

(iii) in cases where the total income of the assessee becomes assessable only for one of the three assessment years aforesaid - the amount of adjusted total incomes in respect of the previous year relevant to the assessment year.

The aforesaid provisions of restricting allowances on account of deduction in respect of head office expenditure would apply in the case of all non-resident taxpayers whose income from business or profession is chargeable to income-tax under section 28 of the Income-tax Act. The provisions for disallowance of the excess of the expenditure over the least of the limits mentioned above would apply even if the expenditure is such that it does not attract the provisions for disallowance contained in any other section of the Income-tax Act.

3.8 PROFITS CHARGEABLE TO TAX [SECTION 41]

This section enumerates certain receipts which are deemed to be income under the head "Business or profession." Such receipts would attract charge even if the business from which they arise had ceased to exist prior to the year in which the liability under this section arises. The particulars of such receipts are given below:

(i) Section 41(1) - Suppose an allowance or deduction has been made in any assessment year in respect of loss, expenditure or trading liability incurred by A. Subsequently, if A has obtained, whether in cash or in any manner whatsoever, any amount in respect of such loss or expenditure of some benefit in respect of such trading liability by way of remission or cessation thereof, the amount obtained by A, or the value of benefit accruing to him shall be taxed as income of that previous year. It does not matter whether the business or profession in respect of which the allowance or deduction has been made is in existence in that year or not.

It is possible that after the above allowance in respect of loss, expenditure, or trading liability has been given to A, he could have been succeeded in his business by another person. In such a case, the successor will be liable to be taxed in respect of any such benefit received by him during a subsequent previous year.

Successor in business:

(i) Where there has been an amalgamation of a company with another company, the successor will be the amalgamated company.

(ii) Where a firm carrying on a business or profession is succeeded by another firm the successor will be the other firm.

(iii) In any other case, where one person is succeeded by any other person in that business or profession the other person will be the successor.

(iv) In case of a demerger, the successor will be the resulting company.

Remission or cessation of a trading liability includes remission or cessation of liability by a unilateral act of the assessee by way of writing off such liability in his accounts.

(ii) Balancing charge, etc. - The provisions of section 41(2) relating to balancing charge, of section 41(3) relating to assets acquired for scientific research and of section 41(4) dealing with recovery of bad debts have been dealt with earlier under the respective items.

(iii) Section 41(4A) - The withdrawal from special reserve created and maintained under section 36(1)(viii) will be deemed to be profits and gains of business and charged accordingly in the year of withdrawal. Even if the business is closed, it will be deemed to be in existence for this purpose. This also applies to section 41(5).

Brought forward losses of defunct business - In cases where a receipt is deemed under this section to be profit of a business under this section relating to a business that had ceased to exist and there is an unabsorbed loss, which arose in that business during the previous year in which it had ceased to exist, it would be set off against income that is chargeable under this section. This sub-section thus constitutes an exception to the rule that if a business has ceased to exist, any loss relating to it cannot be carried forward and set off against any income from any source.

3.9 SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR DEDUCTION IN CASE OF BUSINESS FOR PROSPECTING ETC. FOR MINERAL OIL [SECTION 42]

This section has been enacted to permit an assessee to claim an allowance which may on general principles be inadmissible, e.g., allowance in respect of expenditure which would be regarded as an accretion to capital on the ground that it brings into existence an asset of enduring benefit or to constitute initial expenditure incurred on the setting up of a profit-earning machinery in motion. It must further be noted that this concession can be availed of only in relation to contract or arrangements entered into by the Central Government for prospecting for, or the extraction or production of mineral oils.

Allowable expenses : The allowance permissible under this section shall be in relation to (i) the expenditure by way of infructuous or abortive exploration expenses in respect of an area surrendered prior to the beginning of commercial production by the assessee; (ii) after the beginning of commercial production, the expenditure incurred by the assessee, whether before or after such commercial production in respect of drilling or exploration activities in services in respect of physical assets used in that connection (except those assets which qualify for depreciation allowance under section 32); and (iii) to the depletion of mineral oil in the mining area in respect of the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which commercial production is begun and for such succeeding years as may be specified in the agreement.

Amount of deduction: The sum of those allowance should be computed and deduction should be made in the manner specified in the agreement entered into by the Central Government with any person for the association or participation in the business of the Central Government for the prospecting or exploration of mineral oil. It has been specifically provided that the other provisions of the Act are being deemed, for the purpose of this allowance, to have been modified to the extent necessary to give effect to the terms of the agreement. It may be noted that allowances in this regard are made in lieu of or in addition to the other allowances permissible under the Act, depending upon the terms of the agreement.

Subject to the provisions of the agreement entered into by the Central Government, where the business of assessee consisting of the prospecting for or extraction or production of petroleum and natural gas is transferred or any interest therein is transferred, wholly or partly, in accordance with the aforesaid agreement, various situations would arise. The tax treatment in respect of those situations are as follows:

(1) Where the proceeds of the transfer so far as they consist of capital sums are less than the expenditure incurred remaining unallowed, a deduction equal to such expenditure remaining unallowed, as reduced by the proceeds of transfer, shall be allowed in respect of the previous year in which such business or interest is transferred.

(2) Where such proceeds exceed the amount of the expenditure incurred remaining unallowed, so much of the excess as does not exceed the difference between the expenditure incurred in connection with the business or to obtain interest therein and the amount of such expenditure remaining unallowed, shall be chargeable to income-tax as profits and gains of the business in the previous year in which the business or interest therein, whether wholly or partly, had been transferred.

However, in a case where the provisions of this clause do not apply, the deduction to be allowed for expenditure incurred remaining unallowed shall be arrived at by subtracting the proceeds of transfer (so far as they consist of capital sums) from the expenditure remaining unallowed.

Explanation - Where the business or interest in such business is transferred in a previous year in which such business carried on by the assessee is no longer in existence, the provisions of this clause shall apply as if the business is in existence in that previous year.

(3) Where such proceeds are not less than the amount of the expenditure incurred remaining unallowed, no deduction for such expenditure shall be allowed in respect of the previous year in which the business or interest in such business is transferred or in respect of any subsequent year or years.

Special provisions in case of amalgamation/demerger

Where in a scheme of amalgamation, the amalgamating company sells or otherwise transfers the business to the amalgamated company (being an Indian company), the provisions of this sub-section—

(i) shall not apply in the case of the amalgamating company and

(ii) shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated company as they would have applied to the amalgamated company if the latter had not transferred the business or interest in the business.

The section provides for similar provisions in the case of demerger where the resulting company, being an Indian company, shall claim the production under the said section.

3.10 CHANGES IN THE RATE OF EXCHANGE OF CURRENCY [SECTION 43A]

The section provides that where an assessee has acquired any asset from a foreign country for the purpose of his business or profession, and due to a change thereafter in the exchange rate of the two currencies involved, there is an increase or decrease in the liability (expressed in Indian rupees) of the assessee at the time of making the payment, the following values may be changed accordingly with respect to the increase or decrease in such liability:

(i) the actual cost of the asset under section 43(1)

(ii) the amount of capital expenditure incurred on scientific research under section 35(1)(iv)

(iii) the amount of capital expenditure on acquisition of patents or copyrights under section 35A

(iv) the amount of capital expenditure incurred by a company for promoting family planning amongst its employees under section 36(1)(ix)

(v) the cost of acquisition of a non-depreciable capital asset falling under section 48.

The amount arrived at after making the above adjustment shall be taken as the amount of capital expenditure or the cost of acquisition of the capital asset, as the case may be.

The section further clarifies that where any adjustment has already been made under the erstwhile section 43A to the amount of capital expenditure or cost of acquisition of an asset on account of increase or decrease in liability due to exchange rate fluctuation, it should be verified that the amount of such adjustment is equal to the change in the liability at the time of making payment.

In this context

(a) "rate of exchange" means the rate of exchange determined or recognised by the Central Government for the conversion of Indian currency into foreign currency or foreign currency into Indian currency;

(b) "foreign currency" and "Indian currency" have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 2 of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999.

Where the whole or any part of the liability aforesaid is met, not by the assessee, but, directly or indirectly, by any other person or authority, the liability so met shall not be taken into account for the purposes of this section.

Where the assessee has entered into a contract with a authorised dealer as defined in section 2 of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 for providing him with a specified sum in a foreign currency on or after a stipulated future date at the rate of exchange specified in the contract to enable him to meet the whole or any part of the liability aforesaid, the amount, if any, for adjustment under this section shall be computed with reference to the rate of exchange specified therein.

3.11 CERTAIN DEDUCTIONS TO BE ONLY ON ACTUAL PAYMENT [SECTION 43B]

The following sums are allowed as deduction only on the basis of actual payment within the time limits specified in section 43B.

(a) Any sum payable by way of tax, duty, cess or fee, by whatever name called, under any law for the time being in force.

(b) Any sum payable by the assessee as an employer by way of contribution to any provident fund or superannuation fund or gratuity fund or any other fund for the welfare of employees.

(c) Bonus or Commission for services rendered payable to employees.

(d) Any sum payable by the assessee as interest on any loan or borrowing from any public financial institution or a State Financial Corporation or a State Industrial Investment Corporation.

(e) Interest on any loan or advance from a scheduled bank on actual payment basis.

(f) Any sum paid by the assessee as an employer in lieu of earned leave of his employee.

The above sums can be paid by the assessee on or before the due date for furnishing the return of income under section 139(1) in respect of the previous year in which the liability to pay such sum was incurred and the evidence of such payment is furnished by the assessee along with such return.

For the purposes of clause (a), "any sum payable" means a sum for which the assessee incurred liability in the previous year even though such sum might not have been payable within that year under the relevant law. For example, an assessee may collect sales tax from customers during the month of March, 2008. However, in respect of such collections he may have to discharge the liability only within say 10th of April, 2008 under Sales Tax law. The explanation covers this type of liability also. Consequently, if an assessee following accrual method of accounting has created a provision in respect of such a liability the same is not deductible unless remitted within the due date specified in this section.

For this purpose, scheduled bank has the meaning assigned to it in clause (iii) of the Explanation to section 11(5), that is, the State Bank of India (SBI), a subsidiary of SBI, a nationalised bank or any other bank included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934.

"State Industrial Investment Corporation" means a Government company within the meaning of section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956, engaged in providing long-term finance for industrial projects and eligible for deduction under section 36(1)(iii).

Explanation 3B provides that where a deduction in respect of earned leave encashment paid to any employee is allowed in computing the business income of the employer for the previous year in which the liability to pay was incurred (applicable for previous year 2000-2001 or any earlier year), no deduction shall be allowed in respect of such sum in the previous year in which the sum is actually paid.

Explanation 3C & 3D clarifies that if any sum payable by the assessee as interest on any such loan or borrowing or advance referred to in (d) and (e) above, is converted into a loan or borrowing or advance, the interest so converted and not "actually paid" shall not be deemed as actual payment, and hence would not be allowed as deduction. The clarificatory explanations only reiterate the rationale that conversion of interest into a loan or borrowing or advance does not amount to actual payment.

The manner in which the converted interest will be allowed as deduction has been clarified in Circular No.7/2006 dated 17.7.2006. The unpaid interest, whenever actually paid to the bank or financial institution, will be in the nature of revenue expenditure deserving deduction in the computation of income. Therefore, irrespective of the nomenclature, the deduction will be allowed in the previous year in which the converted interest is actually paid.

Illustration 3

Hari, an individual, carried on the business of purchase and sale of agricultural commodities like paddy, wheat, etc. He borrowed loans from Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation and Indian Bank and has not paid interest as detailed hereunder:

(i)	Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation (P.Y. 2007-08 & 2008-09)	15,00,000
(ii)	Indian Bank (P.Y. 2008-09)	30,00,000
		45,00,000

Both Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation and Indian Bank, while restructuring the loan facilities of Hari during the year 2008-09, converted the above interest payable by Hari to them as a loan repayable in 60 equal installments. During the year ended 31.3.2009, Hari paid 5 installments to Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation and 3 installments to Indian Bank.

Hari claimed the entire interest of Rs.45,00,000 as an expenditure while computing the income from business of purchase and sale of agricultural commodities. Discuss whether his claim is valid and if not what is the amount of interest, if any, allowable.

Solution

According to section 43B, any interest payable on the term loans to specified financial institutions and any interest payable on any loans and advances to scheduled banks shall be allowed only in the year of payment of such interest irrespective of the method of accounting followed by the assessee. Where there is default in the payment of interest by the assessee, such unpaid interest may be converted into loan. Such conversion of unpaid interest into loan shall not be construed as payment of interest for the purpose of section 43B. The amount of unpaid interest so converted as loan shall be allowed as deduction only in the year in which the converted loan is actually paid.

In the given case of Hari, the unpaid interest of Rs.15,00,000 due to Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation (APSFC) and of Rs.30,00,000 due to Indian Bank was converted into loan. Such conversion would not amount to payment of interest and would not, therefore, be eligible for deduction in the year of such conversion. Hence, claim of Hari that the entire interest of Rs.45,00,000 is to be allowed as deduction in the year of conversion is not tenable. The deduction shall be allowed only to the extent of repayment made during the financial year. Accordingly, the amount of interest eligible for deduction for the A.Y. 2009-10 shall be calculated as follows:

	Interest outstanding	Number of Installments	Amount per installment	Installments paid	Interest allowable (Rs.)
APSFC	15 lakh	60	25,000	5	1,25,000
Indian Bank	30 lakh	60	50,000	3	1,50,000
Total amount eligible for deduction					2,75,000

3.12 SPECIAL PROVISION FOR COMPUTATION OF COST OF ACQUISITION OF CERTAIN ASSETS [SECTION 43C]

(i) Where an asset acquired under a scheme of amalgamation is sold by an amalgamated company as its stock-in-trade then in computing the profits and gains derived from sale of such stock-in-trade the cost of acquisition of stock-in-trade to the amalgamated company shall be the cost of acquisition of such stock-in-trade or the asset to the amalgamating company as increased by the cost if any of any improvement thereto and the expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with such a transfer.

(ii) The provisions of section 43C will thus apply to the following cases of revaluation:

(a) When the stock-in-trade of the amalgamating company is taken over at reduced price by the amalgamated company under the scheme of amalgamation.

(b) Where a capital asset of the amalgamating company is taken over as stock-in-trade by the amalgamated company after revaluation under the scheme of amalgamation.

(iii) The situation referred to at (b) above will in turn cover three situations :

(1) When the capital asset is converted to stock-in-trade by the amalgamating company with revaluation and the revalued asset is taken over by the amalgamated company under the scheme of amalgamation.

(2) Where the capital asset is taken over as stock-in-trade by the amalgamated company at renewed price at the time of amalgamation.

(3) Where the capital asset of the amalgamating company is taken over by the amalgamated company as a capital asset and has been converted into stock-in-trade and revalued.

(iv) In a case referred to above, where the revaluation and conversion of capital asset into stock-in-trade takes place in the hands of the amalgamated company the provisions of section 45(2) will apply. So in such a case the provision of section 43C will not apply. This has been done with a view to ensure that a tax payer does not face double taxation in respect of the same transaction. However when the stock-in-trade referred to in item (i) as well as at (a) and (b) above are sold, the provisions of section 43C will apply.

(v) A similar provision in section 43C has also been made to cover cases where the asset sold as stock-in-trade has been acquired by the assessee either by way of full or partial partition of HUF or under a gift or will or an irrevocable trust and such asset is sold as stock-in-trade.

3.13 SPECIAL PROVISION IN CASE OF INCOME OF PUBLIC FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS [SECTION 43D]

(i) In the case of a public financial institution or a scheduled bank or a State financial corporation or a State industrial investment corporation, the income by way of interest on such categories of bad and doubtful debts, as may be prescribed having regard to the guidelines issued by the Reserve Bank of India in relation to such debts, shall be chargeable to tax in the previous year in which it is credited to the profit and loss account by the said institutions for that year or in the previous year in which it is actually received by them, whichever is earlier. This provision is now applicable to co-operative banks also [Sub-clause (a)].

(ii) In the case of a public company, the income by way of interest in relation to such categories of bad and doubtful debts as may be prescribed having regard to the guidelines issued by the National Housing Bank established under the National Housing Bank Act, 1987 in relation to such debts shall be chargeable to tax in the previous year in which it is credited to the profit and loss account by the said public company for that year or in the previous in which it is actually received by it, whichever is earlier. [Sub-clause (b)].

3.14 INSURANCE BUSINESS [SECTION 44]

This Section exempts an insurance business of any kind from the operation of the Section dealing with specified heads of income as well as those of section 199 which deals, with credits for tax deducted at source, to the extent to which the provisions of this section are inconsistent with the Rules contained in the First Schedule to the Act, and provides that the profits and gains of such a business, from all sources, are to be computed notionally in accordance with these rules. The principle is applicable even to mutual associations and co-operative societies carrying on insurance business. For further details please refer to the First Schedule to the Income-tax Act.

3.15 SPECIAL PROVISIONS IN THE CASE OF CERTAIN ASSOCIATIONS [SECTION 44A]

This is a provision calculated to encourage the development activities carried on by the trade, professional and other associations other than those whose incomes are already exempted under section 10(23A). This section provides that where the expenditure incurred by an association solely for purposes of protection or advancement of the common interest of its members exceeds the amount collected by the association from the members whether by way of subscription or otherwise, the resulting deficiency shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the income of the association assessable under the head "profits and gains of business or profession"; if there is no such income, then, it will be allowed as a deduction in computing the income under any other head. But only an amount upto 50% of total taxable income of the association can be set off against the deficiency aforementioned. In computing the taxable income of the association, effect must first be given to the allowances or losses brought forward under any other section of the Act. This section applies only to such associations which do not distribute their income amongst their members except in the form of grants to affiliated associations.

3.16 COMPULSORY MAINTENANCE OF ACCOUNTS [SECTION 44AA]

This section provides that every person carrying on the legal, medical, engineering or architectural profession or accountancy or technical consultancy or interior decoration or any other profession as has been notified by the Central Board of Direct Taxes in the Official Gazette must statutorily maintain such books of accounts and other documents as may enable the Assessing Officer to compute his total income in accordance with the provisions of the Income-tax Act. The persons carrying on these professions are statutorily obliged to maintain the prescribed books of account and other documents regardless of the quantum of their income and also regardless of the question whether the profession was set up prior to or after the coming into force of this new provision.

The professions notified so far are as follows :

The profession of authorised representative; the profession of film artiste (actor, camera man, director, music director, art director, editor, singer, lyricist, story writer, screen play writer, dialogue writer and dress designer); the profession of Company Secretary; and information technology professionals.

Every taxpayer carrying on any business or profession (other than the professions specified above) must maintain the books of account prescribed by the Central Board of Direct Taxes in the following circumstances:

(a) in cases where the income from the business or profession exceeds Rs.1,20,000 or the total sales turnover or gross receipts, as the case may be, in the business or profession exceed Rs.10,00,000 in any one of three years immediately preceding the accounting year; or

(b) in cases where the business or profession is newly set up in any previous year, if his income from business or profession is likely to exceed Rs.1,20,000 or his total sales turnover or gross receipts, as the case may be, in the business or profession are likely to exceed Rs.10,00,000 during the previous year ;

(c) in cases where profits and gains from the business are calculated on a presumptive basis under section 44AD or 44AE or 44AF or 44BB or 44BBB and the assessee has claimed that his income is lower than the profits or gains so deemed to be the profits and gains of his business. In such cases, compulsory tax audit would also become necessary.

The Central Board of Direct Taxes has been authorised, having due regard to the nature of the business or profession carried on by any class of persons, to prescribe by rules the books of account and other documents including inventories, wherever necessary, to be kept and maintained by the taxpayer, the particulars to be contained therein and the form and manner in which and the place at which they must be kept and maintained. Further, the Central Board of Direct Taxes has also been empowered to prescribe, by rules, the period for which the books of account and other documents are required to be kept and maintained by the taxpayer.

Rule 6F of the Income-tax Rules contains the details relating to the books of account and other documents to be maintained by certain professionals under section 44A.

As per Rule 6F, every person carrying on legal, medical, engineering, or architectural profession or the profession of accountancy or technical consultancy or interior decoration or authorised representative or film artist shall keep and maintain the books of account and other documents specified in sub-rule (2) in the following cases :

– if his gross receipts exceed Rs.1,50,000 in any one of the 3 years immediately preceding the previous year ; or – if, where the profession has been newly set up in the previous year, his gross receipts are likely to exceed Rs.1,50,000 in that year.

Note : Students may note that professionals whose gross receipts are less than the specified limits given above are also required to maintain books of account but these have not been specified in the Rule. In other words, they are required to maintain such books of account and other documents as may enable the Assessing Officer to compute the total income in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Sub-rule (2) of Rule 6F

The following books of account and other documents are required to be maintained.

(i) a cash book;

(ii) a journal, if accounts are maintained on mercantile basis ;

(iii) a ledger;

(iv) Carbon copies of bills and receipts issued by the person whether machine numbered or otherwise serially numbered, in relation to sums exceeding Rs.25;

(v) Original bills and receipts issued to the person in respect of expenditure incurred by the person, or where such bills and receipts are not issued, payment vouchers prepared and signed by the person, provided the amount does not exceed Rs.50. Where the cash book contains adequate particulars, the preparation and signing of payment vouchers is not required.

In case of a person carrying on medical profession, he will be required to maintain the following in addition to the list given above :

(i) a daily case register in Form 3C.

(ii) an inventory under broad heads of the stock of drugs, medicines and other consumable accessories as on the first and last day of the previous year used for his profession.

The above books of account and documents shall be kept and maintained for a minimum of 8 years from the end of the relevant assessment year. However, in case of cash book and ledger, the period will be 16 years.

The books and documents shall be kept and maintained at the place where the person is carrying on the profession, or where there is more than one place, at the principal place of his profession. However, if he maintains separate set of books for each place of his profession, such books and documents may be kept and maintained at the respective places.

3.17 AUDIT OF ACCOUNTS OF CERTAIN PERSONS CARRYING ON BUSINESS OR PROFESSION [SECTION 44AB]

(i) It is obligatory in the following cases for a person carrying on business or profession to get his accounts audited before the "specified date" by a Chartered Accountant:

(1) if the total sales, turnover or gross receipts in business exceeds Rs.40 lakh in any previous year; or

(2) if the gross receipts in profession exceeds Rs.10 lakh in any previous year; or

(3) where the assessee is covered under section 44AD, 44AE, 44AF, 44BB or 44BBB and claims that the profits and gains from business are lower than the profits and gains computed on a presumptive basis. In such cases, the normal monetary limits for tax audit in respect of business would not apply.

(ii) The person mentioned above would have to furnish by the specified date a report of the audit in the prescribed forms. For this purpose, the Board has prescribed under Rule 6G, Forms 3CA/3CB/3CD containing forms of audit report and particulars to be furnished therewith.

(iii) In cases where the accounts of a person are required to be audited by or under any other law before the specified date, it will be sufficient if the person gets his accounts audited under such other law before the specified date and also furnish by the said date the report of audit in the prescribed form in addition to the report of audit required under such other law. Thus, for example, the provision regarding compulsory audit does not imply a second or separate audit of accounts of companies whose accounts are already required to be audited under the Companies Act. The provision only requires that companies should get their accounts audited under the Companies Act before the specified date and in addition to the report required to be given by the auditor under the Companies Act, furnish a report for tax purposes in the form to be prescribed in this behalf by the Central Board of Direct Taxes.

(iv) However, the requirement of audit under section 44AB does not apply to a person who derives income of the nature referred to in sections 44B and 44BBA.

(v) The expression "specified date" in relation to the accounts of the previous year or years relevant to any assessment year means the 30th September of the assessment year.

(vi) It may be noted that under section 271B, penal action can be taken for not getting the accounts audited and for not filing the audit report by the specified date. In cases where the audit report has been filed before furnishing of the return, non furnishing of a copy of the audit report or proof of its filing by the specified date along with the return of income will however be only a defect under section 139(9) which can be rectified.

Note - The Institute has brought out a Guidance Note dealing with the various aspects of tax audit under section 44AB. Students are advised to read the same carefully.

3.18 SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR COMPUTING PROFITS AND GAINS OF CIVIL CONSTRUCTION ETC. [SECTION 44AD]

(i) This section provides for estimating income of an assessee who is engaged in the business of civil construction or supply or labour for civil construction ;

(ii) The income will be estimated at a sum equal to 8% of the gross receipts paid or payable to the assessee in the previous year on account of such business. However, if the assessee declares a higher amount in his return of income, that will be his income ;

(iii) This claim will apply only to such assessees engaged in the business of civil construction etc. whose gross receipts do not exceed Rs.40 lakh;

(iv) The assessee will be deemed to have been allowed deductions under sections 30 to 38. Accordingly, the written down value of any asset utilised for the purpose of the business of the assessee will be deemed to have been calculated as if the assessee had claimed and had actually been allowed the deduction in respect of depreciation for each of the relevant assessment years.

The assessee joining this scheme will not be required to maintain the books of account under section 44AA and section 44AB.

(v) An assessee may claim lower profits and gains than the deemed profits and gains specified in sub-sections (1) and (2) of the section subject to the condition that the books of account and other documents are kept and maintained as required under sub-section (2) of section 44AA and the assessee gets his accounts audited and furnishes a report of such audit as required under section 44AB.

(iii) The estimated income from each truck in case of a heavy goods vehicle will be deemed to be Rs.3,500 for every month or part of a month during which the truck is owned by the assessee for the previous year. The assessee can also declare a higher amount in his return of income. In such case, the latter will be considered to be his income;

(iv) In case of a truck, other than a heavy goods vehicle, the estimated income will be deemed to be Rs.3,150 for every month or part of the month during which such truck is owned by the assessee in the previous year. However, he may also declare a higher income and in such a case, the higher amount will be considered to be his income;

(v) The assessee will be deemed to have been allowed the deductions under sections 30 to 38. Accordingly, the written down value of any asset used for the purpose of the business of the assessee will be deemed to have been calculated as if the assessee had claimed and had actually been allowed the deduction in respect of depreciation for each of the relevant assessment years.

(vi) The assessee joining the scheme will not be required to maintain books of account under section 44AA and get the accounts audited under section 44AB in respect of such income.

An assessee may claim lower profits and gains than the deemed profits and gains specified in sub-section (1) of that section subject to the condition that the books of account and other documents are kept and maintained as required under sub-section (2) of section 44AA and the assessee gets his accounts audited and furnishes a report of such audit as required under section 44AB.

Illustration 4

An assessee owns a light commercial vehicle for 9 months 15 days, a medium goods vehicle for 9 months and a medium goods vehicle for 12 months during the previous year. Compute his income applying the provisions of section 44AE

Solution

His profits and gains from the 3 trucks shall be deemed to be Rs.3,150 × 10 + Rs.3,150 × 9 + Rs.3,150 × 12 = Rs.97,650.

Illustration 5

An assessee owns a heavy goods vehicle for 9 months and 7 days, medium goods vehicle for 9 months and light commercial vehicle for 12 months during the previous year. Compute his income applying the provisions of section 44AE

Solution

His profits and gains from the 3 trucks shall be deemed to be Rs.3,500 × 10 + Rs.3,150 × 9 + Rs.3,150 × 12 = Rs.1,01,150.

3.20 SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR COMPUTING PROFITS AND GAINS OF RETAIL TRADE BUSINESS [SECTION 44AF]

(i) This provision applies notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in sections 28 to 43C. In the case of an assessee engaged in retail trade in any goods or merchandise 5% of the total turnover in the previous year on account of such business will be deemed to be the profits and gains of such business chargeable to tax under the head "profits and gains of business or profession". However, the assessee can declare a sum higher than the aforesaid sums.

(ii) This section will not apply in respect of an assessee whose turnover exceeds Rs. 40 lakh in a previous year.

(iii) Any deduction allowable under the provisions of sections 30 to 38 shall be deemed to have been already given full effect to and no further deduction under those sections shall be allowed.

(iv) Where the assessee is a firm, the salary and interest paid to its partners shall be deducted from the income computed above subject to the conditions and limits specified in section 40(b).

(v) The written down value of any asset used for the purposes of above business shall be deemed to have been calculated as if the assessee had claimed and had been actually allowed the deduction in respect of the depreciation for each of the relevant assessment years.

(vi) For these types of business sections 44AA and 44AB will not apply and in computing the monetary limits under those sections the total turnover or, as the case may be, the income from the said business shall be excluded.

An assessee may claim lower profits and gains than the deemed profits and gains specified in sub-section (1) of that section subject to the condition that the books of account and other documents are kept and maintained as required under sub-section (2) of section 44AA and the assessee gets his accounts audited and furnishes a report of such audit as required under section 44AB.

3.21 SPECIAL PROVISION FOR COMPUTING THE PROFITS AND GAINS OF SHIPPING BUSINESS IN CASE OF NON-RESIDENTS [SECTION 44B]

(i) This section provides for computation of the profits and gains of the business of shipping carried on by non-residents to the extent they are chargeable to income-tax in India. According to this, a sum equal to 7½% of the aggregate of the following amounts must be deemed to be the profits and gains of the business of shipping chargeable to tax under the head 'profits and gains of business or profession'.

(ii) The amount paid or payable, whether within India or outside, to the assessee or to any person on his behalf on account of the carriage of passengers, livestock, mail or goods shipped at any port in India.

(iii) The amount received or deemed to be received in India by the assessee himself or by any other person on behalf of or on account of the carriage of passengers, livestock, mail or goods shipped at any port outside India.

The total of the above two amounts must be ascertained and 7½% thereof would be calculated and taken as the income from the business chargeable to tax in India. These provisions for computation of the income from the shipping business in case of non-residents would apply notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the provisions of sections 28 to 43A of the Income-tax Act. In other words, the income would be computed on this basis without applying the various provisions contained in sections 28 to 43A. Consequential provisions are also seen in section 172.

For the purposes of sub-section (2), receipts forming the basis of estimates on non resident shipping lines will include demurrage and handling charges. Decisions in CBDT v. Chowgule and Co. Ltd. [1991] 192 ITR 40 (Kar.) and CIT v. Pestonji Bhikajee [1977] 107 ITR 837 (Guj.) nullified.

3.22 PROVISIONS FOR COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME FROM ACTIVITIES CONNECTED WITH EXPLORATION OF MINERAL OILS [SECTION 44BB]

(i) The computation of taxable income of non-resident taxpayer engaged in the business of providing services and facilities in connection with or supplying plant and machinery on hire, used or to be used in the exploration for, and exploitation of mineral oils involves a number of complications.

(ii) As a measure of simplification, section 44BB provides for determination of income of such taxpayer at 10% of the aggregate of certain amounts. The amounts in respect of which the provisions will apply would be the amounts paid or payable to the taxpayer or to any person on his behalf whether in or out of India, on account of the provision of such services or facilities or supplying plant and machinery for the aforesaid purposes. This amount will also include facilities or supply of plant and machinery. This provision will not, however apply to any income to which the provisions of section 42, 44D, 115A or 293A apply. It may be noted that section 44BB applies only to non-resident assessees.

(iii) However, section 44BB has been amended to provide that such taxpayers may claim lower income than the present presumptive rate of 10%, if they keep and maintain books of accounts and documents as required under sub-section (2) of section 44AA and get their accounts audited under the provisions of section 44AB of the Act. The assessment in all such cases shall be done by the Assessing Officer under section 143(3) of the Act.

3.23 SPECIAL PROVISION FOR COMPUTING PROFITS AND GAINS OF THE BUSINESS OF OPERATION OF AIRCRAFT IN THE CASE OF NON-RESIDENTS [SECTION 44BBA]

Under section 44BBA(1), a sum equal to 5% of the aggregate of the amounts specified in sub-section (2) is deemed to be the profits and gains chargeable to tax under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession". Sub-section (2) specifies the following amounts -

(a) the amount paid or payable, whether in or out of India, to the assessee or to any person on his behalf on account of the carriage of passengers, livestock, mail or goods from any place in India; and

(i) Rs.3 crore in India on account of carriage of passengers from Mumbai.

(ii) Rs.2 crore in India on account of carriage of goods from Mumbai.

(iv) Rs.2 crore in Bangkok on account of carriage of passengers from Mumbai.

The total expenditure incurred by Mr. Tiwari for the purposes of the business during the year ending 31.3.2009 was Rs.1.8 crore.

Compute the income of Mr. Tiwari chargeable to tax in India under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession” for the assessment year 2009-10.

Solution

Keeping in view the provisions of section 44BBA, the income of Mr. Tiwari chargeable to tax in India under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" is worked out hereunder -

	Rs.
Amount received in India on account of carriage of passengers from Mumbai	3,00,00,000
Amount received in India on account of carriage of goods from Mumbai	2,00,00,000
Amount received in India on account of carriage of passengers from Bangkok	1,00,00,000
Amount received in Bangkok on account of carriage of passengers from Mumbai	2,00,00,000
	8,00,00,000

Income from business under section 44BBA at 5% of Rs.8,00,00,000 is Rs.40,00,000, which is the income of Mr.Tiwari chargeable to tax in India under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" for the A.Y.2009-10.

(ii) However, section 44BBB has been amended to provide that such taxpayers may claim lower income than the present presumptive rate of 10%, if they keep and maintain books of accounts and documents as required under sub-section (2) of section 44AA and get their accounts audited under the provisions of section 44AB of the Act. The assessment in all such cases shall be done by the Assessing Officer under section 143(3) of the Act.

3.25 SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR COMPUTING INCOME BY WAY OF ROYALTIES ETC. IN CASE OF NON-RESIDENTS [SECTION 44DA]

The provisions of this section are as follows -

3.26 METHOD OF COMPUTING DEDUCTION IN THE CASE OF BUSINESS REORGANISATION OF CO-OPERATIVE BANKS [SECTION 44DB]

(i) This section provides the manner in which the deduction under the following sections are to be allowed in a case where business reorganisation of a co-operative bank has taken place during the financial year –

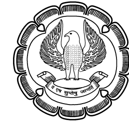
  (1) Section 32 (Depreciation);

  (2) Section 35D (Amortisation of certain preliminary expenses);

  (3) Section 35DD (Amortisation of expenses in case of amalgamation or demerger);

  (4) Section 35DDA (Amortisation of expenditure incurred under voluntary retirement scheme).

(ii) Business reorganisation means the reorganisation of business involving the amalgamation or demerger of a co-operative bank.



(iii) Co-operative bank shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (cci) of section 5 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 i.e., a primary co-operative bank or Central Co-operative bank or a State co-operative bank.

(iv) Predecessor co-operative bank means the amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, as the case may be.

(v) Successor co-operative bank means the amalgamated co-operative bank or the resulting bank, as the case may be.

(vi) The amount of deduction allowable to the predecessor co-operative bank under the above-mentioned sections has to be determined in accordance with the following formula-

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

A = the amount of deduction allowable to the predecessor co-operative bank if the business reorganisation had not taken place;

B = the number of days comprised in the period beginning with the 1st day of the financial year and ending on the day immediately preceding the date of business reorganisation; and

C = the total number of days in the financial year in which the business reorganisation has taken place.

(vii) The amount of deduction allowable to the successor co-operative bank under the above-mentioned sections has to be determined in accordance with the formula -

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

A = the amount of deduction allowable to the predecessor co-operative bank if the business reorganisation had not taken place;

B = the number of days comprised in the period beginning with the date of business reorganisation and ending on the last day of the financial year; and

C = the total number of days in the financial year in which the business reorganisation has taken place.

For example, let us take a case where the deduction allowable under section 32 to the predecessor co-operative bank is, say, Rs.1,20,000 and the business re-organisation took place on 1.11.08. Then, the deduction allowable to the predecessor co-operative bank under section 32 would be Rs.70,356 i.e. Rs.1,20,000 x 214 / 365. The deduction allowable to the successor co-operative bank would be Rs.49,644 i.e. Rs.1,20,000 x 151/365.

(viii) In a case where an undertaking of the predecessor co-operative bank entitled to the deduction under sections 35D, 35DD or 35DDA is transferred before the expiry of the period specified therein to a successor co-operative bank on account of business reorganisation, the provisions of section 35D, section 35DD or section 35DDA shall apply to the successor co-operative bank in the financial years subsequent to the year of business reorganisation as they would have applied to the predecessor co-operative bank, as if the business reorganisation had not taken place.

(ix) Amalgamated co-operative bank means -

(1) a co-operative bank with which one or more amalgamating co-operative banks merge; or

(2) a co-operative bank formed as a result of merger of two or more amalgamating co-operative banks.

(x) Amalgamating co-operative bank means -

(1) a co-operative bank which merges with another co-operative bank; or

(2) every co-operative bank merging to form a new co-operative bank.

(xi) Amalgamation means the merger of an amalgamating co-operative bank or banks with an amalgamated co-operative bank, in such a manner that -

(1) all the assets and liabilities of the amalgamating co-operative bank or banks immediately before the merger (other than the assets transferred, by sale or distribution on winding up, to the amalgamated co-operative bank) become the assets and liabilities of the amalgamated co-operative bank;

(2) the members holding 75% or more voting rights in the amalgamating co-operative bank become members of the amalgamated co-operative bank; and

(3) the shareholders holding 75% or more in value of the shares in the amalgamating co-operative bank (other than the shares held by the amalgamated co-operative bank or its nominee or its subsidiary, immediately before the merger) become shareholders of the amalgamated co-operative bank.

(xii) Demerger means the transfer by a demerged co-operative bank of one or more of its undertakings to any resulting co-operative bank, in such manner that -

(1) all the assets and liabilities of the undertaking or undertakings immediately before the transfer become the assets and liabilities of the resulting co-operative bank;

(2) the assets and the liabilities are transferred to the resulting co-operative bank at values (other than change in the value of assets consequent to their revaluation) appearing in its books of account immediately before the transfer;

(3) the resulting co-operative bank issues, in consideration of the transfer, its membership to the members of the demerged co-operative bank on a proportionate basis;

(4) the shareholders holding 75% or more in value of the shares in the demerged co-operative bank (other than shares already held by the resulting bank or its nominee or its subsidiary immediately before the transfer), become shareholders of the resulting co-operative bank, otherwise than as a result of the acquisition of the assets of the demerged co-operative bank or any undertaking thereof by the resulting co-operative bank;

(5) the transfer of the undertaking is on a going concern basis; and

(6) the transfer is in accordance with the conditions specified by the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, having regard to the necessity to ensure that the transfer is for genuine business purposes.

(xiii) Demerged co-operative bank means the co-operative bank whose undertaking is transferred, pursuant to a demerger, to a resulting bank.

(xiv) Resulting co-operative bank means -

(1) one or more co-operative banks to which the undertaking of the demerged co-operative bank is transferred in a demerger; or

(2) any co-operative bank formed as a result of demerger.

Illustration 7

Alpha Co-operative Bank amalgamated with Beta Co-operative Bank on 1.12.2008. The depreciation for the year ended 31.3.2009 calculated as per Income-tax Rules allowable to Alpha Co-operative Bank had the amalgamation had not taken place amounts to Rs.2,40,000. Compute the deduction on account of depreciation allowable in the hands of Alpha Co-operative Bank and Beta Co-operative Bank for A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

(i) The amount of deduction allowable to the amalgamating co-operative bank (i.e. Alpha Co-operative bank, in this case) under section 32 has to be determined in accordance with the following formula -

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

A = the amount of deduction allowable to the predecessor co-operative bank (i.e. Alpha Co-operative bank, in this case) if the business reorganisation had not taken place. In this case, the amount of deduction is Rs.2,40,000.

B = the number of days comprised in the period beginning with the 1st day of the financial year (i.e. 1.4.2008, in this case) and ending on the day immediately preceding the date of business reorganization (i.e. 30.11.2008, in this case); and

C = the total number of days in the financial year in which the business reorganisation has taken place (i.e. 365 days).

(ii) The amount of deduction allowable to the amalgamated co-operative bank (i.e. Beta Co-operative bank, in this case) under section 32 has to be determined in accordance with the formula -

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

A = the amount of deduction allowable to the predecessor co-operative bank (i.e. Alpha Co-operative bank, in this case) if the business reorganisation had not taken place. In this case, the amount of deduction is Rs.2,40,000.

B = the number of days comprised in the period beginning with the date of business reorganisation (i.e. 1.12.2008, in this case) and ending on the last day of the financial year (i.e. 31.3.2009); and

C = the total number of days in the financial year in which the business reorganisation has taken place (i.e. 365 days).

(iii) In this case, the deduction that would have been allowable under section 32 to Alpha co-operative bank had the business reorganization had not taken place is Rs.2,40,000 and the business re-organisation took place on 1.12.08. Therefore, the deduction allowable to Alpha co-operative bank under section 32 would be

Rs.1,60,438 i.e. Rs.2,40,000 x 244/365. The deduction allowable to Beta co-operative bank would be Rs.79,562 i.e. Rs.2,40,000 x 121/365.

3.27 COMPUTATION OF BUSINESS INCOME IN CASES WHERE INCOME IS PARTLY AGRICULTURAL AND PARTLY BUSINESS IN NATURE

(i) Income from the manufacture of rubber [Rule 7A]

(1) Income derived from the sale of centrifuged latex or cenex or latex based crepes or brown crepes or technically specified block rubbers manufactured or processed from field latex or coagulum obtained from rubber plants grown by the seller in India shall be computed as if it were income derived from business, and 35% of such income shall be deemed to be income liable to tax.

4.1 INTRODUCTION

In this unit on capital gains, the discussion begins with the definition of capital asset and transfer and then the various circumstances under which capital gains tax is levied are enumerated. There are certain transactions which are not to be regarded as transfer for the purposes of capital gains. These transactions have also been discussed in this unit. For computing long-term capital gains, knowledge of cost inflation index is necessary. Again, there is a separate method of computation of capital gains in respect of depreciable assets. Also, there are exemptions from capital gains under certain circumstances. All these are discussed in this unit.

Section 45 provides that any profits or gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset effected in the previous year will be chargeable to income-tax under the head 'Capital Gains'. Such capital gains will be deemed to be the income of the previous year in which the transfer took place. In this charging section, two terms are important. One is "capital asset" and the other is "transfer".

4.2 CAPITAL ASSET

(1) DEFINITION

According to section 2(14), a capital asset means property of any kind held by an assessee, whether or not connected with his business or profession, but does not include—

(i) any stock-in-trade, consumable stores or raw materials held for the purpose of the business or profession of the assessee;

(ii) personal effects, that is to say, movable property (including wearing apparel and furniture) held for personal use by the assessee or any member of his family dependent on him, but excludes

(a) jewellery;

(b) archaeological collections;

(c) drawings;

(d) paintings;

(e) sculptures; or

(f) any work of art.

Note - Jewellery includes -

(a) ornaments made of gold, silver, platinum or any other precious metal or any alloy containing one or more of such precious metals, whether or not containing any precious or semi-precious stone, and whether or not worked or sewn into any wearing apparel;

(b) precious or semi-precious stones, whether or not set in any furniture, utensil or other article or worked or sewn into any wearing apparel.

(iii) Rural agricultural land in India i.e. agricultural land in India which is not situated in any specified area.

(iv) 6½% Gold Bonds, 1977, or 7% Gold Bonds, 1980, or National Defence Gold Bonds, 1980, issued by the Central Government;

(v) Special Bearer Bonds, 1991 issued by the Central Government;

(vi) Gold Deposit Bonds issued under the Gold Deposit Scheme, 1999 notified by the Central Government.

(2) Rural Agricultural Lands - We can note from the above definition that only rural agricultural lands in India are excluded from the purview of the term 'capital asset'. Hence urban agricultural lands constitute capital assets. Accordingly, agricultural land situated within the limits of any municipality or cantonment board having a population of 10,000 or more according to the latest census will be considered as capital asset. Further, agricultural land situated in areas lying within a distance of 8 kms from the local limits of such municipality or cantonment board will also be considered as capital asset. The condition here is that such areas must be notified by the Central Government having regard to the extent and scope of their urbanisation and other relevant considerations. Consequently, any capital gain arising from the transfer of the abovementioned agricultural lands will be liable to income-tax.

Explanation regarding gains arising on the transfer of urban agricultural land - The Explanation to section 2(1A) clarifies that capital gains arising from transfer of any agricultural land situated in any non-rural area (as explained above) will not constitute agricultural revenue within the meaning of section 2(1A). In other words, the capital gains arising from the transfer of such urban agricultural lands would not be treated as agricultural income for the purpose of exemption under section 10(1). Hence, such gains would be exigible to tax under section 45.

(3) Other capital assets - It is not possible to enumerate the forms which a capital asset can take. Goodwill, leasehold rights, a partner's right or share in the firm, a manufacturing licence and the right to subscribe for share of a company etc. are all examples of capital asset.

(4) Jewellery - As noted above, jewellery is treated as capital asset and the profits or gains arising from the transfer of jewellery held for personal use are chargeable to tax under the head "capital gains". For this purpose, the expression 'jewellery' includes the following:

(i) Ornaments made of gold, silver, platinum or any other precious metal or any alloy containing one or more of such precious metals, whether or not containing any precious or semi-precious stones and whether or not worked or sewn into any wearing apparel;

(ii) Precious or semi-precious stones, whether or not set in any furniture, utensil or other article or worked or sewn into any wearing apparel.

(5) Zero Coupon Bond – Section 2(48) defines the expression 'Zero Coupon Bond". As per this definition, 'zero coupon bond' means a bond issued by any infrastructure capital company or infrastructure capital fund or a public sector company on or after 1st June, 2005, in respect of which no payment and benefit is received or receivable before maturity or redemption from such issuing entity and which the Central Government may notify in this behalf. Accordingly, the Central Government has specified the following bonds to be issued on or before 31.3.2009 as zero coupon bonds –

(i) 10 year zero coupon bonds of HUDCO, SIDBI, NABARD and IDFC;

(ii) 15 year zero coupon bonds of HUDCO;

(iii) 15 year zero coupon bonds of Power Finance Corporation; and

(iv) 10 year zero coupon bonds of National Housing Bank.

The income on transfer of a ZCB (not being held as stock-in-trade) is to be treated as capital gains. Section 2(47)(iva) provides that maturity or redemption of a ZCB shall be treated as a transfer for the purposes of capital gains tax. ZCBs held for not more than 12 months would be treated as short term capital assets. Where the period of holding of ZCBs is more than 12 months, the resultant long term capital gains arising on maturity or redemption would be treated in the same manner as applicable to capital gains arising from the transfer of other listed securities or units covered by section 112. Thus, where the tax payable in respect of any income arising from transfer of ZCBs exceeds 10% of the amount of capital gains before giving effect to the provisions of the second proviso to section 48 on indexation, then, such excess shall be ignored for the purpose of computing the tax payable.

The terms “infrastructure capital company” and “infrastructure capital fund” have been defined in section 2(26A) and 2(26B), respectively. For details, refer Chapter 1- Basic Concepts.

4.3 SHORT-TERM AND LONG-TERM CAPITAL ASSETS

Section 2(42A) defines short-term capital asset as a capital asset held by an assessee for not more than 36 months immediately preceding the date of its transfer. Therefore, a capital asset held by an assessee for more than 36 months immediately preceding the date of its transfer is a long-term capital asset.

However, in the case of company shares, various securities listed in a recognised Stock Exchange in India, units of the Unit Trust of India and of Mutual Funds specified under section 10(23D) or a Zero Coupon Bond, the said assets will be considered as long-term capital assets if they are held for more than 12 months. Further, in the case of a capital asset being a share or any other security or a right to subscribe to any share or security where such right is renounced in favour of any other person, the period shall be calculated for treating the capital asset as a short-term capital asset from the date of allotment of such share or security or from the date of offer of such right by the company or institution concerned.

Security - This term has the same meaning assigned to it in section 2(b) of Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956.

Determination of period of holding - The following points must be noted in this regard:

(i) In the case of a share held in a company in liquidation, the period subsequent to the date on which the company goes into liquidation should be excluded.

(ii) Section 49(1) specifies some special circumstances under which capital asset becomes the property of an assessee. For example, an assessee may get a capital asset on a distribution of assets on the partition of a HUF or he may get a gift or he may get the property under a will or from succession, inheritance etc. In such cases, the period for which the asset was held by the previous owner should be taken into account.

(iii) In the case of shares held in an amalgamated company in lieu of shares in the amalgamating company, the period will be counted from the date of acquisition of shares in the amalgamating company.

(iv) In the case of a capital asset being a share or any other security or a right to subscribe to any share or security where such right is renounced in favour of any other person, the period shall be calculated from the date of allotment of such share or security or from the date of offer of such right by the company or institution concerned.

(v) In respect of other capital assets, the period for which any capital asset is held by the assessee shall be determined in accordance with any rules made by the CBDT in this behalf.

(vi) In the case of a capital asset, being a financial asset, allotted without any payment and on the basis of holding of any other financial asset the period shall be reckoned from the date of the allotment of such financial asset.

(vii) In the case of a capital asset being shares in an Indian company, which becomes the property of the assessee in consideration of a demerger, the period of holding shall include the period for which the shares were held in the demerged company by the assessee.

(viii) In the case of a capital asset being equity shares, or trading or clearing rights, of a stock exchange acquired by a person pursuant to demutualization or corporatisation of a recognised stock exchange in India as referred to in clause (xiii) of section 47, there shall be included while calculating the period of holding of such assets the period, for which the person was a member of the recognised stock exchange immediately prior to such demutualization or corporatisation.

(ix) In the case of a capital asset, being any specified security or sweat equity shares allotted or transferred, directly or indirectly, by the employer free of cost or at concessional rate to his employees (including former employee or employees), the period shall be reckoned from the date of allotment or transfer of such specified security or sweat equity shares.

Specified security" means the securities as defined in section 2(h) of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 and, where employees' stock option has been granted under any plan or scheme therefor, includes the securities offered under such plan or scheme.

"Sweat equity shares" means equity shares issued by a company to its employees or directors at a discount or for consideration other than cash for providing know-how or making available rights in the nature of intellectual property rights or value additions, by whatever name called.

In respect of capital assets other than those listed above, the period of holding shall be determined subject to any rules which the Board may make in this behalf.

4.4 TRANSFER: WHAT IT MEANS [SECTION 2(47)]

The Act contains an inclusive definition of the term 'transfer'. Accordingly, transfer in relation to a capital asset includes the following types of transactions :—

(i) the sale, exchange or relinquishment of the asset; or

(ii) the extinguishment of any rights therein; or

(iii) the compulsory acquisition thereof under any law; or

(iv) the owner of a capital asset may convert the same into the stock-in-trade of a business carried on by him. Such conversion is treated as transfer; or

(v) the maturity or redemption of a Zero Coupon Bond; or

(vi) Part-performance of the contract : Sometimes, possession of an immovable property is given in consideration of part-performance of a contract. For example, A enters into an agreement for the sale of his house. The purchaser gives the entire sale consideration to A. A hands over complete rights of possession to the purchaser since he has realised the entire sale consideration. Under Income-tax Act, the above transaction is considered as transfer; or

(vii) Lastly, there are certain types of transactions which have the effect of transferring or enabling the enjoyment of an immovable property. For example, a person may become a member of a co-operative society, company or other association of persons which may be building houses/flats. When he pays an agreed amount, the society etc. hands over possession of the house to the person concerned. No conveyance is registered. For the purpose of income-tax, the above transaction is a transfer. Even power of attorney transactions are covered.

4.5 SCOPE AND YEAR OF CHARGEABILITY [SECTION 45]

(i) General Provision [Section 45(1)] - Any profits or gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset effected in the previous year (other than exemptions covered under this chapter) shall be chargeable to Income-tax under this head in the previous year in which the transfer took place.

(ii) Receipts from insurance parties [Section 45(1A)] - Where any person receives any money or other assets under any insurance from an insurer on account of damage to or destruction of any capital asset, as a result of flood, typhoon, hurricane, cyclone, earthquake or other convulsion of nature, riot or civil disturbance, accidental fire or explosion or because of action by an enemy or action taken in combating an enemy

(whether with or without declaration of war), then, any profits or gains arising from receipt of such money or other assets shall be chargeable to income-tax under the head "Capital gains" and shall be deemed to be the income of the such person for the previous year in which money or other asset was received.

For the purposes of section 48, the value of any money or the fair market value of other assets on the date of such receipt shall be deemed to be the full value of the consideration received or accruing as a result of the transfer of such capital assets.

(iii) Conversion or treatment of a capital asset as stock-in-trade [Section 45(2)]

A person who is the owner of a capital asset may convert the same or treat it as stock-in-trade of the business carried on by him. As noted above, the above transaction is a transfer. As per section 45(2), the profits or gains arising from the above conversion or treatment will be chargeable to income-tax as his income of the previous year in which such stock-in-trade is sold or otherwise transferred by him. In order to compute the capital gains, the fair market value of the asset on the date of such conversion or treatment shall be deemed to be the full value of the consideration received as a result of the transfer of the capital asset.

Illustration 1

A is the owner of a car. On 1-4-2008, he starts a business of purchase and sale of motor cars. He treats the above car as part of the stock-in-trade of his new business. He sells the same on 31-3-2009 and gets a profit of Rs.1 lakh. Discuss the tax implication.

Solution

Since car is a personal asset, conversion or treatment of the same as the stock-in-trade of his business will not be trapped by the provisions of section 45(2). Hence A is not liable to capital gains tax.

Illustration 2

X converts his capital asset (acquired on June 10, 1988 for Rs.60,000) into stock-in-trade in March 10, 2008. The fair market value on the date of the above conversion was Rs.2,20,000. He subsequently sells the stock-in-trade so converted for Rs.2,50,000 on June 10, 2008. Discuss the tax implication.

Solution

Since the capital asset is converted into stock-in-trade during the previous year relevant to the A.Y. 2008-09, it will be a transfer under section 2(47) during the P.Y.2007-08.

However, the profits or gains arising from the above conversion will be chargeable to tax during the A.Y. 2009-10, since the stock-in-trade has been sold only on June 10, 2008. For this purpose, the fair market value on the date of such conversion (i.e. 10th March, 2008) will be the full value of consideration.

The capital gains will be computed after deducting the indexed cost of acquisition from the full value of consideration. The cost inflation index for 1988-89 i.e., the year of acquisition is 161 and the index for the year of transfer i.e., 2007-08 is 551. The indexed cost of acquisition is 60,000 × 551/161 = Rs.2,05,342. Hence, Rs.14,658 (i.e. Rs.2,20,000 – Rs.2,05,342) will be treated as long-term capital gains chargeable to tax during the A.Y.2009-10. During the same assessment year, Rs.30,000 (Rs.2,50,000 - Rs.2,20,000) will be chargeable to tax as business profits.

Year of chargeability - Capital gains are chargeable as the income of the previous year in which the sale or transfer takes place. In other words, for determining the year of chargeability, the relevant date of transfer is not the date of the agreement to sell, but the actual date of sale i.e., the date on which the effect of transfer of title to the property as contemplated by the parties has taken place [Alapati Venkatramiah v. CIT [1965] 57 ITR 185 (SC)]. Thus, in the case of any immovable property of the value exceeding Rs. 100, the title to the property cannot pass from the transferor to the transferee until and unless a deed of conveyance is executed and registered. Mere delivery of possession of the immovable property could not itself be treated as equivalent to conveyance of the immovable property. In the case of any movable property, the title to which would pass immediately on delivery of the property in accordance with the agreement to sell, the transfer will be complete on such delivery. However, as already noted, Income-tax Act has recognised certain transactions as transfer in spite of the fact that conveyance deed might not have been executed and registered. Power of Attorney sales as explained above or co-operative society transactions for acquisition of house are examples in this regard.

(iv) Transfer of beneficial interest in securities [Section 45(2A)]

As per section 45(2A), where any person has had at any time during the previous year any beneficial interest in any securities, then, any profits or gains arising from the transfer made by the Depository or participant of such beneficial interest in respect of securities shall be chargeable to tax as the income of the beneficial owner of the previous year in which such transfer took place and shall not be regarded as income of the depository who is deemed to be the registered owner of the securities by virtue of sub-section (1) of section 10 of the Depositories Act, 1996. For the purposes of section 48 and proviso to section 2(42A), the cost of acquisition and the period of holding of securities shall be determined on the basis of the first-in-first-out (FIFO) method.

When the securities are transacted through stock exchanges it is the established procedure that the brokers first enter into contracts for purchase/sale of securities and thereafter, follow it up with delivery of shares, accompanied by transfer deeds duly signed by the registered holders. The seller is entitled to receive the consideration agreed to as on the date of contract. Thus, it is the date of broker's note that should be treated as the date of transfer in case of sale transactions of securities provided such transactions are followed up by delivery of shares and also the transfer deeds. Similarly, in respect of the purchasers of the securities, the holding period shall be reckoned to take place directly between the parties and not through stock exchanges. The date of contract of sale as declared by the parties shall be treated as the date of transfer provided it is followed up by actual delivery of shares and the transfer deeds.

Where securities are acquired in several lots at different points of time, the First-In-First-Out (FIFO) method shall be adopted to reckon the period of the holding of the security, in cases where the dates of purchase and sale could not be correlated through specific numbers of the scrips. In other words, the assets acquired last will be taken to be remaining with the assessee while assets acquired first will be treated as sold. Indexation, wherever applicable, for long-term assets will be regulated on the basis of the holding period determined in this manner - CBDT Circular No. 704, dated 28.4.1995.

“Beneficial owner” means a person whose name is recorded as such with a depository.

“Depository” means a company formed and registered under the Companies Act, 1956 and which has been granted a certificate of registration under sub-section (1A) of section 12 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992.

“Security” means such security as may be specified by SEBI.

(v) Introduction of capital asset as capital contribution [Section 45(3)]

Where a person transfers a capital asset to a firm, AOP or BOI in which he is already a partner/member or is to become a partner/member by way of capital contribution or otherwise, the profits or gains arising from such transfer will be chargeable to tax as income of the previous year in which such transfer takes place. For this purpose, the value of the consideration will be the amount recorded in the books of account of the firm, AOP or BOI as the value of the capital asset.

Illustration 3

A is the owner of a foreign car. He starts a firm in which he and his two sons are partners. As his capital contribution, he transfers the above car to the firm. The car had cost him

Rs.2,00,000. The same is being introduced in the firm at a recorded value of Rs.3,50,000. Discuss.

Solution

Car is not capital asset but is a personal effect. Section 45(3), as explained above, covers only cases of transfer of capital asset as contribution and not personal effects. Hence, the above transaction will not be subject to capital gains tax.

(vi) Distribution of capital assets on a firm's dissolution [Section 45(4)]

The profits or gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset by way of distribution on the dissolution of a firm or AOP or BOI shall be chargeable to tax as the income of the firm etc. of the previous year in which such transfer takes place. For this purpose, the fair market value of the asset on the date of such transfer shall be the consideration.

(vii) Compensation on compulsory acquisition [Section 45(5)]

Sometimes, a building or some other capital asset belonging to a person is taken over by the Central Government by way of compulsory acquisition. In that case, the consideration for the transfer is determined by the Central Government. When the Central Government pays the above compensation, capital gains may arise. Such capital gains are chargeable as income of the previous year in which such compensation is received.

Enhanced Compensation - Many times, persons whose capital assets have been taken over by the Central Government and who get compensation from the government go to the court of law for enhancement of compensation. If the court awards a compensation which is higher than the original compensation, the difference thereof will be chargeable to capital gains in the year in which the same is received from the government. For this purpose, the cost of acquisition and cost of improvement shall be taken to be nil.

Reduction of enhanced compensation - Where capital gain has been charged on the compensation received by the assessee for the compulsory acquisition of any capital asset or enhanced compensation received by the assessee and subsequently such compensation is reduced by any court, tribunal or any authority, the assessed capital gain of that year shall be recomputed by taking into consideration the reduced amount. This re-computation shall be done by way of rectification under section 155.

Death of the transferor - It is possible that the transferor may die before he receives the enhanced compensation. In that case, the enhanced compensation or consideration will be chargeable to tax in the hands of the person who received the same.

(viii) Repurchase of mutual fund units referred to in section 80CCB [Section 45(6)] - The difference between the repurchase price and the amount invested will be chargeable to tax in the previous year in which such repurchase takes place or the plan referred to in section 80CCB is terminated.

4.6 CAPITAL GAINS ON DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS BY COMPANIES IN LIQUIDATION [SECTION 46]

(1) Where the assets of a company are distributed to its shareholders on its liquidation, such distribution shall not be regarded as a transfer by the company for the purposes of section 45 [Section 46(1)]. The above section is restricted in its application to the circumstances mentioned therein i.e., the assets of the company must be distributed in specie to shareholders on the liquidation of the company. If, however, the liquidator sells the assets of the company resulting in a capital gain and distributes the funds so collected, the company will be liable to pay tax on such gains.

(2) Shareholders receive money or other assets from the company on its liquidation. They will be chargeable to income-tax under the head 'capital gains' in respect of the market value of the assets received on the date of distribution, or the moneys so received by them. The portion of the distribution which is attributable to the accumulated profits of the company is to be treated as dividend income of the shareholder under section 2(22)(c). The same will be deducted from the amount received/fair market value for the purpose of determining the consideration for computation of capital gains.

(3) Capital gains tax on subsequent sale by the shareholders - If the shareholder, after receipt of any such asset on liquidation of the company, transfers it within the meaning of section 45 at a price which is in excess of his cost of acquisition determined in the manner aforesaid, such excess becomes taxable in his hands under section 45.

4.7 CAPITAL GAINS ON BUYBACK, ETC. OF SHARES [SECTION 46A]

Any consideration received by a shareholder or a holder of other specified securities from any company on purchase of its own shares or other specified securities held by such shareholder or holder of other specified securities shall be chargeable to tax on the difference between the cost of acquisition and the value of consideration received by the holder of securities or by the shareholder, as the case may be, as capital gains. The computation of capital gains shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section 48.

Such capital gains shall be chargeable in the year in which such shares/securities were purchased by the company. For this purpose, "specified securities" shall have the same meaning as given in Explanation to section 77A of the Companies Act, 1956.

4.8 TRANSACTIONS NOT REGARDED AS TRANSFER [SECTION 47]

Section 47 specifies certain transactions which will not be regarded as transfer for the purpose of capital gains tax:

(1) Any distribution of capital assets on the total or partial partition of a HUF;

(2) Any transfer of a capital asset under a gift or will or an irrevocable trust;

However, this clause shall not include transfer under a gift or an irrevocable trust of a capital asset being shares, debentures or warrants allotted by a company directly or indirectly to its employees under the Employees' Stock Option Plan or Scheme offered to its employees in accordance with the guideliness issued in this behalf by the Central Government.

Illustration 4

M held 2000 shares in a company ABC Ltd. This company amalgamated with another company during the previous year ending 31-3-2009. Under the scheme of amalgamation, M was allotted 1000 shares in the new company. The market value of shares allotted is higher by Rs.50,000 than the value of holding in ABC Ltd. The Assessing Officer proposes to treat the transaction as an exchange and to tax Rs.50,000 as capital gain. Is he justified?

Solution

In the above example, assuming that the amalgamated company is an Indian company, the transaction is squarely covered by the exemption explained above and the proposal of the Assessing Officer to treat the transaction as an exchange is not justified.

(9) Any transfer in a demerger, of a capital asset by the demerged company to the resulting company, if the resulting company is an Indian company.

(11) any transfer in a business reorganisation, of a capital asset by the predecessor co-operative bank to the successor co-operative bank.

(12) any transfer by a shareholder, in a business reorganisation, of a capital asset being a share or shares held by him in the predecessor co-operative bank if the transfer is made in consideration of the allotment to him of any share or shares in the successor co-operative bank.

Illustration 5

In which of the following situations capital gains tax liability does not arise?

(i) Mr. A purchased gold in 1970 for Rs.25,000. In 2008-09, he gifted it to his son at the time of marriage. Fair market value (FMV) of the gold on the day the gift was made was Rs.1,00,000.

(ii) A house property is purchased by a Hindu undivided family in 1945 for Rs.20,000. It is given to one of the family members in 2008-2009 at the time of partition of the family. FMV on the day of partition was Rs.12,00,000.

(iii) Mr. B purchased 50 convertible debentures for Rs.40,000 in 1995 which are converted in to 500 shares worth Rs.85,000 in November 2008 by the company.

Solution

We know that capital gains arise only when we transfer a capital asset. The liability of capital gains tax in the situations given above is discussed as follows:

(i) As per the provisions of section 47(iii), transfer of a capital asset under a gift is not regarded as transfer for the purpose of capital gains. Therefore, capital gains tax liability does not arise in the given situation.

(ii) As per the provisions of section 47(i), transfer of a capital asset (being in kind) on the total or partial partition of Hindu undivided family is not regarded as transfer for the purpose of capital gains. Therefore, capital gains tax liability does not arise in the given situation.

(iii) As per the provisions of section 47(x), transfer by way of conversion of bonds or debentures, debenture stock or deposit certificates in any form of a company into shares or debentures of that company is not regarded as transfer for the purpose of capital gains. Therefore, capital gains tax liability does not arise in the given situation.

(b) Demerger [Section 2(19AA)] - "Demerger", in relation to companies, means the transfer, pursuant to a scheme of arrangement under sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956, by a demerged company of its one or more undertaking to any resulting company in such a manner that -

(i) all the property of the undertaking, being transferred by the demerged company, immediately before the demerger, becomes the property of the resulting company by virtue of the demerger;

(ii) all the liabilities relatable to the undertaking, being transferred by the demerged company, immediately before the demerger, become the liabilities of the resulting company by virtue of the demerger;

(iii) the property and the liabilities of the undertaking or undertakings being transferred by the demerged company are transferred at values appearing in its books of account immediately before the demerger;

(iv) the resulting company issues, in consideration of the demerger, its shares to the shareholders of the demerged company on a proportionate basis;

(v) the shareholders holding not less than three-fourths in value of the shares in the demerged company (other than shares already held therein immediately before the demerger, or by a nominee for, the resulting company or, its subsidiary) become shareholders of the resulting company or companies by virtue of the demerger, otherwise than as a result of the acquisition of the property or assets of the demerged company or any undertaking thereof by the resulting company;

(vi) the transfer of the undertaking is on a going concern basis;

(vii) the demerger is in accordance with the conditions, if any, notified under sub-section (5) of section 72A by the Central Government in this behalf.

Explanation 1 - For the purposes of this clause, "undertaking" shall include any part of an undertaking, or a unit or division of an undertaking or a business activity taken as a whole, but does not include individual assets or liabilities or any combination thereof not constituting a business activity.

Explanation 2 - For the purposes of this clause, the liabilities referred to in sub-section (ii), shall include-

(a) the liabilities which arise out of the activities or operations of the undertaking;

(b) the specific loans or borrowings (including debentures) raised, incurred and utilised solely for the activities or operations of the undertaking; and

(c) in cases, other than those referred to in clause (a) or clause (b), so much of the amounts of general or multipurpose borrowings, if any, of the demerged company as stand in the same proportion which the value of the assets transferred in a demerger bears to the total value of the assets of such demerged company immediately before the demerger.

Explanation 3 - For determining the value of the property referred to in sub-clause (iii), any change in the value of assets consequent to their revaluation shall be ignored.

Explanation 4 - For the purposes of this clause, the splitting up or the reconstruction of any authority or a body constituted or established under a Central, State or Provincial Act, or a local authority or a public sector company, into separate authorities or bodies or local authorities or companies, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be a demerger if such split up or reconstruction fulfils such conditions as may be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette.

"Demerged company" means the company whose undertaking is transferred, pursuant to a demerger, to a resulting company.

4.10 WITHDRAWAL OF EXEMPTION IN CERTAIN CASES

Section 47A provides for withdrawal of the benefit of exemption given by section 47 in certain cases.

As noted above, capital gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset by a company to its wholly owned subsidiary company is exempt from tax. Similarly, capital gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset by the subsidiary company to the holding company is also exempt from tax, provided under both circumstances the transferee is an Indian company.

Section 47A provides that the above exemption will be withdrawn in the following cases:

(1) Where at any time before the expiry of eight years from the date of transfer of a capital asset referred to above, such capital asset is converted by the transferee company or is treated by it as stock-in-trade of its business;

(2) Where before eight years as noted above, the parent company or its nominee ceases to hold the whole of the share capital of the subsidiary company.

In the above two cases, the amount of capital gains exempt from tax by virtue of the provisions contained in section 47 will be deemed to be the income of the transferor company chargeable under the head 'capital gains' of the year in which such transfer took place.

(3) Capital gains not charged to tax under clause (xi) of section 47 shall be deemed to be the income chargeable under the head "capital gains" of the previous year in which such transfer took place if the shares of the company received in exchange for transfer of membership in a recognised stock exchange are transferred at any time before the expiry of three years of such transfer.

(4) Where any of the conditions laid down in section 47 for succession of a firm or sole proprietary concern by a company are not complied with, the amount of profits or gains arising from the transfer of such capital asset or intangible asset shall be deemed to be the profits and gains chargeable to tax of the successor company for the previous year in which the conditions are not complied with.

4.11 MODE OF COMPUTATION OF CAPITAL GAINS

(i) The income chargeable under the head 'capital gains' shall be computed by deducting the following items from the full value of the consideration received or accruing as a result of the transfer of the capital asset:

(1) Expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with such transfer.

(2) The indexed cost of acquisition and indexed cost of any improvement thereto.

(ii) However, no deduction shall be allowed in computing the income chargeable under the head "Capital Gains" in respect of any amount paid on account of securities transaction tax under Chapter VII of the Finance (No.2) Act, 2004.

Under section 48, the cost of acquisition will be increased by applying the cost inflation index (CII). Once the cost inflation index is applied to the cost of acquisition, it becomes indexed cost of acquisition. This means an amount which bears to the cost of acquisition, the same proportion as CII for the year in which the asset is transferred bears to the CII for the first year in which the asset was held by the assessee or for the year beginning on the 1st day of April, 1981 whichever is later. Similarly, indexed cost of any improvement means an amount which bears to the cost of improvement, the same proportion as CII for the year in which the asset is transferred bears to the CII for the year in which the improvement to the asset took place. CII for any year means such index as the Central Government may, having regard to 75% of the average rise in the consumer price index for urban non-manual employees for the immediately preceding previous year to that year by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf.

Note - The benefit of indexation will not apply to the long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of bonds or debentures other than capital indexed bonds issued by the Government.

In case of depreciable assets (discussed later), there will be no indexation or the capital gains will always be short-term capital gains.

(iii) Cost Inflation Index

The cost inflation indices for the financial years so far have been notified as under:

Financial Year	Cost Inflation Index	Financial Year	Cost Inflation Index
1981-82	100	1995-96	281
1982-83	109	1996-97	305
1983-84	116	1997-98	331
1984-85	125	1998-99	351

1985-86	133	1999-00	389
1986-87	140	2000-01	406
1987-88	150	2001-02	426
1988-89	161	2002-03	447
1989-90	172	2003-04	463
1990-91	182	2004-05	480
1991-92	199	2005-06	497
1992-93	223	2006-07	519
1993-94	244	2007-08	551
1994-95	259	2008-09	582

As noted above, for the financial year 1981-82, CII is 100 and the CII for each subsequent year would be determined in such a way that 75% of the rise in consumer price index for urban non-manual employees would be reflected in the rise in CII. It would be seen that the date of transfer of an asset would be immaterial as long as it is within a particular financial year. That means, transfer of assets in any part of the year would be subject to indexation using the same CII as applicable to an asset transferred on 1st day of April of the year. The effect is that all the assets transferred during the year will be deemed to be sold on the first day of the year.

(iv) Special provision for non-residents

In order to give protection to non-residents who invest foreign exchange to acquire capital assets, section 48 contains a proviso. Accordingly, in the case of non-residents, capital gains arising from the transfer of shares or debentures of an Indian company is to be computed as follows:

The cost of acquisition, the expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with the transfer and the full value of the consideration are to be converted into the same foreign currency with which such shares were acquired. The resulting capital gains shall be reconverted into Indian currency. The aforesaid manner of computation of capital gains shall be applied for every purchase and sale of shares or debentures in an Indian company. Rule 115A is relevant for this purpose.

4.12 ASCERTAINMENT OF COST IN SPECIFIED CIRCUMSTANCES [SECTION 49]

A person becomes the owner of a capital asset not only by purchase but also by several other methods. Section 49 gives guidelines as to how to compute the cost under different circumstances.

(1) In the following cases, the cost of acquisition of the asset shall be deemed to be cost for which the previous owner of the property acquired it. To this cost, the cost of improvement to the asset incurred by the previous owner or the assessee must be added:

Where the capital asset became the property of the assessee:

(i) on any distribution of assets on the total or partition of a HUF;

(ii) under a gift or will;

(iii) by succession, inheritance or devaluation;

(iv) on any distribution of assets on the liquidation of a company;

(v) under a transfer to revocable or an irrevocable trust;

(vi) under any transfer by a holding company to its 100% subsidiary Indian company or vice versa;

(vii) under any scheme of amalgamation by the amalgamating company to the amalgamated Indian company;

(viii) by transfer of shares held in an Indian company in a scheme of amalgamation by the amalgamating foreign company to the amalgamated foreign company;

(ix) by transfer of capital asset by a banking company to a banking institution in a scheme of amalgamation of the banking company with the banking institution.

(x) under any such transfer of a capital asset in a business reorganization by the predecessor co-operative bank to the successor co-operative bank.

(xi) under any such transfer by a shareholder in a business reorganisation, of a capital asset being a share or shares held by him in the predecessor co-operative bank if the transfer is made in consideration of the allotment to him of any share or shares in the successor co-operative bank.

(xii) by conversion by an individual of his separate property into a HUF property, by the mode referred to in section 64(2).

The cost of acquisition of the asset is the cost for which the previous owner acquired the asset as increased by the cost of any improvement of the assets incurred or borne by the previous owner or the assessee, as the case may be.

(2) Where shares in an amalgamated company which is an Indian company become the property of the assessee in consideration of the transfer of shares held by him in the amalgamating company under a scheme of amalgamation, the cost of acquisition to him of the shares in the amalgamated company shall be taken as the cost of acquisition of the shares in the amalgamating company [Section 49(2)].

This also applies in relation to business reorganization of a co-operative bank as referred to in section 44DB. The cost of acquisition of shares in the amalgamated co-operative bank, which became the property of the assessee by virtue of a transfer as a result of business reorganisation shall be the cost of acquisition to him of the shares in the amalgamating co-operative bank.

(3) It is possible that a person might have become the owner of shares or debentures in a company during the process of conversion of bonds or debentures, debenture stock or deposit certificates. In such a case, the cost of acquisition to the person shall be deemed to be that part of the cost of debentures, debenture stock, bond or deposit certificate in relation to which such asset is acquired by that person [Section 49(2A)].

(4) Where capital gains arise from the transfer of shares, debentures or warrants allotted to any employee the value of which are included as 'perquisites' under section 17(2), the cost of acquisition of such shares, debentures or warrants shall be the same as that arrived at under section 17(2) [Section 49(2AA)].

(5) Where the capital gain arises from the transfer of specified security or sweat equity shares, the cost of acquisition of such security or shares shall be the fair market value which has been taken into account while computing the value of fringe benefits under clause (ba) of sub-section (1) of section 115WC [Section 49(2AB)].

Note - The value of fringe benefits would be the fair market value of the specified security or sweat equity shares on the date on which the option vests with employee as reduced by the amount actually paid by, or recovered from the employee in respect of such security or shares. Fair market value means the value determined in accordance with the method prescribed by the CBDT. This fair market value would be taken as the cost of acquisition of the specified security or sweat equity shares. It may be noted that the amount recovered from the employee is not to be deducted for determining the cost of acquisition.

(6) In the case of a demerger, the cost of acquisition of the shares in the resulting company shall be the amount which bears to the cost of acquisition of shares held by the assessee in the demerged company the same proportion as the net book value of the assets transferred in a demerger bears to the net worth of the demerged company immediately before such demerger [Section 49(2C)].

This also applies in relation to business reorganization of a co-operative bank as referred to in section 44DB. The cost of acquisition of the shares in the resulting co-operative bank shall be the amount which bears to the cost of acquisition of shares held by the assessee in the demerged co-operative bank, the same proportion as the net book value of the assets transferred in a demerger bears to the net worth of the demerged co-operative bank immediately before demerger i.e.,

Cost of acquisition of shares in the resulting co-operative bank = $A \times \frac{B}{C}$

A = Cost of acquisition of shares held in the demerged co-operative bank

B = Net book value of the assets transferred in a demerger

C = Net worth of the demerged co-operative bank i.e. the aggregate of the paid up share capital and general reserves as appearing in the books of account of the demerged company immediately before the demerger.

(7) Further, the cost of acquisition of the original shares held by the shareholder in the demerged company shall be deemed to have been reduced by the amount as so arrived under the sub-section (2C) [Section 49(2D)].

This also applies in relation to business reorganization of a co-operative bank as referred to in section 44DB. The cost of acquisition of the original shares held by the shareholder in the demerged co-operative bank shall be deemed to have been reduced by the amount so arrived at in (6) above.

For the above purpose, "net worth" means the aggregate of the paid up share capital and general reserves as appearing in the books of account of the demerged company immediately before the demerger.

Normally speaking, capital gains must be computed after deducting from the sale price the cost of acquisition to the assessee. The various provisions mentioned above form an exception to this general principle.

4.13 COST OF IMPROVEMENT [SECTION 55]

(1) Goodwill of a business, etc.: In relation to a capital asset being goodwill of a business or a right to manufacture, produce or process any article or thing, or right to carry on any business, the cost of improvement shall be taken to be nil.

(2) Any other capital asset: (i) Where the capital asset became the property of the previous owner or the assessee before 1-4-1981, cost of improvement means all expenditure of a capital nature incurred in making any addition or alteration to the capital asset on or after the said date by the previous owner or the assessee.

(ii) In any other case, cost of improvement means all expenditure of a capital nature incurred in making any additions or alterations to the capital assets by the assessee after it became his property. However, there are cases where the capital asset might become the property of the assessee by any of the modes specified in section 49(1). In that case, cost of improvement means capital expenditure in making any addition or alterations to the capital assets incurred by the previous owner.

However, cost of improvement does not include any expenditure which is deductible in computing the income chargeable under the head "Income from house property", "Profits and gains of business or profession" or "Income from other sources".

In 1996-97, he had incurred expenses of Rs.1,85,000 towards fencing of the plot. Mr. A sells this plot of land for Rs.15,00,000 in 2008-09 after incurring expenses to the extent of Rs.20,000. 4.14 COST OF ACQUISITION [SECTION 55]

(i) Goodwill of a business or a trademark or brand name associated with a business or a right to manufacture, produce or process any article or thing, or right to carry on any business, tenancy rights, stage carriage permits and loom hours - In the case of the above capital assets, if the assessee has purchased them from a previous owner, the cost of acquisition means the amount of the purchase price. For example, if A purchases a stage carriage permit from B for Rs.2 lacs, that will be the cost of acquisition for A.

(ii) Self-generated assets - There are circumstances where it is not possible to visualise cost of acquisition. For example, suppose a doctor starts his profession. With the passage of time, the doctor acquires lot of reputation. He opens a clinic and runs it for 5 years. After 5 years he sells the clinic to another doctor for Rs.10 lacs which includes Rs.2 lacs for his reputation or goodwill. Now a question arises as to how to find out the profit in respect of goodwill. It is obvious that the goodwill is self-generated and hence it is difficult to calculate the cost of its acquisition. However, it is certainly a capital asset. The Supreme Court in CIT v. B.C. Srinivasa Shetty [1981] 128 ITR 294 (SC) held that in order to bring the gains on sale of capital assets to charge under section 45, it is necessary that the provisions dealing with the levy of capital gains tax must be read as a whole. Section 48 deals with the mode of computing the capital gains. Unless the cost of acquisition is correctly ascertainable, it is not possible to apply the provisions of section 48. Self-generated goodwill is such a type of capital asset where it is not possible to visualise cost of acquisition. Once section 48 cannot be applied, the gains thereon cannot be brought to charge.

This decision of the Supreme Court was applicable not only to self-generated goodwill of a business but also to other self-generated assets like tenancy rights, stage carriage permits, loom hours etc. In order to supersede the decision of the Supreme Court cited above, section 55 was amended. Accordingly, in case of self-generated assets namely, goodwill of a business or a trademark or brand name associated with a business or a right to manufacture, produce or process any article or thing, or right to carry on any business, tenancy rights, stage carriage permits, or loom hours, the cost of acquisition will be taken to be nil. However, it is significant to note that the above amendment does not cover self-generated goodwill of a profession. So, in respect of self-generated goodwill of a profession and other self-generated assets not specifically covered by the amended provisions of section 55, the decision of the Supreme Court in B. C. Srinivasa Setty's case will still apply.

(iii) Other assets - In the following cases, cost of acquisition shall not be nil, but will be deemed to be the cost for which the previous owner of the property acquired it:

Where the capital asset became the property of the assessee—

(1) On any distribution of assets on the total or partial partition of a Hindu undivided family.

(2) Under a gift or will.

(3) By succession, inheritance or devolution.

(4) On any distribution of assets on the liquidation of a company.

(5) Under a transfer to a revocable or an irrevocable trust.

(6) Under any such transfer referred to in sections 47(iv), (v), (vi), (via) or (viaa).

(7) Where the assessee is a Hindu undivided family, by the mode referred to in section 64(2).

(iv) Financial assets - Many times persons who own shares or other securities become entitled to subscribe to any additional shares or securities. Further, they are also allotted additional shares or securities without any payment. Such shares or securities are referred to as financial assets in Income-tax Act. Section 55 provides the basis for ascertaining the cost of acquisition of such financial assets.

(1) In relation to the original financial asset on the basis of which the assessee becomes entitled to any additional financial assets, cost of acquisition means the amount actually paid for acquiring the original financial assets.

(2) In relation to any right to renounce the said entitlement to subscribe to the financial asset, when such a right is renounced by the assessee in favour of any person, cost of acquisition shall be taken to be nil in the case of such assessee.

(3) In relation to the financial asset, to which the assessee has subscribed on the basis of the said entitlement, cost of acquisition means the amount actually paid by him for acquiring such asset.

(4) In relation to the financial asset allotted to the assessee without any payment and on the basis of holding of any other financial assets, cost of acquisition shall be taken to be nil in the case of such assessee. In other words, where bonus shares are allotted without any payment on the basis of holding of original shares, the cost of such bonus shares will be nil in the hands of the original shareholder. However, in respect of bonus shares allotted before 1.4.81, although the cost of acquisition of the shares is nil, the assessee may opt for the fair market value as on 1.4.81 as the cost of acquisition of such bonus shares.

(5) In the case of any financial asset purchased by the person in whose favour the right to subscribe to such assets has been renounced, cost of acquisition means the aggregate of the amount of the purchase price paid by him to the person renouncing such right and the amount paid by him to the company or institution for acquiring such financial asset.

(6) In relation to equity shares allotted to a shareholder of a recognised stock exchange in India under a scheme for demutualisation or corporatisation approved by SEBI, the cost of acquisition shall be the cost of acquiring his original membership of the exchange.

(7) The cost of a capital asset, being trading or clearing rights of a recognised stock exchange acquired by a shareholder (who has been allotted equity share or shares under such scheme of demutualisation or corporatisation), shall be deemed to be nil.

(v) Any other capital asset - (1) Where the capital asset become the property of the assessee before 1-4-1981 cost of acquisition means the cost of acquisition of the asset to the assessee or the fair market value of the asset on 1-4-1981 at the option of the assessee.

(2) Where the capital asset became the property of the assessee by any of the modes specified in section 49(1), it is clear that the cost of acquisition to the assessee will be the cost of acquisition to the previous owner. Even in such cases, where the capital asset became the property of the previous owner before 1-4-1981, the assessee has got a right to opt for the fair market value as on 1-4-1981.

(3) Where the capital asset became the property of the assessee on the distribution of the capital assets of a company on its liquidation and the assessee has been assessed to capital gains in respect of that asset under section 46, the cost of acquisition means the fair market value of the asset on the date of distribution.

(4) A share or a stock of a company may become the property of an assessee under the following circumstances :

(a) the consolidation and division of all or any of the share capital of the company into shares of larger amount than its existing shares.

(b) the conversion of any shares of the company into stock,

(c) the re-conversion of any stock of the company into shares,

(d) the sub-division of any of the shares of the company into shares of smaller amount, or

(e) the conversion of one kind of shares of the company into another kind.

In the above circumstances the cost of acquisition to the assessee will mean the cost of acquisition of the asset calculated with reference to the cost of acquisition of the shares or stock from which such asset is derived.

(vi) Where the cost for which the previous owner acquired the property cannot be ascertained, the cost of acquisition to the previous owner means the fair market value on the date on which the capital asset became the property of the previous owner.

ABC Ltd., converts its capital asset acquired for an amount of Rs.50,000 in June, 1991 into stock-in-trade in the month of November, 2005. The fair market value of the asset on the date of conversion is Rs.2,00,000. The stock-in-trade was sold for an amount of Rs.3,50,000 in the month of December, 2008. What will be the tax treatment?

Financial year	Cost Inflation Index
1991-92	199
2005-06	497
2008-09	582

Solution

The capital gains on the sale of the capital asset converted to stock-in-trade is taxable in the given case as the conversion was done after April 1, 1985. It arises in the year of conversion (i.e. P.Y. 2005-06) but will be taxable only in the year in which the stock-in-trade is sold (i.e. P.Y. 2008-09). Profits from business will also be taxable in the year of sale of the stock-in-trade (i.e. P.Y. 2008-09).

Gross Total Income for the A.Y.2009-10 is calculated as under:

Particulars	Rs	Rs
Profits and Gains from Business or Profession
Sale proceeds of the stock-in-trade	3,50,000
Less : Cost of the stock-in-trade (FMV on the date of conversion)	2,00,000	1,50,000

Long Term Capital Gains

Full value of the consideration (FMV on the date of the conversion)	2,00,000
Less : Indexed cost of acquisition (50,000 x 497/199)	1,24,874	75,126
Gross Total Income		2,25,126

Note: For the purpose of indexation, the cost inflation index of the year in which the asset is converted into stock-in-trade should be considered.

Ms.Usha purchases 1,000 equity shares in X Ltd. at a cost of Rs.15 per share (brokerage 1%) in January 1978. She gets 100 bonus shares in August 1980. She again gets 550 bonus shares by virtue of her holding on February 1985. Fair market value of the shares of X Ltd. on April 1, 1981 is Rs.25. In January 2009, she transfers all her shares @ Rs.120 per share (brokerage 2%).

Compute the capital gains taxable in the hands of Ms. Usha for the assessment year 2009-10 assuming:

(a) X Ltd is an unlisted company and securities transaction tax was not applicable at the time of sale.

(b) X ltd is a listed company and the shares are sold in a recognised stock exchange and securities transaction tax was paid at the time of sale.

Less : Indexed cost of acquisition [Rs.25 × 100 × 582/100] [note]	14,550
Long term capital loss (B)	2,790
550 Bonus shares
Sale proceeds (550 × Rs.120)	66,000
Less: Brokerage paid (2% of Rs.66,000)	1,320
Net sale consideration	64,680
Less: Cost of acquisition	NIL
Long term capital gain (C)	64,680
Long term capital gain (A+B+C)	33,990

Note: Cost of acquisition of bonus shares acquired before 1.4.1981 is the FMV as on 1.4.1981 (being the higher of the cost or the FMV as on 1.4.1981).

(b) The long-term capital gains on transfer of equity shares through a recognized stock exchange on which securities transaction tax is paid is exempt from tax under section 10(38). Hence, the taxable capital gain is Nil.

On January 31, 2009, Mr. A has transferred self-generated goodwill of his profession for a sale consideration of Rs.70,000 and incurred expenses of Rs.5,000 for such transfer. You are required to compute the capital gains chargeable to tax in the hands of Mr. A for the assessment year 2009-10.

Solution

The transfer of self-generated goodwill of profession is not chargeable to tax. It is based upon the Supreme Court's ruling in CIT vs. B.C. Srinivasa Setty. Hence, there is no taxable capital gains.

Mr. R holds 1000 shares in Star Minus Ltd., an unlimited company, acquired in the year 1981-82 at a cost of Rs.25,000. He has been offered right shares by the company in the month of August, 2008 at Rs.40 per share, in the ratio of 2 for every 5 held. He retains 50% of the rights and renounces the balance right shares in favour of Mr. Q for Rs.10 per share in September 2008. All the shares are sold of by Mr. R for Rs.150 per share in January 2009 and Mr. Q sells his shares in December 2008 at Rs.130 per share.

What are the capital gains taxable in the hands of Mr.R and Mr.Q?

Financial year	Cost Inflation Index
1981-82	100
2008-09	582

Solution

Computation of capital gains in the hands of Mr. R for the A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Rs
1000 Original shares
Sale proceeds (1000 × Rs.150)	1,50,000
Less : Indexed cost of acquisition [Rs.25,000 × 582/100]	1,45,500
Long term capital gain (A)	4,500
200 Right shares
Sale proceeds (200 × Rs.150)	30,000
Less : Cost of acquisition [Rs.40 × 200] [note 1]	8,000
Short term capital gain (B)	22,000
200 Right shares renounced in favour of Mr. Q
Sale proceeds (200 × Rs.10)	2,000
Less : Cost of acquisition [note 2]	NIL
Short term capital gain (C)	2,000
Capital Gains (A+B+C)	28,500

Note 1: Since the holding period of these shares is less than 1 year, they are short term capital assets and hence cost of acquisition will not be indexed.

Note 2: The cost of the rights renounced in favour of another person for a consideration is taken to be nil. The consideration so received is taxed as short-term capital gains in full. The period of holding is taken from the date of the rights offer to the date of the renouncement.

Computation of capital gains in the hands of Mr. Q for the A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Rs
200 shares :
Sale proceeds (200 × Rs.130)	26,000
Less : Cost of acquisition [200 shares × (Rs.10 + Rs.40)] [note]	10,000
Short term capital gain	16,000

Note: The cost of the rights is the amount paid to Mr. R as well as the amount paid to the company. Since the holding period of these shares is less than 1 year, they are short term capital assets and hence, cost of acquisition should not be indexed.

4.15 COMPUTATION OF CAPITAL GAINS IN CASE OF DEPRECIABLE ASSET [SECTION 50]

(i) Section 50 provides for the computation of capital gains in case of depreciable assets. It may be noted that where the capital asset is a depreciable asset forming part of a block of assets, section 50 will have overriding effect in spite of anything contained in section 2(42A) which defines a short-term capital asset.

Accordingly, where the capital asset is an asset forming part of a block of assets in respect of which depreciation has been allowed, the provisions of sections 48 and 49 shall be subject to the following modification:

Where the full value of consideration received or accruing for the transfer of the asset plus the full value of such consideration for the transfer of any other capital asset falling with the block of assets during previous year exceeds the aggregate of the following amounts namely:

(1) expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with such transfer;

(2) WDV of the block of assets at the beginning of the previous year;

(3) the actual cost of any asset falling within the block of assets acquired during the previous year such excess shall be deemed to be the capital gains arising from the transfer of short-term capital assets.

Where all assets in a block are transferred during the previous year, the block itself will cease to exist. In such a situation, the difference between the sale value of the assets and the WDV of the block of assets at the beginning of the previous year together with the actual cost of any asset falling within that block of assets acquired by the assessee during the previous year will be deemed to be the capital gains arising from the transfer of short-term capital assets.

(ii) Cost of acquisition in case of power sector assets [Section 50A]

With respect to the power sector, in case of depreciable assets referred to in section 32(1)(i), the provisions of sections 48 and 49 shall apply subject to the modification that the WDV of the asset (as defined in section 43(6)), as adjusted, shall be taken to be the cost of acquisition.

4.16 CAPITAL GAINS IN RESPECT OF SLUMP SALES [SECTION 50B]

(i) Any profits or gains arising from the slump sale effected in the previous year shall be chargeable to income-tax as capital gains arising from the transfer of long-term capital assets and shall be deemed to be the income of the previous year in which the transfer took place.

Short term capital gains - Any profits and gains arising from such transfer of one or more undertakings held by the assessee for not more than thirty-six months shall be deemed to be short-term capital gains [Sub-section (1)].

(ii) The net worth of the undertaking or the division, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be the cost of acquisition and the cost of improvement for the purposes of sections 48 and 49 in relation to capital assets of such undertaking or division transferred by way of such sale and the provisions contained in the second proviso to section 48 shall be ignored [Sub-section (2)].

(iii) Every assessee in the case of slump sale shall furnish in the prescribed form along with the return of income, a report of a chartered accountant indicating the computation of net worth of the undertaking or division, as the case may be, and certifying that the net worth of the undertaking or division has been correctly arrived at in accordance with the provisions of this section [Sub-section (3)].

Explanation 1 to the section defines the expression "net worth" as the aggregate value of total assets of the undertaking or division as reduced by the value of liabilities of such undertaking or division as appearing in the books of account. However, any change in the value of assets on account of revaluation of assets shall not be considered for this purpose.

Explanation 2 provides that the aggregate value of total assets of such undertaking or division shall be as follows:

(i) In the case of depreciable assets: the written down value of block of assets determined in accordance with the provisions contained in sub-item (C) of item (i) of section 43(6)(c); and

(ii) the book value for all other assets.

4.17 SPECIAL PROVISION FOR FULL VALUE OF CONSIDERATION IN CERTAIN CASES [SECTION 50C]

(i) Where the consideration received or accruing as a result of transfer of a capital asset, being land or building or both, is less than the value adopted or assessed by any authority of a State Government (Stamp Valuation Authority) for the purpose of payment of stamp duty in respect of such asset, such value adopted or assessed shall be deemed to be the full value of the consideration received or accruing as a result of such transfer. [Sub-section (1)].

(ii) Where the assessee claims before an Assessing Officer that the value so adopted or assessed by the authority for payment of stamp duty exceeds the fair market value of the property as on the date of transfer and the value so adopted or assessed by such authority has not been disputed in any appeal or revision or no reference has been made before any other authority, court or High Court, the Assessing Officer may refer the valuation of the capital asset to a valuation officer as defined in section 2(r) of the Wealth-tax Act, 1957. Where any reference has been made before any other authority, Court or the High Court, the provisions of section 16A (relating to reference to Valuation Officer), section 23A (dealing with appealable orders before Commissioner (Appeals), section 24 (order of Appellate Tribunal), section 34AA (appearance by registered valuer), section 35 (rectification of mistakes) and section 37 (power to take evidence on oath) of the Wealth-tax Act, 1957, shall, with necessary modifications, apply in relation to such reference as they apply in relation to a reference made by the Assessing Officer under sub-section (1) of section 16A of that Act [Sub-section (2)].

(iii) Where the value ascertained by such valuation officer exceeds the value adopted or assessed by the Stamp authority the value adopted or assessed shall be taken as the full value of the consideration received or accruing as a result of the transfer [Sub-section (3)].

4.18 ADVANCE MONEY RECEIVED [SECTION 51]

It is possible for an assessee to receive some advance in regard to the transfer of capital asset. Due to the break-down of the negotiation, the assessee may have retained the advance. Section 51 provides that while calculating capital gains, the above advance retained by the assessee must go to reduce the cost of acquisition. However, if advance has been received and retained by the previous owner and not the assessee himself, then the same will not go to reduce the cost of acquisition of the assessee.

Mr. Kay purchases a house property on April 10, 1978 for Rs.35,000. The fair market value of the house property on April 1, 1981 was Rs.70,000. On August 31, 1984, Mr. Kay enters into an agreement with Mr. Jay for sale of such property for Rs.1,20,000 and received an amount of Rs.10,000 as advance. However, as Mr. Jay did not pay the balance amount, Mr. Kay forfeited the advance. In May 1987, Mr. Kay constructed the first floor by incurring a cost of Rs.50,000. Subsequently, in September 1987, Mr. Kay gifted the house to his friend Mr. Dee. On February 10, 2009, Mr. Dee sold the house for Rs.8,00,000.

1987-1988	150
2008-2009	582

You are required to compute the capital gains taxable in the hands of Mr. Dee for the assessment year 2009-10.

Solution

Computation of taxable capital gains of Mr.Dee for A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Rs.
Sale consideration	8,00,000
Less: Indexed cost of acquisition (note)	2,71,600

Indexed cost of improvement (note)	1,94,000
Long-term capital gain	3,34,400

Note: For the purpose of capital gains, holding period is considered from the date on which the house was purchased by Mr. Kay, till the date of sale. However, indexation of cost of acquisition is considered from the date on which the house was gifted by Mr. Kay to Mr. Dee, till the date of sale. i.e. from September 1987 (P.Y. 1987-88) to February 2009 (P.Y. 2008-09).

Indexed cost of acquisition = $\frac{70{,}000}{150} \times 582$ = Rs.2,71,600

Indexed cost of improvement = $\frac{50{,}000}{150} \times 582$ = Rs.1,94,000

Amount forfeited by previous owner, Mr. Kay, will not be considered.

Mr.X purchases a house property in December 1975 for Rs.1,25,000 and an amount of Rs.75,000 was spent on the improvement and repairs of the property in March, 1981. The property was proposed to be sold to Mr.Z in the month of May, 2003 and an advance of Rs.40,000 was taken from him. As the entire money was not paid in time, Mr.X forfeited the advance and subsequently sold the property to Mr.Y in the month of March, 2009 for Rs.22,00,000. The fair value of the property on April 1, 1981 was Rs.3,90,000. What is the capital gain chargeable in the hands of Mr.X for the A.Y. 2009-10?

Financial year	Cost Inflation Index
1981-82	100

Solution

Capital gains in the hands of Mr. X for the A.Y. 2009-10 is computed as under:

Particulars	Rs
Sale proceeds	22,00,000

Less : Indexed cost of acquisition [Note 1]	20,37,000
Indexed cost of improvement [Note 2]	-
Long term capital gains	1,63,000

Note 1: Computation of indexed cost of acquisition

Cost of acquisition (higher of Fair market value as on April 1, 1981 and the actual cost of acquisition)	3,90,000
Less : Advance taken and forfeited	40,000
Cost for the purposes of indexation	3,50,000
Indexed cost of acquisition (Rs.3,50,000 x 582/100)	20,37,000

Note 2 : Any improvement cost incurred prior to 1.4.1981 is to be ignored when fair market value as on 1.4.1981 is taken into consideration.

Securities Transaction Tax (STT) is levied on purchase or sale of an equity share, unit and derivative, under such circumstances as specified in section 98 of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2004. The transactions in the nature of lending and borrowing under the new scheme do not fall within the scope of section 98 to the Finance (No.2) Act, 2004. (2) Interest on securities

(3) Income from letting out on hire, machinery, plant or furniture.

(4) Where letting out of buildings is inseparable from the letting out of machinery, plant or furniture, the income from such letting.

(iii) Any sum received under a Keyman insurance policy including the sum allocated by way of bonus on such policy is chargeable under the head "Income from other sources" if such income is not chargeable under the head "Profits and gains if business or profession" or under the head "Salaries" i.e. if such sum is received by any person other than the employer who took the policy and the employee in whose name the policy was taken.

(iv) Any income chargeable to tax under the Act, but not falling under any other head of income shall be chargeable to tax under the head "Income from other sources" e.g. Salary received by an MPs/MLAs will not be chargeable to income-tax under the head 'Salary' but will be chargeable as "Income from other sources" under section 56.

5.3 BOND WASHING TRANSACTIONS AND DIVIDEND STRIPPING [SECTION 94]

(i) A bond-washing transaction is a transaction where securities are sold some time before the due date of interest and reacquired after the due date is over. This practice is adopted by persons in the higher income group to avoid tax by transferring the securities to their relatives/friends in the lower income group just before the due date of payment of interest. In such a case, interest would be taxable in the hands of the transferee, who is the legal owner of securities. In order to discourage such practice, section 94(1) provides that where the owner of a security transfers the security just before the due date of interest and buys back the same immediately after the due date and interest is received by the transferee, such interest income will be deemed to be the income of the transferor and would be taxable in his hands.

(ii) In order to prevent the practice of sale of securities-cum-interest, section 94(2) provides that if an assessee who has beneficial interest in securities sells such securities in such a manner that either no income is received or income received is less than the sum he would have received if such interest had accrued from day to day, then income from such securities for the whole year would be deemed to be the income of the assessee.

(iii) Section 94(7) provides that where

(a) any person buys or acquires any securities or unit within a period of three months prior to the record date and

(b) such person sells or transfers –

  (1) such securities within a period of three months after such date, or

  (2) such unit within a period of nine months after such date and

(c) the dividend or income on such securities or unit received or receivable by such person is exempted, then, the loss, if any, arising therefrom shall be ignored for the purposes of computing his income chargeable to tax. Such loss should not exceed the amount of dividend or income received or receivable on such securities or unit.

5.4 APPLICABLE RATE OF TAX IN RESPECT OF CASUAL INCOME [SECTION 115BB]

(i) This section provides that income by way of winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles, races including horse races or card games and other games of any sort or from gambling or betting of any form would be taxed at a flat rate of 30% plus surcharge, if applicable, plus education cess plus secondary and higher education cess.

(ii) No expenditure or allowance can be allowed from such income.

(iii) Deduction under Chapter VI-A is not allowable from such income.

(iv) Adjustment of unexhausted basic exemption limit is also not permitted against such income.

5.5 DEDUCTIONS ALLOWABLE [SECTION 57]

The income chargeable under the head "Income from other sources" shall be computed after making the following deductions:

(i) In the case of dividends (other than dividends referred to in section 115-O) or interest on securities, any reasonable sum paid by way of commission or remuneration to a banker or any other person for the purpose of realising such dividend or interest on behalf of the assessee.

(ii) Where the income consists of recovery from employees as contribution to any provident fund etc. in terms of clause (x) of section 2(24), then, a deduction will be allowed in accordance with the provisions of section 36(1)(va) i.e. to the extent the contribution is remitted before the due date under the respective Acts.

(iii) Where the income to be charged under this head is from letting on hire of machinery, plant and furniture, with or without building, the following items of deductions are allowable in the computation of such income:

(a) the amount paid on account of any current repairs to the machinery, plant or furniture.

(b) the amount of any premium paid in respect of insurance against risk of damage or destruction of the machinery or plant or furniture.

(c) the normal depreciation allowance in respect of the machinery, plant or furniture, due thereon.

(iv) In the case of income in the nature of family pension, a deduction of a sum equal to $33^1/_3$ per cent of such income or Rs.15,000, whichever is less, is allowable. For the purposes of this deduction "family pension" means a regular monthly amount payable by the employer to a person belonging to the family of an employee in the event of his death.

(v) Any other expenditure not being in the nature of capital expenditure laid out or expended wholly and exclusively for the purpose of making or earning such income.

Note - The Supreme Court held in CIT v. Rajindra Prasad Moody [1978] 115 ITR 519, that in order to claim deduction under section 57 in respect of any expenditure, it is not necessary that income should in fact have been earned as a result of the expenditure. In this view of the matter, the Court held that the interest on money borrowed for investment in shares which had not yielded any taxable dividend was admissible as a deduction under section 57 under the head, "Income from other sources".

5.6 DEDUCTIONS NOT ALLOWABLE [SECTION 58]

No deduction shall be made in computing the "Income from other sources" of an assessee in respect of the following items of expenses:

(i) In the case of any assessee:

(1) any personal expense of the assessee;

(2) any interest chargeable to tax under the Act which is payable outside India on which tax has not been paid or deducted at source.

(3) any payment taxable in India as salaries, if it is payable outside India unless tax has been paid thereon or deducted at source.

(ii) In addition to these disallowances, section 58(2) specifically provides that the disallowance of payments to relatives and associate concerns and disallowance of payment or aggregate of payments exceeding Rs.20,000 made to a person during a day otherwise than by account payee cheque or draft covered by section 40A will be applicable to the computation of income under the head 'Income from other sources' as well.

(iii) Income-tax and wealth-tax paid.

(iv) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance in connection with income by way of earnings from lotteries, cross word puzzles, races including horse races, card games and other games of any sort or from gambling or betting of any form or nature whatsoever shall be allowed in computing the said income.

The prohibition will not, however, apply in respect of the income of an assessee, being the owner of race horses, from the activity of owning and maintaining such horses. In respect of the activity of owning and maintaining race horses, expenses incurred shall be allowed even in the absence of any stake money earned. Such loss shall be allowed to be carried forward in accordance with the provisions of section 74A.

5.7 DEEMED INCOME CHARGEABLE TO TAX [SECTION 59]

The provisions of section 41(1) are made applicable, so far as may be, to the computation of income under this head. Accordingly, where a deduction has been made in respect of a loss, expenditure or liability and subsequently any amount is received or benefit is derived in respect of such expenditure incurred or loss or trading liability allowed as deduction, then it shall be deemed as income in the year in which the amount is received or the benefit is accrued.

5.8 METHOD OF ACCOUNTING [SECTION 145]

Income chargeable under the head "Income from other sources" has to be computed in accordance with the cash or mercantile system of accounting regularly employed by the assessee. However, deemed dividend u/s 2(22)(e) is chargeable to tax on payment basis under section 8, irrespective of the method of accounting followed by the assessee.

CHAPTER 5

INCOME OF OTHER PERSONS INCLUDED IN ASSESSEE'S TOTAL INCOME

Learning Objectives

After studying this chapter, you would be able to understand -

- why clubbing provisions have been incorporated in the Act
- when clubbing provisions are attracted
- when income of the spouse is clubbed with the income of the individual
- when income of son's wife is clubbed in the hands of the individual.
- that minor's income has to be clubbed in the hands of the parent
- the nature of income of minor, in respect of which clubbing provisions are not attracted
- when income of HUF is clubbed in the hands of a member of the HUF.

1. CLUBBING OF INCOME – AN INTRODUCTION

Under the Income-tax Act, 1961, an assessee is generally taxed in respect of his own income. However, there are certain cases where as assessee has to pay tax in respect of income of another person. The provisions for the same are contained in sections 60 to 65 of the Act. These provisions have been enacted to counteract the tendency on the part of the tax-payers to dispose of their property or transfer their income in such a way that their tax liability can be avoided or reduced.

For example, in the case of individuals, income-tax is levied on a slab system on the total income. The tax system is progressive i.e. as the income increases, the applicable rate of tax increases. Some taxpayers in the higher income bracket have a tendency to divert some portion of their income to their spouse, minor child etc. to minimize their tax burden. In order to prevent such tax avoidance, clubbing provisions have been incorporated in the Act, under which income arising to certain persons (like spouse, minor child etc.) have to be included in the income of the person who has diverted his income for the purpose of computing tax liability.

2. TRANSFER OF INCOME WITHOUT TRANSFER OF THE ASSET [SECTION 60]

(i) If any person transfers the income from any asset without transferring the asset itself, such income is to be included in the total income of the transferor.

(ii) It is immaterial whether the transfer is revocable or irrevocable and whether it was made before the commencement of this Act or after its commencement.

(iii) For example, Mr.A confers the right to receive rent in respect of his house property on his wife, Mrs.A, without transferring the house itself to her. In this case, the rent received by Mrs.A will be clubbed with the income of Mr.A.

3. INCOME ARISING FROM REVOCABLE TRANSFER OF ASSETS [SECTION 61]

(i) All income arising to any person by virtue of a revocable transfer of assets is to be included in the total income of the transferor.

(ii) As per section 63, the transfer is deemed to be revocable if—

(a) it contains any provision for the retransfer, directly or indirectly, of the whole or any part of the income or assets to the transferor, or

(b) it gives, in any way to the transferor, a right to reassume power, directly or indirectly, over the whole or any part of the income or the assets.

(iii) This clubbing provision will operate even if only part of income of the transferred asset had been applied for the benefit of the transferor. Once the transfer is revocable, the entire income from the transferred asset is includible in the total income of the transferor.

4. EXCEPTIONS WHERE CLUBBING PROVISIONS ARE NOT ATTRACTED EVEN IN CASE OF REVOCABLE TRANSFER [SECTION 62]

Section 61 will not apply in the following two cases -

(i) Transfer not revocable during the life time of the beneficiary or the transferee - If there is a transfer of asset which is not revocable during the life time of the transferee, the income from the transferred asset is not includible in the total income of the transferor provided the transferor derives no direct or indirect benefit from such income. If the transferor receives direct or indirect benefit from such income, such income is to be included in his total income even though the transfer may not be revocable during the life time of the transferee.

(ii) Transfer made before April 1, 1961 and not revocable for a period exceeding six years - Income arising from the transfer of an asset before 1.4.61, which was not revocable for a period exceeding six years, is not includible in the total income of the transferor provided the transferor does not derive direct or indirect benefit from such income.

In both the above cases, as and when the power to revoke the transfer arises, the income arising by virtue of such transfer will be included in the total income of the transferor.

5. CLUBBING OF INCOME ARISING TO SPOUSE [SECTION 64(1)(ii)]

5.1 Income by way of remuneration from a concern in which the individual has substantial interest

(i) In computing the total income of any individual, all such income which arises, directly or indirectly, to the spouse of such individual by way of salary, commission, fees or any other form of remuneration, whether in cash or in kind, from a concern in which such individual has a substantial interest shall be included.

(ii) However, this provision does not apply where the earning spouse of the said individual possesses technical or professional qualifications and the income to the spouse is solely attributable to the application of his/her technical or professional knowledge or experience. In such an event, the income arising to such spouse is to be assessed in his/her hands.

(iii) Where both husband and wife have substantial interest in a concern and both are in receipt of income by way of salary etc. from the said concern, such income will be includible in the hands of that spouse, whose total income, excluding such income is higher.

(iv) Where any such income is once included in the total income of either spouse, income arising in the succeeding year shall not be included in the total income of the other spouse unless the Assessing Officer is satisfied, after giving that spouse an opportunity of being heard, that it is necessary to do so.

(v) An individual shall be deemed to have substantial interest in a concern under the following circumstances -

(a) If the concern is a company, equity shares carrying not less than 20% of the voting power are, at any time during the previous year, owned beneficially by such person or partly by such person and partly by one or more of his relatives.

(b) In any other case, if such person is entitled, or such person and one or more of his relatives are entitled in the aggregate, at any time during the previous year, to not less than 20% of the profits of such concern.

The term 'relative' in relation to an individual means the husband, wife, brother or sister or any lineal ascendant or descendant of that individual.

Illustration 1

Mr. A is an employee of X Ltd. and he has 25% shares of that company. His salary is Rs.50,000 p.m. Mrs. A is working as a computer software programmer in X Ltd. at a salary of Rs.30,000 p.m. She is, however, not qualified for the job. Compute the gross total income of Mr.A and Mrs. A for the A.Y.2009-10, assuming that they do not have any other income.

Solution

Mr.A is an employee of X Ltd and has 25% shares of X Ltd i.e. a substantial interest in the company. His wife is working in the same company without any professional qualifications for the same.

Thus, by virtue of the clubbing provisions of the Act, the salary received by Mrs. A from X Ltd. will be clubbed in the hands of Mr. A.

Computation of Gross total income of Mr. A

Salary received by Mr. A	[Rs.50,000 × 12]	Rs.6,00,000
Salary received by Mrs. A	[Rs.30,000 × 12]	Rs.3,60,000
Gross total income		Rs.9,60,000

The gross total income of Mrs. A is nil.

Illustration 2

Will your answer be different if Mrs. A was qualified for the job?

Solution

If Mrs.A possesses professional qualifications for the job, then the clubbing provisions shall not be applicable.

Gross total income of Mr. A = Salary received by Mr. A [Rs.50,000 × 12]=Rs.6,00,000

Gross total income of Mrs.A = Salary received by Mrs.A [Rs.30,000×12]=Rs.3,60,000

Illustration 3

Mr. B is an employee of Y Ltd. and has substantial interest in the company. His salary is Rs.20,000 p.m. Mrs. B is also working in Y Ltd. at a salary of Rs.12,000 p.m. without any qualifications. Mr. B also receives Rs.30,000 as interest on securities. Mrs. B owns a house property which she has let out. Rent received from tenants is Rs.6000 p.m. Compute the gross total income of Mr. B and Mrs. B for the A.Y.2009-10.

Solution

Since Mrs. B is not professionally qualified for the job, the clubbing provisions shall be applicable.

Computation of Gross total income of Mr.B

		Rs.

Salary received by Mr.B	[Rs.20,000 × 12]	2,40,000

5.2 INCOME ARISING TO THE SPOUSE FROM AN ASSET TRANSFERRED WITHOUT ADEQUATE CONSIDERATION [SECTION 64(1)(iv)]

(i) Where there is a transfer of an asset (other than house property), directly or indirectly, from one spouse to the other, otherwise than for adequate consideration or in connection with an agreement to live apart, any income arising to the transferee from the transferred asset, either directly or indirectly, shall be included in the total income of the transferor.

(ii) In the case of transfer of house property, the provisions are contained in section 27. If an individual transfers a house property to his spouse, without adequate consideration or otherwise than in connection with an agreement to live apart, the transferor shall be deemed to be the owner of the house property and its annual value will be taxed in his hands.

(iii) It may be noted that any income from the accretion of the transferred asset is not to be clubbed with the income of the transferor.

(iv) The income arising on transferred assets alone have to be clubbed. However, income earned by investing such income (arising from transferred asset) cannot be clubbed.

(v) It is also to be noted that natural love and affection do not constitute adequate consideration. Therefore, where an asset is transferred without adequate consideration, the income from such asset will be clubbed in the hands of the transferor.

(vi) Where the assets transferred, directly or indirectly, by an individual to his spouse are invested by the transferee in the business, proportionate income arising from such investment is to be included in the total income of the transferor. If the investment is in the nature of contribution of capital, proportionate interest on capital will be clubbed with the income of the transferor. Such proportion has to be computed by taking into account the value of the aforesaid investment as on the first day of the previous year to the total investment in the business by the transferee as on that day.

6. TRANSFER OF ASSETS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SPOUSE [SECTION 64(1)(vii)] - All income arising directly or indirectly to any persons or association of persons, from the assets transferred, directly or indirectly, without adequate consideration is includible in the income of the transferor to the extent such income is used by the transferee for the immediate or deferred benefit of the transferor's spouse.

7. INCOME ARISING TO SON'S WIFE FROM THE ASSETS TRANSFERRED WITHOUT ADEQUATE CONSIDERATION BY THE FATHER-IN-LAW OR MOTHER-IN-LAW [SECTION 64(1)(vi)]

(i) Where an asset is transferred, directly or indirectly, by an individual to his or her son's wife without adequate consideration, the income from such asset is to be included in the total income of the transferor.

(ii) For this purpose, where the assets transferred directly or indirectly by an individual to his son's wife are invested by the transferee in the business, proportionate income arising from such investment is to be included in the total income of the transferor. If the investment is in the nature of contribution of capital, the proportionate interest on capital will be clubbed with the income of the transferor. Such proportion has to be computed by taking into account the value of the aforesaid investment as on the first day of the previous year to the total investment in the business by the transferee as on that day.

8. TRANSFER OF ASSETS FOR THE BENEFIT OF SON'S WIFE [SECTION 64(1)(viii)] - All income arising directly or indirectly, to any person or association of persons from the assets transferred, directly or indirectly, without adequate consideration will be included in the total income of the transferor to the extent such income is used by the transferee for the immediate or deferred benefit of the transferor's son's wife.

9. CLUBBING OF MINOR'S INCOME [SECTION 64(1A)]

(i) All income of a minor is to be included in the income of his parent.

(ii) However, the income derived by the minor from manual work or from any activity involving his skill, talent or specialised knowledge or experience will not be included in the income of his parent.

(iii) The income of the minor will be included in the income of that parent, whose total income is greater.

(iv) Once clubbing of minor's income is done with that of one parent, it will continue to be clubbed with that parent only, in subsequent years. The Assessing Officer, may, however, club the minor's income with that of the other parent, if, after giving the other parent an opportunity to be heard, he is satisfied that it is necessary to do so.

(v) Where the marriage of the parents does not subsist, the income of the minor will be includible in the income of that parent who maintains the minor child in the relevant previous year.

(vi) Section 10(32) provides that where the income of an individual includes the income of his minor child, the individual shall be entitled to exemption of such income subject to a maximum of Rs.1,500 per child. This provision is to provide relief to the individuals in whose total income, the income of the minor child is included.

(vii) However, the income of a minor child from suffering from any disability of the nature specified in section 80U shall not be included in the hands of the parent but shall be assessed in the hands of the child.

(viii) It may be noted that the clubbing provisions are attracted even in respect of income of minor married daughter.

Illustration 4

Mr. A has three minor children – two twin daughters and one son. Income of the twin daughters is Rs.2,000 p.a. each and that of the son is Rs.1,200 p.a. Compute the income, in respect of minor children, to be clubbed in the hands of Mr. A.

Solution

Taxable income, in respect of minor children, in the hands of Mr. A is

Twin minor daughters	[Rs.2,000 × 2]	Rs.4,000
Less: Exempt u/s 10(32)	[Rs.1,500 × 2]	Rs.3,000	Rs.1,000
Minor son		Rs.1,200
Less: Exempt u/s 10(32)		Rs.1,200	Nil
Income to be clubbed in the hands of Mr.A			Rs.1,000

10. CROSS TRANSFERS

In the case of cross transfers also (e.g., A making gift of Rs.50,000 to the wife of his brother B for the purchase of a house by her and a simultaneous gift by B to A's minor son of shares in a foreign company worth Rs.50,000 owned by him), the income from the assets transferred would be assessed in the hands of the deemed transferor if the transfers are so intimately connected as to form part of a single transaction, and each transfer constitutes consideration for the other by being mutual or otherwise. Thus, in the instant case, the transfers have been made by A and B to persons who are not their spouse or minor child so as to circumvent the provisions of this section, showing that such transfers constituted consideration for each other.

The Supreme Court, in case of CIT v. Keshavji Morarji [1967] 66 ITR 142, observed that if two transactions are inter-connected and are parts of the same transaction in such a way that it can be said that the circuitous method was adopted as a device to evade tax, the implication of clubbing provisions would be attracted. Accordingly, the income arising to Mrs. B from the house property should be included in the total income of B and the dividend from shares transferred to A's minor son would be taxable in the hands of A. This is because A and B are the indirect transferors to their minor child and spouse respectively, of the income yielding assets, so as to reduce their burden of taxation.

11. CONVERSION OF SELF-ACQUIRED PROPERTY INTO THE PROPERTY OF A HINDU UNDIVIDED FAMILY [SECTION 64(2)]

Section 64(2) deals with the case of conversion of self-acquired property into property of a Hindu undivided family.

(i) Where an individual, who is a member of the HUF, converts at any time after 31-12-1969, his individual property into property of the HUF of which he is a member or throws such property into the common stock of the family or otherwise transfers such individual property, directly or indirectly, to the family otherwise than for adequate consideration, the income from such property shall continue to be included in the total income of the individual.

(ii) Where the converted property has been partitioned, either by way of total or partial partition, the income derived from such converted property as is received by the spouse on partition will be deemed to arise to the spouse from assets transferred indirectly by the individual to the spouse and consequently, such income shall also be included in the total income of the individual who effected the conversion of such property.

(iii) Where income from the converted property is included in the total income of an individual under section 64(2), it will be excluded from the total income of the family or, as the case may be, of the spouse of the individual.

12. INCOME INCLUDES LOSS

It is significant to note that as per the Explanation 2 to section 64, 'income' would include 'loss'. Accordingly, where the specified income to be included in the total income of the individual is a loss, such loss will be taken into account while computing the total income of the individual. It is significant to note that this Explanation applies to clubbing provisions under both sections 64(1) and 64(2).

13. DISTINCTION BETWEEN SECTION 61 AND SECTION 64

It may be noted that the main distinction between the two sections is that section 61 applies only to a revocable transfer made by any person while section 64 applies to revocable as well as irrevocable transfers made only by individuals.

14. LIABILITY OF PERSON IN RESPECT OF INCOME INCLUDED IN THE INCOME OF ANOTHER PERSON [SECTION 65]

Sections 61 to 64 provide for clubbing of income of one person in the hands of the other in circumstances specified therein. However, service of notice of demand (in respect of tax on such income) may be made upon the person to whom such asset is transferred (i.e. the transferee). In such a case, the transferee is liable to pay that portion of tax levied on the transferor which is attributable to the income so clubbed.

1. AGGREGATION OF INCOME

In certain cases, some amounts are deemed as income in the hands of the assessee though they are actually not in the nature of income. These cases are contained in sections 68, 69, 69A, 69B, 69C and 69D. These are discussed in detail in Unit 4 of Chapter 1. The Assessing Officer may require the assessee to furnish explanation in such cases. If the assessee does not offer any explanation or the explanation offered by the assessee is not satisfactory, the amounts referred to in these sections would be deemed to be the income of the assessee. Such amounts have to be aggregated with the assessee's income.

2. CONCEPT OF SET-OFF AND CARRY FORWARD OF LOSSES

Specific provisions have been made in the Income-tax Act, 1961 for the set-off and carry forward of losses. In simple words, "Set-off" means adjustment of losses against the profits from another source/head of income in the same assessment year. If losses cannot be set-off in the same year due to inadequacy of eligible profits, then such losses are carried forward to the next assessment year for adjustment against the eligible profits of that year. The maximum period for which different losses can be carried forward for set-off has been provided in the Act.

3. INTER SOURCE ADJUSTMENT [SECTION 70]

(i) Under this section, the losses incurred by the assessee in respect of one source shall be set-off against income from any other source under the same head of income, since the income under each head is to be computed by grouping together the net result of the activities of all the sources covered by that head. In simpler terms, loss from one source of income can be adjusted against income from another source, both the sources being under the same head.

Example 1: Loss from one house property can be set off against the income from another house property.

Example 2: Loss from one business, say textiles, can be set off against income from any other business, say printing, in the same year as both these sources of income fall under one head of income. Therefore, the loss in one business may be set-off against the profits from another business in the same year.

(ii) Inter-source set-off, however, is not permissible in the following cases -

(a) Long-term capital loss -

(1) Where the net result in respect of any short term capital asset is a loss, such loss shall be allowed to be set-off against income, if any, for that assessment year under the head "capital gains" in respect of any other capital asset, and

(2) Where the net result in respect of any long-term capital asset is a loss, such loss shall be allowed to be set-off against income, if any, for that assessment year under the head "capital gains" in respect of any other asset not being a short-term capital asset.

Thus, short-term capital loss is allowed to be set off against both short-term capital gain and long-term capital gain. However, long-term capital loss can be set-off only against long-term capital gain and not short-term capital gain.

(b) Speculation loss - A loss in speculation business can be set-off only against the profits of any other speculation business and not against any other business or professional income. However, losses from other business can be adjusted against profits from speculation business.

(c) Loss from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses - See section 74A(3) in para 12 of this chapter.

(iii) It must be noted that loss from an exempt source cannot be set-off against profits from a taxable source of income. For example, long-term capital loss on sale of shares sold through a recognized stock exchange cannot be set-off against long-term capital gains on sale of land.

4. INTER HEAD ADJUSTMENT [SECTION 71]

Loss under one head of income can be adjusted or set of against income under another head. However, the following points should be considered:

(i) Where the net result of the computation under any head of income (other than 'Capital Gains') is a loss, the assessee can set-off such loss against his income assessable for that assessment year under any other head, including 'Capital Gains'.

(ii) Where the net result of the computation under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" is a loss, such loss cannot be set off against income under the head "Salaries".

(iii) Where the net result of computation under the head 'Capital Gains' is a loss, such capital loss cannot be set-off against income under any other head.

(iv) Speculation loss and Loss from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses cannot be set off against income under any other head.

Illustration 1

Mr. A submits the following particulars pertaining to the A.Y.2009-10:

Particulars	Rs.
Income from salary	4,00,000
Loss from self-occupied property	(-)70,000
Business loss	(-)1,00,000
Bank interest received	80,000

Compute the taxable income of Mr. A for the A.Y.2009-10.

Solution

Computation of taxable income of Mr. A for the A.Y. 2009-10

Particulars	Amount (Rs)	Amount (Rs)
Income from salary	4,00,000
Income from house property	(-) 70,000	3,30,000
Business income	(-)1,00,000
Income from other sources (bank interest)	80,000
Business loss to be carried forward	(-) 20,000	-
Gross total income [See Note below]		3,30,000
Less: Deduction under chapter VIA		Nil
Taxable income		3,30,000

Note: Gross Total Income includes salary income of Rs.3,30,000 after adjusting house property loss. Business loss of Rs.1,00,000 is set off against bank interest of Rs.80,000 and remaining business loss of Rs.20,000 will be carried forward as it cannot be set off against salary income.

5. SET-OFF AND CARRY FORWARD OF LOSS FROM HOUSE PROPERTY [SECTION 71B]

(i) In any assessment year, if there is a loss under the head 'Income from house property', such loss will first be set-off against income from any other head during the same year.

(ii) If such loss cannot be so set-off, wholly or partly, the unabsorbed loss will be carried forward to the following assessment year to be set-off against income under the head 'Income from house property'.

(iii) The loss under this head is allowed to be carried forward upto 8 assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year in which the loss was first computed.

(iv) For example, loss from one house property can be adjusted against the profits from another house property in the same assessment year. Any loss under the head 'Income from house property' can be set off against any income under any other head in the same assessment year. However, if after such set off, there is still any loss under the head "Income from house property", then the same shall be carried forward to the next year.

(v) It is to be remembered that once a particular loss is carried forward, it can be set off only against the income from the same head in the forthcoming assessment years.

6. CARRY FORWARD AND SET-OFF OF BUSINESS LOSSES [SECTIONS 72 & 80]

Under the Act, the assessee has the right to carry forward the loss in cases where such loss cannot be set-off due to the absence or inadequacy of income under any other head in the same year. The loss so carried forward can be set-off against the profits of subsequent previous years.

Section 72 covers the carry forward and set-off of losses arising from a business or profession.

Conditions

The assessee's right to carry forward business losses under this section is, however, subject to the following conditions:-

(i) The loss should have been incurred in business, profession or vocation.

(ii) The loss should not be in the nature of a loss in the business of speculation.

(iii) The loss may be carried forward and set-off against the income from business or profession though not necessarily against the profits and gains of the same business or profession in which the loss was incurred. But a loss carried forward cannot, under any circumstances, be set-off against the income from any head other than "Profits and gains of business or profession".

(iv) The loss can be carried forward and set off only against the profits of the assessee who incurred the loss. That is, only the person who has incurred the loss is entitled to carry forward or set off the same. Consequently, the successor of a business cannot carry forward or set off the losses of his predecessor except in the case of succession by inheritance.

(v) A business loss can be carried forward for a maximum period of 8 assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year in which the loss was incurred.

(vi) As per section 80, the assessee must have filed a return of loss under section 139(3) in order to carry forward and set off a loss. In other words, the non-filing of a return of loss disentitles the assessee from carrying forward the loss sustained by him. Such a return should be filed within the time allowed under section 139(1). However, this condition does not apply to a loss from house property carried forward under section 71B and unabsorbed depreciation carried forward under section 32(2).

Illustration 2

Mr. B, a resident individual, furnishes the following particulars for the P.Y. 2008-09:

Particulars	Rs.
Income from salary (Net)	45,000
Income from house property	(24,000)
Income from business – non-speculative	(22,000)
Income from speculative business	(4,000)
Short-term capital gains	(25,000)
Long-term capital gains	19,000

What is the total income chargeable to tax for the A.Y. 2009-10?

Solution

The total income chargeable to tax for the A.Y. 2009-10 is calculated as under:

Particulars	Amount (Rs)	Amount (Rs.)
Income from salaries	45,000
Income from house property	(24,000)	21,000
Profits and gains of business and profession
Business loss to be carried forward [Note 1]	(22,000)
Speculative loss to be carried forward [Note 2]	(4,000)

Capital Gains
Long term capital gain	19,000
Short term capital loss	(25,000)
Short term capital loss to be carried forward [Note 3]	(6,000)
Taxable income		21,000

Note 1: Business loss cannot be set-off against salary income. Therefore, loss of Rs.22,000 from the non-speculative business cannot be set off against the income from salaries. Hence, such loss has to be carried forward to the next year for set-off against business profits, if any.

Note 2: Loss of Rs.4,000 from the speculative business can be set off only against the income from the speculative business. Hence, such loss has to be carried forward.

Note 3: Short term capital loss can be set off against both short term capital gain and long term capital gain. Therefore, short term capital loss of Rs.25,000 can be set-off against long-term capital gains to the extent of Rs.19,000. The balance short term capital loss of Rs.6,000 cannot be set-off against any other income and has to be carried forward to the next year for set-off against capital gains, if any.

7. CARRY FORWARD AND SET-OFF OF ACCUMULATED BUSINESS LOSSES AND UNABSORBED DEPRECIATION ALLOWANCE IN CERTAIN CASES OF AMALGAMATION / DEMERGER, ETC. [SECTION 72A]

(i) Amalgamation - This section applies where there has been an amalgamation of –

(1) a company owning an industrial undertaking or a ship or a hotel with another company or an amalgamation of a banking company with a specified bank; or

(2) public sector companies engaged in the business of operation of aircrafts.

It provides that the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamating company shall be deemed to be the loss or depreciation, as the case may be, of the amalgamated company for the previous year in which the amalgamation took place. Other provisions of the Act relating to set off and carry forward shall also apply accordingly.

Conditions for availing benefit under this section

(1) Conditions to be fulfilled by the amalgamating company

(i) The amalgamating company should have been engaged in the business, in which the accumulated loss occurred or depreciation remains unabsorbed, for 3 or more years.

(ii) The amalgamating company has held continuously as on the date of amalgamation, at least 3/4th of the book value of the fixed assets held by it, 2 years prior to the date of amalgamation.

(2) Conditions to be fulfilled by the amalgamated company

(i) The amalgamated company should hold at least 3/4th in the book value of fixed assets of the amalgamating company acquired as a result of amalgamation for a minimum period of 5 years from the effective date of amalgamation.

(ii) The amalgamated company continues the business of the amalgamating company for at least 5 years.

(iii) The amalgamated company must also fulfill such other conditions prescribed under Rule 9C for the revival of the business of the amalgamating company or to ensure that the amalgamation is for genuine business purpose -

(1) The amalgamated company shall achieve the level of production of at least 50% of the installed capacity (capacity as on the date of amalgamation) of the said undertaking before the end of 4 years from the date of amalgamation and continue to maintain the said minimum level of production till the end of 5 years from the date of amalgamation. Central Government has the power to modify this requirement on an application made by the amalgamated company.

(2) The amalgamated company shall furnish to the Assessing Officer a certificate in Form No.62 verified by a Chartered Accountant in this regard.

In case the above specified conditions are not fulfilled, that part of carry forward of loss and unabsorbed depreciation remaining to be utilized by the amalgamated company shall lapse and such loss or depreciation as has been set-off shall be treated as the income in the year in which there is a failure to fulfill the conditions.

(ii) Demerger - Where there has been a demerger of an undertaking, the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation directly relatable to the undertaking transferred by the demerged company to the resulting company shall be allowed to be carried forward and set off in the hands of the resulting company.

If the accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation is not directly relatable to the undertaking, the same will be apportioned between the demerged company and the resulting company in the same proportion in which the value of the assets have been transferred.

The Central Government is empowered to notify such conditions as it considers necessary to ensure that the demerger or amalgamation is for genuine business purpose.

(iii) Re-organisation of business [Section 72A(4)]

In case of re-organisation of business, whereby a firm is succeeded by a company as per the provisions of section 47(xiii), or a sole proprietary concern is succeeded by a company as per the provisions of section 47(xiv), then the accumulated business loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the firm / proprietary concern, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be the loss or depreciation allowance of the successor company for the previous year in which the business re-organisation took place. Other provisions of the Act relating to set-off and carry forward will apply accordingly.

However, this facility will not be available if it is found that any of the conditions laid down in the corresponding sub-sections (xiii) and (xiv) of section 47 have not been complied with. In such case, the set-off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any previous year in the hands of the successor company shall be deemed to be the income of the company chargeable to tax in the year in which the conditions have been violated.

Meanings of certain terms

"Accumulated loss" means so much of the loss of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the amalgamating company or the demerged company, as the case may be, under the head "Profit and gains of business or profession" (not being a loss sustained in a speculation business) which such predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or amalgamating company or demerged company, would have been entitled to carry forward and set off under the provisions of section 72 if the re-organisation of business or amalgamation or demerger had not taken place.

"Unabsorbed depreciation" means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the amalgamating company or the demerged company, as the case may be, which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or amalgamating company or demerged company, as the case may be, under the provisions of this Act, if the re-organisation of business or amalgamation or demerger had not taken place.

“Industrial undertaking” means any undertaking which is engaged in -

(i) the manufacture or processing of goods;

(ii) the manufacture of computer software;

(iii) the business of generation or distribution of electricity or any other form of power;

(iv) providing telecommunication services, whether basic or cellular, including radio paging, domestic satellite service, network of trunking, broad band network and internet services.

(v) mining;

(vi) the construction of ships, aircraft or rail systems.

“Specified bank” means the State Bank of India (SBI) constituted under the SBI Act, 1955 or a subsidiary bank as defined in the SBI (Subsidiary Banks) Act, 1959 or a corresponding new bank constituted under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 or under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980.

8. SET-OFF OF LOSSES OF A BANKING COMPANY AGAINST THE PROFIT OF A BANKING INSTITUTION UNDER A SCHEME OF AMALGAMATION [SECTION 72AA]

(i) This section provides for carry forward and set off of accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation allowance of a banking company against the profits of a banking institution under a scheme of amalgamation sanctioned by the Central Government.

(ii) Where a banking company has been amalgamated with a banking institution under a scheme sanctioned and brought into force by the Central Government under section 45(7) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamating banking company shall be deemed to be the loss or the allowance for depreciation of the banking institution for the previous year in which the scheme of amalgamation is brought into force, and all the provisions contained in the Income-tax Act, 1961, relating to set off and carry forward of loss and unabsorbed depreciation shall apply accordingly.

(iii) The Explanation to this section defines the expressions “accumulated loss”, “banking company, “banking institution” and “unabsorbed depreciation” as follows –

(a) “accumulated loss” means so much of the loss of the amalgamating banking company under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession” (not being a loss sustained in a speculation business) which such amalgamating banking company, would have been entitled to carry forward and set-off under the provisions of section 72 if the amalgamation had not taken place;

(b) "banking company" shall have the same meaning assigned to it in clause (c) of section 5 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949;

(c) "banking institution" shall have the same meaning assigned to it in sub-section (15) of section 45 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949;

(d) "unabsorbed depreciation" means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the amalgamating banking company which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such banking company if the amalgamation had not taken place.

9. PROVISIONS RELATING TO CARRY FORWARD AND SET OFF OF ACCUMULATED LOSS AND UNABSORBED DEPRECIATION ALLOWANCE IN BUSINESS REORGANISATION OF CO-OPERATIVE BANKS [SECTION 72AB]

(i) Under this section, in a case where the amalgamation has taken place during the previous year, set-off of accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the predecessor co-operative bank will be allowed in the hands of the successor co-operative bank as if the amalgamation had not taken place. All the other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation would apply accordingly.

(ii) The benefit of carry-forward and set-off of accumulated losses under this section would be allowed only on fulfillment of the following conditions -

(a) Conditions to be fulfilled by the predecessor co-operative bank

(1) It should have been engaged in the business of banking for three or more years; and

(2) It has held at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets as on the date of the business reorganisation, continuously for two years prior to the date of business reorganisation;

(b) Conditions to be fulfilled by the successor co-operative bank

(1) It should hold at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets of the predecessor co-operative bank acquired through business reorganisation, continuously for a minimum period of five years immediately succeeding the date of business reorganisation;

(2) It continues the business of the predecessor co-operative bank for a minimum period of five years from the date of business reorganisation; and

(3) It fulfils such other conditions as may be prescribed to ensure the revival of the business of the predecessor co-operative bank or to ensure that the business reorganisation is for genuine business purpose.

(iii) The amount of set-off of the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation allowable to the resulting co-operative bank has to be calculated in the following manner -

(1) In a case where the whole of the amount of such loss or unabsorbed depreciation is directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting co-operative bank - the entire accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation of the demerged co-operative bank is allowed to be set-off.

(2) In a case where the accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation is not directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting co-operative bank - the amount which bears the same proportion to the accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation of the demerged co-operative bank as the assets of the undertaking transferred to the resulting co-operative bank bears to the assets of the demerged co-operative bank.

For example, if A Co.op Bank is the demerged co-operative bank and B Co. op Bank is the resulting co-operative bank, the amount of set-off of the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation allowable to B Co-op. bank would be –

$$\begin{array}{c}\text{Unabsorbed business loss/depreciation}\\ \text{of A Co - Op bank}\end{array} \times \frac{\begin{array}{c}\text{Assets of the undertaking transferred}\\ \text{to B Co - op bank}\end{array}}{\text{Assets of A Co - op bank}}$$

(iv) The Central Government may specify other conditions by notification in the Official Gazette as it considers necessary, to ensure that the business reorganisation is for genuine business purposes.

(v) The period commencing from the beginning of the previous year and ending on the date immediately preceding the date of business reorganisation, and the period commencing from the date of such business reorganisation and ending with the previous year shall be deemed to be two different previous years for the purposes of set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation.

For example, if the date on which business re-organisation took place is 1.11.08, then the period between 1.4.08 and 31.10.08 and the period between 1.11.08 and 31.3.09 would be deemed to be two different previous years for the purposes of set-off and carry forward of unabsorbed business losses and depreciation.

(vi) In a case where the conditions specified in (ii) above or notified under (iv) above are not complied with, the set-off of accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation allowed in any previous year to the successor co-operative bank shall be deemed to be the income of the successor co-operative bank chargeable to tax for the year in which the conditions are not complied with.

(vii) Accumulated loss means so much of loss of the amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, as the case may be, under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" (not being a loss sustained in a speculation business) which such amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, would have been entitled to carry forward and set-off under the provisions of section 72 as if the business reorganisation had not taken place.

(viii) Unabsorbed depreciation means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, as the case may be, which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such bank as if the business reorganisation had not taken place.

10. LOSSES IN SPECULATION BUSINESS [SECTION 73]

(i) The meaning of the expression 'speculative transaction' as defined in section 43(5) and the treatment of income from speculation business has already been discussed under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession".

(ii) Since speculation is deemed to be a business distinct and separate from any other business carried on by the assessee, the losses incurred in speculation can be neither set off in the same year against any other non-speculation income nor be carried forward and set off against other income in the subsequent years.

(iii) Therefore, if the losses sustained by an assessee in a speculation business cannot be set-off in the same year against any other speculation profit, they can be carried forward to subsequent years and set-off only against income from any speculation business carried on by the assessee.

(iv) The loss in speculation business can be carried forward only for a maximum period of 4 years from the end of the relevant assessment year in respect of which the loss was computed. Loss from the activity of trading in derivatives, however, is not to be treated as speculative loss.

(v) The Explanation to this section discourages companies (other than banking and investment companies) from indulging in speculation business or dealing in shares otherwise than in the ordinary course of their business. It provides that where any part of the business of a company (other than investment company / banking / financing company) consists of the purchase and sale of the shares of other companies, such a company shall be deemed to be carrying on speculation business to the extent to which the business consists of the purchase and sale of such shares. Thus, companies engaged in the business of banking or the granting of loans and advances as their principal business would be exempted from the operation of this Explanation. Accordingly, both investment companies and banking companies would not be treated as carrying on speculation business in cases where they purchase and sell shares of other companies.

(vi) For this purpose, an investment company means a company whose Gross Total Income consists mainly of income which is chargeable under the heads “Income from house property”, “Capital gains” and “Income from the other sources”.

11. LOSSES UNDER THE HEAD ‘CAPITAL GAINS’ [SECTION 74]

Section 74 provides that where for any assessment year, the net result under the head ‘Capital gains’ is short term capital loss or long term capital loss, the loss shall be carried forward to the following assessment year to be set off in the following manner:

(i) Where the loss so carried forward is a short term capital loss, it shall be set off against any capital gains, short term or long term, arising in that year.

(ii) Where the loss so carried forward is a long term capital loss, it shall be set off only against long term capital gain arising in that year.

(iii) Net loss under the head capital gains cannot be set off against income under any other head.

(iv) Any unabsorbed loss shall be carried forward to the following assessment year up to a maximum of 8 assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

Illustration 3

During the P.Y. 2008-09, Mr. C has the following income and the brought forward losses:

Particulars	Rs.
Short term capital gains on sale of shares	1,50,000
Long term capital loss of A.Y. 2007-08	(96,000)
Short term capital loss of A.Y.2008-09	(37,000)
Long term capital gain	75,000

What is the capital gain taxable in the hands of Mr. C for the A.Y.2009-10?

Solution

The capital gains taxable are as under:

Particulars	Rs.	Rs.
Short term capital gains on sale of shares	1,50,000
Less: Brought forward short term capital loss of the A.Y.2008-09	(37,000)	1,13,000
Long term capital gain	75,000
Less: Brought forward long term capital loss of A.Y.2007-08 [See note below]	(75,000)	Nil
Taxable short-term capital gains		1,13,000

Note: Long-term capital loss cannot be set off against Short-term capital gain. Hence, the remaining unadjusted long term capital loss of A.Y. 2007-08 of Rs.21,000 (i.e. Rs.96,000 – Rs.75,000) has to be carried forward to the next year to be set-off against long-term capital gains of that year.

12. LOSSES FROM THE ACTIVITY OF OWNING AND MAINTAINING RACE HORSES [SECTION 74A(3)]

(i) According to provisions of section 74A(3), the losses incurred by an assessee from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses cannot be set-off against the income from any other source other than the activity of owning and maintaining race horses.

(ii) Such loss can be carried forward for a maximum period of 4 assessment years for being set-off against the income from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses in the subsequent years.

(iii) For this purpose, the "amount of loss incurred by the assessee in the activity of owning and maintaining race horses" means the amount by which such income by way of stake money falls short of the amount of revenue expenditure incurred by the assessee for the purpose of maintaining race horses. i.e. Loss = Stake money – revenue expenditure for the purpose of maintaining race horses.

(iv) Further, the expression 'horse race' means a horse race upon which wagering or betting may be lawfully made.

(v) "Income by way of stake money" means the gross amount of prize money received on a race horse or race horses by the owner thereof on account of the horse or horses or any one or more of the horses winning or being placed second or in any lower position in horse races.

Illustration 4

Mr. D has the following income for the P.Y. 2008-09 -

Particulars	Rs.
Income from the activity of owning and maintaining the race horses	75,000
Income from textile business	85,000
Brought forward textile business loss	50,000

What is the taxable income in the hands of Mr. D for the A.Y. 2009-10?

Solution

The taxable income is calculated as under:

Particulars	Rs.	Rs.
Income from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses	75,000
Less: Brought forward loss from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses	96,000
Loss from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses to be carried forward to A.Y.2010-11	(21,000)
Income from textile business	85,000
Less: Brought forward business loss from textile business.	50,000	35,000
Taxable business income		35,000

Note: Loss from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses cannot be set-off against any other source/head of income.

13. CARRY FORWARD AND SET OFF OF LOSSES IN CASE OF CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION OF FIRM OR SUCCESSION [SECTION 78]

(i) Where there is a change in the constitution of a firm, so much of the loss proportionate to the share of a retired or deceased partner remaining unabsorbed, shall not be allowed to be carried forward by the firm. However, unabsorbed depreciation can be carried forward.

(ii) Where any person carrying on any business or profession has been succeeded in such capacity by another person otherwise than by inheritance, such other person shall not be allowed to carry forward and set off against his income, any loss incurred by the predecessor.

(iii) Where there is a succession by inheritance, the legal heirs (assessable as BOI) are entitled to set-off the business loss of the predecessor. Such carry forward and set-off is possible even if the legal heirs constitute themselves as a partnership firm. In such a case, the firm can carry forward and set-off the business loss of the predecessor.

14. CARRY FORWARD AND SET-OFF OF LOSSES IN CASE OF CLOSELY HELD COMPANIES [SECTION 79]

(i) Where in any previous year, there has been a change in the shareholding of a company in which the public are not substantially interested, any unabsorbed loss of the company shall be allowed to be carried forward and set off against the income of the previous year only if the beneficial shareholders of at least 51% of the voting power on the last day of the previous year remained the same as on the last day of the year or years in which the loss was incurred.

(ii) However, this restriction shall not apply in the following two cases:

(1) where a change in the voting power is consequent upon the death of a shareholder or on account of transfer of shares by way of gift by a shareholder to his relative; and

(2) where the change in shareholding takes place in an Indian company, being a subsidiary of a foreign company, as a result of amalgamation or demerger of the foreign company. However, this is subject to the condition that 51% of the shareholders of the amalgamating/demerged company continue to be shareholders of the amalgamated/resulting company.

(iii) The provisions of this section are applicable only in respect of carry forward of losses and not in respect of carry forward of unabsorbed depreciation, which is covered by section 32(2).

15. ORDER OF SET-OFF OF LOSSES

As per the provisions of section 72(2), brought forward business loss is to be set-off before setting off unabsorbed depreciation. Therefore, the order in which set-off will be effected is as follows -

(a) Current year depreciation / Current year capital expenditure on scientific research and current year expenditure on family planning, to the extent allowed.

(b) Brought forward loss from business/profession [Section 72(1)]

(c) Unabsorbed depreciation [Section 32(2)]

(d) Unabsorbed capital expenditure on scientific research [Section 35(4)].

CHAPTER 7

DEDUCTIONS FROM GROSS TOTAL INCOME

Learning Objectives

After studying this chapter, you would be able to understand –

- the types of deductions allowable from gross total income
- what are the permissible deductions in respect of payments
- what are the permissible deductions in respect of incomes
- what is the deduction allowable in the case of a person with disability

1. GENERAL PROVISIONS

As we have seen earlier, section 10 exempts certain incomes. Such income are excluded from total income and do not enter into the computation process at all. On the other hand, Chapter VI-A contains deductions from gross total income. The important point to be noted here is that if there is no gross total income, then no deductions will be permissible. This Chapter contains deductions in respect of certain payments, deductions in respect of certain incomes and other deductions.

1.1 Section 80A

(i) Section 80A(1) provides that in computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be allowed from his gross total income, the deductions specified in sections 80C to 80U.

(ii) According to section 80A(2), the aggregate amount of the deductions under this chapter shall not, in any case, exceed the gross total income of the assessee. Thus, an assessee cannot have a loss as a result of the deduction under Chapter VI-A and claim to carry forward the same for the purpose of set-off against his income in the subsequent year.

(iii) Section 80A(3) provides that in the case of AOP/BOI, if any deduction is admissible under section 80G/80GGA/80GGC/80-IA/80-IB/80-IC/80-ID/80-IE, no deduction under the same section shall be made in computing the total income of a member of the AOP or BOI in relation to the share of such member in the income of the AOP or BOI.

1.2 Section 80AB

This section provides that for the purpose of calculation of deductions specified in Chapter VI-

A under the heading "C - Deductions in respect of certain incomes", the net income computed in accordance with the provisions of the Act (before making any deduction under Chapter VI-A) shall alone be regarded as income received by the assessee and which is included in his gross total income. Accordingly, the deductions specified in the aforesaid sections will be calculated with reference to the net income as computed in accordance with the provisions of the Act (before making deduction under Chapter VI-A) and not with reference to the gross amount of such income. This is notwithstanding anything contained in the respective sections of Chapter VI-A.

1.3 Section 80AC - Furnishing return of income on or before due date mandatory for claiming exemption under sections 80-IA, 80-IAB, 80-IB, 80-IC, 80-ID and 80-IE

(i) Section 80AC stipulates compulsory filing of return of income on or before the due date specified under section 139(1), as a pre-condition for availing benefit under the following sections –

(1) Section 80-IA applicable to industrial undertakings or enterprises engaged in infrastructure development, etc.

(2) Section 80-IAB applicable to undertakings or enterprises engaged in any business of developing a special economic zone.

(3) Section 80-IB applicable to certain industrial undertakings other than infrastructure development undertakings.

(4) Section 80-IC applicable to certain undertakings or enterprises in certain special category States.

(5) Section 80-ID applicable to undertakings engaged in the business of hotels and convention centres in specified area.

(6) Section 80-IE applicable to certain undertakings in North-Eastern States.

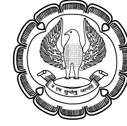
(ii) The effect of this provision is that in case of failure to file return of income on or before the stipulated due date, the undertakings would lose the benefit of deduction under these sections.

1.4 Section 80B(5)

"Gross total income" means the total income computed in accordance with the provisions of the Act without making any deduction under Chapter VI-A. "Computed in accordance with the provisions of the Act" implies—

(i) that deductions under appropriate computation section have already been given effect to;

(ii) that income of other persons, if includible under sections 60 to 64, has been included;



(iii) the intra head and/or inter head losses have been adjusted; and

(iv) that unabsorbed business losses, unabsorbed depreciation etc., have been set-off.

Let us first consider the deductions allowable in respect of certain payments.

2. DEDUCTIONS IN RESPECT OF PAYMENTS

2.1 Deduction in respect of investment in specified assets [Section 80C]

(i) Section 80C provides for a deduction from the Gross Total Income, of savings in specified modes of investments.

(ii) Deduction under section 80C is available only to an individual or HUF.

(iii) The maximum qualifying amount is Rs.1 lakh in respect of deductions under section 80C along with sections 80CCC (in respect of contribution to approved pension fund) and 80CCD (contribution to pension scheme of Central Government).

(iv) Further, there are no sectoral caps in section 80C. The sub-limits for PPF, LIC etc. (Rs.70,000) and sub-sub-limits in respect of repayment of housing loan (Rs.20,000), payment of tuition fees (Rs.12,000 per child per annum) within the sub-limit of Rs.70,000 under the erstwhile section 88 are not prevalent in section 80C. Therefore, the assessee is free to invest in any one or more of the eligible instruments within the overall ceiling of Rs.1 lakh as specified.

(v) The purpose of allowing deduction upto Rs.1 lakh in lieu of rebate is to enable switch over to the 'exempt-exempt-taxed' (EET) method whereby the amount will be included in the taxable income of the person as and when he withdraws/receives back his savings. Under this method, the contributions to specified savings is exempt from tax (E), the accumulation is also exempt (E) but the withdrawal/receipts from the savings are taxed(T).

(vi) At present, the contribution by an individual towards any annuity plan of LIC or any other insurer for receiving pension is deductible under section 80CCC. However, the amounts received by way of withdrawal or pension is subject to tax in the year of receipt. Section 80CCD provides a similar treatment to the contributions to the pension scheme of the Central Government for all new entrants to Central Government service after 1-1-2004 and to pension or annuities received after retirement. The savings under these two provisions are in conformity with the EET method.

(vii) However, EET has not yet been introduced in respect of other savings schemes. A Committee of Experts has been set up to work out the road map for moving towards an EET system.

(viii) The following are the investments/contributions eligible for deduction –

(1) Premium paid on insurance on the life of the individual, spouse or child (minor or major) and in the case of HUF, any member thereof. This will include a life policy and an endowment policy. However, where the annual premium on insurance policies, other than a contract for deferred annuity , exceeds 20% of actual capital sum assured, only the amount of premium as does not exceed 20% will qualify for rebate.

For the purpose of calculating the actual capital sum assured under this clause,

(a) the value of any premiums agreed to be returned or

(b) the value of any benefit by way of bonus or otherwise, over and above the sum actually assured, shall not be taken into account.

(2) Premium paid to effect and keep in force a contract for a deferred annuity on the life of the assessee and/or his or her spouse or child, provided such contract does not contain any provision for the exercise by the insured of an option to receive cash payments in lieu of the payment of the annuity.

It is pertinent to note here that a contract for a deferred annuity need not necessarily be with an insurance company. It follows therefore that such a contract can be entered into with any person.

(3) Amount deducted by or on behalf of the Government from the salary of a Government employee for securing a deferred annuity or making provisions for his spouse or children. The excess, if any, over one-fifth of the salary is to be ignored.

For the purposes of (13) and (14) above –

The deposit scheme should be notified by the Central Government. (17) Payment of tuition fees by an individual assessee at the time of admission or thereafter to any university, college, school or other educational institutions within India for the purpose of full-time education of any two children of the individual. This benefit is only for the amount of tuition fees for full-time education and shall not include any payment towards development fees or donation or payment of similar nature and payment made for education to any institution situated outside India.

(18) Any payment made towards the cost of purchase or construction of a new residential house property. The income from such property –

Mr. A, aged about 66 years, has earned a lottery income of Rs.1,20,000 (gross) during the P.Y. 2008-09. He also has a business income of Rs.30,000. He invested an amount of Rs.10,000 in Public Provident Fund account and Rs.24,000 in National Saving Certificates. What is the total taxable income of Mr. A for the A.Y.2009-10?

Solution

Computation of total taxable income of Mr. A for A.Y.2009-10

Particulars	Rs.	Rs.
Profits and gains from business or profession		30,000

Income from other sources - lottery income		1,20,000
Gross Total Income		1,50,000
Less: Deductions under Chapter VIA [See Note below]
Under section 80C - Deposit in Public Provident Fund	10,000
- Investment in National Saving Certificate	24,000
	34,000
Restricted to		30,000
Total Income		1,20,000

Note: Though the value of eligible investments is Rs.34,000, however, deductions under chapter VIA cannot exceed the Gross Total Income exclusive of Long Term Capital Gain, Short Term Capital Gain covered under section 111A, winnings of lotteries etc of the assessee.

Therefore maximum permissible deduction under section 80C = Rs.1,50,000 – Rs.1,20,000 = Rs.30,000

Total	1,10,000

(i) Where an assessee, being an individual, has in the previous year paid or deposited any amount out of his income chargeable to tax to effect or keep in force a contract for any annuity plan of LIC of India or any other insurer for receiving pension from the fund referred to in clause (23AAB) of section 10, he shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income.

(ii) For this purpose, the interest or bonus accrued or credited to the assessee's account shall not be reckoned as contribution.

(iii) The maximum permissible deduction is Rs.1,00,000 (However, the overall limit of Rs.1,00,000 prescribed in section 80CCE will continue to be applicable i.e. the maximum permissible deduction under sections 80C, 80CCC and 80CCD put together is Rs.1,00,000).

(iv) Where any amount standing to the credit of the assessee in a fund referred to in clause (23AAB) of section 10 in respect of which a deduction has been allowed, together with interest or bonus accrued or credited to the assessee's account is received by the assessee or his nominee on account of the surrender of the annuity plan in any previous year or as pension received from the annuity plan, such amount will be deemed to be the income of the assessee or the nominee in that previous year in which such withdrawal is made or pension is received. It will be chargeable to tax as income of that previous year.

(v) Where any amount paid or deposited by the assessee has been taken into account for the purposes of this section, a deduction under section 80C shall not be allowed with reference to such amount.

2.3 Deduction in respect of contribution to pension scheme of Central Government [Section 80CCD]

(i) A "New Restructured Defined Contribution Pension System" applicable to new entrants to Government service has been introduced. As per the scheme, it is mandatory for persons entering the service of the Central Government on or after 1st January, 2004, to contribute ten per cent their of salary every month towards their pension account. A matching contribution is required to be made by the Government to the said account. The benefit of this scheme is available to individuals employed by any other employer also on or after 1st January, 2004.

(ii) To give effect to the new pension scheme of the Central Government, a new section 80CCD has been inserted.

(iii) This section provides a deduction for the amount paid or deposited by an employee in his pension account subject to a maximum of 10% of his salary.

(iv) The contribution made by the Central Government or any other employer in the previous year to the said account of an employee, is allowed as a deduction in computation of the total income of the assessee. However, the deduction is restricted to 10% of the employee's salary.

(v) The entire employer's contribution would be included in the salary of the employee. However, deduction under section 80CCD would be restricted to 10% of salary.

(vi) Further, the amount standing to the credit of the assessee in the pension account (for which deduction has already been claimed by him under this section) and accretions to such account, shall be taxed as income in the year in which such amounts are received by the assessee or his nominee on -

(a) closure of the account or

(b) his opting out of the said scheme or

(c) receipt of pension from the annuity plan purchased or taken on such closure or opting out.

(vii) No deduction will be allowed under section 80C in respect of amounts paid or deposited by the assessee, for which deduction has been allowed under section 80CCD(1).

2.4 Limit on deductions under sections 80C, 80CCC & 80CCD [Section 80CCE]

This section restricts the aggregate amount of deduction under section 80C, 80CCC and 80CCD to Rs.1 lakh.

2.5 Deduction in respect of medical insurance premium [Section 80D]

(i) Deduction is allowed under section 80D up to a maximum of Rs.15,000 to an individual in respect of medical insurance premium paid for self, spouse and dependent children.

(ii) An additional deduction of up to Rs.15,000 would be allowed to an individual in respect of medical insurance premium paid for insuring the health of a parent or parents. This would be in addition to the deduction of Rs.15,000 in respect of medical insurance premium paid for self, spouse and dependent children. Such additional deduction would be available even if the parents are not dependent on the individual.

(iii) In case the sum is paid to insure the health of a senior citizen, then the deduction would be Rs.20,000 instead of Rs.15,000.

(iv) In case of an individual, the maximum deduction allowable under this section would, therefore, be Rs.30,000 [i.e. Rs.15,000 + Rs.15,000] and in case any of the persons insured is a senior citizen, Rs.35,000 [i.e. Rs.15,000 + Rs.20,000].

For example, if Mr. Ganesh pays medical insurance premium of Rs.16,000 for insuring the health of himself, his spouse and his children and Rs.21,000 for insuring the health of his parents, then he would be eligible for a deduction of Rs.30,000 [Rs.15,000 + Rs.15,000] under section 80D, whether or not his parents are dependent on him. If either or both of his parents are senior citizens, then he would be entitled to a higher deduction of Rs.35,000 [Rs.15,000 + Rs.20,000].

(v) In the case of a HUF, deduction is allowed under this section in respect of premium paid to insure the health of any member of the family. The maximum deduction available to a HUF would be Rs.15,000 and in case any member is a senior citizen, Rs.20,000.

(vi) The other conditions to be fulfilled are that such premium should be paid by any mode, other than cash, in the previous year out of his income chargeable to tax. Further, the medical insurance should be in accordance with a scheme made in this behalf by -

(a) the General Insurance Corporation of India and approved by the Central Government in this behalf; or

(b) any other insurer and approved by the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority.

2.6 Deduction in respect of maintenance including medical treatment of a dependent disabled [Section 80DD]

(i) Section 80DD provides deduction to an assessee, who is a resident in India, being an individual or Hindu undivided family. Any amount paid for the medical treatment (including nursing), training and rehabilitation of a dependant, being a person with disability, or any amount paid or deposited under a scheme framed in this behalf by the Life Insurance Corporation or any other insurer or the Administrator or the Specified Company as referred to in section 2(h) of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002, for the maintenance of a dependant, being a person with disability, qualifies for deduction.

(ii) The benefit of deduction under this section is also available to assessees incurring expenditure on maintenance including medical treatment of persons suffering from autism, cerebral palsy and multiple disabilities.

(iii) The quantum of deduction is Rs.50,000 and in case of severe disability (i.e. person with 80% or more disability) the deduction shall be Rs.75,000.

(iv) The term 'dependent' has been defined to include in the case of an individual, the spouse, children, parents, brothers and sisters of the individual and in the case of a Hindu Undivided Family (HUF), a member thereof, who is wholly or mainly dependent on the assessee and has not claimed any deduction under section 80U in the computation of his income.

(v) For claiming the deduction, the assessee shall have to furnish a copy of the certificate issued by the medical authority under the Persons with Disability (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 along with the return of income under section 139.

(vi) Where the condition of disability requires reassessment, a fresh certificate from the medical authority shall have to be obtained after the expiry of the period mentioned in the original certificate in order to continue to claim the deduction.

Illustration 3

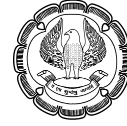
Mr. X is a resident individual. He deposits a sum of Rs.25,000 with Life Insurance Corporation every year for the maintenance of his handicapped grandfather who is wholly dependent upon him. The disability is one which comes under the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995. A copy of the certificate from the medical authority is submitted. Compute the amount of deduction available under section 80DD for the A.Y. 2009-10.

Solution

Since the amount deposited by Mr. X was for his grandfather, he will not be allowed any deduction under section 80DD. The deduction is available if the individual assessee incurs any expense for a dependant disabled relative. Grandfather does not come within the definition of dependant relative.

Illustration 4

What will be the deduction if Mr. X had made this deposit for his dependant father?



Solution

Since the expense was incurred for a dependant disabled relative, Mr. X will be entitled to claim a deduction of Rs.50,000 under section 80DD, irrespective of the amount deposited. In case his father has severe disability, the deduction would be Rs.75,000.

2.7 Deduction in respect of medical treatment etc. [Section 80DDB]

(i) This section provides deduction to an assessee, who is resident in India, being an individual and Hindu undivided family. Any amount actually paid for the medical treatment of such disease or ailment as may be specified in the rules made in this behalf by the Board for himself or a dependent, in case the assessee is an individual or for any member of a HUF, in case the assessee is a HUF will qualify for deduction.

(ii) The amount of deduction under this section shall be equal to the amount actually paid or Rs.40,000, whichever is less, in respect of that previous year in which such amount was actually paid. In case the amount is paid in respect of a senior citizen, then the deduction would be the amount actually paid or Rs.60,000, whichever is less.

(iii) The term 'dependent' includes in the case of an individual, the spouse, children, parents, brothers and sisters of the individual and in the case of a Hindu undivided family (HUF), a member of the HUF, who is wholly or mainly dependent on such individual or HUF for his support and maintenance.

(iv) No such deduction shall be allowed unless the assessee furnishes with a return of income, a certificate in such form, as may be prescribed, from a neurologist, an oncologist, a urologist, a hematologist, an immunologist or such other specialist, as may be prescribed, working in a Government hospital.

(v) The term "Government hospital" will also include approved hospitals for the treatment of Government servants.

(vi) The deduction under this section shall be reduced by the amount received, if any, under an insurance from an insurer, or reimbursed by an employer, for the medical treatment of the assessee or the dependent.

2.8 Deduction in respect of interest loan taken for higher education [Section 80E]

(i) Section 80E provides deduction to an individual-assessee in respect of any interest on loan paid by him in the previous year out of his income chargeable to tax.

(ii) The loan must have been taken for the purpose of pursuing his higher education or for the purpose of higher education of his or her relative i.e. spouse or children.

(iii) Higher education means full-time studies for any graduate or post-graduate course in engineering, medicine, management or for post-graduate course in applied sciences or pure sciences including mathematics and statistics.

(iv) The loan must have been taken from any financial institution or approved charitable institution.

(v) The deduction is allowed in computing the total income in respect of the initial assessment year (i.e. the assessment year relevant to the previous year, in which the assessee starts paying the interest on the loan) and seven assessment years immediately succeeding the initial assessment year or until the interest is paid in full by the assessee, whichever is earlier.

(vi) "Approved charitable institution" means an institution established for charitable purposes and approved by the prescribed authority under section 10(23C) or an institution referred to in section 80G(2)(a).

(vii) "Financial institution" means –

(1) a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 applies (including a bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of the Act); or

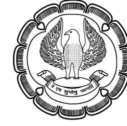
(2) any other financial institution which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf.

Illustration 5

Mr. B has taken three education loans on April 1, 2008. The details of which are given below:

	Loan 1	Loan 2	Loan 3
For whose education loan was taken	B	B	Daughter of B
Purpose of loan	Full time	Part time	Full time
	MBA	MCA	MBA
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Amount of loan	5,00,000	2,00,000	4,00,000
Annual repayment of loan	1,00,000	50,000	1,00,000
Annual repayment of interest	50,000	40,000	45,000

Compute the amount deductible under section 80E for the A.Y.2009-10.



Solution

Deduction under section 80E is available to an individual assessee in respect of any interest paid by him in the previous year in respect of loan taken for pursuing his full time higher education or full time higher education of his spouse or children.

Therefore, any interest repayment in respect of loan taken for part time education is not eligible for deduction.

Deduction under section 80E in respect of interest repayment is available for only Loan 1 and Loan 3 = Rs.50,000 + Rs.45,000 = Rs.95,000

The excess shall be ignored in computing the aggregate in respect of which deduction is allowable.

Adjusted gross total income means the gross total income as reduced by the following:

It is, hereby, clarified that the claim in respect of such donations as indicated above will be admissible under section 80G of the Income-tax Act, 1961 on the basis of the certificate issued by the Drawing and Disbursing Officer(DDO)/Employer in this behalf.

(iii) The deduction admissible will be the least of the following:

(2) 25% of such total income (arrived at after making all deductions under Chapter VI A but before making any deduction under this section), or

(3) Amount calculated at Rs.2,000 p.m.

Total income for the above purpose will not include long term capital gains, if any, and any income referred to in sections 115A to 115D.

Illustration 6

An assessee, whose total income is Rs.46,000, paid house rent at Rs.1,200 p.m. in respect of residential accommodation occupied by him at Mumbai. Compute the deduction allowable under section 80GG.

Solution

The deduction under section 80GG will be computed as follows:

(i) Actual rent less 10 per cent of total income

$$14,400 \text{ minus } \frac{(10 \times 46,000)}{100} = \text{Rs.}9,800\text{(A)}$$

(ii) 25 per cent of total income

$$\frac{25 \times 46,000}{100} = \text{Rs.}11,500\text{(B)}$$

(iii) Amount calculated at Rs.2,000 p.m.= Rs.24,000(C)

Deduction allowable (least of A, B and C) = Rs.9,800

(5) Any sum paid to a rural development fund set up and notified under section 35CCA.

(6) Any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year to National Urban Poverty Eradication Fund (NUPEF).

(iii) Restrictions on deduction -

(1) No deduction under this section would be allowed in the case of an assessee whose gross total income includes income which is chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession."

(vii) The income derived by a co-operative society from the letting out of godowns or warehouses for storage, processing or facilitating the marketing of commodities is fully allowable as deduction.

(viii) Further, where the co-operative society is also entitled to the deduction available under section 80-IA, the deduction under this section shall be allowed with reference to the gross total income as reduced by the deduction allowable under section 80-IA.

CHAPTER 8

COMPUTATION OF TOTAL INCOME AND TAX PAYABLE

Learning Objectives

After studying this chapter, you would be able to –

- comprehend as to what is meant by total income
- identify the income earned in different capacities by an individual which are to be considered while computing his total income
- understand the steps involved in computation of total income and tax liability of an individual

1. MEANING OF TOTAL INCOME

The Total income of an individual is arrived at after making deductions under Chapter VIA from the Gross Total Income. As we have learnt earlier, Gross Total Income is the aggregate of the net income computed under the 5 heads of income, after giving effect to the provisions for clubbing of income and set-off and carry forward and set-off of losses.

2. INCOME TO BE CONSIDERED WHILE COMPUTING TOTAL INCOME OF INDIVIDUALS

	Capacity in which income is earned by an individual	Treatment of income earned in each capacity
(1)	In his personal capacity (under the 5 heads of income)	Income from salaries, Income from house property, Profits and gains of business or profession, Capital gains and Income from other sources.
(2)	As a partner of a firm	(i) Salary, bonus etc. received by a partner is taxable as his business income.

		(ii) Interest on capital and loans to the firm is taxable as business income of the partner. The income mentioned in (i) and (ii) above are taxable to the extent they are allowed as deduction to the firm. (iii) Share of profit in the firm is exempt in the hands of the partner.
(3)	As a member of HUF	(i) Share of income of HUF is exempt in the hands of the member (ii) Income from an impartible estate of HUF is taxable in the hands of the holder of the estate who is the eldest member of the HUF (iii) Income from self-acquired property converted into joint family property.
(4)	Income of other persons included in the income of the individual	(i) Transferee's income, where there is a transfer of income without transfer of assets (ii) Income arising to transferee from a revocable transfer of an asset. In cases (i) and (ii), income is includible in the hands of the transferor. (iii) Income of spouse as mentioned in section 64(1) (iv) Income from assets transferred to son's wife or to any person for the benefit of son's wife. (v) Income of minor child as mentioned in section 64(1A)

3. SPECIAL PROVISION FOR SPOUSES GOVERNED BY PORTUGUESE CIVIL CODE [SECTION 5A]

This section relates to the computation of total income of husband and wife governed by the system of community of property as in force in the State of Goa and in the Union Territories of Dadra and Nagar Haveli and Daman and Diu. Such income shall not be assessed as that of the community of property. The income under each head of income (other than under the head 'Salaries') should be apportioned equally between the husband and wife and should be included separately in their respective total income. However, in the case of salary income, it will be assessed in the hands of the spouse who has actually earned it.

4. COMPUTATION OF TOTAL INCOME AND TAX LIABILITY OF INDIVIDUALS

Income-tax is levied on an assessee's total income. Such total income has to be computed as per the provisions contained in the Income-tax Act, 1961. The procedure of computation of total income for the purpose of levy of income-tax is detailed hereunder –

Step 1 – Determination of residential status

The residential status of a person has to be determined to ascertain which income is to be included in computing the total income. In the case of an individual, the duration for which he is present in India determines his residential status. Based on the time spent by him, he may be (a) resident and ordinarily resident, (b) resident but not ordinarily resident, or (c) non-resident. The residential status of an individual determines the taxability of income earned by him. For e.g., income earned outside India will not be taxable in the hands of a non-resident but will be taxable in case of a resident and ordinarily resident.

Step 2 – Classification of income under different heads

The Act prescribes five heads of income. These heads of income exhaust all possible types of income that can accrue to or be received by an individual. An individual has to classify the income earned by him under the relevant head of income.

Step 3 – Exclusion of income not chargeable to tax

There are certain income which are wholly exempt from income-tax e.g. agricultural income. These income have to be excluded and will not form part of Gross Total Income. Also, some incomes are partially exempt from income-tax e.g. House Rent Allowance, Education Allowance. These incomes are excluded only to the extent of the limits specified in the Act. The balance income over and above the prescribed limits would enter computation of total income and have to be classified under the relevant head of income.

Step 4 – Computation of income under each head

Income is to be computed in accordance with the provisions governing a particular head of income. Under each head of income, there is a charging section which defines the scope of income chargeable under that head. There are deductions and allowances prescribed under each head of income. These deductions and allowances have to be considered before arriving at the net income chargeable under each head

Step 5 – Clubbing of income of spouse, minor child etc.

In case of individuals, income-tax is levied on a slab system on the total income. The tax system is progressive i.e. as the income increases, the applicable rate of tax increases. Some taxpayers in the higher income bracket have a tendency to divert some portion of their income to their spouse, minor child etc. to minimize their tax burden. In order to prevent such tax avoidance, clubbing provisions have been incorporated in the Income-tax Act, under which income arising to certain persons (like spouse, minor child etc.) have to be included in the income of the person who has diverted his income to such persons for the purpose of computing tax liability. Effect has to be given to these clubbing provisions.

Step 6 – Set-off or carry forward and set-off of losses

An individual may have different sources of income under the same head of income. He might have profit from one source and loss from the other. For instance, an individual may have profit from his let-out house property and loss from his self-occupied property. This loss can be set-off against the profits of the let-out property to arrive at the net income chargeable under the head "Income from house property".

Similarly, an assessee can have loss under one head of income, say, Income from house property and profits under another head of income, say, Profits and gains of business or profession. There are provisions in the Income-tax Act for allowing inter-head adjustment in certain cases. Further, losses which cannot be set-off in the current year due to inadequacy of eligible profits can be carried forward for set-off in the subsequent years as per the provisions contained in the Income-tax Act.

Effect has to be given to these provisions for set-off/carry forward and set-off of losses.

Step 7 – Computation of Gross Total Income.

The final figures of income or loss under each head of income, after allowing the deductions, allowances and other adjustments, are then aggregated, after giving effect to the provisions for clubbing of income and set-off and carry forward of losses, to arrive at the gross total income.

Step 8 – Deductions from Gross Total Income

There are deductions prescribed from gross total income. The allowable deductions in case of an individual are deductions under sections 80C, 80CCC, 80CCD, 80D, 80DD, 80DDB, 80E, 80G, 80GG, 80GGA, 80GGC, 80-IA, 80-IAB, 80-IB, 80-IC, 80-ID, 80-IE, 80JJA, 80QQB, 80RRB and 80U. These deductions are allowable subject to satisfaction of the conditions prescribed in the relevant sections.

Step 9 – Total income

The total income of an individual is arrived at, after claiming the above deductions from the gross total income

Step 10 – Application of the rates of tax on the total income

For individuals, there is a slab rate and basic exemption limit. At present, the basic exemption limit is Rs.1,50,000. This means that no tax is payable by individuals with total income of up to Rs.1,50,000. The rates of tax and level of total income are as under -

	Level of total income	Rate of tax
(i)	where the total income does not exceed Rs.1,50,000	Nil;
(ii)	where the total income exceeds Rs.1,50,000 but does not exceed Rs.3,00,000	10% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.1,50,000
(iii)	where the total income exceeds Rs.3,00,000 but does not exceed Rs.5,00,000	Rs.15,000 plus 20% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.3,00,000;
(iv)	where the total income exceeds Rs.5,00,000	Rs.55,000 plus 30% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.5,00,000.

It is to be noted that for a woman resident below the age of 65 years at any time during the previous year, the basic exemption limit is Rs.1,80,000 and for a senior citizen (being a resident individual who is of the age of 65 years or more at any time during the previous year), the basic exemption limit is Rs.2,25,000. Therefore, the tax slabs for these assessees would be as follows –

For resident women below the age of 65 years

(i)	where the total income does not exceed Rs.1,80,000	Nil;

(ii)	where the total income exceeds Rs.1,80,000 but does not exceed Rs.3,00,000	10% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.1,80,000
(iii)	where the total income exceeds Rs.3,00,000 but does not exceed Rs.5,00,000	Rs.12,000 plus 20% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.3,00,000;
(iv)	where the total income exceeds Rs.5,00,000	Rs.52,000 plus 30% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.5,00,000.

For senior citizens (being resident individuals of the age of 65 years or more)

(i)	where the total income does not exceed Rs.2,25,000	Nil;
(ii)	where the total income exceeds Rs.2,25,000 but does not exceed Rs.3,00,000	10% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.2,25,000;
(iii)	where the total income exceeds Rs.3,00,000 but does not exceed Rs.5,00,000	Rs.7,500 plus 20% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.3,00,000;
(iv)	where the total income exceeds Rs.5,00,000	Rs.47,500 plus 30% of the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs.5,00,000.

Further, the rates of tax for long-term capital gains, certain short-term capital gains and winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles, races etc. are prescribed in sections 112, 111A and 115BB respectively. The rates of tax are 20%,15% and 30% respectively, in the above cases.

These tax rates have to be applied on the total income to arrive at the income-tax liability.

Step 11 – Surcharge

For individuals, surcharge would be levied @10% of tax payable when their total income exceeds Rs.10 lakh.

Step 12 – Education cess and "Secondary and higher education cess"

The income-tax, as increased by the surcharge, is to be further increased by an additional surcharge called education cess@2%. Further, a "secondary and higher education cess on income-tax"@1% of income-tax and surcharge is leviable from A.Y.2008-09. This is payable by all individuals who are liable to pay income-tax irrespective of their level of total income.

Step 13 – Credit for advance tax and TDS

From the total tax due, deduct the TDS and advance tax paid for the relevant assessment year. The balance is the net tax payable by an individual which must be paid as self-assessment tax before submitting the return of income.

An illustration is given for better understanding of the procedure of computation of total income and tax liability of individuals.

PROVISIONS CONCERNING ADVANCE TAX AND TAX DEDUCTED AT SOURCE

Learning Objectives

After studying this chapter, you would be able to understand –

- the modes of recovery of income-tax from an assessee
- the provisions governing deduction of tax at source from certain specified income and payments
- the cases where tax is not required to be deducted at source and the conditions to be satisfied for this purpose
- how to avail credit for tax deducted at source
- what is the duty of the person deducting tax
- the consequences of failure to deduct tax at source or make payment of the tax deducted at source
- who are the "persons responsible for paying" tax deducted at source
- when the liability to pay advance tax arises
- how advance tax is computed
- the schedule of instalments for payment of advance tax
- the consequence of non-payment or short-payment of advance tax
- the consequence of deferment of advance tax.

1. DEDUCTION OF TAX AT SOURCE AND ADVANCE PAYMENT [SECTION 190]

The total income of an assessee for the previous year is taxable in the relevant assessment year. For example, the total income for the P.Y.2008-09 is taxable in the A.Y.2009-10. However, the income-tax is recovered from the assessee in the previous year itself through –

(1) Tax deduction at source (TDS)

(2) Payment of advance tax

Another mode of recovery of tax is from the employer through tax paid by him under section 192(1A) on the non-monetary perquisites provided to the employee.

These taxes are deductible from the total tax due from the assessee. The assessee, while filing his return of income, has to pay self-assessment tax under section 140A, if tax is due on the total income as per his return of income after adjusting, inter-alia, TDS and advance tax.

2. DIRECT PAYMENT [SECTION 191]

Section 191 provides that in the following cases, tax is payable by the assessee directly –

(1) in the case of income in respect of which tax is not required to be deducted at source; and

(2) income in respect of which tax is liable to be deducted but is not actually deducted.

In view of these provisions of section 191, the proceedings for recovery of tax necessarily had to be taken against the assessee whose tax was liable to be deducted, but not deducted.

In order to overcome this difficulty, the Explanation to this section provides that if –

(1) any person, including the principal officer of the company, who is required to deduct tax at source or

(2) an employer paying tax on non-monetary perquisites under section 192(1A), does not deduct the whole or part of the tax, or after deducting fails to pay such tax deducted, then such person shall be deemed to be an assessee in default.

However, if the assessee himself has paid the tax, this provision will not apply.

3. DEDUCTION OF TAX AT SOURCE

3.1 Salary [Section 192]

(1) This section casts an obligation on every person responsible for paying any income chargeable to tax under the head 'Salaries' to deduct income-tax on the amount payable.

(2) Such income-tax has to be calculated at the average rate of income-tax computed on the basis of the rates in force for the relevant financial year in which the payment is made, on the estimated total income of the assessee. Therefore, the liability to deduct tax at source in the case of salaries arises only at the time of payment.

(3) Average rate of income-tax means the rate arrived at by dividing the amount of income-tax calculated on the total income, by such total income.

(4) However, deduction at a rate lower than that prescribed may be made if a certificate has been obtained under section 197 from the Assessing Officer.

(5) Every year, the CBDT issues a circular giving details and direction to all employers for the purpose of deduction of tax from salaries payable to the employees during the relevant financial year. These instructions should be followed.

(6) The concept of payment of tax on non-monetary perquisites has been provided in sections 192(1A) and (1B). These sections provide that the employer may pay this tax, at his option, in lieu of deduction of tax at source from salary payable to the employee. Such tax will have to be worked out at the average rate applicable to aggregate salary income of the employee and payment of tax will have to be made every month along with tax deducted at source on monetary payment of salary, allowances etc.

(7) In cases where an assessee is simultaneously employed under more than one employer or the assessee takes up a job with another employer during the financial year after his resignation or retirement from the services of the former employer, he may furnish the details of the income under the head "Salaries" due or received by him from the other employer, the tax deducted therefrom and such other particulars to his current employer. Thereupon, the subsequent employer should take such information into consideration and then deduct the tax remaining payable in respect of the employee's remuneration from both the employers put together for the relevant financial year.

(8) For purposes of deduction of tax out of salaries payable in a foreign currency, the value of salaries in terms of rupees should be calculated at the prescribed rate of exchange as specified in Rule 26 of the Income-tax Rules.

(9) In respect of salary payments to employees of Government or to employees of companies, co-operative societies, local authorities, universities, institutions, associations or bodies, deduction of tax at source should be made after allowing relief under section 89(1), where eligible.

(10) A tax payer having salary income in addition to other income chargeable to tax for that financial year, may send to the employer the following:

(i) particulars of such other income

(ii) particulars of any tax deducted under any other provision

(iii) loss, if any, under the head 'Income from house property'

The employer shall take the above particulars into account while calculating tax deductible at source.

It is also provided that except in cases where loss from house property has been adjusted against salary income, the tax deductible from salary should not be reduced as a consequence of making the above adjustments.

(11) Sub-section (2C) provides that the employer shall furnish to the employee a statement giving correct and complete particulars of perquisites or profits in lieu of salary provided to him and the value thereof. The statement shall be in the prescribed form (Form 12BA) and manner. This requirement is applicable only where the salary paid/payable to an employee exceeds Rs.1,50,000. For other employees, the particulars of perquisites/profits in lieu of salary shall be given in Form 16 itself.

3.2 Interest on securities [Section 193]

(1) This section casts responsibility on every person responsible for paying to a resident any income by way of interest on securities.

(2) Such person is vested with the responsibility to deduct income-tax at the rates in force from the amount of interest payable.

In a case where the payee is a domestic company, tax is deductible@ 20%. In case of other payees, tax is deductible@10% (However, in the case of unlisted debentures, tax is deductible @20% even for other payees). In addition, surcharge@10%, if applicable, and education cess@2% and secondary and higher education cess@1% is leviable.

(vii) on any security of the Central Government or a State Government;

The TDS provisions will not apply to dividend receivable by LIC, GIC, its subsidiaries or any other insurer provided the shares are owned by them, or they have full beneficial interest in such shares.

3.4 Interest other than interest on securities [Section 194A]

This section deals with the scheme of deduction of tax at source from interest other than interest on securities. The main provisions are the following:

(1) This section applies only to interest, other than “interest on securities”, credited or paid by assessees other than individuals or Hindu undivided families. In other words, companies, firms, association of persons, local authorities and artificial juridical persons are under a legal obligation to deduct tax at source in respect of the interest other than “interest on securities” paid by them.

(2) These provisions apply only to interest paid or credited to residents. In respect of payments to non-residents, the provisions are contained under section 195.

(3) The deduction of tax must be made at the time of crediting such interest to the payee or at the time of its payment in cash or by any other mode, whichever is earlier.

(4) Where any such interest is credited to any account in the books of account of the person liable to pay such income, such crediting is deemed to be credit of such income to the account of the payee and the tax has to be deducted at source.

(5) The account to which such interest is credited may be called "Interest Payable account" or "Suspense account" or by any other name.

(6) The deduction of tax at source is to be made in all cases where the amount of income by way of interest or, as the case may be, the aggregate of the amounts of interest credited or paid or likely to be credited or paid during the financial year to the account of or to the payee or any other person on his behalf is more than Rs.5,000.

(7) The rates at which the deduction is to be made are given in Part II of the First Schedule to the Annual Finance Act. The rate at which tax is to be deducted is 10% for resident non-corporate assessees and 20% for domestic companies, as increased by a surcharge of 10%, if applicable, and education cess of 2% and secondary and higher education cess of 1%.

(8) No deduction of tax shall be made in the following cases:

(a) If the aggregate amount of interest paid or credited during the financial year does not exceed Rs.5,000.

This limit is increased to Rs.10,000 in respect of interest paid on –

(i) time deposits with a banking company;

(ii) time deposits with a co-operative society engaged in banking business; and

(iii) deposits with post office under notified schemes.

In all other cases, the limit would continue to be Rs.5,000.

The limit will be calculated with respect to income credited or paid by a branch of a bank or a co-operative society or a public company in case of:

(i) time deposits with a bank

(ii) time deposits with a co-operative society carrying on the business of banking; and

(iii) deposits with housing finance companies, provided:

- their main object is to carry on the business of providing long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes.

The above ceiling will operate:

(i) on a branch of a bank;

(ii) with reference to only time deposits.

Hence, the interest on all other types of account such as savings account, recurring deposits etc., payable by a branch will have to be excluded to determine whether the interest exceeds Rs.5,000 or not. However, in respect of time deposits, interest on all such time deposits maintained with a branch has to be aggregated.

(b) Interest paid or credited by a firm to any of its partners;

(c) Interest paid or credited by a co-operative society to a member there of or any other co-operative society;

(f) Interest credited or paid in respect of deposits with primary agricultural credit society or a primary credit society or a co-operative land mortgage bank or a co-operative land development bank.

(g) Interest income credited or paid by the Central Government under any provisions of the Income-tax Act, the Estate Duty Act, the Wealth-tax Act, the Gift-tax Act, the Companies (Profits) Surtax Act or the Interest Tax Act.

(i) income credited or paid by way of interest on the compensation amount awarded by the Motor Accidents Claims Tribunal where the amount of such income or, as the case may be, the aggregate of the amounts of such income credited or paid during the financial year does not exceed Rs.50,000.

(j) income paid or payable by an infrastructure capital company or infrastructure capital fund or public sector company in relation to a zero coupon bond issued on or after 1.6.2005 (Refer chapter 1, Unit 2 for definitions of infrastructure capital company and infrastructure capital fund as per sections 2(26A) and 2(26B), respectively)

(9) The expression "time deposits" [for the purpose of (8)(a) above] means the deposits, excluding recurring deposits, repayable on the expiry of fixed periods.

(10) The time for making the payment of tax deducted at source would reckon from the date of credit of interest made constructively to the account of the payee.

(11) The following table shows the applicability of section 194A to various banks/co-operative societies:

Sl.No.	Entity	Nature of deposit
		Term deposit	Other deposit

4.	Co-operative land mortgage bank	N.A.	N.A.
5.	Co-operative land development bank	N.A.	N.A.
6.	Any other co-operative society engaged in the business of banking.	Applicable	N.A.

3.5 Winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles and horse races [Sections 194B and 194BB]

(1) Any income of a casual and non-recurring nature of the type of winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles, card game and other game of any sort, races including horse races, etc. will be charged to income-tax at a flat rate of 30% [Section 115BB].

(2) According to the provisions of section 194B, every person responsible for paying to any person, whether resident or non-resident, any income by way of winnings from lottery or crossword puzzle or card came and other game of any sort, is required to deduct income-tax therefrom at the rate of 30% if the amount of payment exceeds Rs.5,000.

(3) Further, in a case where the winnings are wholly in kind or partly in cash and partly in kind but the part in cash is not sufficient to meet the liability of deduction of tax in respect of whole of the winnings, the person responsible for paying shall, before releasing the winnings, ensure that tax has been paid in respect of the winnings.

(4) Section 194BB casts responsibility on the following persons to deduct tax at source -

(i) a bookmaker; or

(ii) a person to whom a licence has been granted by the Government under any law for the time being in force -

  (a) for horse racing in any race course; or

(5) The obligation to deduct tax at source under section 194BB arises when the abovementioned persons make payment of any income by way of winnings from any horse race in excess of Rs.2,500. The rate applicable for deduction of tax at source is 30%.

(6) Tax will have to be deducted at source from winnings from horse races even though the winnings may be paid to the person concerned in installments of less than Rs.2,500. Similarly, in cases where the book-maker or other person responsible for paying the winnings, credits such winnings and debits the losses to the individual account of the punter, the set off of the loss against the income would be treated for this purpose as a constructive payment of the income.

(7) In the context of the provisions of section 194BB, the expression 'any horse race' used therein must be taken to include, wherever the circumstances so necessitate, more than one horse race. Therefore, winnings by way of jack pot would also fall within the scope of section 194BB.

3.6 Payments to contractors and sub-contractors [Section 194C]

(1) Section 194C provides for deduction of tax at source from the payment made to contractors and sub-contractors.

(2) Any person responsible for paying any sum to a resident contractor for carrying out any work or supplying labour for carrying out any work (including supply of labour for carrying out any work) in pursuance of a contract between the contractor and the Central Government, a State Government, local authority, statutory corporation, a company, co-operative society, any statutory authority dealing with housing accomodation, any society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, any trust or any university or any firm must deduct income-tax at the prescribed rate from such sum at the time of credit or payment, whichever is earlier.

The scope of TDS provisions have been expanded to cover contract payments by specified individuals and HUFs w.e.f. 1.6.2007 and by specified AOPs and BOIs w.e.f. 1.6.2008. Payments made by Individuals, HUFs, AOPs and BOIs to a contractor would attract TDS if their total sales/turnover exceeds Rs.40 lakh (in case of business) and gross receipts exceed Rs.10 lakh (in case of profession) in the immediately preceding financial year. However, relief has been provided in respect of payments made by individuals/HUFs to a contractor exclusively for personal purposes.

(3) The prescribed rate is 1% in the case of advertising and 2% in any other case.

(4) A contractor, not being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, will in the following cases, be required to deduct tax at the rate of 1% at the time of credit or payment, whichever is earlier, to a resident sub-contractor -

(i) Where the contractor enters into an agreement with the sub-contractor for carrying out or for the supply of labour for carrying out the whole or any part of his work.

(ii) Where the contractor enters into an agreement with the sub-contractor for supply of labour, either wholly or partly, which the contractor has undertaken to supply.

(5) The expression “contractor” shall also include a contractor who is carrying out any work (including supply of labour for carrying out any work) in pursuance of any contract between the contractor and the Government of a foreign state or a foreign enterprise or any association or body established outside India.

(6) Where any sum referred to in this section is credited to any account, whether called “Suspense Account” or by any other name in the books of account of the person liable to pay such income, such crediting shall be deemed to be credit of such income to the account of the payee and the provisions of this section shall apply accordingly.

(7) The expression “work” shall also include:

(a) advertising;

(b) broadcasting and telecasting including production of programs for such broadcasting or telecasting;

(c) carriage of goods and passengers by any mode of transport other than by railways;

(d) catering.

(8) No deduction will be required to be made if the consideration for the contract does not exceed Rs.20,000. However, to prevent the practice of composite contracts being split up into contracts valued at less than Rs.20,000 to avoid tax deduction, it has been provided that tax will be required to be deducted at source where the amount credited or paid or likely to be credited or paid to a contractor or sub-contractor exceeds Rs.20,000 in a single payment or Rs.50,000 in the aggregate during a financial year.

(9) No deduction is required to be made from the sum credited or paid or likely to be credited or paid during the previous year to the account of an individual sub-contractor, who has not owned more than two goods carriages at any time during the previous year, during the course of the business of plying, hiring or leasing goods carriages.

(10) However, for this purpose, it is necessary to produce a declaration within the prescribed time to the concerned person paying or crediting such sum. Such declaration should be in the prescribed form and manner.

(11) Further, the person responsible for paying any such sum to the sub-contractor should furnish to the prescribed income-tax authority or the person authorized by it, the prescribed particulars in the prescribed form within the prescribed time.

(12) Goods carriage means -

(i) any motor vehicle constructed or adapted for use solely for the carriage of goods; or

(ii) any motor vehicle not so constructed or adapted, when used for the carriage of goods.

(13) The substance of the provisions is explained hereunder:

(i) The deduction of income-tax at source from payments made to non-resident contractors will be governed by the provisions of section 195.

(ii) The deduction of income-tax will be made from sums paid for carrying out any work or for supplying labour for carrying out any work. In other words, the section will apply only in relation to 'works contracts' and 'labour contracts' and will not cover contracts for sale of goods.

(iii) Contracts for rendering professional services by lawyers, physicians, surgeons, engineers, accountants, architects, consultants etc., can not be regarded as contracts for carrying out any "work" and, accordingly, no deduction of income-tax is to be made from payments relating to such contracts under this section. Separate provisions for fees for professional services have been made under section 194J.

(iv) The deduction of income-tax must be made at the time of credit of the sum to the account of the contractor, or at the time of payment thereof in cash or by issue of a cheque or draft or by any other mode, whichever is earlier.

(v) The question whether a deduction under this provision will be made with reference to the gross payment due to the contractor or the net payment i.e., gross payment minus deductions if any, on account of materials supplied by the Government or other specified persons will have to be decided in the light of the terms of the particular contract and the conduct of the parties thereto. Where the contractor has undertaken to construct a building or a dam, and the Government or other specified person has undertaken to supply all or any of the materials necessary for the work at stipulated prices, the deduction will have to be related to the gross payment without excluding any adjustments on account of the cost of materials. Where however, the contractor has undertaken only to provide the labour for the work, the ownership of the materials supplied remaining at all times with the Government or other specified person, the sum payable to the contractor in respect of the contract will only be the amount paid for such labour or services and will not include the price of the materials supplied by the Government or other specified person.

(vi) The rate of deduction of income-tax from payment made by the Government or other specified person to any contractor will be 1% or 2% (as the case may be) of the gross payment or, as the case may be, the net payment, depending on the terms of the contract, as explained in item (v) above.

(vii) Where a contractor, not being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, is engaged in carrying out any work or supply of labour for carrying out such work by the Central Government or a State Government, a local authority, a corporation established under a Central, State or Provincial Act or a company has, in turn, engaged any sub-contractor (a) for carrying out the whole or any part of the work undertaken by the contractor, or (b) for the supply of labour to carry out such work or (c) for supply of labour which the contractor had under taken to supply, he will be required to deduct income-tax at source from the payment to the sub-contractor at the rate of 1% of such payment. The provisions governing payments to contractors as set forth at items (iv) and (v) will apply mutadis mutandis to payments made by contractor to sub-contractors.

(viii) The amount of tax to be deducted at source should be rounded off to the nearest rupee.

(ix) The tax deducted on behalf of the Government should be paid to the credit of the Central Government on the same day by book adjustment. In other cases, the tax deducted should be paid to the credit of the Central Government within one week from the last day of the month in which the deduction is made.

(x) The person responsible for making any payment to contractor, or sub-contractor, as the case may be, should issue a certificate showing therein particulars of the payment, the amount of tax deducted at source and the date of credit etc.

(xi) Circular No.13/2006, dated 13.12.2006 - Applicability of TDS provisions of section 194C on contract for fabrication of article or thing as per specifications given by the assessee

The CBDT has clarified the issue regarding the applicability of TDS provisions of section 194C on contract for fabrication of article or thing as per specifications given by the assessee. The CBDT observed that before taking a decision on the applicability of TDS under section 194C on a contract, it would have to be examined whether the contract in question is a contract for work or a contract for sale.

The CBDT clarified that the provisions of section 194C would apply in respect of a contract for supply of any article or thing as per prescribed specifications only if it is a contract for work and not a contract for sale as per the principles in this regard laid down in para 7(vi) of Circular No. 681, dated 8-3-1994. Para 7(vi) of Circular No.681 clarifies that where the property in the article or thing so fabricated passes from the fabricator-contractor to the assessee only after such article or thing is delivered to the assessee, such contract would be a contract of sale and would, therefore, fall outside the purview of section 194C.

(a) land; or

(b) building (including factory building); or

(c) land appurtenant to a building (including factory building); or

(d) machinery; or

(e) plant; or

(f) equipment; or

(g) furniture; or

(h) fittings,

whether or not any or all of the above are owned by the payee.

(6) Where any such income is credited to any account, whether called "Suspense account" or by any other name, in the books of account of the person liable to pay such income, such crediting shall be deemed to be credit of such income to the account of the payee and the provisions of this section will apply accordingly.

Applicability of TDS provisions under section 194-I to payments made by the customers on account of cooling charges to the cold storage owners.

CBDT Circular No.1/2008 dated 10.1.2008 provides clarification regarding applicability of provisions of section 194-I to payments made by the customers on account of cooling charges to the cold storage owners.

The main function of the cold storage is to preserve perishable goods by means of a mechanical process, and storage of such goods is only incidental in nature. The customer is also not given any right to use any demarcated space/place or the machinery of the cold store and thus does not become a tenant. Therefore, the provisions of 194-I are not applicable to the cooling charges paid by the customers of the cold storage.

However, since the arrangement between the customers and cold storage owners are basically contractual in nature, the provision of section 194-C will be applicable to the amounts paid as cooling charges by the customers of the cold storage.

Applicability of TDS provisions under section 194-I to service tax component of rental income

CBDT Circular No.4/2008 dated 28.4.2008 provides clarification on deduction of tax at source (TDS) on service tax component of rental income under section 194-I.

As per the provisions of 194-I, tax is deductible at source on income by way of rent paid to any resident. Further, rent has been defined in 194-I to mean any payment, by whatever name called, under any lease, sub-lease, tenancy or any other agreement or arrangement for the use of (either separately or together) any,-

(a) land; or

(b) building (including factory building); or

(c) land appurtenant to a building (including factory building); or

(d) machinery; or

(e) plant; or

(f) equipment; or

(g) furniture; or

(h) fittings,

whether or not any or all of the above are owned by the payee.

Service tax paid by the tenant doesn't partake the nature of income of the landlord. The landlord only acts as a collecting agency for Government for collection of service tax. Therefore, tax deduction at source under section 194-I would be required to be made on the amount of rent paid/payable without including the service tax.

3.14 Fees for professional or technical services [Section 194J]

(1) Every person, other than an individual or Hindu undivided family, who is responsible for paying to a resident any sum by way of fees for professional services or fees for technical services or royalty or non-compete fees referred to in section 28(va) shall deduct tax at source at the rate of 10%.

(2) The deduction is to be made at the time of credit of such sum to the account of the payee or at the time of payment thereof in cash or by issue of a cheque or draft or by any other mode, whichever is earlier.

(3) No tax deduction is required if the amount of fees or the aggregate of the amounts of fees credited or paid or likely to be credited or paid during a financial year does not exceed Rs.20,000 in the case of fees for professional services, Rs.20,000 in the case of fees for technical services, Rs.20,000 in the case of royalty and Rs.20,000 in the case of non-compete fees. If A Ltd. pays Rs.17,000 towards fees for professional services, Rs.14,000 towards fees for technical services and Rs.19,000 towards royalty to a resident individual, say Mr.X, during the P.Y.2008-09, there would be no liability to deduct tax at source under section 194J since payment for each individual service does not exceed Rs.20,000 during the year.

(4) An individual or a Hindu undivided family, whose total sales, gross receipts or turnover from the business or profession carried on by him exceed the monetary limits specified under clause (a) or clause (b) of section 44AB of the Income-tax Act during the financial year immediately preceding the financial year in which such sum by way of fees for professional or technical services is credited or paid shall be liable to deduct income-tax under this sub-section.

(5) However, such individual or Hindu Undivided family, shall not be liable deduct income-tax on the sum payable by way of fees for professional services, in case such sum is credited or paid exclusively for personal purposes.

(6) Where any fees for professional or technical services is credited to any account, whether called suspense account or by any other name, in the books of accounts of the person liable to pay such sum, such crediting shall be deemed to be credit of such sum to the account of the payee and tax has to be deducted accordingly.

(7) "Professional services" means services rendered by a person in the course of carrying on legal, medical, engineering or architectural profession or the profession of accountancy or technical consultancy or interior decoration or advertising or such other profession as is notified by the CBDT for the purposes of section 44AA or of this section.

(8) Other professions notified for the purposes of section 44AA are as follows:

(a) Profession of "authorised representatives";

(b) Profession of "film artist";

(c) Profession of "company secretary".

(9) Accordingly, the requirement of TDS as per section 194J would apply to all the aforesaid professions. The term "profession", as such, is of a very wide import. However, the term has been defined in this section exhaustively. For the purposes of TDS, therefore, all other professions would be outside the scope of section 194J. For example, this section will not apply to professions of teaching, sculpture, painting etc. unless they are notified.

(10) Explanation (b) to section 194J provides that the term 'fees for technical services' shall have the same meaning as in Explanation 2 to section 9(1) (vii). The term 'fees for technical services' as defined in Explanation 2 to section 9(i)(vii) means any consideration (including any lump sum consideration) for rendering of any of the following services:

(i) Managerial services;

(ii) Technical services;

(iii) Consultancy services;

(iv) Provision of services of technical or other personnel.

It is expressly provided that the term 'fees for technical services' will not include following types of consideration:

(i) Consideration for any construction, assembly, mining or like project, or

(ii) Consideration which is chargeable under the head 'Salaries'.

3.15 Certain Individuals and HUFs to deduct tax at source

(1) Any individual or HUF who is liable to get the accounts audited under section 44AB in the immediately preceding year will have to deduct tax at source from the following payments

(ii) contract work under section 194C(1) and sub-contract work under section 194C(2);

(iii) commission or brokerage under section 194H

(iv) rent under section 194-I and

(v) fees for professional and technical services under section 194J.

(2) Therefore, any individual/HUF carrying on business and having turnover/gross receipts exceeding Rs.40 lakh, or carrying on a profession and having gross receipts exceeding Rs.10 lakh, during the financial year immediately preceding the financial year in which such income is credited or paid, will have to deduct tax under the above sections.

(3) Such individual/HUF will have to obtain TAN no. under section 203A and comply with the provisions of deducting tax at source, depositing the tax within the prescribed time, issuing TDS certificates, filing TDS returns, etc.

3.16 Payment of compensation on acquisition of certain immovable property [Section 194LA]

(1) Section 194LA provides for deduction of tax at source by a person responsible for paying to a resident any sum in the nature of –

(i) compensation or the enhanced compensation or

(ii) the consideration or the enhanced consideration on account of compulsory acquisition, under any law for the time being in force, of any immovable property (other than agricultural land).

(2) Immovable property means any land (other than agricultural land) or any building or part of a building.

(3) The amount of tax to be deducted is 10% of such sum mentioned in (1) above.

(4) The tax should be deducted at the time of payment of such sum in cash or by issue of a cheque or draft or by any other mode, whichever is earlier.

(5) No tax is required to be deducted where the amount of such payment or, as the case may be, the aggregate amount of such payments to a resident during the financial year does not exceed Rs.1 lakh.

3.17 Other sums (payable to non-residents) [Section 195]

(1) Any person responsible for paying interest or any other sum chargeable to tax (other than salaries) to a non-resident or to a foreign company is liable to deduct tax at source at the rates prescribed by the relevant Finance Act. Such persons are also required to furnish the information relating to payment of any sum in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the CBDT.

(2) In order to subject an item of income to deduction of tax under this section the payee must be a non-resident or a foreign company.

(3) The tax is to be deducted at source at the time of credit of such income to the account of the payee or at the time of payment thereof in cash or by the issue of a cheque or draft or by any other mode, whichever is earlier.

(4) Where any interest or other sum as aforesaid is credited to any account, whether called "Interest payable account" or "Suspense account" or by any other name, in the books of account of the person liable to pay such income, such crediting shall be deemed to be credit of such income to the account of the payee.

(5) The statutory obligation imposed under this section would apply for the purpose of deduction of tax at source from any sum being income assessable to tax (other than salary income) in the hands of the non-resident/foreign company. However, no deduction shall be made in respect of any dividends declared/distributed/paid by a domestic company, which is exempt in the hands of the shareholders under section 10(34).

(6) Payment to a non-resident by way of royalties and payments for technical services rendered in India are common examples of sums chargeable under the provisions of the Act to which the liability for deduction of tax at source would apply.

(7) In the case of interest payable by the Government or a public sector bank within the meaning of section 10(23D) or a public financial institution within the meaning of section 10(23D), deduction of tax shall be made only at the time of payment thereof in cash or by the issue of a cheque or draft or by any other mode.

(5) If the Assessing Officer is satisfied that the applicant assessee has declared his income from the bonds from year to year on accrual basis during the period the bond was held by him, he shall issue a certificate allowing the tax deduction at source at such reduced rate as is justified by the total income of the applicant in the year of redemption.

(6) An assessee, being a resident individual, who is the original subscriber of a Deep

1. RETURN OF INCOME

The Income-tax Act contains provisions for filing of return of income. Return of income is the format in which the assessee furnishes information as to his total income and tax payable. The format for filing of returns by different assessees is notified by the CBDT. The particulars of income earned under different heads, gross total income, deductions from gross total income, total income and tax payable by the assessee are generally required to be furnished in a return of income. In short, a return of income is the declaration of income by the assessee in the prescribed format.

2. COMPULSORY FILING OF RETURN OF INCOME [SECTION 139(1)]

(1) As per section 139(1), it is compulsory for companies and firms to file a return of income or loss for every previous year on or before the due date in the prescribed form.

(2) In case of a person other than a company or a firm, filing of return of income on or before the due date is mandatory, if his total income or the total income of any other person in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year exceeds the basic exemption limit.

(3) Such persons should, on or before the due date, furnish a return of his income or the income of such other person during the previous year in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner and setting forth such other particulars as may be prescribed.

(4) Further, every person, being an individual or a HUF or an AOP or BOI or an artificial juridical person - – whose total income or the total income of any other person in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year – without giving effect to the provisions of section 10A or 10B or 10BA or Chapter VI-A – exceeded the basic exemption limit is required to file a return of his income or income of such other person on or before the due date in the prescribed form and manner and setting forth the prescribed particulars.

For the A.Y.2009-10, the basic exemption limit is Rs.1,50,000 for individuals/HUFs/AOPs/BOIs and artificial juridical persons, Rs.1,80,000 for women assessees below the age of 65 years and Rs.2,25,000 for assessees of the age of 65 years or more at any time during the previous year. These amounts denote the level of total income, which is arrived at after claiming the admissible deductions under sections 10A, 10B, 10BA and Chapter VI-A. However, the level of total income to be considered for the purpose of filing return of income is the income before claiming the admissible deductions under sections 10A, 10B, 10BA and Chapter VI-A.

(5) 'Due date' means -

(3) The interest has to be calculated on the amount of tax on total income as determined under section 143(1) or on regular assessment as reduced by the advance tax paid and any tax deducted or collected at source.

Note – Section 143(1) provides that if any tax or interest is found due on the basis of a return of income after adjustment of advance tax, tax deducted at source and self-assessment tax, an intimation would be sent to the assessee and such intimation is deemed to be a notice of demand issued under section 156. If any refund is due on the basis of the return, it shall be granted to the assessee and an intimation to this effect would be sent to the assessee. Where no tax or refund is due, the acknowledgement of the return is deemed to be an intimation under section 156.

4. OPTION TO FURNISH RETURN OF INCOME TO EMPLOYER [SECTION 139(1A)]

(1) This section gives an option to a person, being an individual who is in receipt of income chargeable under the head "Salaries", to furnish a return of his income for any previous year to his employer, in accordance with such scheme as may be notified by the CBDT and subject to such conditions as may be specified therein.

SERVICE TAX AND VAT

CHAPTER 1

CONCEPTS AND GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF SERVICE TAX

Learning objectives

After reading this chapter you will be able to understand the:

- principles underlying the introduction of service tax.
- evolution of service tax to its present form.
- nature of coverage of services in India.
- constitutional background of service tax.
- components which make up the service tax law.
- administrative machinery of service tax.
- procedures governing the service tax law.
- nature of services rendered by a chartered accountant in his capacity as a service tax consultant.
- challenges faced by the service tax administration.
- extent, commencement and application of the service tax provisions.

1. NEED FOR A TAX ON SERVICES

In any Welfare State, it is the prime responsibility of the Government to fulfill the increasing developmental needs of the country and its people by way of public expenditure. India, being a developing economy, has been striving to fulfill the obligations of a Welfare State with its limited resources. The Government's primary sources of revenue are direct and indirect taxes. Central excise duty on the goods manufactured/produced in India and customs duties on imported goods constitute the two major sources of indirect taxes in India. However, revenue receipts from customs & excise have been declining due to World Trade Commitments and rationalization of commodity duties.

On the other hand, service sector has been growing phenomenally all over the world, though it may vary in degree and magnitude among the various countries. The growing importance of this sector can be gauged from the ever increasing contribution made by the service sector to GDP, thereby pushing back the contribution of traditional contributors like agriculture and manufacturing sectors. India is also not an exception to this changed phenomenon. In 2002, the service sector accounted for 49.2% of GDP while agriculture accounted for 25% and industry 25.8% of GDP. Continued growth in GDP accompanied by higher rate of growth in service sector promises new and wider avenues of taxation to the Government.

In the present day context, services are so widespread and encompass almost all activities like management, banking, insurance, hospitality, administration, communication, entertainment, travel, wholesale distribution, retailing, research and development activities, other professional services, etc. Service sector is now occupying the center stage of the economy so much so that in the contemporary world, development of service sector has become synonymous with the advancement of the economy. Economists believe that with the phenomenal development of the service sector, the exclusion of the service sector from indirect taxation leads not only to the loss of considerable potential revenue, but also creates distortion in the allocation of resources. The distortion arises because the consumer starts making the choice between the consumption of goods and services.

Hence, the Government's argument is that substantial revenue should come from the service sector and the tax on goods (excise duty) should be complemented with the tax on services. If the tax on services reduces the degree of intensity of taxation on manufacturing and trade without forcing the government to compromise on the revenue needs, it will enable better pricing of its products by the manufacturing sector in the global market.

With these objectives in mind, service tax was introduced in India in 1994 and today it is envisaged as the tax of the future.

2. GENESIS OF SERVICE TAX IN INDIA

The levy of service tax can be traced back to recommendations made in early 1990's by the Tax Reforms Committee headed by Professor Dr. Raja J. Chelliah. The Committee recommended imposition of tax on select services. The Committee emphasized the importance of moving towards full-fledged value added tax for making the system of indirect taxation broadly revenue neutral in relation to production and consumption and widening the tax base by covering exempted commodities. Dr. Raja J. Chelliah opined that introduction of value added tax would eliminate cascading and cost escalation effect of indirect taxation. However, the desired objectives would not be achieved to the full extent, unless services were also taxed and the tax on services and tax on goods were integrated to form one general value added tax. It was envisaged that as the central excise duties on goods would get gradually transformed into a value added tax at the manufacturing level, service tax would get woven into that system.[1]

It was considered that in the Indian context, the taxation of services would lead to widening of the tax base which would make possible a further reduction in the general level of rates of commodity taxes. The recommendations relating to introduction of service tax made in the interim report of the Tax Reforms Committee have been reproduced here for the better understanding of the students.

"We have throughout the report emphasised the need for broadening the base of the tax system, which would make possible a lowering of rates. In respect of indirect taxes such broadening has to take the form of covering (a) almost all commodities other than raw produce of agriculture, (b) many, if not most, services and (c) all stages of production or transactions. This is accomplished under the ideal system of VAT. In our present context, the major steps to be taken are to extend the coverage of commodities under excise, on which we have already made recommendations, and to make a beginning with the taxation of services.

From the economic point of view, there is little difference between the taxation of commodities and that of services. In both cases, the principle of value added taxation can be applied to tax the final users. As an economy develops, the services sector expands relatively to the commodities sector. Multifarious services are produced for the benefit of the consumers as well as producers. Exclusion of services from indirect taxation tends to create distortions just as the exclusion of major commodity groups. There is no question therefore, that services must be brought under taxation. As pointed out earlier, the substantial broadening of the base through the taxation of services would enable the lowering of rates of commodity taxation. A general value added tax levied even at 10 per cent covering imports and domestically produced commodities and services plus a selective excise at a limited number of higher rates on a few commodities should be able to fetch sufficient revenues.

It is extremely important, however, that we do not commit the same kinds of mistakes as we have committed in respect of commodities. We must ensure that there will be a unified and rational system of taxation of services applicable to the whole country. This means that the services tax must be part of a value added tax in course of time and should be levied at the central level. A cascading type of service tax should be avoided at all costs. We envisage that as the Union excise on commodities gets gradually transformed into a value added tax at the manufacturing level, the service tax will get woven into that system and therefore tax could be levied also on services that enter into the productive processes.

[1] Concepts relating to value added tax have been dealt in Chapter 4 of this study material.

Towards the end of our discussion of the reform of the Union excises earlier in this chapter we had indicated the manner in which the Modvat system should be gradually converted into the comprehensive value added tax at the manufacturing stage. Once this is done it would be possible to introduce a fairly comprehensive system of taxation of services also on the basis of the value added principle so that the entire system of indirect taxation at the Central level would be devoid of cascading and would cause no distortion in costs or in the allocation of resources.

The power to levy a tax on services in general is not mentioned either in the Union List or in the State List in the VII Schedule of the Constitution. However, by virtue of Entry 97 in the Union List which gives power to the Centre for levy and collection of "any tax not mentioned in either of those Lists" (that is, the State List or the Concurrent List), it is clear that the Union Legislature is competent to levy indirect tax on services.

For the time being only a few selected services should be subjected to tax; and the services to be selected for the purpose must be those which do not enter into productive processes in any substantial way. We recommend that a tax be levied on the following services:

a. Advertising services;

b. Services of stock brokers;

c. Service of automobile insurance;

d. Service of insurance of residential property, personal effects and jewellery; and

e. Residential telephone services.

In all the cases above except for telephone services, the tax will be levied at 10 per cent of the value of the transaction, i.e., the value of the turnover in the case of advertising and brokerage services and the value of the insurance policy in the case of insurance services. The same basis could be applied also to the taxation of the residential telephone services. However, in order to limit the incidence and because of the difficulty of separating out business and non-business telephone calls made from residences. It is recommended that an annual telephone service tax, on every residential telephone connection, of Rs. 1,000 be levied on those in whose names telephones are installed in residential premises. For purposes of this tax, connections in places other than the non-residential premises of public limited companies, non profit organisations and government offices will be treated as residential telephones.

The telephones department should be asked to collect the tax alongwith the telephone charges in bound equal instalments. It is common in India for employers to provide their senior employees with one or more telephone connections in their residences. Although they are meant to be used for official purposes, they are also generally being used for calls on personal account often without any restriction as to the number of calls. Such telephone connections should also be made subject to the telephone service tax. In their case, the tax can be collected only from the employers because the telephone connections would be in their names. However, in case such connections are in the name of the employer-the Government, public sector company, private sector company or non-profit organisation, as the case maybe-the tax will be collected from the employer. It is for the employer to recover the whole or part of the tax from the employee concerned".

Based on the above recommendations (though with certain modifications), Dr. Manmohan Singh, the then Union Finance Minister, in his Budget speech for the year 1994-95 introduced the new concept of service tax and stated that "There is no sound reason for exempting services from taxation, when goods are taxed and many countries treat goods and services alike for tax purposes. The Tax Reforms Committee has also recommended imposition of tax on services as a measure for broadening the base of indirect taxes. I, therefore, propose to make a modest effort in this direction by imposing a tax on services of telephones, non-life insurance and stock brokers." Thus, service tax was imposed on 3 services.

The baton then passed on to successive Finance Ministers who widened the service tax net in their budgets. The modest beginning that was made in the year 1994 by levying tax on three services has reached an ambitious level today. At present, 103 services are in the net of service tax. In the years to come, it is expected that all services would be in the service tax net except a few exempted services. During this period of fourteen years (1994-2007) not only the number of taxable services has increased from 3 to 103, the rate of service tax, which was 5% in the year 1994, has also taken a leap to 8% in the year 2003, to 10% in the year 2004 and to 12% in 2006.

3. SELECTIVE VS. COMPREHENSIVE COVERAGE

Depending on the socio-economic compulsions, each country evolved a taxation system on services adopting either a comprehensive approach or a selective approach. In comprehensive approach all services are made taxable and a negative list is given in case some services are to be exempted. In selective approach, selective services are subjected to service tax. While most of the developed countries tax all the services with very few and limited exemptions, most of the developing countries have opted for taxation of select services only. India has adopted a selective approach to taxation of services.

In India, service tax has been levied on specified taxable services and the responsibility of payment of the tax is cast on the service provider (barring few exceptional cases). The service tax is leviable on the gross amount charged by the service provider from the client. System of self assessment of service tax by the assesses has been introduced. Tax returns are expected to be filed half yearly. Central Board of Excise & Customs is the central authority to regulate service tax matters. Directorate of Service Tax at Mumbai oversees the activities at the field level for technical and policy level coordination.

4. VITAL STATISTICS OF SERVICE TAX

The service tax collections have shown a steady rise since its inception in 1994. The tax collections have grown manifolds since 1994-95 i.e, from Rs. 410 crores in 1994-95 to Rs. 14196 crores in 2004-05. Service tax collection is primarily from metro areas and bigger towns.

Service tax revenue collection target for the year 2004-05 was fixed at Rs. 14150 crores, however, the actual service tax revenue collection stands at Rs. 14196.19 crores. It indicates a growth of 79.93% against the actual realization Rs. 7889.97 crores during the last financial year 2003-04.

There is a substantial growth in the assessee base from 403856 nos. in 2003-04 to 7,74,988 nos. in 2004-05. It indicates a growth of almost 91%, which is significantly robust ever after 1994-95. The revenue and assessee statistics from the year 1994-95 to 2004-05 is shown in the Table below:

Year	No. of assessees	Gross Collections (Rs. Crores)	Percentage(%) of growth	No. of Services
1994-1995	3943	410	Base Year	3
1995-1996	4866	846	101	3
1996-1997	13982	1022	24	6
1997-1998	45991	1515	49	18
1998-1999	107479	1787	18	30
1999-2000	115495	2072	16	27
2000-2001	122326	2540	23	26

2001-2002	187577	3305	26	41
2002-2003	232048	4125	25	51
2003-2004	403856	7890	91	58
2004-2005	774988	14196	79.93	71

Trends of revenue indicate that the service tax collection is growing at fast rate since its inception.

5. NATURE OF SERVICE TAX

Service tax is a tax on services. This is not a tax on profession, trade, calling or employment but is in respect of service rendered. If there is no service, there is no tax. As per Webster's Concise Dictionary, 'service' means a useful result or product of labour, which is not a tangible commodity. Thus, basically, service is a value addition that can be perceived but cannot be seen, as it is intangible. However, usage of some goods during the course of rendering the service would not mean that there is no 'service'. It is the predominant factor in each case, which is to be studied to arrive at a conclusion.

6. CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY

The Government derives its power to levy taxes from the Constitution of India. Elaborate provisions have been made in the Constitution of India to regulate the power of taxation of both the Central Government and the State Governments. Article 265 of the Constitution of India prohibits arbitrary collection of tax. It reads as:

"No tax shall be levied or collected except by authority of law."

Thus the Government may levy a tax on the citizens only under the authority of the Constitution of India. The Constitution, in its Schedule VII, has enumerated the matters on which the Central Government and the State Government can make laws. Such matters are divided into three categories--

(a) List – I : Union List (It contains the matters in respect of which only the Central Government has the power of legislation)

(b) List – II : State List (It contains the matters in respect of which only the State Government has the power of legislation)

(c) List – III : Concurrent List (It contains the matters in respect of which both the Central and the State Governments have power of legislation).

Entries 82 to 92C of List I enumerate the subjects where the Central Government has power to levy taxes. Entries 45 to 63 of List II enumerate the subjects where the State Governments have power to levy taxes.

Entry 92C of the Union List of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India enables the Union to levy “Taxes on Services”. Initially there was no specific entry in the Union List for levying service tax. Service tax was levied by the Central Government by drawing power from entry 97 of the Union List. Entry 97 is a 'residuary entry' in List-I, which has been reproduced below:

“97 - Any other matter not enumerated in List II or List III including any tax not mentioned in either of those Lists.”

The 'residuary entry' provides wide powers to the Central Government in respect of taxation of the subjects not mentioned in the Lists given by the constitution.

However, as a result of deliberations between the States and the Centre and as per the recommendations of the various expert committees, entry 92C was introduced in the VII Schedule in the Union List vide Constitution (92nd Amendment) Act, 2003 with effect from 07.01.2004. Entry 92C reads as under:

“92C - Taxes on services.”

A new Article 268A was inserted in the Constitution which reads as follows:

"268 (1) Taxes on services shall be levied by the Government of India and such tax shall be collected and appropriated by the Government of India and the State in the manner provided in clause (2).

(2) The proceeds in any financial year of any such tax levied in accordance with the provisions of clause (1) shall be--

(a) Collected by the Government of India and the States;

(b) Appropriated by the Government of India and the States, in accordance with such principles of collection and appropriation as may be formulated by the Parliament by law."

A consequential amendment to Article 270 of the Constitution was also made to enable Parliament to formulate by law, principles for determining the modalities of levying the service tax by the Central Government and collection of the proceeds thereof by the Central Government and the State Government.

With this amendment in the Constitution, the Central Government has become competent to enact a separate legislation on service tax.

7. SERVICE TAX LAW

Service tax was introduced in 1994 but there is no independent statute on service tax as yet. However, following sources provide statutory provisions relating to service tax and can be broadly grouped under the following categories:

7.1 Finance Act, 1994: The statutory provisions relating to service tax were first promulgated through Chapter V of the Finance Act, 1994. Since then, Chapter V of the Finance Act, 1994 is working as the Act for the service tax provisions. Later, in the year 2003, the Finance Act 2003 inserted Chapter VA relating to advance rulings on service tax in the Finance Act, 1994. In the year 2004, the provisions relating to charging of 'education cess' on the amount of service tax were made applicable through Chapter VI of the Finance (No.2) Act, 2004.

7.2 Rules on service tax: Section 94 of Chapter V and section 96 -I of Chapter VA of the Finance Act, 1994 grants power to the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the provisions of these Chapters. Using these powers, the Central Government has issued Services Tax Rules 1994, Service Tax (Advance Rulings) Rules, 2003, CENVAT Credit Rules, 2004, Export of Service Rules, 2005, Service Tax (Registration of Special Category of Persons) Rules, 2005, Service Tax (Determination of Value) Rules, 2006 and Taxation of Services (Provided from Outside India and Received in India) Rules, 2006 which are amended from time to time.

Rules should be read with the statutory provisions contained in the Act. Rules are made for carrying out the provisions of the Act. The rules can never override the Act and cannot be in conflict with the same.

7.3 Notifications on service tax: Sections 93 and 94 of Chapter V, and section 96-I of Chapter VA of the Finance Act, 1994 empower the Central Government to issue notifications to exempt any service from service tax and to make rules to implement service tax provisions. Accordingly, notifications on service tax have been issued by the Central Government from time to time. These notifications usually declare date of enforceability of service tax provisions, provide rules relating to service tax, make amendments therein, provide or withdraw exemptions from service tax or deal with any other matter which the Central Government may think would facilitate the governance of service tax matters.

7.4 Circulars or Office Letters (Instructions) on service tax: The Central Board of Excise and Customs (CBEC) issues departmental circulars or instruction letters from time to time to explain the scope of taxable services and the scheme of service tax administration etc. These circulars/instructions have to be read with the statutory provisions and notifications on service tax.

The circulars clarify the provisions of the Act and thus, bring out the real intention of the legislature. However, the provisions of any Act of the Parliament cannot be altered or contradicted or changed by the departmental circulars.

7.5 Orders on service tax: Orders on service tax may be issued either by the CBEC or by the Central Government. Rule 3 of the Service Tax Rules, 1994, empowers the CBEC to appoint such Central Excise Officers as it thinks fit for exercising the powers under Chapter V of the Finance Act, 1994. Accordingly, orders have been issued by the CBEC, from time to time, to define jurisdiction of Central Excise Officers for the purposes of service tax.

7.6 Trade Notices on service tax: Trade Notices are issued by the Central Excise/Service Tax Commissionerates. These Commissionerates receive various instructions from the Ministry of Finance or Central Board of Excise & Customs for effective implementation and administration of the various provisions of service tax law. The same are circulated among the field officers and the instructions which pertain to trade are communicated to them in the form of trade notices. Trade Associations are supplied with the copies of these trade notices. Individual assesses may also apply for copies of trade notices. The trade notice disseminate the contents of the notifications and circulars/letters/orders, define their jurisdiction; identify the banks in which service tax can be deposited; give clarifications regarding service tax matters, etc.

The various components making service tax law have been represented in the following diagram:

8. ADMINISTRATION OF SERVICE TAX

The Department of Revenue of the Ministry of Finance exercises control in respect of matters relating to all the direct and indirect taxes through two statutory Boards, namely, the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) and the Central Board of Excise and Customs (CBEC). Matters relating to the levy and collection of all the direct taxes (income tax, wealth tax etc.) are looked after by CBDT, whereas those relating to levy and collection of indirect taxes (customs duties, central excise duties etc.) fall within the purview of CBEC. The two Boards were constituted under the Central Board of Revenue Act, 1963.

The responsibility of administration and collection of service tax has also been vested upon the CBEC ('Board'). The Board administers service tax matters through the Central Excise Zones and each Zone, in turn works through Central Excise Commissionerate falling under its territory. Each zone is headed by a Chief Commissioner of Central Excise, while each Commissionerate is headed by a Commissioner of Central Excise.

The Chief Commissioner of Zone exercises supervision and control over the working of the Commissionerates in the Zone and is mainly responsible for monitoring revenue collection, disposal of pendencies, redressal of grievances of trade, etc. He also ensures coordination among the Commissionerates within the Zone.

8.1 Director General (Service Tax): Considering the increasing workload due to the expanding coverage of service tax, it was decided to centralise all the work and entrust the same to a separate unit supervised by a very senior official. Accordingly, the office of Director General (Service Tax) was formed in the year 1997. It is headed by the Director General (Service Tax). The functions and powers of Director General (Service Tax) are as follows:

(1) To ensure that proper establishment and infrastructure has been created under different Central Excise Commissionerates to monitor the collection and assessment of service tax.

(2) To study the staff requirement at field level for proper and effective implementation of service tax.

(3) To study as to how the service tax is being implemented in the field and to suggest measures as may be necessary to increase revenue collection or to streamline procedures.

(4) To undertake study of law and procedures in relation to service tax with a view to simplify the service tax collection and assessment and make suggestions thereon.

(5) To form a data base regarding the collection of service tax from the date of its inception in 1994 and to monitor the revenue collection from service tax.

(6) To inspect the service tax cells in the Commissionerate to ensure that they are functioning effectively.

(7) To undertake any other functions as assigned by the Board from time to time.

The Directorate of Service Tax coordinates between the CBEC and Central Excise Commissionerates. It also monitors the collection and the assessment of service tax. It compiles the service tax revenue reports received from various Central Excise Commissionerates and monitors the performances of the Commissionerates. It scrutinises the correspondences received from field formations and service providers and replies to the clarifications sought for, wherever possible. In cases where the doubts/clarification sought involves policy matter, the Directorate apprises the Board for issuing clarification/instruction.

The administrative machinery of the service tax law can be understood with the help of the following diagram:

9. SERVICE TAX PROCEDURES

Service tax procedures include registration, maintenance of books and records, payment of service tax, availment and utilization of CENVAT credit, filing of service tax returns, self assessment, provisional assessment and recovery of service tax, interest and penalties, rectification of mistakes, revision of assessment order, appeals, search and seizure, advance rulings, refund etc.[2]

10. ROLE OF A CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT

As the gamut of service tax is expanding there is a great need for professionals to advice and assist the assessees. A chartered accountant with his training and experience is well-equipped to position himself in the new role as an advisor and facilitator for due compliance of service tax law. The nature of services are:

10.1 Advisory services : With the selective coverage of service tax on certain specified services a great deal of professional acumen is required to interpret and understand the law and advise the applicability of service tax qua an activity or service. A chartered accountant is able to fill this void.

10.2 Procedural compliance: The service tax law envisages registration, payment of tax, filing returns and assessments involving interface with the excise department. A chartered accountant with his experience and expertise is the best person to assist the assessee in all the above functions and ensure compliance.

10.3 Personal representation: As per the service tax law read with the Central Excise Act and Rules, a chartered accountant is allowed to appear before the assessment authority, Commissioner (Appeals) (first appeal) and Tribunal (second appeal). Here, too with his experience and expertise a chartered accountant is well positioned to represent his clients in these fora.

10.4 Certification and audit: With the widening of tax base there has been a phenomenal growth in the number of service tax assessees. In the ensuing years, the department would have to evolve a mechanism where there is management by exception i.e. generally accept all the returns as correct and pick and choose those returns which need detailed scrutiny. In this mechanism, a chartered accountant could be of great assistance. Service tax returns and financial statements could be certified by the chartered accountant from the perspective of service tax similar to an audit under section 44AB of the Income-tax Act.

[2] The procedure relating to availment and utilisation of credit is spelt out in CENVAT Credit Rules, 2004 which will be discussed at the Final level. Provisions relating to payment of service tax and filing of returns have been dealt in Chapter 3, while rest of the procedures shall be taken up at the Final level.

10.5 Onerous task to keep pace : The service tax like excise is administered more by way of trade notices issued by various commissionerates. A chartered accountant will have to keep himself abreast of the latest notifications and trade notices in addition to the changes in law so as to meet the client expectations. Thus, in order to render good value added services in the area of service tax, a chartered accountant has an onerous task to keep pace with the latest in the legal front.

11. CHALLENGES BEFORE THE SERVICE TAX ADMINISTRATION IN INDIA

Although the spread and quantum of service tax levy has shown a tremendous rise over the past twelve years and there are fair chances of its further rise in the forthcoming years, at administrative front, service tax is still at a nascent stage. Service tax administration in India has to face multi-dimensional challenges. Few of them are related to the very nature and growth of service sector in the economy and others relate to procedural aspects of the service tax collection.

The growth of service sector at higher rate offers opportunities as well as challenges to bring under the tax net, hitherto uncovered services. This offers tremendous revenue potential to the Government. It is expected that in due course service tax would reduce the tax burden on international trade (customs duty) and domestic manufacturing sector (excise duty). So, a planned growth of service tax would be commensurate with the goals of economic liberalization and globalization. This process requires levy of taxes on new services without substantial rise in the rate or cost of collection.

The basic objective of service tax is broadening the tax base, augmentation of revenue and larger participation of citizens in the economic development of the nation. Bringing services under taxation is not simple as the services are intangible and are provided by large groups of organized as well as unorganized service providers including retailers who are scattered across the country. Further, there are several services, which are of intermediate nature. The low level of education of service providers also poses difficulties to both-tax administration and assessees.

The administration of service tax requires a separate comprehensive legislation along with distinct administrative machinery exclusively devoted to the collection of service tax. That alone would bring in greater clarity, streamlined procedures, greater taxpayer assistance and a new tax culture of voluntary compliance. The twin goal of revenue maximization and introduction of the culture of voluntary tax compliance also throw up major challenge before the service tax administration in the country.

12. EXTENT, COMMENCEMENT AND APPLICATION [SECTION 64]

The Finance Act, 1994 came into force from 1.7.1994. By section 64(1), the Act extends to the whole of India except the state of Jammu and Kashmir, and by section 64(3), the levy applies to "taxable services provided". Thus, services provided in the State of Jammu and Kashmir are not liable to service tax.

As per Article 370 of the Constitution, any Act of Parliament applies to Jammu & Kashmir only with concurrence of State Government. Since, no such concurrence has been obtained in respect of Finance Act, 1994, service tax provisions are not applicable in Jammu and Kashmir.

Service tax will not be payable only if service is provided in Jammu & Kashmir. However, if a person from Jammu & Kashmir provides the service outside Jammu & Kashmir in any other part of India, the service will be liable to service tax, as the location where service is provided is relevant. Merely because the office of the service provider is situated in Jammu & Kashmir, it does not mean that service is provided in Jammu & Kashmir.

Levy of service tax extends to services rendered in designated areas in the continental shelf and exclusive economic zone. The 'exclusive economic zone' extends upto 200 nautical miles inside the sea from base line.

Service provided within the territorial waters will be liable to service tax as levy of service tax extends to whole of India except Jammu and Kashmir and 'India includes territorial waters. Indian territorial waters extend upto 12 nautical miles from the Indian land mass.

13. DEFINITIONS [SECTION 65]

This section contains definitions of various important terms used in the Finance Act, 1994. The adoption of selective coverage necessitates the definition of various service categories/service providers. These definitions are contained in section 65 of the Act. The Act defines the categories of services to which the Act applies by defining the term "taxable service" which is contained in section 65(105) of the Act. Further, various service providers like "stock brokers", "advertisement agencies", "courier agency", etc. are also defined in this section. These definitions form the crux of the entire Act, and are analysed in Chapter 2 hereinafter.

13.1 Services provided by unincorporated association or body of persons to its members subject to tax: The explanation after clause (121) of section 65 clarifies that taxable services include any service provided or to be provided by any unincorporated association or body of persons to a member thereof, for cash, deferred payment or any other valuable consideration. Thus, service tax shall be payable if a taxable service is provided by such an organisation to any of its members.

CHAPTER 2

CHARGE OF SERVICE TAX, TAXABLE SERVICES AND VALUATION

UNIT – 1 : CHARGE OF SERVICE TAX

Learning objectives

After reading this unit you will be able to understand the:

- concept of charging service tax on services.
- principles of education cess and secondary and higher education cess.
- general exemptions available in respect of all services.

1.1 CHARGE OF SERVICE TAX [SECTION 66]

Section 66 is the charging section of the Act which deals with the levy and collection of service tax. It prescribes the applicable rate of service tax which is to be levied on the value of various taxable services. For collection of service tax, it provides that the 'prescribed manner' needs to be followed. Applicable rate is provided in the section itself whereas the prescribed manner for collection and payment of tax is provided in the Service Tax Rules, 1994. With effect from 18.04.2006, the rate of service tax prescribed by section 66 is 12% of the value of taxable services referred to in section 65(105) of the Act. Section 65(105) provides that taxable service shall not only include service provided but also the "service to be provided". Thus,

(a) the charge is on the services provided or to be provided;

(b) the services provided or to be provided must be the one which is covered in section 65(105);

(c) the rate of tax is 12%;

(d) the measure of tax is on “value of taxable services” provided which is defined in section 67[1].

1.1.1 Education Cess: With effect from 10.09.2004, an education cess has been levied @ 2%, calculated on the service tax on all taxable services.

The education cess on taxable services is in addition to the tax chargeable on such taxable services. The education cess so collected is utilized for providing and financing universalised quality basic education.

The provisions of Chapter V of the Finance Act, 1994 and the rules including those relating to refunds and exemptions from tax and imposition of penalty shall apply in relation to the levy and collection of the education cess on taxable services, as they apply in relation to the levy and collection of service tax on such taxable services.

Fully exempted taxable services are not subject to education cess. In case of a partial exemption, say by way of abatement, the cess is calculated on the net tax paid and not on the entire amount of tax that would have been payable, but for the exemption.

1.1.2 Secondary and Higher Education Cess: With effect from 11.05.2007, a secondary and higher education cess @ 1% has been imposed on services liable to service tax. It is levied on the service tax payable on such services. The secondary and higher education cess is in addition to the education cess of 2%. Thus, the effective rate of service tax works out to be 12.36% [12% + 3% (2 + 1) of 12%].

The provisions of the Chapter V of the Finance Act, 1994 and the rules including those relating to refunds and exemptions from service tax and imposition of penalty shall apply in relation to the levy and collection of the secondary and higher education cess on taxable services, as they apply in relation to the levy and collection of service tax on such taxable services.

Service tax, education cess and secondary and higher education cess should be shown separately in the invoice.

1.2 EXEMPTIONS FROM SERVICE TAX FOR ALL SERVICES

Section 93 of the Finance Act, 1994 empowers the Central Government to exempt taxable services either generally or subject to the specified conditions from levy of whole of the service tax or any part thereof. This power is exercised by issuing notifications or special orders. The following exemptions from payment of whole of the amount of service tax are available to the service providers:

(iii) the developer or unit of a special economic zone shall maintain proper account of receipt and utilization of the said taxable services.

Here,

(1) "Board of Approvals" means the combined Board of Approvals for export oriented unit and special economic zone units, as notified in the Official Gazette, from time to time by the Government of India in the Ministry of Commerce and Industry.

(2) "developer" means a person engaged in development or operation or maintenance of special economic zone, and also includes any person authorized for such purpose by any such developer.

Special Economic Zone (SEZ) is a specifically delineated duty free enclave which is deemed to be foreign territory for the purposes of trade operations and duties and tariffs. Therefore, goods supplied to SEZ from the Domestic Tariff Area (DTA) are treated as deemed exports and goods brought from SEZ to DTA are treated as imported goods. 1.2.11 Service tax not leviable on fee collected by public authorities while performing statutory functions/duties under the provisions of a law - Circular No. 96/7/2007 ST dated 23.08.2007

It has been clarified that service tax shall not be leviable on fee collected by public authorities while performing statutory functions/duties under the provisions of a law. However, if such authority performs a service, which is not in the nature of statutory activity and the same is undertaken for a consideration not in the nature of statutory fee/levy, then in such cases, service tax would be leviable, if the activity undertaken falls within the ambit of taxable services.

A number of sovereign/public authorities (i.e. an agency constituted/set up by government) perform certain functions/duties, which are statutory in nature. These functions are performed in terms of specific responsibility assigned to them under the law in force. For example, the Regional Reference Standards Laboratories (RRSL) undertake verification, approval and calibration of weighing and measuring instruments; the Regional Transport Officer (RTO) issues fitness certificate to the vehicles; the Directorate of Boilers inspects and issues certificate for boilers; or Explosive Department inspects and issues certificate for petroleum storage tank, LPG/CNG tank in terms of provisions of the relevant laws. Fee as prescribed is charged and the same is ultimately deposited into the Government Treasury.

The Circular explains that the activities performed by the sovereign/public authorities under the provision of law are in the nature of statutory obligations which are to be fulfilled in accordance with law. The fee collected by them for performing such activities is in the nature of compulsory levy as per the provisions of the relevant statute, and it is deposited into the Government treasury. Such activity is purely in public interest and it is undertaken as mandatory and statutory function. These are not in the nature of service to any particular individual for any consideration. Therefore, such an activity performed by a sovereign/public authority under the provisions of law does not constitute provision of taxable service to a person and, therefore, no service tax is leviable on such activities.

1.3 EXEMPTION FROM SERVICE TAX FOR SPECIFIC SERVICES

While the exemptions discussed in point no. 1.2 are available in respect of all taxable services, there are certain exemptions which are available only in respect of specific services. They are discussed below:

1.3.1 Exemption to specified services received by an exporter (refund of service tax paid) by an exporter and used for export of goods - Notification No. 41/2007 ST dated 06.10.2007

The taxable services specified in column (3) of the Schedule (specified services) received by an exporter and used for export of goods (said goods) are exempt from whole of the service tax leviable thereon under section 66 and section 66A subject to the conditions specified in the corresponding entry in column (4) of the Schedule.

It may be noted that -

(a) the exemption shall be claimed by the exporter of the goods for the specified services received and used by the exporter for export of the said goods;

(b) the exemption claimed by the exporter shall be provided by way of refund of service tax paid on the specified services used for export of the said goods;

(c) the exporter claiming the exemption has actually paid the service tax on the specified services;

UNIT – 3 : VALUATION OF TAXABLE SERVICES

Learning objectives

After reading this unit you will be able to understand the:

- provisions relating to valuation of taxable services.
- concept of gross amount charged and consideration for taxable services.

3.1 VALUATION OF TAXABLE SERVICES FOR CHARGING SERVICE TAX [SECTION 67]

After identifying the taxable service, one has to determine their value to pay service tax as section 66, the charging section, provides that service tax is chargeable on the value of taxable service.. Section 67 provides for the valuation of taxable services. Prior to 18.04.2006, section 67 only provided that service tax shall be payable on gross amount charged by the service provider for the taxable services provided or to be provided.

However, with effect from 18.04.2006 Finance Act, 2006 has introduced detailed provisions for valuation. New section 67 enables valuation in cases where the consideration for the service provided is not in terms of money. Further, Service Tax (Determination of Value) Rules, 2006 have also been notified with effect from 19.04.2006.[4]

The provisions of section 67 are discussed below:

(1) If the consideration for a taxable service is in terms of money, the value of such service shall be the gross amount charged by the service provider for such service provided or to be provided by him.

Example : If a chartered accountant charges Rs.50,000 as audit fee from its client, the value of the taxable service rendered by the chartered accountant will be Rs.50,000 and service tax shall be payable on this amount.

(2) If the consideration for a taxable service is not wholly or partly in terms of money, then the value of such service shall be such amount in money, with the addition of service tax charged, is equivalent to the consideration.

[4] Service Tax (Determination of Value) Rules, 2006 shall be taken up at the Final level.

In other words, where the service rendered is for a consideration not wholly or partly consisting of money, the value of the taxable service is equivalent to the total value of the consideration. However, the total of such money and non-money value of the consideration has to be treated as inclusive the service tax payable thereon.

Example : Mr. X, a company secretary provides taxable professional services to one of its clients. In lieu of rendering such services, Mr. X charges Rs.10,000 in lumpsum from its client and also asks its client to give him a Law book worth Rs.2,360. The total consideration in this case will be Rs.12,360 and the value of the taxable service shall be Rs.10,000 $\left(\frac{12,360}{100+12.36}\times 100\right)$ and Rs.2,360 shall be the service tax payable.

(3) If the consideration for a taxable service is not ascertainable, the value of such service shall be the amount as may be determined in the prescribed manner.

(4) Consideration includes any amount that is payable for the taxable services provided or to be provided. Thus, an advance received for providing any taxable service shall also form part of the consideration.

Example : Mr. A, an architect receives an advance of Rs.1,000 for providing architectural services. He gets Rs.6,000 on completion of provision of such services. The consideration in this case would be Rs.7000, i.e. it would include the amount that is payable for the taxable service to be provided and taxable service provided.

(5) Where the gross amount charged by a service provider, for the service provided or to be provided is inclusive of service tax payable, the value of such taxable service shall be such amount as, with the addition of tax payable, is equal to the gross amount charged.

Example : Mr. B, a management consultant charges a lump sum amount of Rs.12,360 as professional fee for rendering taxable services (i.e., he does not charge service tax separately). The value of taxable service in this case would not be Rs.12,360 but Rs.10,000 i.e. $\left(\frac{12,360}{100+12.36}\times 100\right)$ and Rs.2,360 shall be the service tax payable.

(6) The gross amount charged for the taxable service shall include any amount received towards the taxable service before, during or after the provision of such service. Thus, not even advance but any other amount recovered after the completion of provision of service shall form part of the gross amount charged for the taxable service.

For example, ABC Co., a security agency receives Rs.10,000 as advance while signing a contact for providing taxable service. It receives Rs.50,000 while providing the service and another Rs.20,000 after completion of service. Thus, value of taxable service shall be Rs.80,000 and service tax shall be payable on it.

(7) Subject to the provisions mentioned in points (1), (2), (3), (5) and (6) above, the value of a taxable service shall be determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(8) Money includes any currency, cheque, promissory note, letter of credit, draft, pay order, travellers cheque, money order, postal remittance and other similar instruments but does not include currency that is held for its numismatic value.

(9) "Gross amount charged" includes payment by cheque, credit card, deduction from account and any form of payment by issue of credit notes or debit notes and book adjustment, and any amount credited or debited, as the case may be, to any account, whether called "suspense account" or by any other name, in the books of account of a person liable to pay service tax, where the transaction of taxable service is with any associated enterprise.

"Associated enterprise" has the meaning assigned to it in section 92A of the Income tax Act, 1961."

CHAPTER 3

PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX AND FILING OF RETURNS

UNIT – 1 : PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX

Learning objectives

After reading this unit, you will be able to:

- identify persons liable to pay service tax.
- get an insight of the basic principles underlying the procedures relating to payment of service tax.
- know the time period for paying service tax.
- comprehend the manner of payment of service tax.

1.1 PERSON LIABLE TO PAY SERVICE TAX

By now you have understood the basic concepts of service tax and the provisions relating to taxable services. In this unit, the procedures relating to payment of service tax have been discussed. The service provider rendering taxable services is liable to pay service tax (with some exceptions) to the Central Government at regular intervals of time.

Section 68 of the Finance Act, 1994 is the principal section which fixes responsibility to pay service tax. The powers to decide time and manner of payment of service tax have been granted to the Central Government vide Rule 6 of the Service Tax Rules, 1994.

As per section 68, every person providing taxable service to any person, pays service tax at the rate specified in section 66 in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed period. At present, the rate of service tax specified in section 66 is 12%. The period and the manner is prescribed in Rule 6 of the Service Tax Rules, 1994 which have been discussed in paras 1.9 and 1.11 respectively.

However, in respect of certain services notified by the Central Government, the service tax thereon is paid by certain specified persons in the prescribed manner. In pursuance of this power, the Central Government in Rule 2(1)(d) of Service Tax Rules, 1994 has notified specific class of persons who are liable to pay service tax.

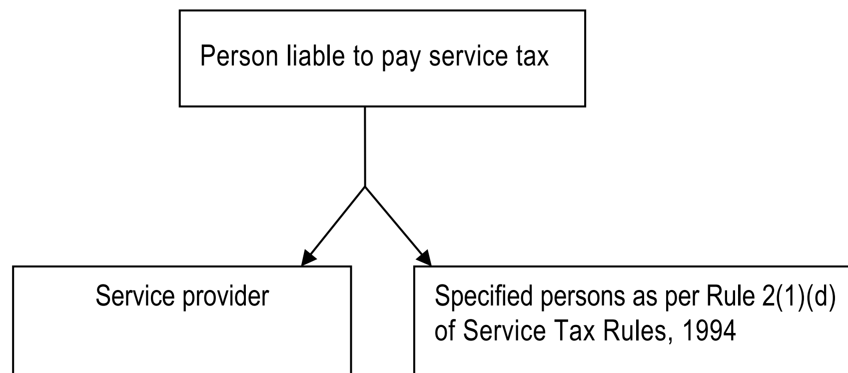
Thus, as a general rule a service provider is liable to pay service tax, but in the cases and circumstances mentioned in Rule 2(1)(d), service receiver or the specified persons are liable to pay service tax. The above mentioned principle can be understood by the following diagram:



Following list provides the notified taxable services and the specified persons/class of persons who are liable to pay service tax thereon as per Rule 2(1)(d) of Service Tax Rules,1994:

(i) in relation to general insurance business, the person liable to pay service tax is the insurer or re-insurer, as the case may be, providing such service.

(ii) in relation to insurance auxiliary service provided by an insurance agent, the person liable to pay service tax is the person carrying on general insurance business or the life insurance business as the case may be, in India.

(iii) in relation to any taxable service provided or to be provided by any person from a country other than India and received by any person in India, the person liable to pay service tax is the recipient of such service.

(iv) in relation to taxable service provided by a goods transport agency, where the consignor or consignee of goods is,-

 (a) any factory registered under or governed by the Factories Act, 1948;

(b) any company formed or registered under the Companies Act, 1956;

(c) any corporation established by or under any law;

(d) any society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 or under any law corresponding to that Act in force in any part of India;

(e) any co-operative society established by or under any law;

(f) any dealer of excisable goods, who is registered under the Central Excise Act, 1944 or the rules made thereunder; or

(g) any body corporate established, or a partnership firm registered, by or under any law, the person liable for paying service tax is any person who pays or is liable to pay freight either himself or through his agent for the transportation of such goods by road in a goods carriage.

(v) in relation to business auxiliary service of distribution of mutual fund by a mutual fund distributor or an agent, as the case be, the person liable for paying service tax is the mutual fund or asset management company, as the case may be, receiving such service.

(vi) in relation to sponsorship service provided to any body corporate or firm located in India, the person liable to pay service tax is the body corporate or firm, as the case may be, who receives such sponsorship service.

1.1.1 Sub-contractors liable to service tax: A taxable service provider outsources a part of the work by engaging another service provider, generally known as sub-contractor. Service tax is paid by the service provider for the total work. A question arises as to whether service tax is liable to be paid by the service provider known as sub-contractor who undertakes only part of the whole work.

A sub-contractor is essentially a taxable service provider. The fact that services provided by such sub-contractors are used by the main service provider for completion of his work does not in any way alter the fact of provision of taxable service by the sub-contractor.

Services provided by sub-contractors are in the nature of input services[1] (Input services are services which are used by a service provider for providing the output service). Service tax is, therefore, leviable on any taxable services provided, whether or not the services are provided by a person in his capacity as a sub-contractor and whether or not such services are used as input services. The fact that a given taxable service is intended for use as an input service by another service provider does not alter the taxability of the service provided.

[1] The concept of input services and output services shall be dealt in detail in Paper 8 : Indirect Tax Laws at the Final level under CENVAT Credit Rules, 2004.

1.2 PAYMENT ONLY ON RECEIPT

It is to be noted that though the service provider charges service tax in his bill raised on his client as and when the service is provided, the service tax is payable to the Government only when the value of taxable services is 'received'. Thus, if a chartered accountant raises a bill for auditing services say, on 15th December, 2008 for Rs.1,12,360/- (including service tax of Rs.12,360/-) and the client pays his bill only in February 2009, the liability to pay service tax to the Government would arise only in February 2009. This alleviates the major grievance of the service providers who otherwise would be required to pay service tax on amounts not received or not likely to be received.

Thus, situs of taxation is on service provided but the payment of service tax to the Government is deferred till the receipt of the value of the taxable service.

1.3 SERVICE TAX NOT PAYABLE ON FREE SERVICES

Section 67(1)(iii) and Service Tax (Determination of Value) Rules, 2006 (as inserted w.e.f. 19.04.2006) make provisions for valuation even when consideration is not ascertainable. However, these provisions apply only when there is consideration. If there is no consideration i.e., in case of free service, section 67 and Service Tax (Determination of Value) Rules, 2006 cannot apply.

Thus, no service tax is payable when value of service is zero as the charging section 66 provides that service tax is chargeable on the value of taxable service. Hence, if the value is zero the tax will also be zero even though the service may be taxable. However, this principle applies only when there is really a 'free service' and not when its cost is recovered through different means.

1.4 SERVICE TAX LIABLE TO BE PAID EVEN IF NOT COLLECTED FROM THE CLIENT

Section 68 casts the liability to pay service tax upon the service provider or upon the person liable to pay service tax as per Rule 2(1)(d). This liability is not contingent upon the service provider realizing or charging the service tax at the prevailing rate. The statutory liability does not get extinguished if the service provider fails to realize or charge the service tax from the service receiver.

However, sometimes it may happen that the assessee is not able to charge service tax because of the nature of service or he fails to recover the service tax from the client/customer as he is not aware that his services are taxable. Hence, in these cases the amount recovered from the client in lieu of having rendered the service will be taken to be inclusive of service tax and accordingly tax payable will be calculated by making back calculations.

For example, if bill amount is Rs.5,000 and service tax is not shown separately in invoice, then service tax payable shall be computed as follows:

5000/112.36 x 12.36 = Rs.550

It may be noted that service tax payable is not Rs.618 computed by applying 12.36% to Rs.5000. The value of the taxable service in this case is Rs.4450.

The example given above can be solved by using the following formulae:

Value of taxable service = [Gross amount charged/(100 + rate of tax)] x 100

Service tax = [Gross amount charged/(100 + rate of tax)] x rate of tax

1.5 SERVICES PERFORMED PRIOR TO THE DATE OF LEVY NOT LIABLE FOR PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX

No service tax is payable for the part or whole of the value of services, which is attributable to services provided during the period when such services were not taxable. The time of receipt of payment towards the value of services will not be relevant for this purpose. For instance, no service tax shall be payable in case of newly introduced information technology software service which is rendered prior to 16.05.2008. (Information technology software service has become effective from 16.05.2008).

1.6 SERVICE TAX PAYABLE ON ADVANCE RECEIVED

Service tax is payable as soon as any advance is received as:

(i) the taxable service includes “service to be provided”, and

(ii) the payments received before, during, or after the provision of taxable service, form part of the gross amount charged for the taxable services.

For example, a security agency takes a contract to provide security services to a client for the month of October for a consideration of Rs.50,000. It receives an advance of Rs.25,000 from the client in the month of September. In this case service tax shall be payable by the security agency on the amount of Rs.25,000 received as an advance even though the service has not been provided at that time.

When advance payment is received for a service which is non-taxable at the time of receipt of payment but becomes taxable during the course of provision of service, such payments would have to be apportioned appropriately between the two periods and that part of service provided on or after the service becomes taxable service, is only liable for service tax.

When payment is received in advance for services to be provided but subsequently the services are not actually provided, then in such cases service tax paid is liable to be refunded.

1.7 SERVICE TAX COLLECTED FROM THE RECIPIENT OF SERVICE MUST BE PAID TO THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT [SECTION 73A]

Every person, who is liable to pay service tax and has collected any amount in excess of the service tax assessed or determined and paid on any taxable service from the recipient of taxable service in any manner as representing service tax, must pay the amount so collected immediately to the credit of the Central Government. This provision ensures that the service provider does not collect excess amount from the recipient of the service in the name of service tax.

Further, where any person who has collected any amount, which is not required to be collected, from any other person, in any manner as representing service tax, such person should also immediately pay the amount so collected to the credit of the Central Government.

1.8 INTEREST ON AMOUNT COLLECTED IN EXCESS [SECTION 73B]

Where an amount has been collected, in excess of the tax assessed or determined and paid, for any taxable service from the recipient of such service, the person who is liable to pay such amount shall, in addition to the amount, be liable to pay interest. The interest shall also be payable by the person who has collected any amount, which is not required to be collected as service tax.

The interest shall be payable at the rate of 13% per annum from the first day of the month succeeding the month in which the amount should have been paid till the date of payment of such amount.

Where such amount is reduced or increased in appeal, the interest payable thereon shall be on such reduced or increased amount.

1.9 DUE DATE FOR PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX

Rule 6(1) inter alia provides that service tax on the value of taxable services received:

(i) by an individual or a proprietary firm or a partnership firm during any quarter is payable by the 5th day of the month immediately following the said quarter; and

(ii) in other cases (company and HUF) during any calendar month is payable by the 5th day of the month immediately following the said calendar month.

However, the month of March is an exception to this general rule. The service tax on the value of taxable services received during the month of March, or the quarter ending in March, as the case may be, shall be paid to the credit of the Central Government by the 31st day of March of the calendar year. For the month of March there is no distinction between the assessees.

It is to be noted here that service tax is not payable on the amounts charged in the bills/invoice, but on the amounts actually received.

The due dates for payment of service tax in case of different assessees are tabulated below:

I. Individuals, proprietary concerns and partnership firms
Quarters	Due dates
1st April to 30th June	5th July
1st July to 30th September	5th October
1st October to 31st December	5th January

II. Persons other than individuals, proprietary concerns and partnership firms

March	31st March

If the last day of payment of service tax is a public holiday, tax can be paid on next working day.

1.9.1 Due date for payment in case of e-payment of service tax: As per rule 6(1), where service tax is paid electronically through internet banking the service tax on the value of taxable services received:

(i) by an individual or a proprietary firm or a partnership firm during any quarter is payable by the 6th day of the month immediately following the said quarter; and

(ii) in other cases (company and HUF) during any calendar month is payable by the 6th day of the month immediately following the said calendar month.

The due date for the month of March will remain the same i.e., 31st March.

1.10 TRANSACTIONS WITH ASSOCIATED ENTERPRISE

In case of transactions of taxable services involving any associated enterprise, any payment received towards the value of taxable service includes any amount credited or debited, as the case may be, to any account, whether called "Suspense account" or by any other name, in the books of account of a person liable to pay service tax. Thus, service tax would be payable on such receipts as well.

Here, "associated enterprise" has the meaning assigned to it in section 92A of the Income tax Act, 1961."

1.11 MANNER OF PAYMENT

Service tax has to be paid to the credit of the Central Government in Form TR-6 challan (yellow colour) in the specified branches of the designated bank. The list of such Banks and Branches is available in every Commissionerate of Central Excise. Different heads of accounts have been specified for different taxable service by the Government under which payment has to be made. While making the payment of service tax to the credit of Central Government, head of account should be correctly and properly indicated under major and minor heads and sub-heads to avoid misclassification. In the TR-6 challan, account head of education cess should be shown separately.

TR-6 challan is to be filled in quadruplicate and tendered to the designated bank alongwith the payment of service tax. The bank returns two sets of TR-6 challans duly acknowledging payment, one for the assessee's record and the other to be submitted with the return.

1.11.1 Payment in case of multiple service provider : A multiple service provider (a service provider rendering more than one taxable service) can use single TR-6 challan for payment of service tax on different services. However, amounts attributable to each such service along with concerned accounting codes should be mentioned clearly in the column provided for this purpose in the TR-6 challan. Alternatively, separate TR-6 challans may be used for payment of service tax for each service provided by the service provider.

1.11.2 E-payment of service tax : With effect from 01.10.2006, the assessee who has paid service tax of Rs.50,00,000 or above in the preceding financial year or has already paid service tax of Rs.50,00,000 in the current financial year has to compulsorily deposit the service tax liable to be paid by him electronically, through internet banking.

1.12 ADVANCE PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX

The assessee has been provided with a facility to make advance payment of service tax on his own volition and adjust the amount so paid against the service tax which he is liable to pay for the subsequent period. Such facility shall be available when the assessee:

(i) intimates the details of the amount of service tax paid in advance, to the Jurisdictional Superintendent of Central Excise within a period of 15 days from the date of such payment, and

(ii) indicates the details of the advance payment made, and its adjustment, if any in the subsequent return to be filed under section 70.

1.13 POINTS TO BE REMEMBERED WHILE PAYING SERVICE TAX

The following important points should be kept in mind while paying service tax:

- Service tax is to be paid on the value of taxable services which is charged by an assessee. Any income tax deducted at source is included in the charged amount.

Therefore, service tax is to be paid on the amount of income tax deducted at source also.

- Where the amount of service tax is paid in cash, the date of payment is the date on which cash is tendered to the designated bank.
- Payment of service tax into non-designated banks does not amount to payment of service tax.
- In case the amount of service tax is paid by cheque, the date of presentation of cheque to the bank designated by Central Board of Excise and Customs shall be considered as the date of payment, subject to realization of cheque.
- Payment should be rounded off in multiple of rupees.

1.14 ADJUSTMENT OF SERVICE TAX PAID WHEN SERVICE IS NOT PROVIDED EITHER WHOLLY OR PARTIALLY

An assessee may adjust excess payment of service tax against his liability of service tax for subsequent periods. Where an assessee has deposited service tax in respect of a taxable service which is not so provided by him either wholly or partially for any reason, he may adjust the excess service tax so paid by him (calculated on a pro rata basis) against his service tax liability for the subsequent period.

For example, if the assessee, who is an individual or partnership firm, has paid Rs.6,000 in excess of service tax liability during the previous half year ending period, the assessee can adjust Rs.3,000 only per quarter in his subsequent tax liability and not at a stretch.

Similarly, if the assessee is a company and has paid Rs.6,000 in excess of service tax liability during the previous half year ending period, the assessee can adjust Rs.1000 only per month in his subsequent tax liability and not at a stretch.

However, for carrying out such adjustment, the assessee must have refunded the value of taxable service and the service tax thereon to the person from whom it was received.

In such cases of adjustment, the assessee is required to file the details in respect of such suo motu adjustments done by him at the time of filing the service tax returns. The return Form ST-3 also provides for enclosure of documentary evidence for adjustment of such excess service tax paid.

It is to be noted that adjustment of excess payment of service tax is not allowed per se, say due to clerical mistake etc. In such cases, the assessee has to claim the refund of excess tax paid.

1.15 ADJUSTMENT OF EXCESS AMOUNT PAID TOWARDS SERVICE TAX LIABILITY

Where an assessee has paid to the credit of Central Government any amount in excess of the amount required to be paid towards service tax liability for a month or quarter, as the case may be, the assessee may adjust such excess amount paid by him against his service tax liability for the succeeding month or quarter, as the case may be. However, such an adjustment is subject to the following conditions:

(i) Self-adjustment of excess credit would not be allowed in case of reasons involving interpretation of law, taxability, classification, valuation or applicability of any exemption notification.

(ii) Excess amount paid and proposed to be adjusted should not exceed Rs.1,00,000 for the relevant month or quarter. However, in case of assessees opting for centralized registration excess amount can be adjusted without any monetary limit provided the excess amount paid is on account of delayed receipt of details of payments from branch offices. (Centralized registration can be obtained when an assessee provides taxable service from more than one premises on fulfillment of certain specified conditions[2]).

(iii) Adjustment can be made only in the succeeding month or quarter.

(iv) The details of self-adjustment should be intimated to the Superintendent of Central Excise within a period of 15 days from the date of such adjustment.

1.15.1 Adjustment of excess amount paid as service tax in case of renting of immovable property service*: In case of renting of immovable property service, a deduction of property taxes paid in respect of the immovable property is allowed from the gross amount charged for renting of the said immovable property vide Notification No.24/2007 ST dated 22.05.2007. However, where any amount in excess of the amount required to be paid towards service tax liability has been paid on account of non-availment of such deduction, such excess amount may be adjusted against the service tax liability within 1 year from the date of payment of such property tax. The details of such adjustment shall be intimated to the Superintendent of Central Excise having jurisdiction over the service provider within a period of 15 days from the date of such adjustment.*

[2] Concepts relating to registration and centralized registration shall be dealt in detail in Paper 8 : Indirect Tax Laws at the Final level.

1.16 PROVISIONAL PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX

In case the assessee is unable to correctly estimate, at the time of the deposit, the actual amount of service tax for any month or quarter, he may make a written request to Assistant/Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise for making payment of service tax on provisional basis. The concerned officer may allow payment of service tax on provisional basis on such value of taxable service as may be specified by him.

For the purpose of provisional assessment at the time of filling the return, the assessee is required to file a statement in form ST-3A giving detail of difference between service tax deposited and the service tax liable to be paid for each month. The quarterly or half yearly statements should also accompany.

The Assistant/Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise, on the basis of memorandum in form ST-3A may complete the assessment after calling for necessary documents or records, if need be.

1.17 SPECIAL PROVISION FOR PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX IN CASE OF AIR TRAVEL AGENT

The person liable for paying service tax in relation to the services provided by an air travel agent has an option to pay an amount calculated at the rate of:

(i) 0.6% of the basic fare in the case of domestic bookings, and

(ii) 1.2% of the basic fare in the case of international bookings, of passage for travel by air, during any calendar month or quarter, as the case may be, towards the discharge of his service tax liability instead of paying service tax @ 12%.

The option once exercised applies uniformly in respect of all the bookings of passage for travel by air made by him and cannot be changed during a financial year under any circumstances.

The expression "basic fare" means that part of the air fare on which commission is normally paid to the air travel agent by the airline.

1.18 SPECIAL PROVISION FOR PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX IN CASE OF LIFE INSURER CARRYING ON LIFE INSURANCE BUSINESS

An insurer carrying on life insurance business who is liable for paying service tax has the option to pay an amount calculated @ 1% of the gross amount of premium charged by him towards the discharge of his service tax liability instead of paying service tax @ 12%.

However, such option is not available in cases where:

(a) the entire premium paid by the policy holder is only towards risk cover in life insurance; or

(b) the part of the premium payable towards risk cover in life insurance is shown separately in any of the documents issued by the insurer to the policy holder.

1.19 INTEREST ON DELAYED PAYMENT OF SERVICE TAX [SECTION 75]

In case payment of service tax is made after its due date, interest is leviable on the amount of tax liable to be paid for the period of delay. Payment of interest is mandatory in all circumstances. There is no provision to waive this interest on delayed payment of service tax.

Every person who fails to deposit the service tax or any part thereof to the account of Central Government within the prescribed period has to pay simple interest at a rate not below 10% p.a. but not exceeding 36% p.a. as may be notified by the Central Government. Currently, the notified rate of interest is 13%.

For computing the period of delay in payment of service tax, the month is counted from the next day from the date on which the payment of service tax was due. For example, if service tax is payable by 5th of a month, one month period for computation of interest would be from 6th of that month to 5th of the next month.

UNIT – 2 : FILING OF RETURNS

Learning objectives

After reading this unit you will be able to:

- understand the procedure relating to filing of service tax returns.
- know the frequency of filing returns.
- be aware of the due date for filing returns.

2.1 PERSONS LIABLE TO FILE RETURNS

After understanding the concept of payment of service tax let us now delve with the scheme of filing of service tax returns.

Section 70 of the Finance Act, 1994 is the principal section which fixes the responsibility of filing of returns. It inter alia provides that every person liable to pay service tax shall himself assess the tax due on the services provided by him and shall furnish a return to the Superintendent of Central Excise. The return shall be furnished in such manner and at such frequency as may be prescribed. Rule 7 of the Service Tax Rules, 1994 prescribes the form, manner and frequency of furnishing the return.

Sub section (2) of section 70 stipulates that certain notified person or class of persons shall also furnish to the Superintendent of the Central Excise, a return in such form and in such manner and at such frequency as may be prescribed.

2.2 PERIODICITY AND FORM FOR RETURN

The prescribed form for the service tax returns is 'Form ST-3'. This form is applicable in case of all assessees. In case of provisional payment of service tax, the assessee has to file a statement giving details of the difference between the service tax deposited and the service tax liable to be paid for each month in a memorandum in Form 'ST-3A' which should accompany the return in 'Form ST-3'.

The return is to be furnished half yearly. In other words, the return should cover the periods of 1st April to 30th September (first half-year) and 1st October to 31st March (second half-year) of a financial year.

2.3 DUE DATES FOR FILING OF SERVICE TAX RETURNS

The service tax return, in Form ST-3 should be filed on half yearly basis by the 25th of the month following the particular half year. The due dates on this basis are tabulated as under:

Half year	Due date
1st April to 30th September	25th October
1st October to 31st March	25th April

2.3.1 When the due date falls on public holiday: In case the due date of the filing of return i.e., either 25th October or 25th April falls on a public holiday, the assessee can file the return on the immediately succeeding working day.

2.4 DELAYED RETURN

Section 70(1) inter alia provides for filing of periodical return after the due date with the prescribed late fee of not more than Rs.2,000. Thus, a delayed return can be furnished by paying the prescribed late fee.

2.4.1 Late fee for delay in furnishing return: The prescribed late fee for furnishing a delayed return is given in the following table:

S. No.	Period of delay	Late fee
(a)	15 days from the date prescribed for submission of the return	Rs.500
(b)	Beyond 15 days but not later than 30 days from the date prescribed for submission of the return	Rs.1,000
(c)	Beyond 30 days from the date prescribed for submission of the return	An amount of Rs.1,000 plus Rs.100 for every day from the 31st day till the date of furnishing the said return

However, the total late fee for delayed submission of return shall not exceed Rs.2,000. Further, where the assessee has paid the prescribed late fee for delayed submission of return, the proceedings, if any, in respect of such delayed submission of return shall be deemed to be concluded.

2.4.2 Late fee may be reduced/waived where service tax payable is nil: Where the gross amount of service tax payable is nil, the Central Excise Officer may, on being satisfied that there is sufficient reason for not filling the return, reduce or waive the penalty (late fee).

2.5 REVISED RETURN

An assessee can submit a revised return, in Form ST-3, in triplicate, to correct a mistake or omission, within a period of 90 days from the date of submission of the original return.

2.6 CONTENTS OF THE RETURN

Apart from the general details, like financial year, half year period (April-September or October-March), name of the assessee, registration number of the premises for which return is being filed, category of taxable services, the contents of the return inter alia, also include month-wise details of:

(i) amount received towards taxable service

(ii) amount received in advance towards taxable service to be provided

(iii) amount billed for exempted services and services exported without payment of tax

(iv) amount billed for services on which tax is to be paid

(v) abatement claimed - value

(vi) notification number of abatement and exemption

(vii) service tax payable

(viii) education cess payable

(ix) TR-6 challan date and number

(x) credit details for service tax provider/recipient

Further, half yearly details of other payments like interest, arrears and excess amount paid and adjusted subsequently and details of amount payable but not paid as on the last day of the period for which the return is filed are also to be provided in the return.

2.7 DOCUMENTS TO BE SUBMITTED ALONG WITH THE RETURN

Along with ST-3 return following documents should be attached:

(i) copies of TR-6 challans which indicate the payment of service tax for the months/quarter covered in the half-yearly return

(ii) a memorandum in form ST-3A giving full details of the difference between the amount of provisional amount of tax deposited and the actual amount payable for each month. Form-ST-3A is to be attached only when the assessee opts for provisional payment of service tax.

2.7.1 First return*: Every assessee shall furnish to the Superintendent of Central Excise at the time of filing of return for the first time or the 31st day of January, 2008, whichever is later, a list in duplicate, of-

(i) all the records prepared or maintained by the assessee for accounting of transactions in regard to,-

(a) providing of any service, whether taxable or exempted;

(b) receipt or procurement of input services and payment for such input services;

(c) receipt, purchase, manufacture, storage, sale, or delivery, as the case may be, in regard of inputs and capital goods;

(d) other activities, such as manufacture and sale of goods, if any.

(ii) all other financial records maintained by him in the normal course of business.

2.8 MANNER OF FILING RETURNS

The service tax return in Form ST-3 should be filed in triplicate along with the copies of TR-6 challans for the quarters (in case of individual, proprietary concerns and partnership firms) or months (in other cases) covered in the half-yearly return. The return should be furnished to the Superintendent of Central Excise.

The assessee may also file the return with the concerned Divisional Office by registered post if he finds it difficult to file the return in person. However, the assesses should stick on to the due date and ensure that the return reaches the Divisional Office on or before the due date.

2.8.1 Return in case of multiple service providers: For an assesee who provides more than one taxable service, filing of a single return is sufficient. However, the details in each of the columns of the Form ST-3 have to be furnished separately for each of the taxable service rendered by him. Thus, instead of showing a lump sum figure for all the services together, service-wise details should be provided in the return.

2.9 E-FILING OF RETURNS

E-filing is a facility for the electronic filing of service tax returns by the assesse from his office, residence or any other place of choice, through the Internet, by using a computer. The assesse can go to the e-filing site 'Home Page' by typing the address http://servicetaxefiling.nic.in in the address bar of the browser.

E filing of returns is an assesse facilitation measure of the department in continuation of its modernization and simplification program. It is an alternative to the manual filing of returns. This facility is available to all service providers.

2.10 NIL RETURN

Even if no service has been provided during a half year and no service tax is payable; the assessee has to file a Nil return within the prescribed time limit.

2.11 SCHEME FOR SUBMISSION OF RETURNS THROUGH SERVICE TAX RETURN PREPARERS [SECTION 71]

The Finance Act, 2008 has inserted a new section 71 to provide for the scheme for submission of returns through service tax returns prepares. Section 71 provides that the Central Board of Excise and Customs (Board) may frame a Scheme for the purposes of enabling any person or class of persons to prepare and furnish a return under section 70 and authorise a Service Tax Return Preparer to act as such under the Scheme.

A Service Tax Return Preparer shall assist the person or class of persons to prepare and furnish the return in such manner as may be specified in the Scheme framed under this section.

"Service Tax Return Preparer" means any individual, who has been authorised to act as a Service Tax Return Preparer under the Scheme framed under this section. "Person or class of persons" means such person, as may be specified in the Scheme, who is required to furnish a return required to be filed under section 70.

The Scheme framed by the Board may provide for the following, namely:—

(a) the manner in which and the period for which the Service Tax Return Preparer shall be authorised under sub-section (1);

(b) the educational and other qualifications to be possessed, and the training and other conditions required to be fulfilled, by a person to act as a Service Tax Return Preparer;

(c) the code of conduct for the Service Tax Return Preparer;

(d) the duties and obligations of the Service Tax Return Preparer;

(e) the circumstances under which the authorisation given to a Service Tax Return Preparer may be withdrawn;

(f) any other matter which is required to be, or may be, specified by the Scheme for the purposes of this section.

1. INTRODUCTION

A really progressive and welfare oriented country should balance the requirements of direct and indirect taxes in a fair manner. Too much dependence on direct taxes will be repressive but at the same time passing heavy burdens to the general public by way of indirect taxes will constitute hardships to the common citizen. Therefore, economic administrators throughout the world have been constantly engaged in the exercise of lightening the burden of indirect taxes on the ultimate consumers.

Suppose, for manufacturing a product A, the manufacturer has to purchase four types of commodities B, C, D and E on which he pays excise duty[1]. When ultimately he sells his manufactured product A on which he has to discharge his liability towards excise, the excise duty leviable on such product will be on a tax base which will include excise duties paid by the manufacturer on products B, C, D and E. Thus, the final excise duty is a duty on duty, which will increase the cost of production as well as the price of the final product.

Suppose, we find a method by which the excise duties paid on commodities B, C, D and E

[1] Excise duty is levied on the manufacture of goods. The concepts relating to excise duty shall be taken up in Paper – 8: Indirect Tax Laws at the Final level.

are allowed to be set-off from the final duty liability on product A, it is obvious that the manufacturer will not only be able to avoid payment of duty on duty but the cost of the product will also be reduced leading to a benefit to the consumer. This is the origin of Value added tax (VAT).

In simple words, the tax will be levied and collected at each stage of manufacture only on the value added by the manufacturer represented by the purchase value and the value of the work performed on such purchased commodities. This will not only result in cost reduction but will also ensure equity. What we have talked about is a value added tax on manufacture. In the same way, there can be a value added tax in respect of trading in commodities also.

In other words, the various taxes paid on inputs purchased will be allowed as a credit and will be allowed to be set off against the tax liability on the value of sales of the commodity. Thus, there can be a system of VAT in respect of manufacture and in respect of sales. In the same way, one can think of a system of VAT in dealing with input and output services. When the individual systems of manufacturing, sales and services VAT are ultimately combined to form a grand system of VAT on goods and services, such a VAT system will be applicable throughout the country as a common market.

2. HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Ever since 1954, when the tax on value added was introduced in France it has spread to a large number of countries. This tax was proposed for the first time by Dr. Wilhelm Von Siemens for Germany in 1919 as an improved turnover tax. In 1921, VAT was suggested by Professor Thomas S. Adams for the United States of America who recommended "sales-tax with a credit or refund for taxes paid by the producer or dealer (as purchaser) on goods bought for resale or for necessary use in the production of goods for sales." VAT was also recommended by the Shoup Mission for the reconstruction of the Japanese Economy in 1949. However, the tax was not introduced by any country till 1953. France led the way in 1954 by adopting a VAT that covered the industrial sector alone and the tax was limited up to the wholesale level. The tax was limited to the boundaries of France until the fifties.

VAT has, however, been spreading rapidly since the sixties. The Ivory Coast followed France by adopting VAT in 1960. The tax was introduced by Senegal in 1961 and by Brazil and Denmark in 1967. The tax has gathered further momentum as it was made a standard form of sales-tax required for the countries of the European Union (then European Economic Community). In 1968, France extended VAT to the retail level while the Federal Republic of Germany introduced it in its tax system. The Netherlands and Sweden imposed this tax in 1969 while Luxembourg adopted it in 1970, Belgium in 1971, Ireland in 1972, and Italy, the United Kingdom, and Austria in 1973. Of the other members of the European Union, Portugal and Spain introduced VAT in 1986, Greece in 1987, while this tax was adopted by Finland in 1994. Many other European countries have adopted VAT. Similarly, many countries in the North and South America, Africa and Oceania have introduced VAT.

VAT has been spreading in the Asian region as well. The Republic of Vietnam adopted VAT briefly in 1973. (VAT was abolished soon but it was reintroduced in 1999 in Vietnam.) South Korea introduced VAT in 1977, China in 1984, Indonesia in 1985, Taiwan in 1986, Philippines in 1988, Japan in 1989, Thailand in 1992, and Singapore in 1994 while Mongolia has been implementing this tax since 1998.

In the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SMRC) region, VAT has been considered in great depth in India. In 1986, India introduced VAT in a different way under the name of Modified Value Added Tax (MODVAT). Unlike the VAT system of other countries, the Indian MODVAT system was designed to cover manufacturing of goods by giving credit of excise duty paid on inputs. The scope of MODVAT has been extended over the years and has since been renamed as Central Value Added Tax (CENVAT), which covers services also.

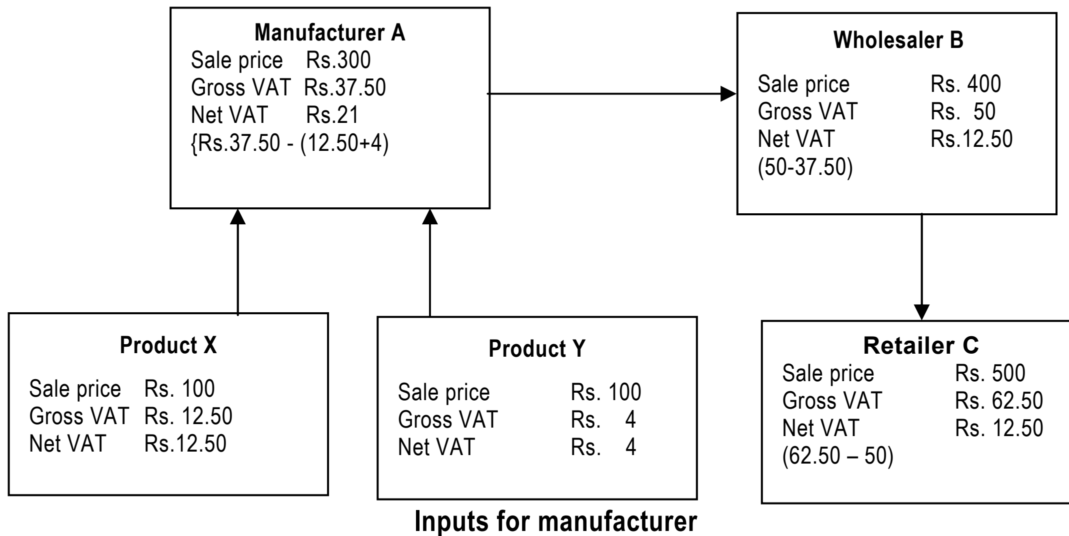
Pakistan adopted VAT in 1990, Bangladesh in 1991, and Nepal in 1997 while Sri Lanka introduced VAT in 1998.

As VAT is less distortive and more revenue-productive, it has been spreading all over the world. As on today, about 130 countries have adopted the same.

3. CALCULATION OF VAT LIABILITY

3.1 Different stages of VAT

The Value Added Tax (VAT) is a multistage tax levied as a proportion of the value added (i.e. sales minus purchase) which is equivalent to wages plus interest, other costs and profits. To illustrate, a chart of transactions is given below:



Inputs for manufacturer

Note: The rate of tax is assumed to be 12.5% on the transactions relating to goods manufactured by A.

For a manufacturer A, inputs are product X and product Y which are purchased from a primary producer. In practice, even these producers use inputs. For example, a farmer would use seeds, feeds, fertilizer, pesticides, etc. However, for this example their VAT impact is not considered. B is a wholesaler and C is a retailer.

The inputs X and Y are purchased at Rs. 100 each on which tax is paid @12.5 % and 4% respectively. The manufacturer A would, therefore, take the credit for tax paid by him for the use of such inputs. The input price of Rs.200 plus tax would include wages, salaries and other manufacturing expenses. To all this, he would also add his own profit. Assuming that after the addition of all these costs his sale price is Rs.300, the gross tax (at the rate of 12.5 per cent) would be Rs.37.50. As manufacturer A has already paid tax on Rs.200, he would get credit for this tax (i.e. 12.50+4=16.50). Therefore, his net VAT liability would be Rs.37.50 minus Rs.16.50. Thus, manufacturer A would pay Rs.21 only (because of this he would take the cost of his inputs to be only Rs.200)

Similarly, the sale price of Rs.400 fixed by wholesaler B would have net VAT liability of Rs.12.50 (Rs.50-37.50= Rs.12.50) and the sales price of Rs.500 by Retailer C would also have net VAT liability of Rs.12.50 (Rs. 62.50 - 50 = Rs.12.50). Thus, VAT is collected at each stage of production and distribution process, and in principle, its entire burden falls on the final consumer, who does not get any tax credit. Thus, VAT is a broad-based tax covering the value added to each commodity by parties during the various stages of production and distribution.

3.2 How VAT operates

The operation of VAT can be further appreciated from the following illustrations:

Illustration

A is a trader selling raw materials to a manufacturer of finished products. He imports his stock-in-trade as well as purchases the same in the local markets. If the rate of VAT is assumed to be 12.50 per cent ad valorem, he will pay VAT as under:

		(Rs.)
(i)	A's cost of imported materials (from other State)	10,000
	(A will deposit Rs.1250 duty on the above. Since, this is not a State VAT it will form a cost of input)	1,250
(ii)	A's cost of local materials	20,000
	(VAT charged by local suppliers Rs.2,500. Since the credit of this would be available it will not be included in cost of input)
(iii)	Other expenditure (such as for storage, transport, interest, etc.) incurred and profit earned by A	8,750
(iv)	Sales price of goods	40,000
(v)	VAT on the above @ 12.50% (Approx.)	5,000
(vi)	Invoice value charged by A to the manufacturer, B	45,000

I.	A's liability for VAT		Rs.
	Tax on the sales price		5,000
	Less: Set-off of VAT paid on purchases
	On imported goods	Nil
	On local goods	2,500	2,500
	Net Tax Payable		2,500

In the above illustration (as well as in illustrations that follows) it is assumed that set off of VAT paid on imported goods from outside countries or other States is not allowed.

Now B manufactures finished products from the raw materials purchased from A and other materials purchased from other suppliers. His liability would be as under:

			(Rs.)
(i)	B's cost of raw materials		40,000
	(VAT recovered by A Rs.5,000)
(ii)	B's cost of other materials
	Local Purchases		20,000
	(VAT charged on the above Rs.2,500)
	Inter- State Purchases*		10,400
	(CST paid Rs.400)
(iii)	Manufacturing and other expenses incurred and profit earned by B		29,600
(iv)	Sale price of finished product		1,00,000
(v)	VAT on the above		12,500
(vi)	Invoice value charged by B to the wholesaler, C		1,12,500
II.	B's liability for VAT
	Tax on the sales price		12,500
	Less: Set-off of VAT on Purchases
	To A	5,000
	To other suppliers	2,500	7,500
	Net Tax Payable		5,000

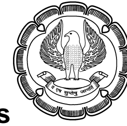
*Credit / set off for tax paid on inter-State purchases (inputs) is not allowed.

When C, after repacking the goods into other packing, sells the finished product to a retailer. The following would be the position:

		(Rs.)
(i)	C's cost of goods	1,00,000
	(VAT recovered by B Rs.12, 500)
(ii)	Cost of packing material	2,000
	(VAT charged on the above Rs. 250)
(iii)	Expenses incurred and profit earned by C	18,000



(iv)	Sale price of goods		1,20,000
(v)	VAT on the above		15,000
(vi)	Invoice value charged by C to D, a retailer		1,35,000
III.	C's liability for VAT
	Tax on the sales price		15,000
	Less: set-off of VAT paid
	To B	12,500
	To other suppliers	250	12,750
	Net Tax payable		2,250

When D sells the goods to the consumers, the position would be as under:

		Rs.
(i)	D's cost of goods	1,20,000
	(VAT recovered by C Rs.15,000)
(iii)	Expenses incurred and profit earned by D	20,000
(iv)	Sale price of goods	1,40,000
(v)	VAT on the above	17,500
(vi)	Invoice value charged by D to the consumers	1,57,500
IV.	D's liability for VAT
	Tax on the sale price	17,500
	Less: Set-off of VAT paid to C	15,000
	Net Tax Payable	2,500

Total recovery

It would be seen that in the above illustrations, at the successive stages which the raw materials and other goods pass till they are sold to the ultimate consumers, VAT would be collected as under:

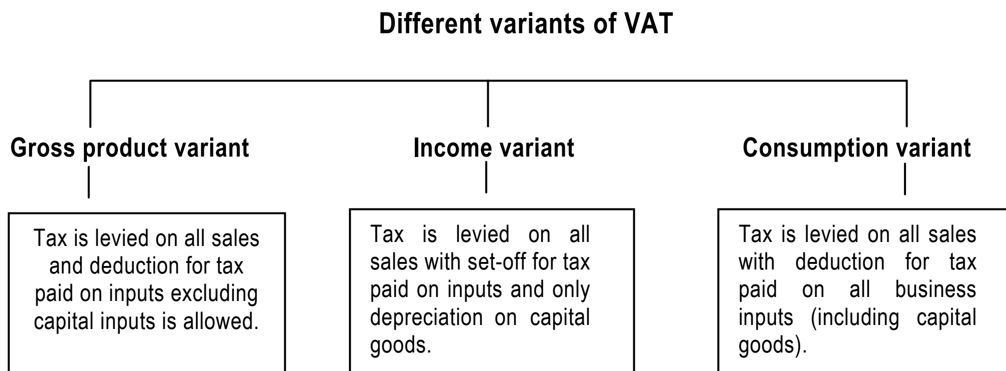
		(Rs.)
(i)	Paid by suppliers selling raw materials to A	2,500
(ii)	Net tax paid by A on his sales to B	2,500
(iii)	Paid by suppliers selling other materials to B	2,500
(iv)	Net tax paid by B	5,000
(v)	Paid by suppliers selling packing materials to C	250
(vii)	Net tax paid by C	2,250
(viii)	Net tax paid by D	2,500
	Total recovery of revenue	17,500

Now, if tax was leviable under a sales-tax law at the last stage in a series of successive sales (when the finished product is sold to consumers) the authorities in the above case would have recovered the entire tax of Rs.17, 500 from D at 12.50 per cent on his sale price of Rs.1,40,000 and all earlier stages are to be exempted.

4. VARIANTS OF VAT

VAT has three variants, viz., (a) gross product variant, (b) income variant, and (c) consumption variant. These variants are presented in a schematic diagram given below:

Different variants of VAT



The gross product variant allows deductions for taxes on all purchases of raw materials and components, but no deduction is allowed for taxes on capital inputs. That is, taxes on capital goods such as plant and machinery are not deductible from the tax base in the year of purchase and tax on the depreciated part of the plant and machinery is not deductible in the subsequent years. Capital goods carry a heavier tax burden as they are taxed twice. Modernization and upgrading of plant and machinery is delayed due to this double tax treatment.

The income variant of VAT on the other hand allows for deductions on purchases of raw materials and components as well as depreciation on capital goods. This method provides incentives to classify purchases as current expenditure to claim set-off. In practice, however, there are many difficulties connected with the specification of any method of measuring depreciation, which basically depends on the life of an asset as well as on the rate of inflation.

Consumption variant of VAT allows for deduction on all business purchases including capital assets. Thus, gross investment is deductible in calculating value added. It neither distinguishes between capital and current expenditures nor specifies the life of assets or depreciation allowances for different assets. This form is neutral between the methods of production; there will be no effect on tax liability due to the method of production (i.e. substituting capital for labour or vice versa). The tax is also neutral between the decision to save or consume.

Among the three variants of VAT, the consumption variant is widely used. Several countries of Europe and other continents have adopted this variant. The reasons for preference of this variant are:

Firstly, it does not affect decisions regarding investment because the tax on capital goods is also set-off against the VAT liability. Hence, the system is tax neutral in respect of techniques of production (labour or capital-intensive).

Secondly, the consumption variant is convenient from the point of administrative expediency as it simplifies tax administration by obviating the need to distinguish between purchases of intermediate and capital goods on the one hand and consumption goods on the other hand.

In practice, therefore, most countries use the consumption variant. Also, most VAT countries include many services in the tax base. Since the business gets set-off for the tax on services, it does not cause any cascading effect.

5. METHODS FOR COMPUTATION OF TAX

There are several methods to calculate the ‘value added’ to the goods for levy of tax. The three commonly used methods are:

(a) addition method,

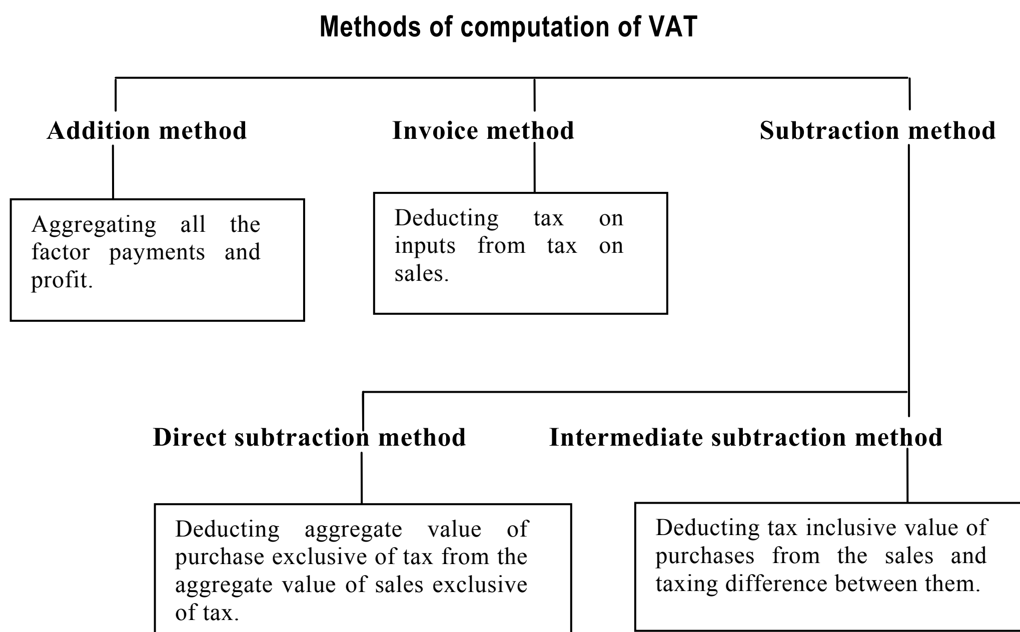
(b) invoice method and

(c) subtraction method.

The subtraction method can be further divided into:

(a) direct subtraction method

(b) intermediate subtraction method



5.1 Addition Method

This method aggregates all the factor payments including profits to arrive at the total value addition on which the rate is applied to calculate the tax. This type of calculation is mainly used with income variant of VAT. Addition method does not easily accommodate exemptions of intermediate dealers. A drawback of this method is that it does not facilitate matching of invoices for detecting evasion.

5.2 Invoice Method

This is the most common and popular method for computing the tax liability under 'VAT' system. Under this method, tax is imposed at each stage of sales on the entire sale value and the tax paid at the earlier stage is allowed as set-off. In other words, out of tax so calculated, tax paid at the earlier stage i.e., at the stage of purchases is set-off, and at every stage the differential tax is being paid. The most important aspect of this method is that at each stage, tax is to be charged separately in the invoice. This method is very popular in western countries. In India also, under the VAT law as introduced in several States and under the Central Excise Law this method is followed. This method is also called the 'Tax Credit Method' or 'Voucher Method'. From the following illustration, the mode of calculation of tax under this method will become clear:

Stage	Particulars	VAT Liability	Less VAT Credit	Tax to Government
1.	Manufacturer/first seller in the State sells the goods to distributor for Rs.1000. Rate of tax is 12.50%. Therefore, his tax liability will be Rs.125. He will not get any VAT credit, being the first seller.	125	-	125
2.	Distributor sells the goods to a wholesale dealer for say Rs. 1200 @ 12.50% and will get set-off of tax paid at earlier stage at Rs. 125. His tax liability will be Rs. 25.	150	125	25
3.	Wholesale dealer sells the goods to a retailer at say Rs. 1500. Here again he will have to pay the tax on Rs. 1500. He will get credit of tax paid at earlier stage of Rs. 150. His tax liability will be Rs. 37.50.	187.50	150	37.50
4.	Retailer sells the goods to consumers at say Rs. 2000. Here again he will have to pay tax on Rs. 2000. He will get credit for tax paid earlier at. Rs. 187.50. His tax liability will be Rs.62.50.	250	187.50	62.50
	Total	712.50	462.50	250

Thus, the Government will get tax on the final retail sale price of Rs. 2,000. However, the tax will be paid in instalments at different stages. At each stage, tax liability is worked out on the sale price and credit is also given on the basis of tax charged in the purchase invoice. If the first seller is a manufacturer, he gets the credit of tax paid on raw materials, etc. which are used in the manufacturing. From the above illustration, it is clear that under this method, tax credit cannot be claimed unless and until the purchase invoice is produced. As a result, in a chain, if at any stage the transaction is kept out of the books, still there is no loss of revenue. The department will be in a position to recover the full tax at the next stage. Thus, the possibility of tax evasion, if not entirely ruled out, will be reduced to a minimum. However, proper measures should be implemented to prevent the production of fake invoices to claim the credit of tax at an earlier stage.

It is said that in this method the beneficiary is the trade and industry because in the above example, the total tax collection at all the stages is Rs.712.50 whereas tax received by the State is only Rs. 250. The set-off available is also tax paid. If the profit margin is to be kept at the constant level then the set-off will have to be considered to avoid cascading effects of taxes.

5.3 Subtraction Method

While the above-stated invoice or tax-credit method is the most common method of VAT, another method to determine the liability of a taxable person is the cost subtraction method, which is also a simple method. Under this method, the tax is charged only on the value added at each stage of the sale of goods. Since, the total value of goods sold is not taken into account, the question of grant of claim for set-off or tax credit does not arise. This method is normally applied where the tax is not charged separately. Under this method for imposing tax, 'value added' is simply taken as the difference between sales and purchases. The following illustration will make the working of this system clear:

Stage No.	Particulars	Turnover for tax under VAT (Rs.)	Tax @ 12.50% (Rs.)
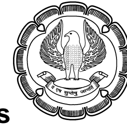
1.	First seller sells the goods to a distributor at say, Rs. 1125 inclusive of tax	1,125	125 $\left[\frac{(1125\times12.50)}{100+12.50}\right]$



2.	Distributor sells the goods to a whole-seller at say, Rs.1,350. Here taxable turnover will be Rs.1,350 - Rs.1,125	225	25 $\left[\frac{(225 \times 12.50)}{100+12.50}\right]$
3.	Wholesaler sells the goods to a retailer at say, Rs 1,687.50. Here taxable turnover will be Rs. 1,687.50 - Rs. 1,350	337.50	37.50 $\left[\frac{(337.50 \times 12.50)}{100+12.50}\right]$
4.	Retailer selling the goods at say, Rs. 2250. Taxable turnover will be' Rs.2250 - Rs. 1687.50	562.50	62.50 $\left[\frac{(562.50 \times 12.50)}{100+12.50}\right]$
		2,250	250

Tax is calculated by the formula $\frac{T \times R}{100+R}$

T = Taxable turnover, R = Rate of Tax

Thus, under this system also, the incidence of tax is at each stage and the incidence of tax on the final sale price to the consumer will remain the same as in the earlier method. However, this holds good till the time the same rate of tax is attracted on all inputs, including consumables and services, added at all the stages of production/distribution. If the rates are not common, then the final tax by the two methods may differ. This is explained in tables given below:

Invoice Method (All inputs taxable under ONE rate)

Particulars	Invoice	Material Value	VAT	Input tax credit	NET
Inputs for A
Product X(@12.50%)	260	231	29	--	29
Product Y(@12.50%)	450	400	50	--	50

'D' to 'E'	2700	2250	450	50
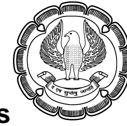
FINAL	2700	--	--	281

Thus, on the same consumer price of Rs. 2700 under invoice method VAT works out to be



Rs.300 where as under the subtraction method it works out to be Rs. 281. Therefore, the method is not considered as a good method. The method is being objected to on the ground that under this method, tax is levied on income. The value addition at each stage may not be only due to profit but may be partly due to freight/transportation and other services. The incidence of tax is on the sale of goods. However, the mode of calculation of taxable turnover is value added. Therefore, the method cannot be said to be imposing tax on income/profit.

6. MERITS AND DEMERITS OF VAT

6.1 Merits

1. No tax evasion

It is said that VAT is a logical beauty. Under VAT, credit of duty paid is allowed against the liability on the final product manufactured or sold. Therefore, unless proper records are kept in respect of various inputs, it is not possible to claim credit. Hence, suppression of purchases or production will be difficult because it will lead to loss of revenue. A perfect system of VAT will be a perfect chain where tax evasion is difficult.

2. Neutrality

The greatest advantage of the system is that it does not interfere in the choice of decision for purchases. This is because the system has anti-cascading effect. How much value is added and at what stage it is added in the system of production/distribution is of no consequence. The system is neutral with regard to choice of production technique, as well as business organisation. All other things remaining the same, the issue of tax liability does not vary the decision about the source of purchase. VAT facilitates precise identification and rebate of the tax on purchases and thus ensures that there is no cascading effect of tax. In short, the allocation of resources is left to be decided by the free play of market forces and competition.

3. Certainty

The VAT is a system based simply on transactions. Thus there is no need to go through complicated definitions like sales, sales price, turnover of purchases and turnover of sales. The tax is also broad-based and applicable to all sales in business leaving little room for different interpretations. Thus, this system brings certainty to a great extent.

4. Transparency

Under a VAT system, the buyer knows, out of the total consideration paid for purchase of material, what is tax component. Thus, the system ensures transparency also. This transparency enables the State Governments to know as to what is the exact amount of tax coming at each stage. Thus, it is a great aid to the Government while taking decisions with regard to rate of tax etc.

5. Better revenue collection and stability

The Government will receive its due tax on the final consumer/retail sale price. There will be a minimum possibility of revenue leakage, since the tax credit will be given only if the proof of tax paid at an earlier stage is produced. This means that if the tax is evaded at one stage, full tax will be recoverable from the person at the subsequent stage or from a person unable to produce proof of such tax payment. Thus, in particular, an invoice of VAT will be self enforcing and will induce business to demand invoices from the suppliers. Another attribute of VAT is that it is an exceptionally stable and flexible source of Government revenue.

6. Better accounting systems

Since the tax paid on an earlier stage is to be received back, the system will promote better accounting systems.

7. Effect on retail price

A persistent criticism of the VAT form has been that since the tax is payable on the final sale price, the VAT usually increases the prices of the goods. However, VAT does not have any inflationary impact as it merely replaces the existing equal sales tax. It may also be pointed out that with the introduction of VAT, the tax impact on raw material is to be totally eliminated. Therefore, there may not be any increase in the prices.

6.2 Demerits

1. The merits accrue in full measure only under a situation where there is only one rate of VAT and VAT applies to all commodities without any question of exemptions whatsoever. Once concessions like differential rates of VAT, composition schemes, exemption schemes, exempted category of goods etc. are built into the system, distortions are bound to occur and the fundamental principle that VAT will totally eliminate cascading effects of taxes will also be subject to qualifications.
2. In the federal structure of India in the context of sales-tax, so long as Central VAT is not integrated with the State VAT, it will be difficult to put the purchases from other States at par with the State purchases. Therefore, the advantage of neutrality will be confined only for purchases within the State.
3. For complying with the VAT provisions, the accounting cost will increase. The burden of this increase may not be commensurate with the benefit to traders and small firms.
4. Another possible weak point in the introduction of VAT, which will have an adverse impact on it is that, since the tax is to be imposed or paid at various stages and not on last stage, it would increase the working capital requirements and the interest burden on the same. In this way it is considered to be non-beneficial as compared to the single stage-last point taxation system.

5. VAT is a form of consumption tax. Since, the proportion of income spent on consumption is larger for the poor than for the rich, VAT tends to be regressive. However, this weakness is inherent in all the forms of consumption tax. While it may be possible to moderate the distribution impact of VAT by taxing necessities at a lower rate, it is always advisable to moderate the distribution considerations through other programmes rather than concessions or exemptions, which create complications for administration.

6. As a result of introduction of VAT, the administration cost to the State can increase as the number of dealers to be administered will go up significantly.

7. VAT IN INDIAN CONTEXT

The Indian Union is a federal structure under the Constitution of India. The Central Government and the State Governments derive their powers through the instrumentality of the Union List, the State List and the Concurrent List. So far as powers of taxation are concerned there are clearly specified areas over which the Central Government and the States can exercise their jurisdiction.

While Income-tax, excise duty and customs duty[2] constitute the major sources of tax revenue to the Central Government, the State Governments substantially depend on sales-tax as the main source of revenue. The Central Government undertook a series of reforms in indirect taxes, the major among which was the introduction of Modified VAT, which is currently in operation as CENVAT. However, in view of the constitutional constraints, CENVAT applies to goods and services but not to sales tax and State- Level VAT.

7.1 Central value added tax (CENVAT)

At the Central level, at the time of Independence, India inherited a system of commodity taxes in which excise duties were levied on about a dozen articles yielding a small proportion of total tax revenue to the Centre. Following Independence, the rates were raised, the base was enlarged, and more and more items were brought into its net. Over time, there was a speedy extension of excise duties. It was not only levied on finished goods but also covered raw materials, intermediate goods and capital goods.

[2] Customs duty is levied on import and export of goods. The concepts relating to customs duty shall be taken up in Paper – 8: Indirect Tax Laws at the Final level.

7.1.1 Structure of CENVAT

As of now, the Central Government levies excise duties on all goods manufactured or produced in the country. Such duty is paid by the manufacturer / producer at the time of removal of goods from the factory at prescribed rates. The prevailing structure of such duties includes (i) CENVAT, (ii) special excise duty (SED), (iii) additional excise duty on goods of special importance, AED (GSI) (iv) additional duty of excise on textiles and textile articles, AED (T&TA), and (v) cesses on specified commodities.

With effect from March 1, 1986, MODVAT was introduced under the union excise duty as a system of giving credit for excise duty on inputs. Initially, it was introduced for a selected number of commodities. Over time, MODVAT was extended and was finally replaced by Central VAT, known as CENVAT in the Budget 2000-01. CENVAT has in general a single rate of 16% with some variations for select commodities.

The CENVAT scheme initially allowed instant credit for specified excise duties paid on inputs and capital goods received in a factory for the manufacture of any dutiable final products . The credit could be utilised to pay excise duty on any final product.

The Finance Act, 2004 marked a beginning for an integrated goods and service tax system wherein the duties of excise paid on inputs / capital goods and service tax paid on input services could be adjusted against a manufacturer's excise duty liability or a service provider's service tax liability. At present, the CENVAT scheme is governed by CENVAT Credit Rules, 2004.

7.2 Committee of State Finance Ministers

After the introduction of VAT in the area of manufacture and services, a need for uniformity arose wherein similar system was proposed to be incorporated in the area of sales thereby replacing the existing sales tax system. To materialize this concept, the then Union Finance Minister called a meeting of the State Finance Ministers in May 1994 and a Committee of State Finance Ministers was constituted on sales tax reform following this meeting. The Committee had to examine all aspects of sales tax reform, including the introduction of VAT.

The Committee recommended several measures to rationalize the existing sales tax with the ultimate aim of introducing VAT at the State level. The major recommendations included simplification of the rate structure, minimization of the exemptions and enhancement of transparency. To this end, the Committee recommended:

(i) The adoption of four general floor rates (0, 4, 8, 12) and two special floor rates (1 and 20) in place of the existing multiple rates being levied in different States;

(ii) Keeping the exemptions to a minimum;

(iii) Preparing a list of exempt goods and fixing a target date beyond which no State/Union Territory should exempt goods other than those mentioned in the list, and;

(iv) Doing away with sales tax incentives for industrialization. No new tax incentives should be given after 1 April, 1997, and the existing ones should be allowed to lapse in due course.

The Committee also recommended several preparatory steps to be taken for the implementation of a full-fledged State-Level VAT. This included a massive taxpayers education programme, computerization of sales tax administration, and preparation of model VAT legislation. For implementing the above decisions, an Empowered Committee of State Finance Ministers was set up.

7.3 White Paper on State-Level VAT in India

The Empowered Committee of State Finance Ministers met regularly and with the repetitive discussions and collective efforts brought out a White paper on 17.01.2005, which provided a base for the preparation of various State VAT legislations. It has been recognized that VAT is a State subject and therefore, the States will have freedom for appropriate variations consistent with the basic design as agreed upon at the Empowered Committee. Broadly, the White Paper consists of the following:

(a) Justification of VAT and Background

(b) Design of State-Level VAT.

(c) Steps taken by the States.

8. PRESENT POSITION

Finally State-Level VAT was introduced on 01.04.2005 by majority of the States. The States have passed State-Level VAT legislations which are modeled on the draft model VAT law, prescribed by the Central Government. The legislations also incorporate the various principles of State-Level VAT as contained in the White Paper released by the Empowered Committee. However, such State Legislations contain provisions to cater to the specific needs of the State finances.

8.1 Discontinuance of central sales tax

With the introduction of State-Level VAT system, it is proposed to phase out the Central sales tax (CST). However, since the states will stand to lose large revenue on account of its discontinuance a mechanism is being thought of for compensating the States for such loss of revenue.

9. AUDIT PROVISIONS UNDER VAT

Like majority of the developing economies our country is also facing the problem of lack of education and awareness about tax laws, more particularly amongst the trading community. Further, the VAT system of taxation is new to them. Since the trading community is not educated enough and equipped to understand the implications of the VAT system of taxation immediately, there is every possibility that they may not be in a position to arrange their business affairs to fall in line with the requirements of the State-Level VAT and calculate and discharge their exact tax liability under the VAT laws. On the other hand, the tax administrator i.e. the authorities in the taxation department also find themselves devoid of sufficient resources to educate the tax payers and inform them about the procedural and accounting changes that are necessitated by the implementation of VAT system.

Further, under the VAT system a major thrust is to be laid on the 'self assessment' i.e., the tax liability, calculated and paid by the tax payers through their periodical returns, will be accepted by and large and the tax payers will not be called to substantiate the tax liability shown by them in the returns by producing books of account and other relevant material. The assessments with books of account will be an exception.

Therefore, there is a strong need to see that the tax payers discharge their tax liability properly while filing the returns. This can be ensured only when the particulars furnished by the tax payers are verified by an independent auditor in minute details by:

- going through the books of account and
- analysing and interpret the provisions of the State-Level VAT laws and
- reporting the under-assessment, if any, made by the dealer requiring additional payment or
- reporting any excess payment of tax warranting refund to the tax payer.

In most of the countries tax evasion is rampant under the existing tax systems. In India too, evasion of excise and sales-tax is estimated to be very high. If no audit is prescribed under VAT law, the chances of evasion of VAT tax will increase causing revenue leakage for the Government. It is, therefore, essential that the audit of the proposed VAT system is attempted on a regular basis. However, it is not possible to conduct the audit of all the VAT dealers. Therefore, the criteria for audit can be the amount of turnover or the class of dealer dealing in specified commodities.

The concept of audit is popular even in foreign countries where the system of VAT is in practice since long in the field of indirect taxation. In countries like France and Korea the audit has proved to be an effective tool to check the evasion of tax, which was mostly done by producing fake invoices etc.

Since VAT is a new concept, some of the States want to keep the procedural formalities to the minimum. Hence, at the initial stage their law makers refrain from keeping any audit provisions in their Act and rules. Perhaps, this may be due to the initial stage of introduction of VAT. But most of the States, keeping in mind the importance of audit, have incorporated the audit provisions since inception.

Some States like the State of Maharashtra and State of Kerala have provided detailed particulars to be furnished by various dealers in respect of their VAT assessments.

10. ICAI'S ROLE IN VAT

The ICAI has rendered pioneering service in evolving the necessary accounting guidelines both for CENVAT as well as State Level VAT. It has brought out Guidance Notes for accounting for CENVAT as well as State-Level VAT. These Guidance Notes address all the accounting issues in regard to CENVAT and State-Level VAT. Further, the Institute has brought out a comprehensive study on State-Level VAT in India. It contains an elaborate discussion of the various general principles of VAT and State Level VAT. These general principles have been incorporated in the various State-Level VAT legislations. However, there are special provisions contained in the respective State level legislations to cater to the specific needs of the States. Various State governments have issued detailed clarification on different practical issues arising on implementation of the State-Level VAT.

11. ROLE OF CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT IN VAT

Chartered Accountants have a key role to play in proper implementation of VAT.

(i) Record keeping : VAT requires proper record keeping and accounting. Systematic records of input credit and its proper utilisation is necessary for the success of VAT. Chartered Accountants are well equipped to perform such tasks

(ii) Tax planning : In order to establish an efficient plan for purchases and sales, a careful study of VAT is required. A Chartered Accountant is competent to analyze the impact of various alternatives and choose the most optimum method of purchases and sales in order to minimize the tax impact.

(iii) Negotiations with suppliers to reduce price : VAT credit alters cost structure of goods supplied as inputs. A Chartered Accountant will ensure that the benefit of such cost reduction is passed on by the suppliers to his company. However, if the buyers of his company make the similar demand, he must be ready with full data to resist the claims.

(iv) Handling the audit by departmental officers : There will be audit wing in department and certain percentage of dealers will be taken up for audit every year on scientific basis. Chartered Accountant can ensure proper record keeping so as to satisfy the departmental auditors. The professional expertise of a Chartered Accountant will help him in effectively replying audit queries and sorting out audit objections.

(v) External audit of VAT records : Under VAT system, trust has been reposed on tax payers as there will be no regular assessment of all VAT returns but only few returns will be scrutinized. In other cases, return filed by dealer will be accepted. Thus, a check on compliance becomes necessary. Chartered Accountants can play a very vital role in ensuring tax compliance by audit of VAT accounts.

VAT laws of some States provide for audit by outside agencies. In Karnataka, audit report is required if turnover exceeds Rs.25 lakhs. Andhra Pradesh VAT Act provides for audit by Chartered Accountant, if audit is ordered by Commissioner. Maharashtra VAT laws provide for audit by Chartered Accountant if turnover exceeds Rs.40 lakhs. Other States may also prescribe external audit, once they see the utility of audit reports furnished by Chartered Accountant in ensuring tax compliance.

12. GOODS AND SERVICE TAX

The ultimate system of indirect taxes in India will be of goods and service tax. Under such a system there will be one central authority administering a uniform goods and service tax. Input tax credit will be available between goods and services throughout the country. However, such a development will require constitutional amendment. Under such a uniform tax system, there will be no trade barriers like octroi and entry tax. There will be a free flow of trade and commerce through out the length and breadth of the country. India will then become a vast common market. The Union Finance Minister in his Budget speech for the year 2006-07 has announced 1st April, 2010 as the target date to introduce goods and service tax.

CHAPTER 5

INPUT TAX CREDIT AND COMPOSITION SCHEME FOR SMALL DEALERS

UNIT – 1 : INPUT TAX CREDIT

Learning objectives

After reading this unit you will be able to:

- understand what is input tax and output tax.
- identify the purchases in respect of which input tax credit can be availed and in respect of which input tax credit cannot be availed.
- understand the concept of carrying over of tax credit.
- understand the provisions relating to refund of input tax credit.
- comprehend the concept of input tax credit in respect of capital goods.

1.1 CONCEPTS OF INPUT TAX AND OUTPUT TAX

Input tax is the tax paid or payable in the course of business on purchases of any goods made from a registered dealer of the State. Output tax means the tax charged or chargeable under the Act, by a registered dealer for the sale of goods in the course of business.

In simple words input tax is the tax a dealer pays on his local purchases of business inputs, which include the goods that he purchases for resale, raw materials, capital goods as well as other inputs for use directly or indirectly in his business. Output tax is the tax that a dealer charges on his sales that are subject to tax.

1.2 INPUT TAX CREDIT (ITC)

The essence of VAT is in providing set-off for the tax paid earlier, and this is given effect through the concept of input tax credit/rebate. This input tax credit in relation to any period means setting off the amount of input tax by a registered dealer against the amount of his output tax.

It is reiterated that tax paid on the earlier point is called input tax. This amount will be adjusted/rebated against the tax payable by the purchasing dealer on his sales. This credit availability is called input tax credit; it can also be referred to as tax credit on a sale within the State or in the course of inter- State trade or commerce.

1.2.1 Scope of input tax credit

Input tax credit shall be allowed to a registered dealer for purchase of any goods made within the State from a dealer holding a valid certificate of registration under the Act. Further, the input tax credit will be given to both manufacturers and traders for purchase of inputs/supplies meant for both sale within the State as well as to other States, irrespective of when these will be utilized/sold.

Even for stock transfer/consignment transfers/branch transfer of goods out of the State, input tax paid in excess of 4% will be eligible for tax credit. It is also to be noted that in some States partial input tax credit is available in respect of inputs used for manufacture of exempted goods.

1.2.2 Input tax credit available on capital goods

Input tax credit on capital goods will also be available for traders and manufacturers. Tax credit on capital goods may be adjusted over a maximum of 36 equal monthly instalments. The States may at their option reduce this number of instalments. The State of Maharastra has decided to give full input tax credit in the month of purchases only. However, if the capital asset is sold within the period of 36 months proportionate input credit will be withdrawn. There is a negative list for capital goods (on the basis of principles already decided by the Empowered Committee) not eligible for input tax credit.

The concepts relating to input tax credit on capital goods have been discussed in para 5.9 of this chapter.

1.3 VAT LIABILITY

The Value Added Tax (VAT) is based on the value addition to the goods, and the related VAT liability of the dealer is calculated by deducting input tax credit from tax collected on sales during the payment period (say, a month).

If, for example, input worth Rs. 1,00,000/- is purchased and sales are worth Rs. 2,00,000/- in a month, input tax rate and output tax rate are 4% and 12.5% respectively, then input tax credit/set-off and calculation of VAT will be as shown below:

(a) Input purchased within the month : Rs. 1,00,000/-

(b) Output sold in the month : Rs. 2,00,000/-

(c) Input tax paid : Rs. 4,000/-

(d) Output tax payable : Rs. 25,000/-

(e) VAT payable during the month after set-off/input tax credit [(d) – (c)] : Rs. 21,000/-

Subject to the provisions relating to credit for input tax, the net tax payable by a taxable person for a tax period can be calculated on the basis of the following formula:

A - B

where

A = Total of the tax payable in respect of taxable supplies made by the taxable person during the tax period and

B = Total input tax credit allowed to the taxable person for the tax period.

In short, net tax payable is total tax liability minus input tax credit i.e. net tax is the difference between output tax and tax credit.

Following example illustrates how excess VAT credit can be availed:

Tax paid on purchases made in the State within a month (input tax)	Rs.10,000
Tax charged for sales in the State within a month (output tax)	Rs.4,500
CST charged for inter-State sales within a month	Rs.15,000
Input tax credit	Rs.10,000
VAT liability (Rs.4,500 - 10,000)	Nil
Excess credit	Rs.5,500
CST to be paid to Govt.(Rs.15,000- 5,500)	Rs.9,500

In the present case CST to be paid to Government is Rs.9,500 (CST of Rs.15,000 will be reduced by excess VAT credit of Rs.5,500/-)

1.4 ELIGIBLE PURCHASES FOR AVAILING INPUT TAX CREDIT

For the purpose of claiming input tax credit, the taxable goods should be purchased for any one of the following purposes:

(i) for sale/resale within the State;

(ii) for sale to other parts of India in the course of inter-State trade or commerce;

(iii) to be used as-

(a) containers or packing materials;

(b) raw materials; or

(c) consumable stores, required for the purpose of manufacture of taxable goods or in the packing of such manufactured goods intended for sale in the State or in the course of inter-State trade or commerce;

(iv) for being used in the execution of a works contract;

(v) to be used as capital goods required for the purpose of manufacture or resale of taxable goods;

(vi) to be used as

(a) raw materials;

(b) capital goods;

(c) consumable stores and

(d) packing materials/containers for manufacturing/packing goods to be sold in the course of export out of the territory of India;

(vii) for making zero-rated sales other than those referred to in clause (vi) above.

1.4.1 Common goods used for taxable goods and tax-free goods

Provisions have been made in most of the States to provide that the purchases should be used for manufacture etc. of taxable goods. Taxable goods means goods other than the goods which are specified in the Schedule for tax-free goods.

Where the purchased goods are used partially for the purpose specified above, input tax credit shall be allowed proportionate to the extent the purchases are used for the purposes specified above.

1.5 PURCHASES NOT ELIGIBLE FOR INPUT TAX CREDIT

Input tax credit may not be allowed in the following circumstances:

(i) purchases from unregistered dealers;

(ii) purchases from registered dealer who opt for composition scheme[1] under the provisions of the Act;

(iii) purchase of goods as may be notified by the State Government;

(iv) purchase of goods where the purchase invoice is not available with the claimant or there is evidence that the same has not been issued by the selling registered dealer from whom the goods are purported to have been purchased;

(v) purchase of goods where invoice does not show the amount of tax separately;

(vi) purchase of goods, which are being utilized in the manufacture of, exempted goods;

(vii) goods in stock, which have suffered tax under an earlier Act but under VAT Act they are covered under exempted items;

(viii) purchase of goods used for personal use/consumption or provided free of charge as gifts (partial credit is available in the State of Maharashtra);

(ix) goods imported from outside the territory of India (commonly known as high seas purchases);

(x) goods imported from other States viz. inter-State purchases.

1.6 CARRYING OVER OF TAX CREDIT

Input tax credit is first to be utilized for payment of VAT. The excess credit can be then adjusted against the central sales tax (CST) for the said period. After the adjustment of VAT and CST, excess credit, if any, will be carried over to the end of the next year. If there is any excess unadjusted input tax credit at the second year, then the same will be eligible for refund. However, some States have decided to grant refund after the end of the first financial year itself.

[1] The concepts relating to composition scheme have been discussed in Unit – 2 of this Chapter.

Illustration

(a)	Inputs purchased within a month	Rs. 10,00,000
(b)	Outputs sold in the month	Rs. 7,50,000
(c)	Input tax paid @12.50% on (a)	Rs. 1,25,000
(d)	Tax @12.5% on sale of goods of Rs.7,50,000/- during the month	Rs. 93,750
(e)	Net VAT payable during the month (d) - (c)	NIL
(f)	Tax credit to be carried to the next month (c) - (d)	Rs. 31, 250

1.7 REFUND TO EXPORTERS WITHIN THREE MONTHS

The White Paper provides for the grant of refund of input tax paid if the goods are exported out of the country. Under the basic design of the White Paper this refund is to be granted within a period of 3 months from the end of the period in which the transaction for export took place.

1.8 EXEMPTION OR REFUND TO SEZ AND EOU UNITS

Units located in Special Economic Zone (SEZ) and Export Oriented Units (EOU) are granted either exemption from payment of input tax or refund of the input tax paid within three months. State Governments may reduce the time period of 3 months.

1.9 CONCEPT OF INPUT TAX CREDIT ON CAPITAL GOODS

A dealer has to purchase capital goods, which may include plant and machinery, furniture, fixture, electrical installations, vehicles etc. Similarly, a dealer may be creating capital assets himself by purchasing materials for capital assets like, building materials etc. Normally all the above items are taxable and the dealer has to pay sales-tax on purchase of the above goods. Each State-VAT legislations may define ‘capital goods’ differently.

Normally, under VAT system the dealer should get full credit for tax paid on such purchases, more particularly when the basic principle is to avoid the cascading effect. These assets are used for the business and while fixing sale price of the business products the dealer has to include some portion towards the cost of the acquisition of these assets as part of the sale price. If the input credit is not allowed in full then certainly, to the extent of disallowance, the principle of VAT gets defeated. For example, a dealer has purchased furniture for his business, costing Rs.1,00,000/-. Assuming that the vendor has charged tax to him @ 12.5%, he will incur an additional cost of Rs.12,500/- by way of VAT. Now, if the credit for VAT paid is allowed, the dealer can consider the cost of acquisition at Rs.1,00,000/-. If the credit of tax paid is not allowed then he has to consider the cost of purchase at Rs.1,12,500/-. While marking up his price on account of establishment cost he has to consider this cost of furniture as one of the components. If cost remains higher, obviously to that extent the mark up will go up. If the cost is lower i.e. after considering input credit of Rs.12,500/- the cost will be lower and to that extent the mark up will also be lower, resulting in an overall lower sale price.

When tax paid on purchases is included in cost, the said tax indirectly gets reflected in the sale price and hence there is also an element of tax upon tax. This cascading effect can very well be imagined from the above example. Depending upon the volume of capital goods and the tax component on the same the magnitude of the cascading effect can be imagined. When the tax is collected on sales, indirectly there is collection of tax on the cost of capital goods also which includes tax paid on purchase of such assets.

1.9.1 Policy in the white paper

The policy lays down that in relation to capital goods set off will be available to traders and manufacturers. The most important factor is that the White Paper recognizes the fact that set off is to be given to both traders and manufacturers. It is well known that under traditional sales-tax system, in some States, partial credit was allowed on capital goods to the manufacturers but no credit was allowed to traders. The White Paper, taking into account the very basis of VAT system, laid down a policy statement that set off will be allowed to both manufacturers and traders.

However as per the White Paper, the State Governments can provide to give set off on a staggering basis, at the most in 36 instalments. This is subject to the policy of individual States. The States, like Maharashtra, have provided set off in one slot and the same is to be claimed immediately on effecting purchase.

1.9.2 Restrictions on credit relating to capital goods

It should be noted that credit on capital goods is not being allowed across the floor. As per the White Paper, there will be a negative list for capital goods which will be based on certain pre-agreed principles by the Empowered Committee. The capital goods mentioned in the negative list would not be eligible for input tax credit. However, it appears that the States have taken their own decisions to provide negative lists or reduction in set off in respect of capital goods.

1.9.3 Procedural requirements for claim of set off

Barring the items covered by the negative list and subject to retention rules, the dealers are entitled to set off on capital goods like any other purchases. Thus, the dealer will have to bifurcate their purchase into capital goods eligible for set off and capital goods not so eligible.

In respect of eligible capital goods the dealer will be required to follow the procedural requirements for claiming set off successfully. For example, dealers will be required to support purchase of capital goods with tax invoice. In the absence of such tax invoice set off will be disallowed.

Once a dealer is entitled to set off he has to further comply with the relevant provisions in respect of allowability. If it is subject to certain installments, the dealer will be required to claim set off accordingly in his returns. If the set off is subject to prior permission, the same should be duly obtained.

The allowable set off on capital goods will be, of course, part of normal set off. The dealer will be able to adjust this set off against his other VAT liability. For example, dealer can adjust his set off as per the following illustration:

	Particulars	(Rs.)
(i)	VAT paid on procurement of inputs/supplies worth Rs.1 lakh @ 12.50%	12,500
(ii)	VAT paid on procurement of capital goods of Rs.10 lakhs @ 12.50%	1,25,000
(iii)	VAT credit available in the month	1,37,500
(iv)	VAT on sales of Rs.10,00,000 during the month @ 12.50%	1,25,000
(v)	VAT payable during the month	Nil
(vi)	Carry over of tax credit for set off during the next month	12,500

It may be mentioned here that the set off under VAT Acts are subject to one very important condition. It is generally provided in VAT Acts that the set off on any goods should not exceed the tax received on the same goods in Government Treasury. For example, section 48(5) of the Maharashtra VAT Act provides that a dealer will not be entitled to set off more than the amount received in the Government Treasury. Therefore, if the vendor fails to make the payment of tax to the Government, the purchaser's claim of set off will be denied inspite of the fact that he has paid the tax to his vendor. If at any earlier stage some tax was paid, to that extent, the set off can be claimed.

Therefore, the purchasing dealer, desirous of claiming set off, should also look into the credentials of the vendor so as to be sure that he will get the set off of tax paid to him.

UNIT – 2 : COMPOSITION SCHEME FOR SMALL DELAERS

Learning objectives

After reading this unit you will be able to understand the:

- policy laid down in the White Paper in respect of small dealers and composition scheme.
- features of composition scheme.
- eligibility for composition scheme.
- VAT chain under composition scheme.

2.1 PRINCIPLES LAID DOWN IN THE WHITE PAPER

The relevant provisions provided in the White Paper in relation to composition scheme read as under:

"Small dealers with annual gross turnover not exceeding Rs.50 lakhs who are otherwise liable to pay VAT, shall however have the option for a composition scheme with payment of tax at a small percentage of gross turnover. The dealers opting for this composition scheme will not be entitled to input tax credit."

2.2 THRESHOLD EXEMPTION LIMIT

The White Paper, in order to provide relief to the small dealers, specifies that registration for VAT will not be compulsory for dealers below a threshold (Rs.5 lakhs) turnover, and there will be a provision of an optional and simple composite scheme of taxation of a small percentage of gross turnover. However, the Empowered Committee of State Finance Ministers subsequently allowed the States to increase the threshold limit for the small dealers to Rs.10 lakhs with the condition that the concerned State would bear the revenue loss on account of increase in the limit beyond Rs.5 lakhs.

2.3 STATE LAWS TO PROVIDE FOR COMPOSITION SCHEME

The VAT Act is so designed that high value taxpayers should not be spared and the small dealers should be free from hassles of compliance procedures. The States have to provide composition scheme for small dealers i.e. the dealer whose total turnover exceeds Rs.5 lakhs (now 10 lakhs as per the decision of the Empowered Committee of State Finance Ministers) but does not exceed Rs.50 lakhs. Such a dealer would have an option to pay a composite amount of tax based on its annual gross turnover at the applicable rate subject to such conditions as may be prescribed. However, in such cases a dealer shall not be entitled to input tax credit on inputs and shall not be authorized to issue vatable invoices.

The Empowered Committee has permitted the States to reduce the rate of composition tax to as low as 0.25 %. The composition tax at the rate decided by the State Governments can now be levied on the taxable turnover instead of gross annual turnover.

Besides this, the State Governments may also provide for different types of composition schemes to be notified for different classes of retailers.

2.4 FEATURES OF COMPOSITION SCHEME

The decision to join composition scheme will be an individual decision. This decision will depend on the fact as to how VAT affects the dealer's business. The advantage of this scheme is that it saves a lot of labour and effort in keeping records. It also simplifies calculation of tax liability of a dealer. Such schemes generally have the following features:

(i) a very small tax will be payable;

(ii) there will be a simple return form to cover longer return period.

The major disadvantage of this scheme is the ineligibility of the dealer to avail input tax credit and issue tax invoices in order to pass on tax credit. Hence, the dealers desirous of availing input tax credit on their purchases may not prefer to buy from composition dealers.

2.5 ELIGIBILITY FOR THE COMPOSITION SCHEME

Every registered dealer who is liable to pay tax under the respective State VAT Acts and whose turnover does not exceed Rs.50 lakhs in the last financial year is generally entitled to avail this scheme. However, the following are not eligible for the composition scheme:

(i) a manufacturer or a dealer who sells goods in the course of inter-state trade or commerce; or

(ii) a dealer who sells goods in the course of import into or export out of the territory of India.

(iii) a dealer transferring goods outside the State otherwise than by way of sale or for execution of works contract.

2.6 EXERCISING OF OPTION

It is generally optional for a dealer to opt for this composition scheme. A dealer who intends to avail such composition scheme shall exercise the option in writing for a year or a part of the year in which he gets himself registered. For this the dealer has to intimate to the Commissioner.

If a dealer avails this scheme, he need not maintain any statutory records as prescribed under the Act. Only the records for purchase, sales, inventory should be maintained. However, if a dealer does not avail the scheme, he has to maintain the prescribed statutory records as per the respective State VAT Acts.

The dealer should not have any stock of goods which were brought from outside the State on the day he exercises his option to pay tax by way of composition and shall not use any goods brought from outside the State after such date. The dealer should also not claim input tax credit on the inventory available on the date on which he opts for composition scheme.

2.7 VAT CHAIN UNDER COMPOSITION SCHEME

2.7.1 Loss to the seller

If the composition scheme is availed by a dealer then such dealer cannot avail input tax credit in respect of input tax paid. Hence the dealer will be loosing the input tax credit on purchases made by him. He will not be able to pass on the benefit of input tax credit, which will add to the cost of the goods.

2.7.2 Loss to the purchaser

The purchaser shall not get any tax credit for the purchases made by him from the dealer operating under the composition scheme. Therefore, as soon as a dealer opts for the composition scheme, the VAT chain will be broken, and the benefit of tax paid earlier will not be passed on to the subsequent buyers.

Self-examination questions

   (c) Under the composition scheme, a dealer can pass on credit by issuing a supplementary invoice.

   (d) None of the above.

3. Which of the following dealer cannot opt for composition scheme?

   (a) a manufacturer or a dealer who sells goods in the course of inter-state trade or commerce

   (c) A dealer availing composition scheme should not have stock of goods brought from outside the State on the day he exercises his option and should not use any goods brought from outside the State after such date.

   (d) All of the above

5. What do you understand by a composition scheme under VAT laws?

6. What is the eligible turnover to avail the benefit of this scheme?

CHAPTER 6

VAT PROCEDURES

Learning objectives

After reading this chapter you will be able to understand:

- the provisions relating to registration under VAT laws.
- what is tax payer identification number (TIN).
- the general provisions relating to VAT invoice.
- the type of records to be maintained under VAT laws.
- the basic provisions relating to filing of returns under VAT laws.
- the general provisions relating to assessment and audit as provided under VAT laws.
- the tax rates as prescribed under VAT laws.

1. REGISTRATION

Registration is the process of obtaining certificate of registration (RC) from the authorities under the VAT Acts. A dealer registered under the VAT Acts is called a registered dealer. Any dealer, who intends to carry on the business of purchase and sale of goods in the State and is liable to pay tax, cannot carry on the business unless he is registered and holds a valid registration certificate under the Act.

1.1 Eligibility for registration

As per the provisions contained in the White Paper, registration of dealers with gross annual turnover above Rs.5 lakh will be compulsory. There will be provision for voluntary registration. All existing dealers will be automatically registered under the VAT Act. A new dealer will be allowed 30 days time from the date of liability to get registered. An application for registration should be made to the VAT Commissioner.

The White Paper specifies that registration under the VAT Act will not be compulsory for the small dealers with gross annual turnover not exceeding Rs.5 lakhs. However, the Empowered Committee of State Finance Ministers subsequently allowed the States to increase the threshold limit for the small dealers to Rs.10 lakhs with the condition that the concerned State would bear the revenue loss, on account of increase in limit beyond Rs.5 lakhs.

Generally, a dealer means any person, who consequent to, or in connection with, or incidental to, or in the course of his business, buys or sells goods for a consideration or otherwise.

All sales or purchases of goods made within the State except the exempted goods would be subjected to VAT.

1.2 Compulsory registration

If an assessee fails to obtain registration under the VAT Act, he may be registered compulsorily by the Commissioner. The Commissioner may assess the tax due from such person on the basis of evidence available with him. In this event the assessee shall have to forthwith pay such amount of tax. Further, failure to get registered shall result in attracting default penalty and forfeiture of eligibility to set off all input tax credit related to the period prior to the compulsory registration.

1.3 Voluntary registration

A dealer otherwise not eligible for registration may also obtain registration if the Commissioner is satisfied that the business of the applicant requires registration. The Commissioner may also impose any terms or conditions that he thinks fit.

1.4 Cancellation of registration

The registration can be cancelled on:

(i) discontinuance of business; or

(ii) disposal of business; or

(iii) transfer of business to a new location; or

(iv) annual turnover of a manufacturer or a trader dealing in designated goods or services falling below the specified amount.

2. TAX PAYER'S IDENTIFICATION NUMBER (TIN)

TIN (Tax Payer's Identification Number) is a code to identify a tax payer. It is the registration number of the dealer. The taxpayer's identification number will consist of 11 digit numerals throughout the country. First two characters will represent the State code as used by the Union Ministry of Home Affairs. The set-up of the next nine characters will be, however, different in different States. TIN will facilitate computer applications, such as detecting stop filers and delinquent accounts. TIN will help cross-check information on tax payer compliance, for example, the selective cross-checking of sales and purchases among VAT taxpayers.

3. VAT INVOICE

Invoice is a document listing goods sold with price, tax charged and other details as may be prescribed and issued by a dealer authorized under the Act.

The whole structure of the VAT with input tax credit is founded on the documentation of a tax invoice, a cash memo or a bill. The White Paper mainly provides for the following provisions, which are mandatory, and failure to comply with these attracts penalty:

(i) Every registered dealer whose turnover of sales exceeds the specified amount shall issue to the purchaser a serially numbered tax invoice, cash memo or bill with the prescribed particulars.

(ii) The tax invoice shall be dated and signed by the dealer or his regular employee, showing the required particulars.

(iii) The dealer shall keep a counterfoil or duplicate of such tax invoice duly signed and dated.

3.1 Importance of VAT invoice (tax invoice)

Invoices are crucial documents for administering VAT. In the absence of invoices VAT paid by the dealer earlier cannot be claimed as set off. Invoices should be preserved with full care. In case any original invoice is lost or misplaced, a duplicate authenticated copy must be obtained from the issuing dealer.

A VAT invoice:

(i) helps in determining the input tax credit;

(ii) prevents cascading effect of taxes;

(iii) facilitates multi-point taxation on the value addition;

(iv) promotes assurance of invoices;

(v) assists in performing audit and investigation activities effectively;

(vi) checks evasion of tax.

3.2 Contents of VAT invoice

VAT legislations of all States provide for the contents of the tax invoice. By and large there would be no need for a separate tax invoice, a regular invoice can also be termed as tax invoice if it has the prescribed contents. Generally, the various legislations provide that the tax invoice should have the following contents:

(i) the words 'tax invoice' in a prominent place;

(ii) name and address of the selling dealer;

(iii) registration number of the selling dealer;

(iv) name and address of the purchasing dealer;

(v) registration number of the purchasing dealer (may not be required under all VAT legislations);

(vi) pre-printed or self-generated serial number;

(vii) date of issue;

(viii) description, quantity and value of goods sold;

(ix) rate and amount of tax charged in respect of taxable goods;

(x) signature of the selling dealer or his regular employee duly authorized by him for such purpose.

3.3 Other invoices

Normally, a VAT dealer is expected to indicate the rate of tax and the amount of tax charged in the invoice issued. However, in case of small dealers or if the sale is to end consumer, other invoices are permitted without the details of tax. Such invoices should contain the following particulars:

(i) name and address of the selling dealer;

(ii) registration number of the selling dealer;

(iii) name and address of the purchasing dealer;

(iv) registration number of the purchasing dealer;

(v) pre-printed or self generated serial number;

(vi) date of issue;

(vii) description, quantity and value of goods sold;

(viii) signature of dealer or his/her representative.

However, to ensure that the revenue legally due to the States is realized and remitted, it is advisable that the invoice should contain the details of the rate of tax and the tax charged in an explicit manner.

3.4 Format of a tax invoice

No prescribed statutory format is given for tax invoice in the White Paper or for that matter in any State VAT Act. Only the contents of the tax invoice have been prescribed. However, a standard format of the same may look like the one given below:

TAX INVOICE

ORIGINAL – BUYER'S COPY

Seller's Name ………………………… Tax Invoice No. ………………….
Address …………………………….. Date:
…………………………………………..
Challan No. and date
Phone No. Buyer's Name & Address …………….
VAT Registration No. Buyer's VAT Registration No., if any ……….
CST Registration No.

S No.	Quantity	Description of Goods	Price per unit	Value (Rs.)	VAT Rate	Tax Amt.	Total (Rs)

TOTAL ________

Rupees in figures

E & O.E Signature
(of selling dealer or his authorized employee)

3.5 Composition scheme

The provisions relating to tax invoice do not apply to a selling dealer who has opted to avail the composition scheme under the respective State VAT laws. Thus, a composition scheme dealer cannot issue a 'tax invoice'.

4. RECORDS

The following records should be maintained under VAT system:

(i) Purchase records

(ii) sales records

(iii) VAT account

(iv) separate record of any exempt sale

Further, the following records should also be kept and produced to an officer:

(i) copies of all invoices issued, in serial number;

(ii) copies of all credit and debit notes issued, in chronological order;

(iii) all purchase invoices, copies of customs entries, receipts for payment of customs duty or tax, and credit and debit notes received to be filed chronologically either by date of receipt or under each supplier's name;

(iv) details of the amount of tax charged on each sale or purchase;

(v) total of the output tax and the input tax in each period and a net total of the tax payable or the excess carried forward, as the case may be, at the end of each month;

(vi) details of goods manufactured and delivered from the factory of the taxable person;

(vii) details of each supply of goods from the business premises, unless such details are available at the time of supply in invoices issued at, or before, that time;

Failure to keep these records may attract penalty. All such records should be preserved for the period specified in respective State provisions.

4.1 No declaration forms

Most of the declaration forms that existed before the introduction of VAT have been dispensed with. Use of declaration forms is expected to be stopped completely. Lot of time and energy is wasted by the dealer in getting declaration forms from the department.

There is no provision for concessional sale under the VAT Acts since the provision for set off makes the input zero-rated. Hence, there will be no need for declaration form.

5. RETURNS

Under VAT laws there are simple forms of returns. Returns are to be filed monthly/ quarterly/annually as per the provisions of the State Acts/Rules. Returns will be accompanied with the payment challans. Some States have devised return cum challans. In these cases the returns along with the payment can be filed with the treasury.

A registered dealer may be required to file a monthly/quarterly/annual return along with the requisite details such as output tax liability, value of input tax credit, payment of VAT etc. Opportunity may be provided to lodge revised returns.

Every return furnished shall be scrutinized expeditiously within the prescribed time limit from the date of filing the return. If any technical mistake is detected on scrutinizing, the dealer shall be required to pay the deficit appropriately.

Return filing procedures under VAT laws are designed with the objective of:

(i) reducing the compliance costs incurred by the businesses in completing and filing their returns; and

(ii) encouraging businesses to comply with their obligations to file returns and pay VAT through the application of penalties in case of late payment of VAT and late filling of returns; and

(iii) ensuring the efficient processing of the data included in the returns.

6. ASSESSMENT

The basic simplification of VAT is with reference to assessment. Under VAT system, there is no compulsory assessment at the end of each year. The VAT liability is self-assessed by the dealer himself in terms of submission of returns upon setting off the tax credit, return forms etc. The other procedures are also simple in all the States.

Deemed assessment concept is a major feature of the VAT. If no specific notice is issued proposing departmental audit of the books of account of the dealer within the time limit specified in the Act, the dealer will be deemed to have been self-assessed on the basis of the returns submitted by him.

VAT pre-supposes that all the dealers are honest. Scrutiny may be done in cases where a doubt arises of under-reporting of transaction or evasion of tax. Honest dealers will be protected and fictitious or dishonest would be penalized heavily.

6.1 System of cross checking

In the VAT system more emphasis has been laid on self-assessment. Hence, a system of cross-checking is essential. Dealers may be asked to submit the list of sales or purchases above a certain monetary value or to give the dealer-wise list from whom or to whom the goods have been purchased/sold for values exceeding a prescribed monetary ceiling.

A cross-checking computerized system is being worked out on the basis of coordination between the tax authorities of the State Governments and the authorities of Central Excise and Income-tax to compare constantly the tax returns and set-off documents of VAT system of the States and those of Central Excise and Income-tax. This comprehensive cross-checking system will help reduce tax evasion and also lead to significant growth of tax revenue. At the same time, by protecting the interests of tax-complying dealers against the unfair practices of tax-evaders, the system will also bring in more equal competition in the sphere of trade and industry.

7. AUDIT

In the VAT system considerable weightage is placed on audit work in place of routine assessment work.

Correctness of self-assessment will be checked through a system of Departmental Audit. A certain percentage of the dealers will be taken up for audit every year on a scientific basis. If, however, evasion is detected in the course of audit, the previous records of the concerned dealer may be taken up for audit.

Authorized officers of the department will visit the business place of the dealer to conduct the audit. The auditors will examine the correctness of the returns vis-a-vis the books of account of the dealer or any other information available with them. They will be equipped with the information gathered from various agencies such as suppliers, income tax department, excise and customs department, banks etc. Officers of the higher rank will supervise to ensure that the audit work is done in a free, fearless and impartial manner.

7.1 Accounts to be audited in certain cases

Under the sales-tax laws, tax evasion is considered to be on a large scale. The sales-tax departments of various States have not been able to effectively check the menace of tax avoidance and tax evasion. Therefore, apart from the departmental audit many States have also incorporated the concept of audit of accounts by chartered accountants. The State of Maharashtra has prescribed an elaborate list of particulars to be furnished by the dealers. These particulars have to be verified by the VAT auditor.

However, auditing for all types of dealers may not be necessary. The selection of cases for auditing has to be made in accordance with the criteria of the size of dealers. In such a case, the returns supported by the audited statement can be accepted summarily. However, it might indeed be useful to cull out a fixed proportion of large and medium sized dealers for regular assessments on a regular basis. In Maharashtra and Rajasthan, the dealer whose turnover exceeds Rs.40 lakhs in any year is required to get his accounts audited in respect of such year.

8. PENAL PROVISIONS

Since VAT is purely a State subject, States will have incorporated penal provisions as per their requirements. However, these are in general more stringent than those in the earlier sales tax laws. Since, the State taxation laws have allowed certain additional benefits in the form of input tax credit, which was not available earlier, they have introduced more stringent penal provisions to discourage evasion of taxes.

9. TAX RATES UNDER VAT

Under the VAT system, there are only two basic VAT rates of 4% and 12.5% plus a specific category of tax-exempted goods and a special VAT rate of 1 % for gold and silver ornaments, etc. Thus the multiplicity of rates in the sales-tax system has been done away with under the VAT system.

9.1 Exempted category

Under exempted category, there are about 50 commodities comprising of natural and unprocessed products in unorganised sector, items which are legally barred from taxation and items which have social implications. Included in this exempted category is a set of maximum of 10 commodities flexibly chosen by individual States from a list of goods (finalised by the Empowered Committee) which are of local social importance for the individual States without having any inter-State implication. The rest of the commodities in the list will be common for all the States.

9.2 4% VAT category

Under 4% VAT rate category, there are largest number of goods, common for all the States, comprising of items of basic necessities such as medicines and drugs, all agricultural and industrial inputs, capital goods and declared goods. The schedule of commodities are attached to the VAT Acts of the States.

9.3 12.5% category

The remaining commodities, common for all the States, fall under the general VAT rate of 12.5%.

9.4 1% Category

The special rate of 1% is meant for precious stones, bullion, gold and silver ornaments etc.

9.5 Non-VAT goods

Petrol, diesel, ATF, other motor spirit, liquor and lottery tickets are kept outside VAT. The States may or may not bring these commodities under VAT laws. However, it is agreed that all these commodities will be subjected to 20% floor rate of tax.

10. MISCELLANEOUS

10.1 Coverage of goods under VAT

In general, all the goods, including declared goods are covered under VAT and get the benefit of input tax credit.

The few goods which are outside VAT are liquor, lottery tickets, petrol, diesel, aviation turbine fuel and other motor spirit since their prices are not fully market determined. These will continue to be taxed under the Sales-tax Act or any other State Act or even by making special provisions in the VAT Act itself at uniform floor rates decided by the Empowered Committee.

10.2 Stock transfer

Inter-State transfers do not involve sale and, therefore they are not subjected to sales-tax. The same position continues under VAT.

However, the tax paid on:

(i) inputs used in the manufacture of finished goods which are stock transferred; or

(ii) purchases of goods which are stock transferred will be available as input tax credit after retention of 4% of such tax by the State Governments.

10.3 Compensation for losses

Although the introduction of VAT may, after a few years, lead to revenue growth, there may be a loss of revenue in some States in the initial years of transition. Some of the State Governments were resistant to introduce VAT account of this reason. The Government of India therefore agreed to compensate for 100 per cent of the loss in the first year, 75 per cent of the loss in the second year and 50 per cent of the loss in the third year of introduction of VAT. The loss would be computed on the basis of an agreed formula. This position was not only reaffirmed by the Union Finance Minister in his Budget Speech of 2004-05, but a concrete formula for this compensation has also been worked out after interaction between the Union Finance Minister and the Empowered Committee. However, in the first year of introduction, only a few States have claimed such compensation.

10.4 Imports into the VAT chain

Presently States do not have powers to levy a tax on imports. It is also essential to bring imports into the VAT chain. This will need a constitutional amendment. Because of the availability of set-off, not only cascading effect would be reduced but tax compliance would also improve. The Empowered Committee is discussing this issue with the Government of India.
